There has been no further change in the local sugar market since the decline noted last week. Demand since the reduction has been quite active at the refineries for both granulated and yellows, but as railway rates advanced on November 15, it has been rather less of late. Cables on beet reflect an easy feeling, to-day's quotation being 9s. ¾d. for November, and 9s. 1½d. for December. This is a decline of ¾d. on the earlier option since last week. Cane is cabled quiet and firm. On spot we quote: Refined granulated, $4.40, and yellows, $3.60 to $4.25.

SYRUPS.

Business in syrups continues exceedingly slow, and the market is featureless with prices nominally unchanged, at 1¾ to 2¼c. per lb. at the factory.

MOLASSES.

The molasses market continues excited, and with little or no stock in first hands prices have advanced from 3 to 4c. per gal. Sales of round lots were made recently at 38½c., but the purchasers, in this instance, were extremely lucky, as since then bids of 40c. have been made for 100 puncheon lots and refused. The jobbers are asking 40c., but it is more than likely that they will advance their prices before next week. Porto Rico is also scarce and held firm at 37 to 38c.

DRIED FRUITS.

The strength noted in Valencia raisins last week continues and prices for fine off-stalk are firmly held at 6½c., with selected 7¼c. and layers 7½c.

Malaga loose muscatel raisins are firm, and choice 3-crown fruit are quoted at 7½ to 8c.

Sultanas are steady at 10 to 12c.

Currants are unchanged at 4½ to 4¾c. for Filiatras and 5 to 7¼c. for Vostizzas as to quality.

The first shipments of Californian prunes came to hand this week, and are meeting a good inquiry as follows: 80's to 90's, 6½c.; 70's to 80's, 7c.; 60's to 70's, 7½c.; 50's to 60's, 8½c., and 40's to 50's, 10c.

French prunes cannot be quoted, but new Austrian are just landing, and are selling at 6c.

There can be no dates here before December, but they are offered to arrive at 5½ to 6c.

NUTS.

Advices state that the supply of pure Mayette Grenoble walnuts in France are exhausted. Consequently, prices are held very firm at 13½c. Marbots are quoted at 10c. Shelled almonds are held at 26c., and, as it would cost that at least to lay down fresh supplies, prices seem certain to advance. First shipments of shelled walnuts cannot arrive for some time, but they are offered to arrive at 18c.

CANNED GOODS.

The strength in canned vegetables increases each week, under a good inquiry and very light supplies. Corn is not obtainable under $1.05 to $1.10, and jobbers state that they will not accept less than $1 for leading brands of tomatoes. Peas are steady at 80 to 85c. for Junes and 75 to 80c. for marrowfats. Gallon apples are steady at $2.25, and 3's at 90c. Some raspberries sold this week at $1.60. The salmon market is steady, and round lots of sockeye have changed hands at the equivalent of $4.25 f.o.b. Coast.

RICE.

There is no new feature in this mrrket. The demand is fair and prices are steady, Standard B being quoted at $3.30 to $3.40.

SPICES.

These are very firm in tone and a good volume of business is noted, Late cables report pepper strong, with prices likely to advance. Tapioca is also cabled stronger. We quote: Nutmegs, 35 to 60c. per lb., as to size; mace, 45 to 50c. per lb., as to quality, and pimento, 8c.

COFFEES.

The firmer feeling noted last week continues, and prices generally show advances, while demand has been more active. Maracaibo ranged from 9 to 14c.; Rio, 8 to 10c., and Santos, 9 to 13c.

TEAS.

The supply of Japan tea seems to be more ample than it was some time ago, and sales of medium Japans have been made at 15½c., for which bids of 15¾c. were refused some weeks ago. Blacks are quiet, the inquiry being chiefly for Ceylons, in which a fair business is noted at 17½c. Small lots of Congous have sold at 13½c., but this grade is scarce. Pealeaf gunpowders are selling at 16 to 17., and lower grades at 14 to 15c.

FISH.

Trade in all lines of fish has been fairly active. The bulk of the preserved fish have arrived, but there is no large stock of any line offering. Prices generally are about the same as last week. We quote as follows: No. 1 new Nova Scotian herring, $5.25 to $5.50 per bbl.; $2.50 to $2.75 per half-bbl.; N.B. do, $2.50 to $2.75; No. 1 green cod, $5 per bbl.; No. 1 large, $5.50; No. 2, $4 to $4.25; No. 2 Labrador salmon, $13 to $13.50; British Columbian salmon, $14 to $14.50; No. 1 Red Sea trout, $10 to $12, and pail do., $8 to $9; No. 2 mackerel, $15.50 per bbl.; dried codfish, $4.60 to $4.75 per 112 lb.; large dressed do., $4.50 per case of 100 lb.; boneless codfish, 6c. per lb.; smoked haddies, 6 to 7c. per lb.; St. John bloaters, $1 per box; Yarmouth do., $1; smoked herrings, medium, 12c.; Lock Fyne do., $1 per keg; large do., $3.50 per half-bbl.; kippered herrings, $1.25 per box and 65c. per half-box.

Fresh fish are: Haddock, 3½c. per lb. whitefish, trout and dore, 7c. per lb.

Shell oysters are scarce and prices are away up at $5 to $6 per bbl., and Miramichi in bulk, $4 to $4.50.

GREEN FRUITS.

There has been little change since last report. The apple market has very little life in it; unfavorable reports from the English markets have had their effect on the local market. Stocks are fairly heavy, while the demand is limited at $2.75 to $3.50 for No. 1 and $1.75 to $2.10 for No. 2. There is very little doing in pears; good stock ranges from $3.50 to $6, as to quality. The grape market is in a very unsettled condition, owing to the various conditions of the fruit offering. No. 1 blue is selling at 18 to 20c. per basket; Niagara, 20 to 22c. per basket; Rogers', 25c. per basket. Quite a lot of Catawba grapes came into the market this week, and are selling at 22 to 25c. per basket. There is a fair demand for Almeria grapes at $5 to $6 per keg. There is a limited demand for Jamaica oranges at $5.50 to $6 per barrel. Bananas are slow sale at $1.75 to $2.25 per bunch. There is not much doing in sweet potatoes, which are quoted at $3 to $3.35 per barrel. There is little or no demand for cranberries at $6 to $6.50 per barrel. Spanish onions are quiet at 60 to 65c. per crate. Chestnuts are selling at 8 to 9c. per lb. and hickory nuts, 3½ to 4c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There was a good demand, and the market is active at firm prices. Strictly new-laid near-by stock sold at 22 to 23c., choice candled at 20 to 20½c., Montreal limed at 16c., and Western culls at 12 to 12½c. per doz.

POULTRY — Receipts of poultry continue fair, and buyers show some disposition to operate; in consequence, a fairly active trade is being done. Turkeys sold at 9 to 9½c., ducks at 8 to 8½c., and geese at 6 to 6½c. per lb.

GAME—The demand for partridge was good, and all the offerings sold readily at 60c. for firsts and at 35c. for seconds per brace.

MAPLE PRODUCT — In maple product business is still quiet. We quote: Syrup, in small tins, 60 to 65c.; and sugar, 7¼ to 8c. per lb.

HONEY— The market for honey remains quiet and featureless. White clover comb is quoted at 12c., extracted at 9c., and buckwheat at 8c. per lb.

BEANS— A fair trade is reported in beans and prices are firm. Choice hand-picked are quoted at $1.45 to $1.50, and primes at $1.37½ to $1.40.

ASHES—In ashes there was no change to note. We quote: First sorts, $4.10; seconds, $3.85, and pearls, $5.15 per 100 lb.

DRESSED HOGS — Receipts of dressed hogs were exceedingly light, but if the present cold weather continues they will, no doubt, increase rapidly and a more active trade will also be done. Prices are about steady at $5.75 to $6.25 per 100 lb. in a jobbing way.

PROVISIONS.

The demand for all lines is fair, and a moderately active jobbing trade is doing at steady prices. We quote: Canadian short cut mess pork, $15.50; short cut back, $15, and heavy long cut mess, $15 per barrel. Pure Canadian lard in pails, 7¼ to 7¾c. per lb.; and compound refined, 6 to 6½c. per lb. Hams 11c. to 12½c., and bacon 11 to 12c. per lb.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.

FLOUR — There was a fair demand for flour, and a moderately active business was done at steady prices. We quote as follows: Winter wheat patents, $3.60 to $3.90; straight rollers, $3.40; in bags, $1.65; Manitoba patents, $3.90 to $4.20, and strong bakers', $3.60 to $3 70.

GRAIN—A fair number of inquiries were received from abroad for Manitoba wheat to-day, but, as limits were not quite in line with shippers' ideas, little business was done. On spot, business in all kinds of grain was quiet, there being little or no demand from shippers; in consequence, the market was dull and featureless. Peas were quoted at 66c.; rye, 61c.; No. 1 barley, 51c.; No. 2 barley, 51c.; feed barley, 47½c.; oats, 29c., and buckwheat, 54½c.

OATMEAL—There was no change in the situation of the market for rolled oats. Business was quiet and prices steady at $3.60 per barrel and at $1.70 per bag.

FEED—An active trade continues to be done in feed, and prices are fully maintained. Manitoba bran is selling at $15; shorts, $17 per ton, including bags; Ontario bran at $15.50 to $16; shorts, at $17 to $18, and moullie at $20 to $24 per ton in bulk.

HAY—There was nothing new in the hay market. The tone is steady, and present prices are obtainable for spot stock only. We quote: Choice No. 1, $10 to $11; No. 2, $8.50 to $9; and clover, $7.50 to $8 per ton in carload lots.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

CHEESE—There was little doing on spot, but the balance of the fall makes is being gradually cleaned up in the country, and most of the factories will close down this week. As the bulk of the goods is being bought from 10⅝ to 10⅞c. in the country, it will tend to keep spot prices from advancing to a level that will permit of a "let out" on the stock of dear cheese held here, until the cheaper goods are absorbed. To-day the spot price ranged from 10¼ to 10⅜c. for under grades, and 10¾ to 10⅞c. for Quebec Octobers. Western cheese were nominal.

BUTTER—The market has continued depressed, and prices have declined from 1¼ to 1¾c. per lb. since last week, sales of creamery being free this week at 18½ to 19c., with possibly 19¼c. in the case of some pet factory. There is nothing doing in Western dairy at all, and prices on it are purely nominal.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Butter has had a slump of 1¼ to 1¾c. per lb. since last report.

The first shipments of new Californian prunes were received here this week.

First arrivals of new Austrian prunes are being landed here this week and are offered at 6c.

Bids of 90c. have been refused here by jobbers for canned tomatoes, $1 being asked.

There has been another advance of 1 to 2c. per gallon in the price of Barbadoes molasses.

Cables report an advance of 4 to 8s. in the price of Sicily shelled almonds. Jordan do. are up 5s. 6d. and Valencia 3s. 6d.

The supplies of pure Mayette Grenoble walnuts in France, according to recent advices, are completely exhausted.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,

ST. JOHN, N.B., November 16, 1899.

BUSINESS is still very active. Wholesale dealers have, however, largely finished their buying, except in a small way, until after the New Year. Markets are very steady, and prices are firmly held. Raisins are a matter of interest. Prices are high, and stocks (at least, for early shipment) will be very light. Winter export business begins to occupy attention. The first of the season's steamers will shortly arrive. The facilities now being used are all on the west side of the harbor and in connection with the C.P.R., but the Government are rapidly pushing the work in connection with the Intercolonial, and it is thought that the east side works may be completed in time to see some business before the close of the season.

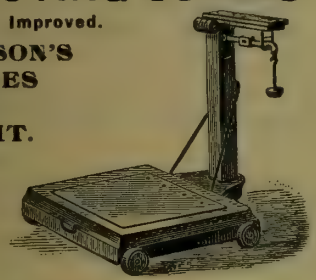
OIL—In burning oil, owing to fall contracts being, in a large part, filled, shipping is hardly as active, but dealers are still very busy. Prices are very firm at the advance. Paint oils have quite a light demand, but the price shows no prospect of receding from its very high position. In lubricating the tone is strong, and, considering the season, there is a good sale. There is a fair stock of cod oil held. Receipts are light and in but fair sale. Prices show no change. Candles have been advanced another cent, and this is a very strong line.



SALT—While the stock is very light in Liverpool coarse, the lack of active demand and the fact that the direct steamers will soon be running here, has tended to ease the market. Prices will, however, rule much higher than last season, owing to the rate of freight charged being very much higher this year. In other grades of salt there is just a fair business. We quote as follows: Liverpool coarse, 50 to 55c.; English factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20 to 22c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12 to 14c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per doz.; mineral rock salt, 0c. per 100 lb.

ness doing. Corn is becoming very scarce, some dealers already being unable to fill orders. Tomatoes will also be a very firm line here ; at least one packer is not filling his full compliment of orders. Peas are firm, but well behind in the race. Peaches are firmly held, but are being sold here at low figures, considering canners' present prices. Other fruits are quiet. Plums have but very little sale here. Blueberries are plentiful this season, but have little sale till later. Pineapple is scarce, and rather higher in price. There were further arrivals of salmon this week. Stocks will not be large. Sardines are higher, and show rather improved sale. As the local packed can be retailed at 5c. for a ¼-lb. tin of oil sardines, they are being more freely used. Kippered herring seem plenty, and, with haddies, are chiefly sold West. Meats are marked higher.

GREEN FRUITS—Business is very active, dealers trying to get stocks forwarded before cold weather. Some very nice winter apples are now being received from Nova Scotia. Prices keep quite high. There were quite a few out-of-town buyers in the city this week picking up stock from the schooners. There was a new feature in local business this week when 400 kegs of Malaga grapes were sold at auction. They brought fair prices, selling at from $4 to $5 per keg. Out-of-town buyers did not take the interest expected. In Ontario grapes, the season is over. In oranges, the quality continues to show improvement. Jamaicas have the sale. The lemon season not having fully opened yet, the demand is but fair. Qualities are none too good. Cape Cod cranberries are still low. There are quite free sales, and stocks are good.

DRIED FRUITS—The interest during the week has been in Valencias. Owing to some Denia shippers failing to fill orders, our trade have had to look to New York for stock. The supply there is light, and our dealers are being put to much trouble and loss, as they had sold ahead quite freely at prices based on the cost of the goods which did not arrive. Denia reports no further stock. Malagas are higher, and there are no Californian to fall back upon, except some seeded, which are daily expected. As yet, arrivals of new currants have been light. Prices show no change. The demand is for cleaned. New York is shipping here quite freely. Evaporated apples are now a fair stock here, and prices are quite firm. Sales are but fair. Dried are scarce. As yet, there is but a light demand for prunes, but at present figures they are considered good stock. There are no new prunes here yet, but some are daily expected. Figs move freely at full figures. There is no sale for Californian. In onions there is quite a large stock. American have the sale, owing to low prices, being well below price asked by Montreal shippers of Canadian stock. Nuts are now having a ready sale. Prices are high, though new peanuts are rather easier than old stock cost.

DAIRY PRODUCE — Eggs are again marked higher. There are but fair receipts and sale is active ; buyers want good stock. Butter also shows improvement, but quality must be A1 to bring best figures. Best stock is scarce. There is little or no creamery. Cheese have but fair movement at even figures; stock light.

SUGAR—There is a steady sale. Prices keep low. In all lines of foreign sugars sales are being more freely made. In quality of both granulated and yellow, American sugars give better satisfaction than much of the local refined.

MOLASSES—Market is very firm. Barbadoes is practically cleaned up, and the stock of Porto Rico is getting very low. There is some New Orleans held in one or two grades, but even with this stock is not large. This condition seems true of all outside points, and favors higher figures. The large demand is quite well over.

FISH—As the season gets late the feeling tends easier, not that there is any marked tendency to lower prices, but dealers are less active buyers. Stocks are very light. In pickled herring, there were fair receipts during the week, but they were at once shipped out to fill held orders. Dry cod and pollock are both firm. Shad is about out of the market. Boneless fish sell freely at full figures. Owing to price, pure cod shows but a limited business. In finnan haddies, there are more free receipts, but reports from the west are not the best, weather being too warm to hold stock. Smoked herring are fair sale at even figures. Kippered are scarce and in demand. There is a fair supply of bloaters. There is but little variety in fresh fish. The outlook for frozen fish this season, particularly herring, is very poor. We quote : Large and medium dry cod, $3.85 to $4 ; small, $2.50 to $2.75 ; pickled shad, $4.50 to $5, as to quality ; haddies, 4½c. per lb.; smoked herring, 6 to 9c.; halibut, 8 to 10c. per lb.; fresh haddock and cod, 2c.; boneless fish, 4 to 5c. ; pollock, $2.25 to $2.35 per 100; pickled herring, $1.90 to $2.25 per half bbl.; bloaters, 60c.

PROVISIONS—This is a firm line and holders of pork and beef, particularly the latter, are to be congratulated on the nice profits they are making. Lard is also higher with good sales.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL — In flour, dealers are being disappointed through the delay in getting shipments forward from the millers. The latter report very active business and no cars. Prices show no change. In oats and oatmeal there are but fair stocks ; prices easy. Cornmeal is firm and very active business ; beans a light stock and high ; barley and split peas firm ; blue peas scarce and hard to get. Hay is in rather better position. It is very hard to get feed. There continues to be quite a little American sold here. We quote : Manitoba flour, $4.40 to $4.60 ; best Ontario, $3.80 to $4.00 ; medium, $3.60 to $3.75 ; oatmeal, $3.75 to $3.90 ; cornmeal, $2.20 to $2.25; middlings, $21 to $22; oats, 38 to 40c.; hand-picked beans, $1.50 to $1.65 ; prime, $1.35 to $1.45 ; yellow-eye beans, $1.90 to $2 ; split peas, $3 90 to $4.00 ; round, $3.25 to $3.40 ; pot barley, $3.80 to $4.00 ; hay, $7 to $7.50 ; timothy seed, American, $1.50.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

James Patterson is in receipt of a large consignment of sardines ; best local-packed goods.

Dearborn & Co. landed a shipment of Malaga layers. The stock this season is very fine.

Bowman & Angevine landed a large consignment of the celebrated Rice's salt this week. This brand is finding a largely increased sale here.

N. D. Hooper is now pushing Keen's mustard in this Province. There is no need of any remarks about quality ; the word "Keen" covers it all.

Jones & Schofield, who have been such large importers of New Orleans molasses this season, received this week a further shipment of the fancy grade.

Canned clams are beginning to be appreciated. Northrup & Co., agents for Brown's clams, find this the case wherever they are able to place a sample lot. Connoisseurs would really find it to their interest to try these goods.

CALIFORNIAN RAISIN INDUSTRY.

There are 60 plants in California engaged in packing and seeding raisins this season, the majority of which are located in the Fresno district. These packing-houses furnish, in round numbers, employment to 5,000 hands, most of whom are women and girls. Very few of these packing-houses employ less than 50 hands, while the larger ones number from 200 to 250 on their pay-rolls. The aggregate amount of money paid out to these employes each month will approximate very nearly a quarter of a million dollars while the packing season lasts.—Ex.

TORONTO RETAIL GROCERS' ASSOCIATION.

THE regular meeting of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association was held in St. George's Hall, Elm street, Toronto, on Monday evening. President F. W. Johnson was in the chair, and the following members were present: Ed. Hawes, J. D. Kelly, D. Bell, W H. Marmion, J. S. Bond, P. Massen, T. Holmes, J. Patterson, R. B. Snow, R. Davies, J. A. Johnson, A. R. Williamson, D. W. Clark J. Butcher, J. Nolan, Geo. Burford, J. Blood, W. S. Beam and A. White.

A communication was received from The "Salada" Tea Co., regarding the offer to sell to hotelkeepers. After discussion, which brought out the fact that the association considered it wrong that the wholesale trade should supply any but the very large hotels with groceries, it was determined to ask The "Salada" Tea Co. to supply the hotelkeepers through the retailers.

The most important business of the evening was the hearing and discussion of the report of the early-closing committee (which report is reproduced on page 7). The committee reported that the cost of the canvass had been $111.

J. D. Kelly, in commenting on the report, stated that, though only 75 per cent. of the grocers had signed the petition, the percentage of those in favor of it was larger, on account of the number who had not signed it, and because of the fact that many who had refused could not properly be called grocers.

A. R. Williamson, after a short speech emphasizing the necessity of early action in putting the petition before the council, moved that the association be appointed a committee of the whole to put the matter before the council as soon as the early-closing committee could make the necessary arrangements.

A short discussion on ways and means took place, the general opinion being that when the opportunity to put the matter before the council was presented a couple of good speakers should be there to represent the association, and as many as possible of the grocers and butchers in favor of early closing should be there to support them, as a show of voting strength was as necessary to influence Toronto aldermen as eloquence or reason. Mr. Williamson's motion was adopted.

J. D. Kelly, chairman of the executive committee, reported for that committee that progress was being made towards the incorporation of the association. Their lawyer had the request for charters prepared, and it was expected to have everything completed by the next regular meeting.

D. W. Clark introduced a motion of considerable interest to the grocery trade. He had lately counted the number of ciscoes in baskets which he had bought as 100's, and had found, in some cases, not more than 60 or 65. As he had sold them by the dozen, under the belief that there were 100 in the basket, he had lost, instead of made, money on the deal. He inquired how many were in the habit of counting their ciscoes, and few hands were shown in the affirmative. He then moved that the secretary be authorized to write to the proper authorities to have the number of ciscoes in each basket plainly marked.

This met with hearty acceptance from all, though there was a difference of opinion as to who is responsible for the present loose system of selling ciscoes. Some blamed the shippers, some the wholesale dealers, while a few claimed the grocer should buy by the 100, and not by the basket. The motion carried without dissent.

Notice of motion was given by J. D. Kelly, to amend Article III. of the constitution by adding the following section: "Sec. 5. The son of a retail grocer, actually engaged in the business, or the manager of any retail grocery, actually engaged in the business, may be admitted as member with full privileges." This will be considered at the next regular meeting.

RIGHTEOUS INDIGNATION.

Editor CANADIAN GROCER,—I have just read THE GROCER, and note what one of your staff says about his friend having had a sleigh ride in Manitoba only a short time since. If he will look up the Toronto papers of about October 1 he may, if he is real smart, see something about six inches of snow in London. It would be no great feat to have a sleigh ride on less than two inches of snow, and if your staff wanted a sleigh ride, why didn't they go to London?

Of course this aint Manitoba, and London aint Toronto, but I'll bet a string team to a jack rabbit, that we have had more summer-like days in the past month right in this neighborhood than you have had in Toronto within two miles of that big city hall you have built and not paid for yet.

CANNED EGGS.

The Armour Packing Co. has embarked in the business of separating the whites and yolks of eggs, canning them separately, freezing them, and unloading them on the market. It is a fact that the Armours have gone greatly into the egg business this year, and have succeeded in creating a great demand for their new product. They have advertised the canned eggs extensively, and a large force of agents and solicitors have been put on the road to push the goods. As they are canned at the present time, some 30 dozen eggs are put up in a two-gallon can, which is exactly the number that a case holds. When a baker uses 30 or 40 dozen eggs in a day, it takes time to break the eggs and separate them. The new plan saves time.—Ex.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, November 11, 1899.

THE week has been a quiet one in markets and there is little news of any kind relating to produce and the like. Considerable interest is manifested in the announcement that Mr. C. C. Macdonald, who for the past 4½ years has acted as Dairy Superintendent in the Province, has resigned and accepted a position with R. A. Lister & Co., who are very extensive manufacturers of cream separators and dairy supplies of various kinds. Mr. Macdonald did the pioneer work of dairy instruction in the Province and, being a thoroughly practical man, laid an excellent foundation for the establishment of a prosperous and permanent industry. His new position will give him many opportunities of furthering the work. Mr. C. A. Murray, the newly appointed superintendent entered immediately upon his duties. He is comparatively an unknown man to the dairymen of this Province, his training and experience being all in the United States, although he himself is a Canadian. He has his spurs to win, but he will, no doubt, receive loyal support from all interested in dairying. He is at present busily engaged getting matters in shape for the winter dairy school.

WHEAT — Continues to go downwards, and the market has been in a most unsatisfactory condition all week. There has been a total fall of 1c. during the week. Prices at country points have not followed the decline of the Chicago market, owing to the fact that lake freight rates are reduced, and, though not as low as they were before the recent high rates, they are still much better than at the opening of the season. For this reason, buyers have been able to pay more to farmers than otherwise would be warranted by export prices. The farmers, up to date, appear well satisfied with the prices received. The roads have been good nearly all fall, with the exception of the two middle weeks of October, and this has made it easy to deliver wheat. Beginning with November 1, up to Thursday of this week, the deliveries were large. On Thursday, rain and snow set in, and the deliveries have dwindled down to almost the zero point. The market closed at 1 p.m. to-day as follows: Fort William spot wheat, 67c.; late November deliveries, 66½c.; country points, 15c. rate of freight, 53c.; 16 and 17c. rate, 52c.; 20 and 21c. rate, 51c., No. 1 hard.

OATS—Deliveries of oats have much improved; present price is 27c. per bushel, Winnipeg.

FLOUR—Trade is good in this article, but the market is fluctuating, owing to the uncertainty in regard to wheat. Prices are without change. We quote: Ogilvie's Hungarian patent, $1.90; Glenora, $1.70; Manitoba strong bakers', $1.50; XXXX, $1.15; Lake of the Woods patent, $1.90; strong bakers', $1.70; Medora, $1.50; XXXX, $1.30, per sack of 98 lb.

FEED—Feed is very scarce, and the amount offering is not equal to the demand. We quote: Bran, $11 per ton; shorts, $13.

BUTTER — There is now practically no Manitoba creamery in the Province. Several dealers sold what stocks they had during the week at 24c. Advices from the East would indicate that owing to dairymen there being advised to avoid the making of fall cheese they have turned their attention to creamery butter, with the result that a considerable quantity is offered at such figures that dealers would be able to lay it down here and sell at 23c. with a fair margin of profit. Orders have already been placed for considerable shipments of this butter. Large quantities of held dairy butter are now offering, thus fulfilling the prediction to that effect made in these columns some weeks ago. The demand for held goods is small, except in the very few cases where it has not deteriorated with holding. There is a brisk demand for fine fresh dairy, of which but a limited supply is coming on the market. Perfectly fresh sweet dairy is worth 20c., and any line of fresh well-made dairy is worth from 17 to 18c.

CHEESE—This market is over. The last shipments came in this week, and netted in several instances 12½c. per lb., the local demand preventing the drop in Eastern prices being felt to any considerable extent.

CURED MEATS— There has been a drop of ½c. in the price of hams, which are now quoted at 12c.; otherwise this market remains without change. Business is steady.

GROCERIES—There have been a few minor changes this week, but nothing of any importance. Sugar has dropped 10c. per cwt., and is now quoted at $5.20 for granulated (Standard); German, $5.10; bright yellow, 4⅜ to 4½c. Japan rice shows an advance of ½c. per lb. Quotations are: B rice, 4⅛ to 4¼c.; Japan, 4¾ to 5c.

CANNED GOODS—The situation is unchanged here, as, in spite of the firmer feeling in the East, prices have not advanced. Tomatoes, $2.20 to $2.25; corn, $2.30 to $2.40, and beans, $2 to $2.10. New peaches are expected to arrive during the coming week, and higher prices than last year are expected. Other canned fruits are without change.

EVAPORATED FRUITS—Apricots are ½c. higher, and may be said to be out of sight. Present quotations are 16½ to 17c. California muscatel raisins are on the market, and are quoted from 8 to 9c., according to the number of crowns. Valencia off-stalk are on the market again, but shipments are arriving very slowly. Prices are very firm, and are not likely to decline. Pitted plums are much higher than last year, and are quoted at 10½c. per lb.

GREEN FRUITS — Large shipments of winter apples continue to arrive. The supply is likely to be abundant. Navel oranges are being quoted, although none are as yet on hand, at $5 to $5.50. Mexican oranges are in good supply at $5. Lemons (new Californian), $5 to $5.50; apples, $3.25 to $3.75 per bbl.; cranberries, $7.50.

HONEY—This product is very scarce; in fact, dealers complain that "bees have gone out of business." It will be remembered that stocks here were unusually well cleared up last spring, and the yield this season is less than usual.

VANCOUVER EXPORTING BUTTER.

The dairy produce market is in better shape than ever it was, in consequence of all the chapters of ancient history in the butter line having been cleaned up at one swoop by representatives of Chicago and Eastern United States houses. It may sound strangely to hear of butter being exported from Vancouver to Chicago, but it is nevertheless true. Vancouver has had the misfortune to be a sort of dumping ground in the past for shipments of off-grade butter, and the Klondike rush of nearly two years ago brought considerable accessions which have since hung on, a drug on the market and a detriment to the handling of better grades. The scarcity of butter in the United States has led to inquiry in Canada, and the result was the clearing of the local market of all the class of goods referred to. What the astute Chicago buyers will make out of it is not in the bond. Most likely it will reappear as oleo or butter compound, and go to the Philippines for the army commissariat.—Vancouver Province, Nov. 6.

ANOTHER OCEAN FREIGHT LINE.

Wm. Peterson, of Peterson, Tate & Co., recently stated that owing to their confidence in the future development and growth of Canada and the productive force of the country, his firm has decided to establish a new line of 8,000-ton freight boats between the St. Lawrence and a port in Great Britain, yet to be settled upon. They will make winter trips from St. John or Halifax. Mr. Peterson, who has just returned from the Pacific Coast, also said he hoped no privilege would be granted Americans in navigation matters in the Dominion inland waterways, as Canadians would soon be prepared to handle all the work.

A MODERN GROCERY STORE.

FROM the following description of the new grocery, meat and fish store opened by John H. Case, St. John, N.B., by The Sun, it will be seen that Mr. Case is up-to-date in his ideas of how a store should be constructed:

"The grocery department of the new store is lighted by four large plate-glass windows. The floor is of hardwood and the ceiling done in natural wood. The counters are of oak, and there are handsome glass cases for confectionery, for butter and for cheese; handsome cabinet, 20 glass covered bins for flour, sugar, etc.; handsome shelving, a coffee mill, computing scales, cash register, and all the appointments of a first-class store. Hot-water heating and the Auer light are among its features. A bright little private office is in one corner.

"The meat and fish department opens on Golding street, and also has plate-glass windows. Marble-top table for meats, racks, and modern fish tables are seen here, and in the rear a cold storage room with glass front. There is a separate cold storage room for butter and cream. A small room is set apart for molasses, and another for oil. The oil is carried by a pipe from Golding street, some 40 feet, to a tank in the cellar, holding 145 gallons, and all that show in the room above are measures and patent pump. All the various departments are separate, yet all connected, the plan of the store being exceptionally convenient.

"A goods elevator as well as stairway connects with the large and well-lighted basement, with concrete floor, on which potatoes and other vegetables are stored."

Mr. Case has been in the grocery trade in St. John for 16 years. His new stand, which is at the corner of Waterloo and Golding streets, was opened last Saturday.

CHERRY WAFERS.

To their series of sandwich wafers. Peek, Frean & Co. have added another, known as the "Cherry Wafer." As may be supposed from its name, the cream which forms its filling is of cherry flavor, and the wafers which compose the sandwich are colored pink. They are most toothsome dainties, and will surely sell easily, whenever a tasty biscuit is in demand. For a "pink tea" they are just the thing.

A grocer, who was much annoyed by mice cutting his bagged flour, was informed that if he would distribute among the bags branches of walnut trees, with the leaves on, it would drive the mice away. He tried it, and the experiment proved a success.—Exchange.

WHY A CREAMERYMAN FAILED.

SOME months ago Long & McAdam started a creamery in Walkerton, Ont. The partnership was later dissolved, and the business continued by Robert Long, who exported considerable quantities of butter to the West Indies.

Mr. Long called a meeting of his creditors on Monday of last week, when a statement of his affairs was presented. This statement is worthy of the attention of those engaged in the creamery export business. From the report of the meeting in The Walkerton Telescope the following excerpt is taken: "The butter so shipped amounted to 21,000 lb. One consignment had been sent to Cornaldo & Co., Jamaica; another to M. L. Johnston & Co., Barbadoes; another to Gordon, Grant & Co., Trinidad; and another to Sanback, Parker & Co., Georgetown, Demerara. Of the whole amount so sent, he had only received $400 in returns, although the butter had cost them here $4,000. Something ought yet to be obtained, but it could not be much. It might be a hundred dollars, or might be more, or less. The reason for the loss was that the butter had not been properly prepared for shipment. He had since learned that the lids should have been tightly soldered on, but such had not been done. Some of the lids had come off, allowing the butter, which the warm climate had melted into oil, to run out. In other cases the air had got in, causing the butter to turn rancid. He had little or no idea what the butter would bring. It might bring three cents a pound, or it might bring three times three."

After a somewhat warm discussion the creditors agreed to accept an offer of 40 cents on the dollar, half payable in 30 days, the remainder in 90 days. The liabilities amounted to $2,368.80, of which $1,037.30 was due patrons of his factory and $1,331.50 was distributed among forty-two creditors.

THE SUGAR QUESTION.

Editor CANADIAN GROCER,—When the decline of 5c. per 100 lb. took effect on October 31, on all grades of Canadian refined sugars, it came as a surprise to the trade, but the further reduction in price of 10c. per 100 lb., which took place on November 7, was rather a blow to the buyers of the Canadian product; in view of the fact that they had been induced to load up, by the refiners' selling agents, on the strength of the foreign markets remaining steady, and the material advance in freights making the imported sugars cost more than a few weeks previous.

It is understood that the Canadian refiners recently came to the conclusion that about the equivalent of 25,000 barrels of foreign sugars had been imported during the months of September and October, and they decided to put the Canadian price down to a point that would force the holders of imported sugars to sell at, or very near, cost price. It seems a short-sighted view to take of the situation, for it is estimated that, during the same time, the Canadian refiners have sold about 40,000 barrels, on which their customers would have to suffer the loss, through the reduction in price, in the same proportion as the importers of foreign sugars.

The fall trade is now pretty well over, and it would have been more opportune if the refiners had reduced their prices earlier in the season.

The price at which Canadian sugar is now being sold practically prohibits the importation of foreign refined sugars, but it remains to be seen whether the American sugar refiners will take up the fight for the Canadian trade, or whether the Canadian refiners will come to the conclusion that it is wiser to sell some sugar at a profit, or control the Canadian market and make a loss.

Yours truly,

A SUBSCRIBER.

A PROSPEROUS PROVISION HOUSE.

Another sign of Vancouver's prosperity and onward march, is to be seen in the fact, that one of the best-known provision houses in the Province, that of F. R. Stewart & Co., have found it necessary to seek larger pemises.

They have now removed from those premises last occupied by them, 30 and 32 Water street, to No. 125 Water street, where they will have accommodation embracing three floors from the basement, as against one floor and a basement, previously occupied by them. This firm's rise is commensurate to a large extent with the progress of the Province. It was founded by F. R. Stewart in 1890, and has progressed steadily to the present time. Eighteen months ago F. M. Black became associated with Mr. Stewart in the management of the concern. During that time their Kootenay interests have increased very materially. They own and operate a cold storage warehouse at Nelson, with T. W. Clark in charge, as well as being lessees of the Government cold storage at Revelstoke.

The Victoria branch of the business is under the care of A Brenchley, who enjoys a most favorable reputation for promptness and activity in business matters.

The business of Stewart & Co. is purely British Columbian in its nature, as it has never been started, managed or controlled, as a branch of any Eastern concern.—Province.

Benson's Prepared Corn

There is no adulteration in Benson's Prepared Corn—there is no need to adulterate because it has sold entirely on its merits as an absolutely pure Prepared Corn for over forty years. The delicacy of its flavor is almost proverbial.

Comparisons are made with Benson's Prepared Corn as the standard—you hear this everywhere—" It's just as good as Benson's." You know what "just as good" means—an endeavor to sell an inferior article for a lower price. Benson's Prepared Corn is the standard—forty years have proved it so beyond a question.

MONSOON
INDO-CEYLON TEA.

If it was not for package tea, there would not be anything sold for more than 25c—"Teaman's letter in 'The Grocer' of September 29, 1899."

This is a fact; think it over for yourself.

There are few grocers who have the courage to put in their windows any tea and mark it over 20c. and 25c. per pound.

"Monsoon" Indo-Ceylon Tea will do your general business more good than any other tea sold.

GIVE UNBOUNDED SATISFACTION.

The reason is—They are profitable to dealers and satisfying to consumers.

Nerve!

Scientists tell us that the bill of the stork is one long nerve—and so is the bill of the plumber! A few grocers have great nerve, too, because they use our registered trade mark "Pan-Dried" to sell some other brand of Rolled Oats with.

It won't pay them in the end to do this—the reason why is plain. Some day or other their customers will wake up to the fact that they are being deceived. They'll want to know where that rich, nutty flavor is and how it happens that there are hulls and black specks in the Oat Meal their grocer sold them under the guize of "Pan-Dried." Nerve!—One long nerve!

GETTING AND KEEPING A BUSINESS POSITION.

By Robert C. Ogden.

THERE is a wide margin between securing employment and establishing a business position. The former is hard enough, the latter much harder, and this in spite of the fact that now, as never before, the business world is demanding men sufficiently capable and honest to fill places of trust and responsibility. But there is no experience which, to an employer of sympathetic temperament, who has to do either directly or indirectly with the employment of large numbers of people, is so sad as the unceasing procession of men and women seeking employment, who are not fitted either by training or character for any definite and special service. This condition has always existed, and probably always will, despite the liberal amount of advice and suggestion that has been so freely placed before every youth in the generations past and present.

A true young man, comprehending himself, having a proper self-respect, will understand that success is normal, failure abnormal. This is implied in Bishop Brooks' remark that "True human life begins with its circumference, as it were complete, and then fills in its space with its details." The accomplishment of any true development in life is based upon broad ideas, noble ambitions, splendid enthusiasm of the possibilities of living. There is vast inspiration in a comprehension of results of human effort in every field of action. Science and the mechanic arts, literature and the fine arts, business enterprise and commercial progress, every sphere of human activity, are radiant with illustrations of individual success and brilliant work, a great aggregation of mental, material and moral achievements.

The conception of an ideal of what human ability can accomplish, the conscious possession of the same human qualities as have brought reward to so many others, should fill a young man with honest pride that he is a man, enjoying equal chances in the work of the world with others who have achieved. Thus he may have a stalwart self-respect that will be to him a lifting power from within, will create a power of resistance to temptation from without, and lay the foundation for the qualities of character and industry that are essential to true success in getting and keeping a business position.

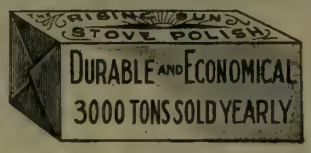
Intelligent earnestness is essential, and ultimately always wins. The words are easily read, but their translation into action calls for the best effort of which one is capable.

Intelligent earnestness includes a great deal. It takes careful account of all details, especially the indications that are implied in personal appearance. A boy looking for a place must do it thoroughtfully. He should be clean and neat. I have known clean hands and white finger-nails to decide the question in favor of a boy's employment, and I also have known black-rimmed finger-tips so to indicate slovenly carelessness as to cause a refusal. Costly habit is not needed, and showy dress is positively prejudicial.

HOW A NEW ENGLAND BOY MADE A NAME FOR HIMSELF.

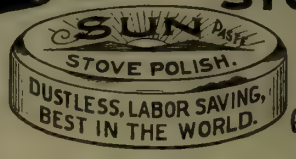
It is nearly half a century since a boy that I knew came from a New England arm to seek his fortune in New York, alone, friendless, and barely fifteen years old. Nearly at the close of his first day in the metropolis, having gone from store to store all day long, meeting with sharp rebuffs and coarse denials, he entered the large warehouse of a great firm. His wit had been sharpened by disappointment, and he keenly asked for the office of the senior partner. Obstacles were put in his way, but after a little he gained the desired audience and stated his case. In reply to a question as to what he could do, he simply replied:

"I can do anything that a country boy of my age can."



"Can you get here early in the morning, sweep and dust this suite of offices, build the fires and do my errands?" the old gentleman asked.

"Yes, sir; I can do all that, and I am ready to begin to-morrow morning."



His quick wit, modest, manly earnestness, secured the place at once. The pay was small; a margin of fifty cents a week was all that remained over his board bill, but his salary was advanced three times during the first year, and at Christmas time fifty dollars that his father had with difficulty spared, to be used in case of need, was repaid and the boy had a proud sense of honest independence. In seven years he was a partner in the firm. By fidelity he had made himself indispensable.

Many years ago I knew a young man belonging to a family of high position in one of the continental countries of Europe. After a time his support from home ceased and he was suddenly thrown upon his own resources. Without knowledge of any business, but full of dead earnestness, he began work. His first employment was as a mechanic's helper. Quickly he became a mechanic, but soon felt that he was fitted for a higher place. He canvassed a business district and found small encouragement. His impulsive manner and broken English were against him. Finally, in the office of an important firm, he was asked how much he had been earning, to which he made the somewhat brusque reply: "Not enough to live upon, but too much to die upon." The partner with whom he had been talking dismissed him with denial. Another partner, being much impressed by the conversation, recalled him and an engagement followed. Shortly the young foreigner eclipsed every other employe in the business. There was nothing he could not do, and do better than his fellows.

Conscious of his capacity, he demanded a partnership, but there was no position in the firm for him. Too progressive to be permanently kept in a subordinate place, he left his situation and struck out for himself. Before long, he was a creditor of his former employers. Wealth came quickly, a career of prosperity followed, which lasted until his death at mature middle age, and a handsome fortune fell to his heirs.

These bits of experience, to which I have been a witness, are given to enforce the proposition—intelligent earnestness always wins. Note the words. "Intelligent"—that is, such thoughtful, considerate, and wise display and application of energy as to make power effective. This point has a very important relation to each element of our subject, for it is a powerful factor both in securing employment and creating a business position.

PLENTY OF OPPORTUNITIES FOR AVERAGE MEN.

It sometimes occurs that young men born to wealth or commanding the power of influential friendships find a start in the business world comparatively easy. Occasionally, there is a genius, but neither wealth nor genius will make a position without the qualities of persistence and industry. Observation of the men who are filling eminent and powerful places in the business world proves the proposition that exceptional intellectual ability is not needed to secure success. Average men run the business affairs of the world, and the highest places are at the command of such men, provided that they display fidelity, industry, and intelligence, and are vitalized by character.

Two comparatively young men are now presidents of great railroad corporations. They are much in the public eye, and the world recognizes their superiority. The distance from the place of a hand on a gravel train to the presidency was short for one of them; for the other it was rapid promotion from a switch-tender's place to the headship of a corporation. You would not call them brilliant, but they are brainy, and with each of them force of character, simple, unobtrusive, without vanity or pride of position, impresses all with whom they deal.

Qualities that make men really valuable are recognized, and the places to be filled are seeking men to fill them. Not long ago, the directors of a great corporation were in session, facing with uncertainty the filling of a vacant presidency. The masterful man of that board stated that a certain party, whom I will call B, was the man required for the place. Now, B was at that time filling an important subordinate place in another corporation. A two-minutes' conversation over a telephone, that followed, lifted B to the presidency of a great railroad system. So do the places find the men.

My own sphere of information is small, and yet I know, as I write, of four places that carry salaries varying from $30,000 to $50,000 a year that are, and have been for months, seeking for proper incumbents. But great places are not seeking for unable men.

It generally occurs that the prizes of business life are not secured by the men whose thoughts and schemes are expended upon seizing them. Everywhere, in all ranks of employment, are men that take themselves too seriously. Such, almost without exception, are the men whose interests are exterior and not interior. Their efforts are not directed towards self-improvement, towards the rendering of a better and increasingly-improving service to employer or to the world. The first requirement is to be fitted for better and higher things; the second is to attain them. Preparation comes by painful steps and slow; promotion comes frequently to the truly earnest man as a surprise.

There is no position more pathetic than that of the overplaced man. His fall is usually only a matter of time. The world's judgment is accurate and almost inevitable. It is, therefore, of the utmost consequence that a man, whatever his position, should know the strength of his tenure. Let a man judge of his hold upon a place with an honest self-respect, conscious of what he is and can be; but, as he values his position, let his self-judgment be free from vanity, conceit or narrowness.

If I understand the question of the editor of The Saturday Evening Post, he wants special and definite suggestions to young men upon how to create and keep a position. The answer has been somewhat anticipated in the foregoing. Other fragments can be added, but the result, so far as this article is concerned, will be partial.

SOME MAXIMS WORTH REMEMBERING.

No employe can succeed unless he commands the confidence and respect of his employer. A sure road to loss of place is laid out when a young man concludes that he can leave ethics out of his theory of obligation to his employer. It is a cheap fallacy for a man to say that so long as he gives his employer the stipulated time and service the remainder of his life is his own to do with as he pleases. Poor fool! Underneath all is character. Utter fool is he that supposes he can compromise ethics and not have his life reflect the surrender.

Beer or whiskey at lunch by many signs give token of their presence. The night's dissipation is attested by a cloud of witnesses in the morning. Debt with persons earning fixed incomes is frequently either dishonest or productive of dishonesty. Money obligations by an employe to persons with whom the employer has the business relation of purchaser or patron are almost without exception fraudulent. Eye service that depends for fidelity upon the employer's presence is merely stealing.

Innocent pleasures and proper recreation, if carried to such an extreme as to become an object, and not an incident of life, subordinates business to outside enjoyment, and thus renders proper service from employe to employer impossible.

This list of debasing influences might be greatly extended. They tempt men, especially younger men from the strict line of business duty, and by impairment of character and limitations of habit are fatal to success. The fatality arises from the impossibility of concealment. Influences for good or evil are quickly apparent and results follow causes.

As a general statement, it is true that a young man's career is absolutely in his own keeping, and he is thus the master of his own destiny.

It is, therefore, axiomatic that, given a chance by securing employment, a young man creates his own place. Every occupation gives abundant field for study. In trade, a young man should know his stock, should master all knowledge that pertains to his merchandise, whence it is derived and how produced. If manufactured goods, he should know the history and development of the art represented and its relation to other arts. There is always a literature concerning any of the arts that gives the things demanded by the needs or tastes of our civilization. To master the special literature of his occupation should be the aim of every young man. Banking, railroading, shipping, insurance, the mechanic arts, and many other vocations are founded upon scientific systems. The superficial man will be content with knowledge of the routine that has to do with daily work, and the result will be commonplace mediocrity. The thorough man will be discontented unless he is always learning.

THOROUGHNESS THE CORNER-STONE OF SUCCESS.

In the Civil War times, when the entire financial interests of this country underwent sudden transition, a young man came very suddenly into a very commanding banking position. His influence was widely felt, and his remarkable ability quickly made him a power in money affairs. Added to stalwart honor and industry that knew no pause was his mastery of all the details of his business. But this knowledge was not a sudden acquisition. As a boy in a country bank, doing errands and attending to the office, he lost no proper opportunity to make himself familiar with every detail of the bookkeeping, the routine of all the bank business, and, as a boy, before any responsibilities of an important character had come to him, he was thoroughly posted in all that could be learned in the limited sphere of a country bank. Thus began a distinguished and successful career.

That boy was father of the man he came to be. Intense application is needed always in the creation and maintenance of a business position. It demands the highest and most persistent devotion, second only in its obligation to religion. God first, business next, should be the aim of every young man struggling for place and promotion. Study of the careers of successful men is always most interesting, and I would suggest that there is no more profitable knowledge to be acquired by a young business man. But, there should always be the limitation that comes with a proper definition of success. There are great and successful men, as the world goes, who may serve as models for work, but whose aims in life are so utterly unworthy—men who make money their god—as to be frightful examples of the debasing power of success, when money and position become an end and not an incident of life. Money is a good friend, if rightly used. Power and influence are blessings, when their use is controlled by lofty purposes. But money, power and influence, when controlled by selfishness, become a curse that debases the mind and corrupts the heart. Therefore, study men, but learn to study them intelligently.

LEARN TO WRITE WELL AND SPELL WELL.

There are apparently small things that have much to do with success—things small in themselves but great in their influence. Prominent among them are good penmanship and good English. These accomplishments develop accuracy and refinement. Good health is a duty that cannot be ignored. Without it success is doubtful, and it is easier to secure and to retain than thoughtless young men are willing to admit. Neatness in personal appearance is another duty, and, like health, it can be maintained at far less cost than many suppose, these several things, and others equally simple, create an influence of gentility that is essential in business relations. Good breeding is on the increase in this country, and it counts powerfully as an element of success.

For a final word, let me call attention to the thought suggested at the beginning—namely, that a complete life, thoroughly rounded physically, mentally, spiritually, is the life that contains within itself the elements of success in material equally with higher things. The bane of living is incompleteness. The difficulty is that character is improperly centred, that young men do not see their problems, whole, large, complete. It needs to be such a dreaming of dreams and seeing visions as creates ideals—sentiment, but not sentimentality. Then, the struggle of life is to keep them. Occasionally an old man survives, bright, pure in heart, hopeful, radiant. Such are a matchless inspiration ; always they are men that got their positions and kept them.

The life of additions creates and keeps a position ; such is a growing life. The life of subtractions fails either to create or to keep a position. Every compromise of principle, every act for which apology or explanation must be made, every deed that must be covered with darkness, is a deduction. Add constantly, and you will both get a position and keep it.—Saturday Evening Post.

A SERIOUS CHARGE.

H. M. Winter, who opened a general store in Berlin, Ont., in August last, calling himself "The Poor Man's Friend," is now in gaol, charged with defrauding his creditors.

Mr. Winter assigned on November 6. The meeting of creditors was held on Wednesday of last week, and the inquiry into his affairs led to two specific charges of defrauding creditors. One of these is that he did, some time before his assignment, with intent to defraud his creditors, dispose of a portion of his property to his son-in-law in Elmira, Ont., and the second accuses him of having, on the day immediately before his assignment, unlawfully disposed of a portion of his property to a party in Guelph, Ont., with intent to defraud.

After the preliminary hearing, he was remanded by Magistrate Weir, of Berlin, till Thursday, November 23.

The liabilities of the estate are $6,280, divided among thirty-two creditors. The available assets are very small, the stock being bought by Brodrecht, of London, at 65c. on the dollar.

Overtures have been made to the Toronto creditors of Mr. Winter, looking towards a settlement at 30c. on the dollar. The Toronto creditors have decided to proceed with the prosecution, and will entertain no offer of a compromise.

THE ART OF WINDOW DRESSING.

HOUSE-CLEANING SUPPLY WINDOW.

There is a good display of house-cleaning supplies in one of the windows in T. Guay's store, Queen street west, Toronto. This window is a wide one, but only about three feet deep. In the centre of the background are a number of washtubs of various sizes. At either side of these are brooms, washboards, pails, and clotheslines. In front of these, package goods, such as starch, soap, washing compounds, polishes, etc., are arranged in neatly-built piles. Scattered along the full length of the front of the window are scouring brushes of every description. The only cards in the window are tickets showing very low prices on the clotheslines.

SUIT YOUR TRADE.

A walk along Queen street west from Yonge street to Parkdale is an education to anyone interested in window dressing, or, in fact, in any department of the grocery business. There are a great many stores between Bathurst and Yonge streets which do not attempt window displays. Instead, they put a lot of goods outside their doors and use their windows as storage room for canned goods, baskets of apples, etc. Their stocks are light, and their trade—well, it's always a puzzle to me where it comes from. Their prices are the inducement they hold out to their customers, and by this means and by personal acquaintance manage to make a living.

Within a short distance of several of these stores there is a large, progressive establishment, which boasts three large windows. In one of these a coffee-mill is working by power supplied from beneath. In the others there are always displays, the feature of which, almost always, is the use of price-tickets, showing the comparative cheapness of the goods shown. Thus, this large store meets the smaller ones on their own ground, and both live—but how differently !

In the neighborhood of the subway and west of it, the window displays show at once that the majority of the grocers there have an altogether different class of trade to satisfy than either the small or large ones east of Bathurst. While in many of these displays price is not forgotten, the feature of the majority is quality. It is a noteworthy factor that the small store does not find the place in Parkdale that it does nearer the centre of population, in the city.

All this goes to show that the successful grocers in both the localities referred to dress their windows to suit their trade. In the section ftom Bathurst to Yonge, where there is a large transient trade, price is the consideration with buyers, and the successful stores makes displays in which price is the feature. In Parkdale, where business is nearly all "family trade," quality and appearance are the consideration with buyers, and the successful merchants make quality and feature the forefront of their displays.

BAKING SUPPLIES.

It is often good policy to group in a display the various articles used in baking. Such a window is often a reminder to the housewife that she needs some of the goods shown. I saw a good display of this kind in a bright grocery store the other day. At the two inner corners flour was piled. These piles were about six feet high ; the base of each was fully three feet in diameter ; the top consisted of a single bag. Between these piles granulated sugar was shown in a small tub. In front of the flour and the sugar was a row of five tubs. The centre one was filled with cooking figs ; the outer ones with raisins ; the others with currants. The woodenware of the tubs was hidden by packages of seeded raisins, jelly powders, icings, etc. In front of this row of tubs were small piles of baking powders, extracts, mince meats, mustards, breakfast foods, etc., in their packages. In the immediate foreground of the window samples of flour, baking-powder, breakfast foods, white and yellow sugars, cocoanut, sago, tapioca, currants, raisins, etc., were shown in saucers, each being accompanied by a price ticket. There were two cards, one on each of the piles of flour. One of them read, "We carry everything that a good housewife needs when baking." The other bore the invitation, "Come in and examine what we show. The quality and price of these goods will stand any comparison or test." The window display was made very effective by arranging on a table in the store the various goods shown in cups, saucers or plates. In the centre was a neat card inviting all to examine closely and to make any comparisons.

STARTING A BRANCH STORE.

W. Cole, who for the past few years has been conducting a grocery store at Parliament street and Wilton avenue, Toronto, is starting a branch business at Yonge and Cumberland streets, the same city. Mr. Cole has built up a nice business at his old stand, and the same qualities that made him successful there will doubtless stand by him in his new venture.

TRADE CHAT.

ONE of the striking indications of business prosperity in Canada is the large increase in current railway earnings. During the last week Canadian Pacific earnings increased $118,000 over last year, the total for the week being $674,000. Street railway earnings also continue to show large gains.

There are 10 cheese factories near Peterboro', Ont., which have started to make butter during the winter. G. Payne, of the Warminster factory, and W. T. Buck, of the Norwood factory, are seeking the co-operation of the other factories in having a winter butter market established in Peterboro'.

J. B. Snowball, W. B. Snowball, R. A. Snowball, Chatham ; F. P. Thompson, Fredericton, and Geo. E. Fisher, are seeking incorporation as The J. B. Snowball Company, Limited, to carry on a general lumbering, milling, fishing, canning, machinery and steamboat business. The capital stock is to be $1,000,000, divided into $100 shares. Chatham is the place of business.

"ROSEMARY" GOODS.

Rosemary is a plant which has sometimes been used as an emblem of constancy and fidelity. That is probably the reason the promoters of the Rosemary Co., Limited, of Hamilton, assumed that name and gave it to the products which that company manufactures. For example, there is "Rosemary" cream cheese, "Rosemary" condensed mince meat, "Rosemary" bulk mince meat, "Rosemary" beef extract, "Rosemary" fluid beef. "Rosemary" beef, iron and wine. Retailers can obtain these seasonable lines from their wholesale grocers. The goods are given an excellent name as to quality and they are handsomely packaged, two good recommendations.

TEA FOR OUR CONTINGENT.

Nearly everybody seems desirous of catering to the comfort of the Canadian contingent which is now on its way to South Africa. Tea is about as essential to the comfort of troops in time of war as a good many other things. Knowing this, the packers of "Ram Lal's Indian Tea," notwithstanding that their stock of tea in Johannesburg had to be abandoned to the Boers, have arranged to present each member of the Canadian contingent with a package of their tea before his departure to the front.

J. Terrill & Son are opening a store in Picton, on December 1, for the sale of flowers, vegetables, fruit and general produce.

HIGH PRICE OF MOLASSES.

THE Montreal Wholesale Grocers' Guild, on Friday last, advanced the price of Barbadoes molasses 3c. per gallon all around, and wholesale grocers are now asking 43c. for single puncheons, and 42c. for carlots.

The surprise has been that they did not do so long ago, for their price for weeks back has been practically identical with the first cost.

In view of this advance, a comparison of what this staple article is costing this year in contrast with the prices last fall is interesting.

The difference means an increase in cost this fall of 10c. and more per gallon. Last fall at this time, when importers asked 29½ to 30c. for 50 and 100-puncheon lots, jobbers considered the price too high. Now, bids of 40c. are refused for round lots, and holders feel confident that prices will go considerably higher before top figures are reached. In fact, some jobbers are entirely cleaned out, and if they want supplies they will certainly have to pay what holders demand.

Wholesalers are now convinced that the supply will not last until next spring, but, at the same time, believe that if prices are pushed up to an extreme figure the consumption of Barbadoes will fall off and be diverted to other descriptions of molasses. Offerings, however, of Porto Rico and Antigua are inconsiderable also. The very best price at which the former is obtainable is 36c., and it is doubtful if any quantity could be had, for some holders ask up to 38c., while Antigua is firmly held at 35c.

OPPORTUNITIES FOR SUCCESS.

Opportunities for success in life come to every man. One man may have more opportunities than another, but all get some.

No man should be discouraged because his opportunities are few, for many of those who have become the most noted as merchants, as statesmen, as warriors, etc., have been those whose opportunities have been anything but numerous, if we can term affluence, influence and friends opportunities.

What a young man should be concerned about is not opportunities, but about his ability to grasp them when they come his way.

The young man who sets himself the task of mastering the details of the particular vocation in life which he has selected, and thinks and reads well, and saves a portion of his earnings, is preparing himself for opportunities.

Everything comes to him who waits—and prepares.

HIGH-PRICED SICILY FILBERTS.

Owing to the damage to the cargo of the Tilley, Sicily filberts, for the present at least, will cost more than they otherwise would.

The reason is that, owing to the cause already mentioned, the wholesale houses have been compelled to buy in New York, in order to get supplies for their customers. Naturally, the price paid in New York was above the figures at which the goods on the Tilley had been bought.

The ruling price to the retail trade is 10c. per lb., considerably above the figures ruling a year ago. But, it should also be remembered that the condition of the market has something to do with the higher values.

SELECTED VS. FINE OFF-STALK.

DURING the last few years, partly, at any rate, on account of the lowness of prices, there has been a marked increase in the consumption of selected Valencia raisins until this grade supplied the bulk of the requirements.

The climax was reached last year, when 75 or more per cent. of the Valencia raisins imported and sold by the wholesale grocery trade of Canada was probably selected fruit.

This year, the percentage imported is probably just as high, but, so far, the consumption does not promise to be relatively as large, a great deal more attention than was anticipated being given to fine off-stalk.

The cause of this is the higher prices which are ruling, the cost being from 1½ to 2c. per lb. above the figures ruling at this time last year.

In consequence of the demand for fine off-stalk being larger than anticipated, stocks are becoming rapidly reduced, and a scarcity of this particular grade is quite possible. When that point is reached, we may naturally expect to see increased attention given to selected raisins.

THE DEER-HUNTING SEASON.

A feature of the deer-hunting season, which closed on Wednesday last week, has been the noticeable decrease in the amount of venison that has been handled by the commission produce houses, as compared with former seasons.

This is not due to any scarcity of deer, for it is generally believed that the usual number have been shot, but rather to the fact that an increasingly large proportion of the venison has been sold by the hunters themselves to private parties.

It would seem that many of those who go a-hunting nowadays want to do so as cheaply as possible, so sell what they kill to the consumers in order to recoup themselves for the expenses of their holiday.

Editor Dowse, of The New England Grocer, has been elected a member of the Massachusetts Legislature by a majority of 1,517 out of a total vote of 2,036. This is a pretty bad Dowseing of the other fellow's political hopes.

PASSIVE BUSINESS MEN AND POLITICS.

DURING the recent elections in several States of the American Union, a great many dissatisfied business men refrained from voting because they felt that to contend against the machine in politics was a hopeless task.

There are in Canada business men who are of the same way of thinking. It is not, however, the right way of thinking.

What is commonly known in politics as the machine is undoubtedly a powerful instrument, for it is very seldom indeed that its voice is disobeyed.

But the machine is not powerful because of the many that compose it. It is composed of only a fractional part of the voting power of the party. But it is organized. And it is therein that lies the secret of its power.

A score or two of diciplined soldiers are the masters of a mob any day.

When business men refrain from exercising the franchise, because the respective political parties possess such limited quantities of the quality of business commonsense, they are only adding to the power of the machine. Naturally, on the other hand, the power and influence of the machine will be curtailed and minimized just in proportion as the business men of the country as an independent entity exercise their vote and their influence.

It is futile to attempt the improvement of the businesslike qualities of the members of Parliament and of the Provincial Legislatures by ignoring the only method that can be employed in securing the desideratum.

Reforms are not secured by passiveness. Aggressiveness, and decidedly active aggressiveness at that, is the only force that can create them.

Another 12 or 18 months will probably see Canada again in the midst of a Federal campaign. Already the leaders on both sides are making speeches in preparation for the final engagement, while the political parties in many of the constituencies have already selected their respective standard-bearers. It is obvious, then, that business men who are now passive in regard to such matters should become active if the proportion of business material in the House of Commons is to be improved upon.

Their influence should begin at the party caucus in the direction of securing the nomination for the right kind of man, letting it be known at the same time that unless the right kind of man is nominated the party cannot get their support.

The curse of this country is the professional politician: the man who earns his bread, not by the sweat of his own brow, but by the sweat of his country's brow.

If the business men of this country were to do their duty these professional politicians in Parliament would be as rare as they are now common, while there would also follow that other concomitant, better and more businesslike legislation.

There is, therefore, much to commend action on the part of the business men of the country, but nothing to commend passivness.

THE PROVISION MARKET.

While the bulk of the orders have been filled, there is still a heavy movement of provisions from Toronto for the Northwest via Georgian Bay and Lake Superior. The last boat on which these orders can be sent will likely sail next week.

When this trade closes, there is likely to be a lull in the demand until the beginning of the New Year. The stocks, held, however, are light, and it is not likely that prices will be materially reduced before the middle of December. Some reductions may be noted then.

In the meantime, offerings of hogs are large, and, when the weather gets colder, heavy deliveries will probably be made.

At present, prices are steady at about $5 to $5.10 for dressed hogs. What they will be worth three weeks from now depends almost entirely on the way prices run in the British market, which has been so irregular in the past that it would be a mistake to prophesy as to the future.

THE PRODUCTION OF PORK.

The Department of Agriculture has issued Bulletin No. 33 of the Exeperimental Farm series on "Experiments in Pork Production." This has been prepared under the direction of Mr. William Saunders, by Mr. J. H. Grisdale, the agriculturist of the Central Experimental Farm.

"All the experiments which have been conducted in the feeding and fattening of swine at the Central Experimental Farm for the past eight years," says the preface of the report, "have been tabulated and summarized so as to present in condensed form the whole of the information which has been gained by the investigations made regarding pork production during that time.

"Useful conclusions are also drawn from the results of this work. Information is given in reference to the care of the breeding stock, and the management and feeding of young pigs. It is hoped that the facts presented in this publication, based on experience gained from many carefully conducted experiments, will prove useful to farmers of Canada, and aid in advancing the pork industry which has made such rapid progress during the past few years."

PAPER BAG MAKERS CONFER.

The manufacturers of paper bags in Canada have for some time felt that they were not in as good position as they should be in regard to the purchasing of manila and other raw material. Some of them, at any rate, have come to the conclusion that the remedy lies in all the manufacturers purchasing their supplies together. By this means, they would be able to not only buy better, but sell better.

With a view to putting this idea into practice, a conference is being held in Toronto this week. There are present at the conference: Mr. Woodruff, of the Lincoln Paper Mills, Merritton; Kilgour Bros., Toronto; Messrs. E. B. Eddy and W. H. Rowley, of The E. B. Eddy Co., Limited, Hull, Que.; Mr. DeLisle, Que., and Mr. Wilson, of J. C. Wilson & Co., Montreal.

Should this particular scheme be consummated it is thought that it may lead to an actual consolidation of the various paper bag making concerns in Canada, for it is well known that the competition in this industry has been rather excessive of late.

In the meantime, prices on paper bags have been withdrawn.

CANADA SECOND AS A SUPPLIER OF BRITAIN'S BREADSTUFFS.

ACCORDING to a return recently published by the British Government, the Dominion of Canada stands No. 2 among the countries which, during the cereal year ending August 31 last, contributed to the United Kingdom's supply of breadstuffs.

It is true that the percentage, as compared with the whole, is small, but still there is some satisfaction in attaining unto the second position, no matter how far that second position may be from the first.

The first position was occupied by the United States with 64 per cent. of the total. Canada's contribution was 10 per cent. India came third with 8¼ per cent.; the Argentine Republic fourth with 7⅓ per cent., while Russia, which, seven years ago, was first with 36 per cent., against the United States' second with 30 per cent. of the whole, contributed but 3⅓ per cent. during the past cereal year.

Unfortunately, we have no means of ascertaining what the exports of wheat and flour to the United Kingdom were during the last fiscal year. The Government Department which has charge of this work has not yet developed sufficient energy to furnish the detailed returns sooner than six to eight months after the close of the fiscal year.

But, even without the figures for the fiscal year ending June 30 last, enough can be obtained from the returns of previous years to show that in both wheat and flour exports to Great Britain the trade is a growing one. The following table shows the exports of wheat and flour to Great Britain from Canada during the five fiscal years ending June 30, 1898:

	Wheat, bush.	Flour, bbls.
1895	11,843,359	111,588
1896	12,996 829	89,428
1898	22,943,545	908,756

It may perhaps not be uninteresting in this connection to point out that, of the 244,000,000 bushels of wheat which the United Kingdom annually consumes, nearly 184,500,000 bushels are imported.

PRICE OF VALENCIA ALMONDS.

Since the opening of the season there has been quite an advance in the price of Valencia shelled almonds in the primary market.

This week, cables were received in Toronto announcing advances, which make the total appreciation in values since the opening of the season equivalent to 2 to 3c. per lb.

CHRISTMAS TRADE.

IT would be well to commence early to lay plans for the Christmas trade. The Christmas season is the time of the year above all others when a good special trade can be gotten by special means.

The first thoughts of the retailer are naturally concerning the special stock he will carry. Many general merchants, and not a few grocers, make a feature of toys, games, picture books, etc., in addition to the large stock of candies, nuts, fruits, etc., generally carried at this season of the year. All dealers in groceries also keep on hand a good supply of the fruits, spices, etc., necessary for the dressing, cooking, etc., of turkeys, roast-beef and other meats, plum-puddings, pies, sauces, desserts, etc.

Next to importance to having these goods in stock is the proper advertising of the fact through the ground covered by the grocer's business. Advertising does not mean merely inserting an advertisement in the local paper. It means also attracting attention to the stock by window display and by making the store bright and tempting to purchasers of these goods.

The advertisement in the local paper is worthy of considerable thought, however.

It would be well to take extra space at this season. The wording of the advertisements should be altered each week. Each insertion should give, as interestingly (yet without exaggeration) as possible, an account of the preparedness of the grocer to meet the wants of any buyer of Christmas goods. A cordial invitation should be extended to all to visit the store and examine the stock offered for sale.

The preparation of the store and windows for this trade should engage the merchant's (and his clerks') thoughts for the next week or two. It would make everything look much neater and more attractive if much of the woodwork outside, at the entrance, and in the interior of the store were hidden by evergreens. A Christmas display should be put in the window in the first or second week of December. The fruits, candies, nuts, etc., should be displayed in the interior so as to cause the impression that the stock carried is large and choice. This can be generally done by arranging them together on a large table or stand.

THE CURRANT SITUATION.

It will be remembered that, some weeks ago, the currant market in Greece developed some weakness. Writing under date of Patras, November 3, D. Pasqua says: "Taking into account the limited crop of this year on the one hand, and the assurance that the consumption is regular * * * I cannot help thinking that the near future will tell in favor of the article."

These expectations have been realized, for cables received in Toronto this week report an advance of from 1s. to 1s. 6d. per cwt. in the primary market.

It appears that the recent weakness in the market in Greece was caused by the restriction of the demand, in turn due to financial and political difficulties in the country.

The exports of currants from Greece to the following countries up to October 31, and for the corresponding date last year, were as follows:

	Net tons
	To Oct. 31, 1899.	To Oct. 31, 1898.
England	44,118	51,450
United States and Canada	10,590	9,075
Australia	3,769	3,422
France	500	1,355
Other countries	10,870	18.600
Total net tons	69,647	83,902

WHERE PECANS GROW.

Texas grows about two-thirds of the pecan crop, though it is only of late that she has taken position amongst nut-growing States.

Most grocers can remember when customers refused mixtures of nuts that contained pecans because of the extremely bitter tasting inner skin which lays next to the shell.

Nowadays the shelled nut is largely used amongst confectioners, and in the pecan districts of Texas the mills for extracting the meat of the nuts have become very numerous.—Grocers' Advocate.

ONTARIO MARKETS.

November 23, 1899.

GROCERIES.

A GOOD business is being done, although the volume is, perhaps, not as heavy as it was just preceding the going into operation of the higher freight rates. The strength of canned vegetables is still one of the chief features of the market, although, naturally, there is not much business being done in this line at present. Coffees continue strong and in fairly good demand. The tea market has gained, rather than lost, strength during the past week. Just after we went to press last week, an advance of 5c. per 100 lb. took place in the price of sugar. The demand for sugar keeps good for this time of the year. Syrups and molasses are also meeting with a good demand. Currants, raisins and nuts by the second direct steamer were taken into warehouse early in the week, so that the wholesale trade is now supplied with its stock of Christmas holiday goods. The market for all these goods is fairly strong, with the demand good.

CANNED GOODS.

A decidedly strong tone still characterizes the market for canned vegetables. Tomatoes are now uniformly quoted at $1 per doz. by the wholesale trade, and there are some selling at that price, although not many. Of course, the demand at this season is usually light. As far as can be gathered there are no tomatoes offering from first hands at less than 92½c. per doz. in round lots. For corn, the ruling quotation to the retail trade is $1.10 per doz. There is very little business being done. Peas are quiet and firm at 80 to 90c. Canned fruits are decidedly firm in price as a rule. The idea to the retail trade is $1.55 to $1.65 for raspberries and $1.75 for strawberries. There appears to be already quite a scarcity of the latter. Canned salmon is quiet, but firm in price. Some deliveries of cohoes are being made.

COFFEES.

The coffee market generally is stronger than it was a week ago, particularly for Brazillian coffees. Locally, the demand keeps good with prices unchanged.

SUGAR.

The demand for sugar is well maintained. Just as we had gone to press last week, an advance of 5c. per 100 lb. took place in all grades of sugar. This made the price of granulated sugar at Toronto $4.58 for the product of the Montreal refineries, and $4.53 for that of the Acadia refineries. The European sugar markets have ruled steady to firm during the past week. Willett & Grey's Sugar Trade Journal of November 16, said: "Raw sugars are now at such a low level that, in view of the statistical position covering the campaign year to next October, it would seem quite possible that little, if any, further decline need be looked for, and very likely the market will remain steady and firm for the immediate future."

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

There is a good trade being done in syrups, particularly in corn syrups. Owing to the shortness of the crop of New Orleans molasses, prices keep high. Local wholesalers are experiencing a good demand for New Orleans molasses, particularly for cooking purposes, at 27 to 28c. per gal.

See pages 29 and 30 for Toronto, Montreal, St. John, and Winnipeg prices current.

TEAS.

The tea market generally continues to have an upward tendency in regard to price. Latest mail advices from London, Eng., under date of November 10, say: "The demand for Indian teas up to 7½d. per lb. noticed last week has become gradually stronger, a further advance having taken place. The better grades of medium tea, especially broken kinds, remain comparatively cheap." Referring to Ceylon teas Gow, Wilson & Stanton, of London, say: "The strong competition noticed last week has been again very pronounced, teas up to 7½d. being slightly dearer, while the demand for other kinds continues steady, medium broken pekoes being perhaps the weakest market." On the Toronto market the brokers report a good demand for Indian and Ceylon low-grade teas, but, as these teas are scarce, there is not much doing.

A private letter from Japan received this week states that there is very little being done there. Prices for the higher grades had very much advanced while the markets were steady on lower grades. "The entire stock," added the letter, "is now so small that the season may be considered closed."

Advices from China state that third crop Young Hysons cannot be obtained under 12c. Pale Sownees up to 24c. are also scarce. The same is reported of sifted teas.

NUTS.

New season's almonds and Sicily filberts are now on the market. We quote as follows: Tarragona almonds, 15c.; Formegetta almonds, 14c.; Velencia shelled almonds, 26 to 30c. per lb.; Jordan almonds, 35 to 40c. per lb.; Sicily filberts, 10c. per lb. A cable received in Toronto, this week, notes a further advance in Valencia shelled almonds, making the price 2 to 3c. per cwt. above the figures ruling at the opening of the season. Sicily filberts are also firm, and would cost about 1c. per lb. more to lay down than the goods now on the market.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS—A cable received this week announces an advance of 1s. per cwt. in the price of currants in Greece. The market is reported firm at the advance, and a further appreciation in values is anticipated. The wholesale houses report a good demand for currants. The shipment by the second direct steamer was taken into stock this week.

VALENCIA RAISINS—The Valencia raisins which arrived by the second direct steamer were taken into stock early this week. The demand is good and the primary market firm. The ruling prices for the best known brands are: Fine off-stalk, 6¼ to 6½c.; selected, 7c.; layers, 7½c. per lb.

MALAGA RAISINS — The direct shipment for the holiday trade came forward early this week, and a good many orders have been taken. The ruling quotations are: London layers, $1.60 to $1.75; black baskets, $1.90 to $2; blue baskets, $2.10 to $2.25; Dehesa clusters, $3 to $3.25; Royal clusters, $4 to $4.50; ¼ flats of black baskets, 75c.; ¼ flats of blue baskets, 85c.; ¼ flats of Dehesa clusters, $1; seeded Malaga muscatels, 10c. per lb. package; loose muscatels, 3½ to 4c.

CALIFORNIAN RAISINS—Owing to damage to the crop by rain, probably no further shipments of the finer grades will be made to this market. Lower grades are, however, to be had. Since we went to press last week, the first shipment of Californian raisins has come to hand. The quality of the fruit is good, it having been saved before the recent rain damage was done to the crop. The wholesale trade quote 7½ to 8c. per lb. for 3-crown.

DATES — The first shipment of new season's dates came to hand this week. The fruit was of the Hallowee description, and is quoted at 5½ to 6c. per lb.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS — The advances which have taken place in evaporated peaches have put figures above buyers' views. Apricots are still too high to permit of business being done.

CALIFORNIAN PRUNES — Everything is cleaned up on the Coast except the larger-sized prunes, and a few of the extremely small ones, namely, 130's to 140's, which are too poor in quality for this market.

GREEN FRUITS.

The Jamaica orange market has taken an upward turn, and now stocks here are light, and, as prices are higher in New York, a rise of 50c. per barrel is noted here. They are now quoted $6 to $6.50. As anticipated a week ago, the lemon market has advanced. Messina lemons are $1 to $1.25 per box dearer, the price now being $4 to $4.50 per box. Stocks are light, and are not likely to be well replenished before Christmas. Bananas are also scarce, and are likely to be high for some time. An advance of 25c. this week has brought the price to $1.75 to $2. The difficulty of getting sweet potatoes here in good condition is keeping stocks very light. Prices are firm. Almeria grapes, cranberries, and Spanish onions are in excellent supply, and, as the demand is good, the feeling is steady.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The conditions are about the same as a week ago. For first-class stock 20c. can easily be secured, but for ordinary fresh-gathered stock 17 to 18c. is the current quotation. There is a good movement of pickled stock at 15 to 16c. per doz.

POTATOES—There is a better delivery, as cars are not so hard to get. This has caused a reduction of 2 to 3c., which brings the price to 40 to 42c. per bag for cars f.o.b. Toronto. Small lots out of store are worth 45 to 50c.

BEANS—The market is firm at last week's advance. We quote $1.45 for hand-picked and $1.35 to $1.38 for prime.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES — A good movement of evaporated apples is noted at 8½ to 9c. in a jobbing way. There is a scarcity of dried apples, and as there is a pretty good jobbing demand, the feeling is firm at 5¼ to 5¾c. outside for ordinary No. 1 stock, and 6c. for No. 1 quarters. The jobbing price is firm at 6 to 6½c. for ordinary No. 1 stock.

POULTRY—The weather has been unsatisfactory, and, though offerings have been somewhat decreased in consequence, the market has been weak. Prices are about the same as last week. We quote: Turkeys, 8 to 9c. per lb.; geese, 5 to 6c. per lb. ducks, 45 to 70c. per pair; chickens, 25 to 40c. per pair.

GAME—The venison season is over. The receipts of wild ducks and partridges have been larger than the market could absorb, and prices are easy at last week's figures: 25c. per pair for teal and other small varieties; 40c. for blue bills; 65c. for pintails and redheads; 75c. for mallards and large black; $1 for canvasbacks, and 50 to 60c. per brace for partridges.

VEGETABLES—Onions are 20c. per bush. cheaper; otherwise, there is no change. There is a good business being done. We quote: Cabbage, 40 to 50c. per doz.; red cabbage, 50 to 75c. per doz.; cauliflowers, 40 to 60c. per doz.; celery, 40 to 75c. per doz.; parsley, 10 to 15c. per doz.; pickling cucumbers, 40 to 60c. per hundred; musk-melons, 50 to 70c. per doz.; native water-melons, 50 to 75c.; onions, 40 to 60c. per bush.; green beans, 30 to 50c. per basket; squash, $1 to $1.25 per doz.; vegetable marrow, 40 to 60c. per doz.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—A large quantity of good large rolls is offering at firm prices. Few gilt-edged tubs are offering, but are in good demand. Ordinary tubs are abundant, however, at easy prices. The market for good creamery is active at firm figures. We quote: Dairy large rolls at 18 to 19c.; tubs at 17 to 18c., and dairy prints at 18 to 19c. Creamery is worth 21 to 22c. for tubs and boxes and 22 to 23c. for prints.

CHEESE—A small quantity of July and August cheese is on the market, and holders are selling at 11½c. There is a steady, moderate demand for late makes, and, as stocks are not more than will be needed for the season's demand, the feeling is steady at 12 to 12½c.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

As no fresh fish can be sold orders for whitefish and trout are being filled with frozen fish. The warm weather is reducing the demand considerably. There is no change in prices. We quote as follows: Trout, 7 to 7½c. Niagara whitefish, 8c.; pickerel, 7½c.; herrings, 4c.; halibut, 12½c.; Seattle salmon, 13 to 15c.; steak cod, 7c.; haddock, 5c.; finnan haddies, 6½ to 7c.; boneless fish, 5c.; quail-on-toast, 6c.; steak cod, 6½c.; ciscoes, $1.00 per basket. HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL

HIDES—The market is steady at last week's advances. We quote: Cowhides, No. 1, 9½c.; No. 2, 8½c.; No. 3, 7½c. Steer hides are worth ½c. more. Cured hides are worth 10c.

SKINS—Dekins and culls are 5c. dearer. Otherwise there is no change. We quote: No. 1 veal, 8-lb. and up, 10c. per lb.; No. 2, 8c.; dekins, from 40 45c.; culls, 20 to 25c. Sheep and lambskins are selling at 85c.

WOOL—Combing fleece is 1 to 1½c. dearer. There is a good business, and a steady feeling. We quote: Clothing wool, 17c.; combing fleece, 16 to 16½c.; unwashed, 9½ to 10c.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—The wheat market is quiet outside, with both red and white at 66c. On the street market there is a fair movement of coarse grains, but the offerings of wheat are limited. We quote as follows: Wheat, white and red, 70 to 70½c.; goose, 68c.; peas, 62c.; oats, 31 to 33c.; barley, 43 to 44c.; rye, 54c. There is a moderate demand. Manitoba No. 1 hard is easy at 76½c. QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, November 23, 1899.

GROCERIES.

THE volume of business has been somewhat reduced this week, as the advance in railway freights has caused a decrease in the movement of the more bulky staples. Nevertheless, a good trade is doing. Sugar, as a consequence of the rise in rail rates, is 5c. higher, and jobbers have at last placed their jobbing price for Barbadoes molasses more on a parity with first cost. The strength in Valencia raisins is fully maintained; in fact, still higher prices are quite probable. All kinds of nuts rule firm in tone also. Strength is still dominant in canned vegetables, while in spices, pepper values have advanced and still point higher. Coffee and tea are fairly steady in tone.

SUGARS.

The advance in rail freights noted last week has led to a rise of 5c. in the price of refined sugar for all grades, and prices now are $4.45 on granulated and $3.65 to $4.30 for yellows, as to grade. Demand has been active, and a fair volume of trade is noted. The market for raw beet has declined a further ¼d. in London, but has since ruled steady, prices being maintained at 9s 0½d. for both present and next month. Cane was quiet at London, Java 11s. 3d. and fair refining 10s. 6d. In New York, raw has been steady, fair refining, 3 13-16c. and centrifugal, 96 test, 4¼c.

SYRUPS.

This staple is entirely without feature, demand ruling light, and prices unchanged at 1¾ to 2¼c. per lb., as to quality.

MOLASSES.

There has been considerable inquiry for choice Barbadoes molasses, and 40c. has been bid freely for 50 and 100-puncheon lots, but holders evidently have great confidence in the future course of prices, as the above figure has been refused. The stock in first hands is, no doubt, very small, and, as jobbers in some cases are cleaned out, the position of the market is very strong, and it would not be any surprise to see prices go still higher. A direct importation of Antigua molasses is firmly held at 35c. Some stock which has been imported from Boston is offering at 32½c. The jobbers have at last advanced their prices to a parity with the increased cost from first hands. They are now asking 43c. for single puncheons and 42c. for carlots.

DRIED FRUITS.

It is next to impossible for importers to obtain a firm offer on Valencia raisins from Denia and naturally the fact tends to accentuate the strength of their position. Accordingly prices here are, if anything, more firmly held than last week at 6½ to 6¾c. for fine off-stalk, 7¼ to 7½c. for selected and 7½ to 7¾c. for layers.

Malaga raisins are held as last quoted, and though there is an easier feeling noted outside on Sultana raisins the fact has not influenced spot prices in any way.

There has been considerable inquiry for Californian seeded raisins, and sales of carlots have been made at 7½c. f.o.b. Coast.

Currants have ruled steady during the past week.

A fair demand has been experienced for Californian prunes. We quote: 80's to 90's, 6½c.; 70's to 80's, 7c.; 60's to 70's, 7½c.; 50's to 60's, 8½c., and 40's to 50's, 10c.

French prunes are not quotable, and Bosnias are unchanged at 6c.

The first arrivals of new dates came to hand this week via New York, being a parcel of 5,000 boxes. Prices are steady at 5½ to 6c.

NUTS.

New Grenoble walnuts meet an active demand, and are stiff at 13½c., while Marbots are quoted at 10c. Shelled almonds to arrive are unchanged at 10c.

CANNED GOODS.

Business in canned goods during the past few days has been rather quiet, but the tone of the market is very firm, and prices are fully maintained. Raspberries and strawberries are exceedingly scarce on spot, and prices have an upward tendency. Corn is held at $1.05 to $1.10; tomatoes, at 90 to 95c.; marrowfat peas, at 70 to 72½c.; early Junes, at 77½ to 80c.; French peas, at 90 to 95c.; beans, at 90c.; one gallon apples, at $2.25 to $2.50: 3-lb. do., at 85 to 90c.; raspberries at $1.60; and strawberries at $1.55 per doz. There has been some demand for salmon, and several sales of humpback brand have taken place at $2.65 f.o.b.

RICE.

Since the advance in rail freights business in this line has been quieter. The tone is firm, in sympathy with foreign markets. We quote, standand, $3.30 to $3.40.

SPICES.

Strength in pepper abroad continues the prominent feature in spices, and prices are quoted firmer, the mills having paid much higher figures this week on both black and white pepper. Demand is not active in a distributive sense. We quote: Nutmegs, 35 to 60c. per lb., as to size; mace, 45 to 50c. per lb., as to quality, and pimento, 8c.

COFFEES.

There has been a fair demand for coffee, with business in round lots of Mocha at the equivalent of 17c. delivered here, while 25 and 50-bag lots of Maracaibo have sold at 8½c.

TEAS.

There has been more inquiry for Pingsuey teas since last report, about 1,000 to 1,500 packages changing hands at 13 to 18c. These figures show an advance over previous sales, and the market is firm for this description of stock. Japans have been inactive, with buyers and sellers apart. Blacks are firm, with a fair amount selling. Desirable Packlings cannot be had under 14½ to 17c. Latest mail advices from Ceylon state that the market is firm and advancing. Cables from London report the market there on Indian and Ceylon teas very strong, 7d. being paid for Pekoe Souchong at auction.

FISH.

Trade in all lines of fish has been fairly active for the season. The bulk of preserved fish has arrived, and but few cars more are to come forward. There is no large stock of any line at present, and the prospects are good for trade in the future. The tone of the market is steady and prices show little change. The following quotations are for jobbing lots: No. 1 new Nova Scotian herring, $5.25 to $5.50 per bbl.; $2.50 to $2.75 per half-bbl.; N.B. do, $2.50 to $2.75; No. 1 green cod, $5 per bbl.; No. 1 large, $5.50; No. 2, $4 25; Labrador salmon, $13 to $13.50; British Columbian salmon, $13 to $13.50; No. 1 Red Sea trout, $10 to $12; No. 2 mackerel, $15.50 per bbl.; No. 1 green pollock and hake, $3.75; No. 1 green haddock, $4.25; No. 1 large round herrings, with milt and roe, $5.50; dried codfish, $4.60 to $4.75 per 112 lb.; large dressed do., $4.50 to $4.75 per case of 100 lb.; boneless codfish, 5½ to 6c. per lb.; smoked haddies, 6 to 7c. per lb.; St. John bloaters, $1 per box; Yarmouth do., $1; smoked herrings, medium, 12c.; Lock Fyne do., $1 per keg; large do., $3.50 per half-bbl.; kippered herrings, $1.25 per box and 65c. per half-box.

Fresh fish—Haddock, 4c. per lb.; dore, 7c.; market cod. 3c.; steak cod, 4c.

Shell oysters are scarce; in consequence, the market has been strong and a sharp advance in prices has taken place. Choice Malpeques are selling at $5 to $6; Miramichi, at $4 to $4.50 per bbl.; standard, in bulk, $1.30 per gal; selects, $1.50 to $1.60.

GREEN FRUITS.

There has been little alteration in the green fruit market during the past week. The local apple market remains unchanged, and exhibits very little life. Quite a lot of inferior quality is offering, the prices generally being in favor of buyers. Sales of No.

1 range between $2.75 and $3.50, and No. 2 $1.60 to $2. There is no change in pears, values working between $3.50 and $6 per bbl., as to grade. Few grapes are offering, but demand is light at 15 to 17c. per basket for blue, 17 to 20c. for Niagara, and 22 to 25c. per basket for Catawba. There is a very good demand for Almeria grapes at $4.50 to $6 per keg, as to weight and quality. Jamaica oranges command small sales at $5 to $6 per bbl. Bananas are quiet, at $1.75 to $2.25 per bunch. Sweet potatoes show no change at $3 to $3.35 per bbl. There is very little demand for cranberries at $6 to $6.50 per bbl. Spanish onions are selling at 60 to 65c. per crate.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There was a good demand for choice stock, and the market for such was active and firm, but culls only move in a small way. Strictly new laid near-by stock sold at 22 to 23c.; choice candled at 20 to 20½c.; Montreal limed at 16c., and western culls at 12 to 14c. per doz.

POULTRY — Receipts of poultry to-day were moderate, but on account of the unseasonable weather the demand was low, and the market was dull. Turkeys sold at 8½ to 9c.; chickens at 6½ to 7c.; ducks at 8 to 8½c., and geese at 6 to 6½c. per lb.

GAME—The demand for partridge was good, and prices rule firm at 60 to 65c. for firsts, and at 35 to 40c. for seconds per brace.

MAPLE PRODUCT—There was some demand for maple product, and pure sugar sold at 10½ to 11c. per lb., and syrup at 65 to 70c. per tin, of 1 gal., wine measure.

HONEY—In honey, there was nothing new to note. White clover comb is quoted at 12c., and extract at 9c., and buckwheat at 8c. per lb.

BEANS — A fair trade was reported in beans. Choice hand-picked are quoted at $1.15 to $1.50, and primes at $1.37½ to $1.40.

ASHES—The market for ashes is quiet and featureless. We quote: First sorts, $4.10; seconds, $3.85, and pearls, $5.15 per 100 lb.

EVAPORATED APPLES—The market is quiet but steady for evaporated apples, sales of several good sized lots being reported at 8c., and we quote 8 to 8½c. Dried apples are quoted at 5 to 6c.

POTATOES—The market is steady, with carlots quoted at 40 to 42c.

HOPS—Quiet and rather easy at 8 to 10c. for ordinary, and 14 to 15c. for choice.

DRESSED HOGS—Owing to the continued mild weather and increased offerings, the tone of the market was easier, and prices ruled lower. The demand was slow at $5.75 for light weights, aud at $5.40 for heavy.

PROVISIONS.

The demand was good for small lots of most lines, and in consequence a fair trade was done. We quote: Canadian short cut mess pork, $15.50; short cut back, $15, and heavy long cut mess, $15 per barrel. Pure Canadian lard in pails, 7¼ to 7¾c. per lb.; and compound refined, 6 to 6½c. per lb. Hams 11c. to 12½c., and bacon 11 to 12c. per lb.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.

FLOUR—There was no important change in the situation of the flour market. The demand was better and a fair amount of business done. We quote: Winter wheat patents, $3.60 to $3.90; straight rollers, $3.40; in bags, $1.65; Manitoba patents, $3.90 to $4.20, and strong bakers', $3.60 to $3.70.

GRAIN—A fair amount of business was done in Manitoba wheat over the cable to-day, but aside from this the market ruled quiet. There was considerable inquiry for oats on spot, of which the offerings were small, and although buyers were willing to pay an advance in price they found it difficult to fill their wants. The demand for other coarse grains was slow. Peas were quoted at 66c.; rye, 61c.; No. 1 barley, 48c.; No. 2 barley, 47c.; feed barley, 46c.; oats, 29c., and buckwheat, 53½c.

OATMEAL—Business in rolled oats continues quiet, but prices are maintained at $3 60 per barrel and at $1.75 per bag in carlots.

FEED—The demand for feed was good and values rule firm. Manitoba bran is selling at $15; shorts, $17 per ton, including bags; Ontario bran $15.50 to $16; shorts, $17 to $18, and moullie $20 to $24 per ton in bulk.

HAY—A fairly active trade is being done in hay, and, as supplies are not large, prices show no change. We quote: Choice No. 1, $10 to $11; No. 2, $8.50 to $9; and clover, $7.50 to $8 per ton in carload lots. The imports of foreign hay into Great Britain do not fluctuate greatly; they are largely made up of the surplus forage brought here in cattle boats. The ten months' total this year is 112,546 tons, which is 12,137 tons more than in 1898, but 2,567 tons less than in 1897.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

CHEESE—This market shows no radical change, nor can it do so until the tail-end of the fall make, which is now offering from ½ to ¾c. per lb. under what the September and October make cost, is absorbed. The free demand, however, for these cheap goods is a pretty reliable indication that British buyers want cheese, and when it is absorbed they will be compelled to pay attention to the dearer stock. Current daily business is at prices ranging from 10½ to 11c., according to grade.

BUTTER—The heavy feeling noted last week on butter continues, and prices, though not quotably lower, are not very firmly held. Demand is moderate at 18½ to 19¼c., as to quality, the outside being an extreme price.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Jobbers have at last advanced their price on Barbadoes molasses, asking 3c. per gal. more.

There has been an advance in pepper abroad, and mills here have paid more for supplies.

Refined sugar of all grades, as a consequence of the rise in railway freights, has been marked up 5c. per 100 lb.

A reference to our advertising columns will show that Hudon, Hebert & Cie. are offering an exceptionally comprehensive assortment of dried fruits and other seasonable goods.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, November 20, 1899.

MR. E. B. NIXON, grocery buyer for The Hudson's Bay Company, returned this week from a two months' leave of absence. While on his holiday, Mr. Nixon visited England, which he had not seen for 22 years, and was in London at the time of the great popular demonstration for the New South Wales troops. He reports that, while, of course, there are some "kickers," the war, on the whole, is very popular, the feeling being that at last England is taking her rightful stand in regard to South Africa. Mr. Nixon found business of all kinds good in the Old Land.

Christmas goods are beginning to arrive, and, judging by the stocks ordered, merchants expect to do an extraordinary trade this season. The weather has been mild all week, and the heavy rains have made the city dirty beyond expression, and the city fathers appear to be hopelessly lost in any endeavor to grapple with it. Owing to the great amount of railway business of all kinds, merchants complain that goods are not coming forward as rapidly as they should.

WHEAT—The market has shown little change all week. Owing to bad roads deliveries are very light indeed. Where rain has not been too heavy fall ploughing is still going forward briskly. Prices at country points are the same as last week but the tendency is rather lower. For instance, last week buyers were willing to give the outside figure of the market, while the last few days they have adhered closely to the inside price. Spot wheat at Fort William closed at 1 p.m. Saturday at 67c.

FLOUR—The market is firm and prices are unchanged. Flour shipments by the lakes ceased on November 22.

CEREALS—There has been a sharp advance in buckwheat flour, amounting to fully 25 per cent. This is attributed to a shortage of crop in Ontario. Rolled oats are a shade easier in consequence of increased deliveries, and are quoted at $1.70 to $1.75. Beans have gone sky high, and choice hand-picked are worth $2, while somewhat lower grades are $1.75 to $1.85.

CURED MEATS—This market has been an uneventful one all week. Prices are firm and business steady. Hams, 12½c.; breakfast bellies, 11½c.; backs, 11c.; picnic hams, 10½c.; smoked shoulders, 10c.; long clear, 8½c.; lard, $1.70 per pail.

CHEESE — Market here is firm. Some small shipments of Ontario cheese have arrived and others are arriving. The buying price is 12c., and the selling 12½ to 13c.

BUTTER—The supply of creamery butter coming in now is practically all held goods, and there is very little of that in Manitoba. The Eastern creamery arriving is offered at 23c. The quality is reported excellent. In dairy butter, the bulk of the offerings are held goods, about which dealers do not seem very keen. First-class fresh separator dairy is worth 18½ to 20c., but the offerings of this grade are very limited. Held dairy ranges from 10c. upwards, according to grade.

EGGS — Receipts of fresh-gathered are very light. Quotations are 17 to 17½c. Winnipeg.

OYSTERS—Shell oysters, $7.50 per bbl.; bulk oysters, $2 per gal. for standards and $2.25 for selects are the figures quoted.

FISH, DRIED—Finnan haddies are arriving by freight. The fish are in prime condition, and prices are 7 to 7½c. per lb. A small consignment of Scotch ling fish arrived during the week, and it is meeting a ready sale at 10 to 12½c. per lb. Lock Fyne herring, September catch, $1.40 per keg and $2.40 per firkin; bloaters, $1.40 to $1.50 per box.

SUGAR—This market has fluctuated all week, one day 5c. up, the next 5c. down. Granulated is now 5¼c., and bright yellow, 4⅜c.

HONEY—Scarce and very high. White clover in comb, 20 to 22c.; strained (pure), 11 to 12c.

CANNED GOODS—The market is extremely strong, especially in tomatoes and corn, which are held at high firm figures. Holders in the East do not seem anxious to sell, except at round figures. The quotations given this week are what canned vegetables must be sold at to insure a profit, if the goods had to be purchased and laid down now. Tomatoes, $2.30 to $2.50, according to pack; corn, $2.50; peas, $2.10 to $2.25. In spite of this, some houses, who bought early in the season, continue to quote tomatoes $2.20 to $2.30; corn, $2.30 to $2.40; and peas, $1.85 to $1.90.

CANNED FRUITS — Peaches seem fairly plentiful and are quoted at 2-lb., $4 to $4.20; 3-lb., $5.75 to $6.25; pears, $3.25 to $3.35; 3-lb., $4.50 to $5; raspberries, $3.15; strawberries, $3.25; cherries, $3.60.

COFFEE—This market is quiet with little probability of improvement. No. 5 green Rios are worth 9¼c. Mocha and Java are normal.

DRIED FRUITS—Quite a large quantity of Californian figs are coming on this market. They are neatly packed and look well, but are not equal to the Eleme figs. The latter are quoted at 20c. for 6 crown, and new Malagas in tapnets at 4½c.

RAISINS—Small consignments of Malaga blue fruit are expected to arrive during the week. These will sell at $2.25 to $6 per box. Valencia raisins continue high and scarce in this market, notwithstanding that two or three cars have been received, as this fruit was all absorbed by orders placed prior to the arrival of the goods.

CURRANTS—In cases, 5½ to 6c., according to quality.

EVAPORATED FRUITS—Apricots continue at their old figure of 16½c. Dried apples are high and scarce, and the price asked is out of proportion to that of evaporated fruits, running as high as 7½ to 8c. Evaporated apples are in fairly good demand, at 9½ to 10c. Evaporated peaches are cheap.

NUTS—New Grenoble walnuts are billed to arrive in two weeks and will sell at 14c. Filberts are easier, and are quoted at 10c. Tarragona almonds are firm, with possibilities of an advance, as stocks are light. Large Brazil nuts, 10c. New stock is not expected before January. Jordan almonds, 37½c.; Valebias, 28c.

RICE—Has remained without change at last week's figures.

SOAP—There is no question but that this product must advance in price almost immediately, because all the materials used in its manufacture have advanced from 25 to 75 per cent.

MR. MACLAREN IN MEXICO.

Mr. A. F. MacLaren, M.P. for North Perth, and manufacturer of "Imperial" cheese, is paying a visit to Mexico. A recent number of The Mexican Herald says: "Mr. A. F. MacLaren, member of the Canadian Parliament, now visiting in this city, attended the session of the Chamber of Deputies yesterday and was the recipient of marked attention on the part of the Speaker and deputies. A committee, consisting of Messrs. Emilio Pardo and Emeterio de la Garza, was appointed to escort him to the Speaker's desk, and he was invited to sit at the right hand of Speaker Peniche while he remained in the Chamber. Upon his retiring, Mr. MacLaren was escorted by the committee from the hall."

DARJEELING TEA.

The Planter does not appear to think that the recent cyclone at Darjeeling will have caused any material reduction in the local crops of tea. Our contemporary's conclusion is to the effect that Darjeeling gardens, as a rule, stop plucking early, and the bulk of the crop had been made before the storm. Estimating that perhaps 15 to 20 per cent. of the total outturn for the year was still to come, the couple of hundred acres of tea lost or "damaged" will not affect the amount still to be sent down to Calcutta to any really appreciable extent, and there will probably not be the boom in Darjeeling prices, that some seem to anticipate.—Planting Opinion, Madras.

TRADE IN OTHER COUNTRIES THAN OUR OWN.

FRESNO mail advices are to the effect that the stock of dried fruit at the packing houses there is running low, and that according to some reports there are not over five carloads of dried peaches left in the hands of growers in Fresno County, all the large lots having been bought up by dealers.

The output of dried peaches in California this year is variously estimated at from 1,200 to 1,400 carloads. The stock remaining on the Coast is reported to be very light and in strong hands.

The first shipment of new crop Messina oranges to this port was made on the new direct liner Jerseymoor, which sailed from Messina on Wednesday of this week. This vessel will also bring 18,000 boxes of Messina lemons.—N. Y. Journal of Commerce, November 18.

GREEN FRUITS IN NEW YORK.

A new York paper, of November 18, says: According to statistics complied by the Fruit Buyers' Union, there were no receipts of lemons at this port this week, whereas 93,600 boxes were received for the corresponding period last year. Of oranges the receipts for the week were 1,500 bbls., compared with 7,800 bbls. last year; of grapes 4,600 bbls., against 12,000 bbls. for the corresponding week in 1898, and of bananas 46,300 bunches, compared with 53,000 bunches for the same period a year ago.

CANNED VEGETABLES IN THE STATES.

According to report there is already a great deal of interest being shown in canned goods futures by western buyers. One packer is credited with having already sold 150,000 cases of corn, 1900 packing, to buyers in different western cities, and other packers are also reported to have taken many contracts. In St. Louis alone it is said contracts for 200,000 cases of 1900 corn have been placed recently.

RAISINS IN LONDON, ENGLAND.

At auction the supply of Valencia raisins was moderate, comprising 670 tons against 630 tons last week, and 980 tons the same time last year. There was less demand, and, holders showing little desire to meet the buyers, barely one-fourth sold at steady prices for ordinary selected, medium to fine in many cases favoring buyers. Muscatels were in good supply, and met an irregular demand, about three-fourths selling at barely steady rates for common to medium, while good to fine realized firm prices. Sultanas have been in fair request at fully previous rates, common selling at 32s. 6d. to 33s.; ordinary at 34s. to 35s.; medium to good at 36s. to 40s.; fine at 42s. to 48s., and choice 50s. to 55s.—Grocers' Journal, November 11.

THE POSITION OF FIGS.

The position of the fig market is now pretty well defined. The available stocks will most probably prove to be of barely sufficient quantity to prevent a rise in values, and in some sizes the pinch has already begun to be felt; and, as the present stock will only be augmented with a further 600 cases, there is practically little hope of relief from further supplies. The important decline which has in former years occurred about the first week in December would seem to be impossible this year, and the trade can confidently operate without fear of holding dear Christmas stocks.—Produce Markets' Review.

THE CURRANT MARKET IN LONDON.

Referring to the currant market, The Produce Markets' Review, London, Eng., of November 11, says: "The demand has shown extraordinary slackness, and it would seem impossible that grocers can have yet filled their requirements even for the Christmas trade, leaving out of the question any provision for the early part of the new year. There are at present some signs of improvement in the direction of provincial growths, which, for one reason or another have, week by week, continued a steady downward course until the prices have become more interesting from a grocer's point of view, because of their nearness to a level which would permit of the fruit being profitably sold at the exceedingly attractive retail price of 2d. per lb. Desirable as this may seem, a long continuance of such prices is more than can be expected from a crop of the size on which the trade is at present working, and any opportunity to buy fruit with this object in view should immediately be taken advantage of. So far as the English markets are concerned, however, the principal consideration is the supply of the better qualities, which, in consequence of the dearness of the common fruit, have been more largely drawn upon than usual, and the early spring demand may find the better descriptions of fruit scarcer than in any of the four or five preceding years."

CANNED SALMON IN LONDON.

A London, England, trade paper of November 11, says: "There is a good and increasing demand for Alaska salmon for future requirements, and values are rather higher. The position in this grade is undoubtedly a strong one, almost the entire pack having been sold before the goods are shipped, and little relief can come to the market in the form of surplus supplies. Many buyers are still somewhat cautious, but grocers would be well advised to make their purchases rather earlier this year, as it is anticipated that by the time the salmon arrives prices will be dearer. There is only a moderate business doing on the spot, but values are very steady."

PRESERVING EGGS.

The following is taken from an exchange: Salt and Lime.—Take a teacupful of salt, and lime to the size of an egg, and pour boiling water on them. When cold, drain off the liquor and put it on the eggs. If too strong, there will be a crust on top; if so, add more water. This is for two gallons of liquor. Eggs put down in August and used in April are said to be just as fresh and make just as nice frostings as newly laid ones.

According to The Journal of the Society of Arts, out of 20 methods tried at Freiburg for the preservation of eggs, only three yielded generally satisfactory results. These consisted in the use of solution of water glass, lime water and petrolatum. The first-named gave better results than the second; coating with petrolatum was considered too tedious.

Kubel, after trying all known methods, found the lime water preservative to be the most satisfactory. The fresh eggs are put in lime water, to which 6 per cent. of table salt has been added to increase the specific gravity, and thereby prevent its penetrating the shells, and allowed to remain until wanted for use. After many months, eggs so treated are found to be nearly as fresh as when put in.

Paraffin to Preserve Eggs Lauded by Some.—The solid paraffin is to be used, one kilogram being said to suffice for 3,000 eggs, and just enough heat being applied to keep the paraffin liquefied. Samples thus treated in July were still heavy and untainted in November and December, and it is asserted that eggs subjected to the paraffin treatment will keep as long as two years.

CENTRAL BUSINESS COLLEGE.

The Central Business College, of Toronto, is enjoying unusual prosperity this term, and, while it is constantly sending out capable young men and women into business positions, it has been found necessary to enlarge its premises and increase its equipment to accommodate the steadily-increasing attendance, which, last week, brought in representatives from Thessalon, Listowel, Delhi, Islington, Georgetown, Brampton, Guelph, Sundridge, Newcastle, Fenelon Falls and St. John's, N'fld. This is evidently a representative business school.

A BASIS FOR CREDIT.

Embarrassed country dealer in a Boston wholesale grocery :

"I would like to make a settlement."

"How much can you pay ?"

"Seventy-five cents."

"Very well," said Wholesale, "we will close the account."

"I suppose you will continue to let me have goods ?" said Retail.

"Not a dollar's worth," responded Wholesale, and the former, discouraged, dropped into a chair.

Embarrassed retailer No. 2 stepped to the desk and wanted to settle.

"How much do you offer ?"

"Five cents."

"All right," said the unembarrassed Wholesale.

"Can I have any more goods ?"

"All you want."

Retail No. 1, rising :

"How is this ? I proposed paying you 75c. on the dollar and you refused me credit ; this man offers you only 5c. and you will trust him with all he wants."

"My dear sir," explained Wholesale, "you are paying too much ; you won't have any capital left with which to commence business again." Whereupon the creditless retailer went his way, wondering who originated the proverb, "Honesty is the best policy."—New York Observer.

SUGAR AS OLD AS THE WORLD.

SUGAR was known to the Chinese and used by them as early as 1200 B.C., claims an exchange. This statement rests on tradition partly, but it is a historical fact that during the Tsin dynasty, about 200 years B.C., the article was well known and was manufactured in relatively considerable quantities in China. Students of ancient Hindoo history and industries claim the discovery for the East Indians, but it is more than probable that in this, as in many other inventions ascribed to the Hindoos and the Japanese, the knowledge came to them from China originally and was subsequently returned to China, where, in the meantime, the art had been lost or forgotten.

The claim of the honor for the Hindoos rests on the fact that the expedition under Nearchus, sent out by Alexander the Great about 325 B.C. to explore the Indus and the adjacent regions, on its return to Greece reported that they had found people there, who, from a cane and without the intervention of bees, made a honey (syrup or molasses). This is the earliest historical mention of sugar among the "people of the West." It appears to have been utterly unknown to the Egyptians, Babylonians, Chaldeans, Jews and the Greeks prior to the event mentioned above. Galen, the physician and pharmacologist, who flourished and wrote 140-190 B.C., prescribed sugar as a remedy in certain cases.

In England, sugar seems to have remained almost unknown, except to the learned, until after the discovery of America. It was so costly a luxury that, in 1455, it is of record that a lady, the wife of a very rich gentleman, besought her husband, as the richest gift that he could bring her on his homecoming from the metropolis, to fetch her a pound of sugar. Even at the beginning of the eighteenth century, Great Britain consumed but about 12,000,000 lb. of sugar. To-day, England alone uses more than 100 times that amount.

The method of purifying or refining sugar was introduced in England in 1659, though the art had been known in Constantinople for several hundred years, it having been discovered or invented by the Arabs, who kept it a close secret, which was finally learned by those unbiquitous wanderers and traders, the Venetians, who, it is said, learned it of the Sicilian Saracens in exchange for goods the market value of which exceeded 100,000 crowns—which, considering the value of money at that period, would be equivalent to $5,000,000 now.

GROCERY ORDER GETTING.

A prize was recently offered in England for the best essay on "How to Become a Successful Canvasser for Retail Grocery and Provision Orders," and the following brief but pointed composition was adjudged to be the best submitted. Perchance a few hints may be derived therefrom :

"Dress well but not showy; but neat, clean and smart. Look bright and cheerful: banish everything but the business on hand from your mind. When the maid answers the door ask for the mistress. Do not tell the maid your business if you can help it, or you may be refused an interview. Point out to the lady the advantages your firm can give, and make a point of the convenience it will be for you to call for orders and save her the trouble of shopping. Have some seasonable line, good and cheap, to introduce. If it is a specialty of your firm so much the better. If your chance of opening an account seems small, get a promise from the lady to try the samples you propose sending. When you return to the shop, make up samples of tea, coffee, butter and other specialties you have, neatly wrapped and addressed to the lady herself (otherwise the samples may get no further than the servants), advising same by letter sent through the post. Keep your eye on empty houses. As soon as taken, get to know who the new tenants are and where they are living. If not too far away call on them personally, soliciting their custom when they come to your district. If too far away for you to call, write to them. Be at the new residence when they arrive. Little kindnesses like these often lead to business. Have a list of charwomen you can recommend; people coming from another town often ask. Send what is ordered, and not substitutes. Give every attention and no cause for complaint, and so retain customers once secured."

A MAN'S OWN BUSINESS.

Stick to it; 1893 caught thousands of individuals, firms and corporations with too many irons in the fire. It swamped them. They dropped like rows of sticks. The majority of business men and manufacturers can make money in the particular line in which they have been schooled. The majority of business men drop money when they go into side ventures. This country of ours is a country of ups and downs. We have been down for five years. We will now have several years of fair prosperous times. But the day of panics is not over. Panics will come again. In the days of prosperity, avoid outside speculation. Concentrate your capital in the business in which you are engaged. Put yourself in a position where you can go to bed at night owing no man a dollar. Then panics, long periods of depression and financial stringency for you will have no terrors.

A great many men seem to take considerable pride in being connected with a variety of enterprises. Once in a while those side enterprises pay. Twice in a while they lose. Those men die, as do all others, but their estates are harder to settle. The other fellows engaged with in the side enterprises "scoop" the estate. Liabilities never shrink. Stick to your own business and wipe them out.

If you can make more money than your business requires, don't entangle yourself with new alliances, but spend the surplus money, or give it to charity, and enjoy life. —Frank Sibley.

THE REAL COMPLIMENT.

The merchant who has it said of him that "he keeps a good store," has received a compliment of which he may well feel proud, says The Minneapolis Commercial Bulletin.

The merchant who understands how to keep a stock of goods in order and bring it successfully before the public knows the art of good storekeeping.

The thing above all others that merchants should fight for is this understanding of how to keep a store. Then it will be that the real compliment referred to above can be paid them.

"Malmaison" Empire Pattern

This design is especially commendable for its correctness of style. The decorative theme of this pattern was executed from a similar design known as a souvenir of Empress Josephine. The brilliancy of its gilding, accuracy of printing and richness of its ground colorings, on fancy embossed paper, render it invaluable for high-class decorations.

No. 798.

A JOBBER ON SALESMEN.

IN a recent issue, The Grocery World publishes a very interesting talk with a Philadelphia jobber on the question of the future of the traveling salesman :

"The jobber in question is himself a good salesman, and is a thorough believer in the value of traveling men as a distributing medium. His one aim day and night is to get good men. He will pay good men the salaries he can to still leave a modest profit for himself. He has tried every way of getting new men, and frankly admits that his efforts have been attended with only very slight success.

"There are three ways a house like this can get salesmen," said this jobber, in conversation. "It can either get them from other houses, or advertise for them and pick them up wherever they are to be picked up, or put men on the road who have never been on before—in other words, make your salesmen to order.

"Now I am free to admit," asserted the jobber, "that while the good salesman will always have a place, conditions seem to be working to force the employer of traveling men to use other means to sell his goods. I'll give you my experience in each of the three ways I name.

"I have tried getting salesmen from other houses. For instance, when I would hear of a good man, especially where he covered a territory I was anxious to reach, I would make him an offer to come with me. I used to think this dishonorable, but I have reached a point now where I do as others do. Everybody else seems to do it, and so shall I.

"Well, I have succeeded in getting good men by this method, but the trouble is, that when you pay what they consider themselves worth, and overbid their present salary, you have got the expense where you can't make any money. I have several good men that I had to let go—they were not making any money for us.

"Then, I have advertised for salesmen. I have advertised in daily papers, and I have advertised in trade papers. I have advertised in trade papers all over the country. The results I got were nothing to speak of. I'm coming to believe that good men don't answer advertisements. Through these advertisements I got an awful riff-raff. Hardly one of them was worth the dynamite it would take to blow his brains out. There were men down on their luck who had whole volumes of excuses why they were out of a job ; men who had failed at everything else, but thought they could set the river on fire selling goods. There were some men among them who had good references, and a lot of these I gave a trial, but practically none of them amounted to anything. I don't know whether they could sell some other line ; they couldn't sell mine, and each one had some defect in the goods to point out why he was unable to sell them. In no case was the fault theirs ; in every case it was with the goods.

"At last, in desperation, I started to make my own salesmen. I got hold of the best raw material I could, and sent it out on the road. This plan pays the best in the end, but it is tremendously expensive. Few, if any, of these greenhorns make money for you from the start, whatever they may do after a while. I have had some new men to be successful from the start, but they were extremely rare. The worst of this plan is that you must give a man a lengthy, expensive trial before you can tell whether he is going to turn out well or not. If he turns out bad, your money is gone."

A SMART SALESMAN.

The Washington Evening Star tells a story of a Kentucky postmaster, which illustrates the value of credit and the resourcefulness of both buyer and seller in the case, rather than the advantages enjoyed by Kentucky trading postmasters.

Most salesmen would have left the trader to buy the postage stamps of the Government, and by so doing lose the sale of his goods. The trading instinct in this instance came to the fore and made both ends meet.

"I obtained a peculiar order from a Kentucky storekeeper," said a cigar salesman. "I left the railroad to work some interior towns and stopped at the country stores en route. At one of these places I found a man whom the commercial agencies gave a good rating, and who acted as postmaster as well as storekeeper. I handed him my card and he said :

"'Thar ain't but one thing yo' kin sell me.'

"'What is that?' I inquired.

"'Yo' kin sell me 'bout $50 wuth o' stamps, envelopes an' postal kyards.'

"'Why, you can get them from the Government.'

"'No, I kain't. Yo' see they won't credit me. I hav ter sell stamps and put 'em on people's bills, but th' Government won't let me hev none 'thout sendin' th' money. 'Tain't right, o' cose, fer I'm good, they orter know thet. But I hain't got a stamp nor a kyard in th' office, an' no way ter git none. I'll hav ter buy 'em somewhars.'

"After becoming convinced of his solvency, I sold him a line of stamps, stamped envelopes and post cards, to be shipped with a bill of cigars."

Benson's Prepared Corn

There is no adulteration in Benson's Prepared Corn—there is no need to adulterate because it has sold entirely on its merits as an absolutely pure Prepared Corn for over forty years. The delicacy of its flavor is almost proverbial.

Comparisons are made with Benson's Prepared Corn as the standard—you hear this everywhere—"It's just as good as Benson's." You know what "just as good" means—an endeavor to sell an inferior article for a lower price. Benson's Prepared Corn is the standard—forty years have proved it so beyond a question.

MONSOON
INDO-CEYLON TEA.

The ever-increasing sales of "Monsoon" is the best argument we can advance. Every grocer should keep it in stock, and push it vigorously.

Sales could not go on increasing with any line of goods unless the value was there.

There is no tea the equal of "Monsoon"—all your customers will tell you so once you let them try.

SOME IDEAS AND IMPRESSIONS.

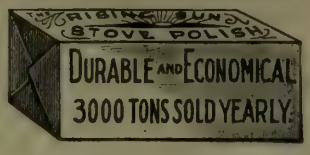
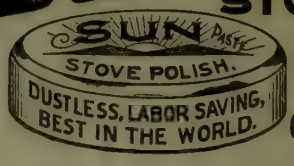
IDEAS are to be gathered and impressions received every moment of the day, whether we are at home or abroad. But the farther we go from home the larger is the crop of both which it is possible to reap. And the wider we keep our ears and eyes open—and the closer our mouths shut, I fancy I hear someone say—the greater will be the impressions we shall receive and the more numerous will be the ideas we shall gather. I have recently returned from a holiday trip to New York, and the thought has occurred to me that perhaps some at least of the readers of THE CANADIAN GROCER would not be altogether uninterested if I were to unravel a few of the impressions and ideas gathered in Greater New York, as the second city in the world is now called.



I will strive real hard not to venture any opinions. I have a wholesome dread of giving opinions, especially upon such matters as these, after having, some years ago, listened to that famous French humorist with an Irish nom de plume, Max O'Rell, dilate upon the poor taste of a brief sojourner in a strange land venturing opinions regarding said strange land. In order that I may not stray from the path of "impression" into that of "opinion," I have turned up the dictionary, and there find that "impression" is "an effect produced upon the organ of sense by an external object." "Opinion," on the other hand, is "a conclusion or judgment held with confidence, but falling short of positive knowledge." Should I, peradventure, stray from the path of "impression," try and think it is more the fault of the head than of the heart.

I have often been told that New York is a "great city." I never thought of asking in what particular was meant. But my impression of New York is that it is great in almost every way you choose to take it; great in area and great in air-ward tendency (vide sky scrapers); great in badness and great in goodness; great in municipal corruption and great in municipal good government; great in saloons and great in churches; great in bad men and great in good men; great in fakes and great in sound business methods; great in foreign population and great in native population.



Were anyone to ask me which abounded most in New York, goodness or badness (and when I say goodness or badness I do not mean moral goodness alone. I mean that in part; but also good government, good business methods, etc., as far as I could see), I would unhestatingly give the verdict in favor of goodness. Remember, of course, that that is my impression. I confess I did not grovel in the slime in a particular effort to find the worst features of the city. My impressions were obtained by, in many instances, a superficial observation. But that is how my impressions of other large cities have been obtained, and therefore it is only fair that I should form my impressions of New York from the same point of view. It may be that I have been influenced in returning a verdict on my impressions by the fact that my realizations of New York were a great deal better than my anticipations.

But, while the general appearance of the city, with its well-paved and well-cleaned streets, its numerous and well-kept parks, its massive, substantial, and, in many instances, handsome buildings, impressed me a great deal, yet, I do not think anything impressed me so much as its commercial importance. In commercial importance New York is truly great. I am perfectly aware that Chicago looks upon New York as being somewhat slow commercially. New York, when compared with Chicago, may be slow. But whether it is or not, it has the trade. And then, it is not always the machine which is making the most noise or that is revolving the fastest that is doing the most work. The number and extent of the business houses, the traffic on the railways, the congested vehicular traffic on the streets, the ocean leviathans, like the Oceanic, unloading and loading at the piers, the perpetual hustle of the tooting tugs in the harbor with their tows of canal and railway barges, all impresses one that he is unquestionably within the commercial hub of the continent.

There is one business section of the great city which I shall never forget whatever else I may forget. And it was not because of its vastness, although it was vast enough. It was because of its uniqueness. I have reference to what is commonly termed the Polish Hebrew district. Along the edge of the sidewalks, on both sides of this street, up that street and down another, were ranged push-carts built after the manner of those we see trundled over Toronto's streets by Italian fruit pedlars. Each cart was almost in close touch with the other. And on these carts, what a conglomeration of merchandise! Here a wagon devoted to dry goods. And such dry goods! Strips of silk, pieces of cotton, ends of woollen goods and goodness knows what not, all piled together like the rag heap in a factory, from whence to me it certainly seemed to have come. Next to a push-cart of dry goods would probably be a push-cart with ill-smelling and ill-looking fish. Then another with odds and ends of china or hardware. Push-carts with big, brown loaves of bread there were galore, and push-carts with vegetables and push-carts with everything under the sun there were by the score, while men who evidently possessed no vehicles paraded up and down the streets in the district with their merchandise over arm or shoulder or around neck trying to find customers. Although it appeared to me as if every Polish Hebrew in the district was in business for himself, every one of them seemed to have numerous customers. And these customers, with numerous dirty off-spring trailing after them crowded the sidewalks to suffocation. I shuddered as I wormed my way in and out among them. But it was not from any fear of bodily injury. It was fear of something which I more than suspected these people carried on their uncleanly persons.

From such people as these in Canada, good Lord deliver us! They are the most loathsome-looking and the most unintelligent-looking specimens of humanity I ever set eyes upon. The residents of the Chinese and Italian districts were infinitely superior to them.

"The Polish Hebrew district is a foul and a sore spot in New York," sighed the managing editor of a New York daily as we conversed one day. "What to do with it and the population that is crowded within it is a problem I do not know how we are going to solve."

"My God, man, what can you expect!" remarked another man who is something of a social reformer. "Look at the lives they were compelled to lead in Europe, and now look at the way in which they are hived in New York. No wonder they are such miserable-looking creatures."

And what else can you expect? The trail of the oppressor is over them all.

THE WORLD'S BIGGEST GROCERY.

No grocer, we should fancy, could visit Paris without seeing many things that would profit him from a business point of view—that is, of course, if he makes good use of his time and of his eyes. It is undoubtedly a city of great grocery establishments. The largest of these is conducted under the name of Felix Potin. The founder's father, who cultivated his own land at Arpajon (Seine-et Oise), desired to make a lawyer of his son, and Felix was put into an office at the age of 16, but the lad had an irresistible desire to become a grocer, and before he was 24 years old he had started in business. He became in time perhaps the biggest grocer in the world. Felix Potin acted splendidly during the siege of Paris. He refused to allow his stock of eatables—which had by that time become immense—to be bought up by speculators, and he rationed carefully the supplies of food, which he doled out to the public at the same prices as before. He thus sold £80,000 worth of food for which he might easily have obtained £250,000 of English money. It is sad to think that this large-hearted man died in the year following the war at the early age of 51.—London Grocers' Monthly.

PROTECTING CHECKS.

ACCORDING to The London Post, Mr. Frank Nowlan has proved to the satisfaction of himself and many to whom he has exhibited his work, that none of the existing methods of protecting checks is of any use whatever, if the forger only knows his business. Growing out of his experiments in this direction, he has produced what he considers the absolutely safe check, which is described as follows:

When held to the light it will be seen that in the parts intended to be written on there are colored lines, very much like the lines on which musicians write their manuscripts. The Nowlan check consists of two pieces of paper. On one of these the lines are ruled with an ink of India red, or any other prominent color, mixed with an easy soluble mucilage. The second piece is laid on over these lines. In other words, the check consists of two pieces of paper superimposed, united by mucilage, with lines on the inner surface of one of the two pieces. As soon as any liquid reagent is applied, in order to remove the writing on the surface, the mucilage between the two sheets becomes moist. The color then no longer keeps to the lines, but wanders and forms blots and blurs, which are visible on both sides of the check and can in no wise be removed. Mr. Nowlan's invention was, a short time since, submitted to the London Bankers' Association, all the members of which, we are informed, being greatly pleased with the simplicity and certainty of the method exhibited for preventing check alterations.

NEW SOUTH WALES PASTORAL INDUSTRY.

In view of the steadily-increasing Australian export trade in frozen meat, some facts in connection with the New South Wales pastoral industry may not be out of place. In 1860, the estimated number of sheep in the colony was 6,119,163; in 1891, the figures were 61,831,416. Since then the numbers have persistently decreased, until in 1898 they stood at 41,241,004, a result of the severe droughts in the pastoral districts. But the recuperative powers of the pasture lands are simply marvelous. How many sheep could be sustained by the colony under a system of artificial feeding and watering may hereafter become a question of national interest. In 1870, the quantity of wool exported from New South Wales was 34,608,600 lb.; in 1891 it was 255,204,601 lb.; in 1898 it was 280,948,406 lb. Under the present conditions of pasturage the number of sheep in the colony is, in a favorable season, too great to be properly maintained, so that the disposal of the surplus is an important question. Hence the prominence given to the export trade in frozen meat. There are already in the colony works for preserving mutton, whose output for the year 1897 amounted to a little over 750,000 sheep, while the frozen meat trade required some 1,066,000 more. During 1897, 627,000 sheep were boiled down for tallow. During 1895 the shipments of frozen meat comprised 1,021,006 carcases of mutton and 88,719 quarters of beef; 1896, 1,372,373 carcases mutton and 16,286 quarters beef; and during 1898, 1,095,568 carcases of mutton, and 30,593 quarters of beef. The average output of tallow for the last five years was 42,150 tons per annum.—Australian Trading World.

RUBBER BANDS.

"Rubber bands have supplanted twine to a great extent in the last few years," observed a salesman in a drug store as he slipped a band around a package. "Up to ten years ago rubber bands were seldom seen outside of a court house or a lawyer's office, and their use was confined almost exclusively to the filing of court documents and paper. Now you find them everywhere. Bands are used on all small packages in drug stores, and they have become an important factor in the grocery business. They answer the same purpose as twine, and are adjusted much easier. And then a more symmetrical package may be put up with the bands, and that is the pride of a good salesman. Yes, the rubber band has come to stay."—Philadelphia Record.

AN UP-TO-DATE QUEBEC GROCERY

It is not every day that one has the pleasure of entering a thoroughly up-to-date grocery store such as that of Mr. A. Grenier, of Quebec. Mr. Grenier, being every inch a business man, sets the example for his clerk to follow; one glance around the store convinces one of that. One thing he has in his window, which is very attractive, is an extra large coffee mill run by electricity, with the figure of a Chinaman at the wheel. The figure is so life-like that a person on the opposite side of the street might easily take it for a real, live Chinaman.

CEYLON GREEN TEAS.

The "Salada" Tea Company must apologize to the hundreds of retail grocers because of their inability to fill their orders for green Ceylon teas. They state that there has been such a tremendous rush for these teas that they ran out of their first shipment long before they expected to. Their second shipment they expect to hand within the next week, when all back orders will be filled. They also state that the public is receiving the green Ceylon teas with great favor, and they believe these teas are destined to supplant Japan Tea; in fact, that they will have the same effect on Japan tea as Ceylon blacks have had on China blacks.

NINE MONTHS OF CEYLON TEA SHIPMENTS.

THE OVERLAND TIMES, of Ceylon, says: "The past quarter has shown a very satisfactory advance in the Australian shipments, and the setback in the second quarter has been more than adjusted; the advance in the supply to Russia, though not up to the sanguine estimates of the beginning of the year, is well sustained; the revived demand from America in the autumn, consequent on the exhaustion of old stocks in the United States, has already commenced; and, although the total to the United Kingdom for the nine months indicates a small increase, it is accounted for by the heavy shipments of April-June, and last year's total will probably not be exceeded in 1899. If there is an increase of a couple of millions it will be due to the strong demand, assisted by the unexpected shortage from India and the reduced home stocks. The quantity offered in the Colombo market exhibits a substantial increase; and the business of the next three months should be of a thoroughly satisfactory character. Here are figures which substantiate the foregoing observations:

HAS WON FAME WITH MERCHANTS.

One of the most unique articles of the present age and one that has met with unbounded success all over the continent is the Boeckh Patent Adjustable Display Table. They are in use by nearly every dealer, wholesale and retail, who has up-to-date ideas of store decorating and window displays. Merchants who have them in use say they now sell more goods in a day than they formerly could in a week. Owing to their neatness in design, and finish in several colors of wood to match store fixtures or counters, and several angles and positions which they can be easily adjusted to, they are found suitable for any lines of business, and are seen all over Canada, from ocean to ocean.

THE CANADIAN GROCER is informed by the manufacturers, Boeckh Bros. & Company, of Toronto, that sales are constantly on the increase, both through their travelers and letter orders. Messrs. Boeckh issue a neat illustrated booklet showing 11 different styles and designs, also valuable illustrations and ideas how to decorate stores or windows.

MARITIME BOARD OF TRADE.

Editor CANADIAN GROCER,—From all parts we hear great praise of the able and complete report that appeared in THE CANADIAN GROCER of August last, of the convention of the Maritime Board of Trade at the annual session in St. John, N.B.

No other journal in the Dominion had anything like it, and I trust this interest in the future work of the board will still be shared by THE CANADIAN GROCER, and that the doings of all the boards in Canada may receive some attention.

It would be a strong drawing card if THE GROCER would become the organ of the various boards of trade. As it is now, there seems to be no system, and if it was not for the kindness of the local press one would hear very little regarding board of trade work.

The Maritime Board, as far as possible, is doing good work. A circular has been sent to all the local boards and strong efforts made to bring in the boards not yet affiliated, and also to induce towns having no boards to form such.

The day is not far distant when all towns in Canada that want to be rated as progressive and up-to-date will have to have a board of trade. A good sign of the times in the Provinces is that professional men are taking an interest in board of trade work, where formerly it was merchants only who became members. Now, we find lawyers, doctors, and even clergymen as members.

I inclose copy of circular, and shall be pleased if you will make some comments.

If trade journals will only keep the aims and benefits of boards of trade before their readers, I am sure it will be much easier to carry on the work and be the means of interesting those localities that, so far, have had no such organization. With such an immense number of readers as THE CANADIAN GROCER has, and with the kindly interest expressed in the past, I would still gratulate themselves upon the measure of success so far attending their efforts, the fact must not be forgotten that much still remains to be done.

Many important business centres are yet without an organized board, while scarcely half of the local boards already organized, though doing good work in their own location, are not yet affiliated with the larger organization, and thus stand in the way of their greater usefulness.

No community, nor individual in it, but is vitally interested in one or more of the half-dozen interests upon which we as a people depend. The farmer, fisherman, lumberman, miner, manufacturer and shipowner all stand to be benefited by united and intelligent efforts; whether these look to methods or Legislature enactments as relative to our home industries or foreign trade. Tourist travel and the encouragement of immigrants suitable for these Provinces are also subjects worthy of careful consideration.

Now can we not during this year?

I. Promote the formation of boards in towns where such an organization would be beneficial both locally and in the wider field.

II. Induce all the boards of the Maritime Provinces to come into line with the Maritime, i. e., affiliate and work.

III. So perfect our organization and so carefully arrange our work, both administrative and deliberative, that the best results may be obtained, ever remembering that we are working for the material advancement of the Maritime Provinces, while, at the same time we are to not forget the moral and uplifting tendencies which our efforts should have, our motto being "non sibi sed patriae."

In conclusion, let me ask you, at your earliest convenience:

1st. To report the name of the member appointed by your board as member of the council of the Maritime Board.

2nd. Report membership of your board and its state of efficiency.

3rd. Remit any arrears of per capita tax due the Maritime Board of Trade.

Yours respectfully,

G. E. CALKIN, Sec.-Treas.

Shrimps in 1 & 2-lb. cans may be had from Lucas, Steele & Bristol. The firm also have a supply of the famous "Carabus" in ½-lb. cans from the Pacific.

Lucas, Steele & Bristol have another lot of Digby chickens to hand; also lengthwise herrings and China Sea salmon, and genuine No. 1. mackerel in 20-lb. pails.

Rock-bottom prices and an excellent selection to choose from in Malaga raisins—layers, clusters and loose—are moving these goods rapidly with The Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

COOPERATIVE BUYING.

The Boston Cooperative Buyers' Association has been somewhat prominent during the past few years, particularly in connection with the grange, and there has been much discussion over whether or not the principle on which the association operated was sound. The company, however, has become insolvent, and is settling its affairs in that way. We have always believed that the name, at least, was a misnomer, as there was nothing of a cooperative nature about it. It merely acted as a middleman, doing business for a less profit than other middlemen, with the result that it became insolvent. The only true way to cooperate in buying, and be within the limits of legitimate business principles is to mass orders and pay cash, obtaining all possible discount and concessions that can be legitimately made to large buyers for cash. A STRONG CHEESE MARKET.

CHEESE appears to be, on the whole, well maintaining, rather than losing, its strength. During the past week, as high as 11⅜c. per lb. has been paid at the factories for round lots of September cheese, and 11⅜ to 11½c. per lb. has been freely paid for October make. The outside figure was paid for 500 boxes for export. A round lot of November cheese changed hands at 11½c.

The statistical position in Canada is decidedly strong, there not being 2,000 cheese unsold west of Toronto.

We have evidently yet to feel the keenest effect of the drought of last summer.

The make of cheese in Great Britain is also short, being estimated at about 25 per cent. less than last year.

Another significant feature of the situation is the somewhat unique fact that little, if any, cheese is now being consigned to commission dealers in Toronto. As a result, the latter are much freer buyers than usual.

Wholesale dealers in Toronto are, this week, getting 11½c. for July and August makes, while, for September and October cheese, 11¾ to 12c. is the idea as to price.

CURRANTS SLIGHTLY EASIER.

Currants have been exhibiting some irregularity in the primary market lately.

The market at first eased off quite a little. This induced some buying in Canada for exportation, but a sharp advance which followed put a stop to business. Now, the market is again slightly easier in Greece, but all attempts so far to buy at low prices have been unsuccessful.

The basis is now only slightly below that of the earlier importations.

The easier feeling in the primary market cannot, for some time at any rate, affect prices on the Canadian market, even should the weakness abroad be maintained.

HALIFAX ILLUSTRATED.

The people who live in the large cities down by the Atlantic, are by no means asleep these days in bringing to the attention of the world the facilities of their respective seaports.

We are reminded of this by a special supplement of The Industrial Advocate, which is devoted entirely to describing and illustrating the port of Halifax, N.S., and the leading industries of the city.

The front cover, giving a birdseye view of Halifax is an exceedingly striking piece of work. In fact, the whole number is handsome and most creditable to the publishers.

Those who have not yet had the privilege of visiting the capital of Nova Scotia, can obtain an excellent idea of its extent and importance from a perusal of this special supplement of The Industrial Advocate.

BRISK LUMBER OPERATIONS.

The demand for provisions of all kinds from the lumber camps has been exceedingly good this season. Renewed activity is now reported from the big camps in the north as a result of the judgment against the Michigan lumbermen. It is realized now that the greatest possible cut that can be made this season will be insufficient to meet the demands for lumber next year. Men are still scarce and operations continue to be limited below the requirements of the big sawmillers.

CHEESEMEN WANT PROTECTION.

THERE is a movement on the part of the dairy interests of New York and other cheese-producing States to have a national law passed to prevent fraudulent labeling of cheese.

Complaint is made that Ohio cheese is branded as Wisconsin make, and that cheese from both these and other States are branded as New York make in order to get the better prices which are paid for the product of the last named State.

The counterfeiting of State brands is given by those interested in the business as a reason for the falling off in the export trade in United States cheese, inasmuch as the offerings of much inferior cheese from that country has left it in poor repute in foreign markets, where it has been ousted by the superior Canadian article.

In times past, the Canadian cheese industry suffered from this counterfeiting of brands, as the United States article was shipped to this country and transhipped from here as Canadian cheese. The law which put an end to this was a good thing for the Canadian cheese industry.

The Utica, N.Y., Board of Trade, which is taking the matter up in the United States, has interested Congressman James S. Sherman in the matter, and it is likely to secure attention at the next session of the United States Congress.

It will be a good thing for the cheese industry of the United States if the law desired is enacted.

SALT AND SCARCITY OF CARS.

The scarcity of cars on the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific railways is beginning to seriously affect the salt trade.

Some retail dealers are without a barrel of salt in their stores, and are telegraphing and writing the wholesale houses to hurry forward orders which had been placed some time ago.

It has been intimated to THE CANADIAN GROCER that the railways are considering the advisability of increasing the freight rates on salt about 25 per cent. This would mean the addition of $2.50 to the price of a car of salt.

In view of the difficulty of getting delivery of salt, it is obvious dealers should not leave the placing of their orders till the last moment.

BUSINESS MEN AND PARTY GOVERNMENT.

DISSATISFACTION with the party system of government is becoming more and more pronounced in this country. And the dissatisfaction is not without cause.

We put A out of office because it has been an unprofitable servant. But, ere long, we discover that B is little, if anything, better than A. Both are influenced by the professional politician with a "pull" instead of by sound business principles. It is a fatal influence, but the spell of it neither party when in office, appears to possess the power to resist.

Although government by party has been with us so long that we have got to think that it will be with us forever, we cannot after all claim for it immutability. We may not perhaps see in futurity anything that is going to replace it. But it does not follow that there will be no change.

Everyone who wishes to see good government must certainly hope that the party system with its recrimmations, its factious opposition, and its perverseness, blocking desirable legislation, will ultimately give place to something that is better—something that is more businesslike.

But, while the system of government by party is not immutable, it is not likely that this generation at least will see it take its departure. It will certainly be with us for a good many years to come. Because that is so, however, it does not follow that we should sit down and await the dawn of the political millennium.

When a man has a piece of machinery which has seen its best days and is no longer effective, he does not discard it until he can replace it with one which is better.

The party system of government is undoubtedly defective, and, while we may fix it up a little to-day by changing the party in power, we know from experience that by to-morrow night a number of screws will be loose again. But we yet see no chance of finally discarding it. In the meantime, it is our duty to keep on "fixing," until at last we shall have learned how to make a brand new system of government machinery.

If we are passive in regard to the matter we certainly cannot expect to improve the old or create that which is new. Reform is only secured by aggressiveness.

As we have said time and again before, there is no class more concerned in good government than the business men of the country, and it is upon them that the duty of leading in this movement falls.

Good government is dependent upon the independent factors that compose the commonwealth. By independent factors we do not mean men without any party affinity whatever. We mean men who, while they may lean to this or that party, are not so firmly wedded to it as to follow it through bad as well as through good report.

And, after all, is it not only by being true to principles, rather than subservient to party, that we can hope to secure better government for to-day and a better system for to-morrow?

A STRONG COFFEE MARKET.

A DECIDEDLY strong position has been assumed by the coffee market. There has been a persistent advance for some days in Brazilian coffees in the primary markets, until the total appreciation in values is considerable.

Green Rio coffees, which, until quite recently, were selling in New York at 6c. per lb., are now up to 7 ⅝c.

On the Toronto market green Rio coffees which sold at 7c. a week ago are up to 7 ½c. per lb., and it is the opinion that there will be a sharp advance in values before a great while, if the present conditions long obtain in the primary market.

Mild grades of coffee are also appreciating in value, prices having advanced 5 to 10s. per cwt. in London, England, and, owing to the briskness of the demand and the fact that stocks are getting into small compass, a further rise is anticipated.

THE ORANGE MARKET.

The principal, or rather the only, orange that has been on the Toronto market for some months is the Jamaica variety. The quality of this orange has been irregular this year, some very poor as well as some very excellent stock having been received during the season.

The last shipments received were of excellent quality though rather on the green side. The demand is good, and an advance of $1 brings the price to $7 to $8 per bbl.

But this variety is not the only orange that will be here for the Christmas trade. Valencias are expected on the market next week. They will likely rule about $5 a case. Navels will be offered a week or so later, likely at from $4 to $5 per box, according to size. Dealers state that their advices give them reason to expect both of these varieties to arrive in excellent condition.

A CALL FOR ORGANIZATION.

IN another part of this issue is printed a letter from Mr. M. G. DeWolfe, President of the Maritime Board of Trade, which every reader of THE CANADIAN GROCER should peruse.

The tenor of the letter is a call for the organization of boards of trade, not only in the Maritime Provinces, but in other parts of the Dominion as well.

The call is a timely one, for never in the history of the country was there greater need for the formation of business men's organizations, call them boards of trade or whatever you like.

If the municipalities, the Provinces and the Dominion are to be efficiently administered they must be administered in a businesslike way. And who are there like business men who can see that this is done? None.

Until the business men do organize they will be as it were a mob, and a mob can accomplish nothing.

The Maritime Board of Trade is doing good work. There is no doubt about it, as everyone who has attended an annual convention of that body must be persuaded. But, while in the six years that that organization has been in existence a great deal of progress has been made, yet, there are still towns in the Maritime Provinces which are not represented in the organization. The officers of the board are energetically setting themselves to the task of bringing these in. And they are, as evidenced by Mr. De Wolfe's letter, also anxious for the business men throughout Canada to organize themselves into boards of trade.

Whatever THE CANADIAN GROCER can do in assisting the Maritime Board of Trade in the good work on which it is embarked will be most cheerfully done.

RETAIL MERCHANTS IN CONVENTION.

At the invitation of the Toronto Retail Merchants' Association, many merchants from various sections of Ontario assembled in the Temple building on Monday afternoon and evening to organize a provincial association. The chair was occupied by W. B. Rogers, president of the Toronto association.

Among those present were the following: J. H. Simpson, grocer, Guelph; W. J. Henry and John Reuttel, booksellers and stationers, Kincardine; R. Wilson, druggist, Cobourg; T O. Rowat and W. H. Ferguson, London; T. J. Boyd, jeweler, Ottawa; T. Crawford, boot and shoe dealer, St. Carharines; J. W. Ney, druggist, Bracebridge; J. F. Clarke, dry goods dealer, and S. T. Hopper, druggist, Port Hope; W. B. Rogers, furniture dealer, Toronto; E. Potts and H. Davies, fancy goods dealers, Toronto; John Butcher, J. S. Bond, D. Bell, T. Foster, Dallimore Bros., T. G. Crown, R. Higgins, J. Coutts, J. Short, F. Hall, John Doyle and Chas. Metley, grocers, Toronto; W. Russell, R. Hanna, S. Thompson, I. B. Johnson, boot and shoe dealers, Toronto; G. E. Gibbard, Hargreave Bros., J. R. Lee, J. B. Stevenson and J. Cuddy, druggists, Toronto; Geo. Lugsdin, saddler, Toronto; J. J. Hall and Geo. Boxall, Toronto; W. H. Evans, A. Britnell, J. Sutherland, B. McEntee and O. E. Bassman, booksellers, etc., Toronto; W. McBain and J. R. Hancock, tailors, Toronto; H. A. E. Coo, dealer in typewriters, &c., Toronto; E. Morphy, and Jas. Anderson, jewelers, Toronto; John Willmot, J. B. Davison and A. R. McDonald, butchers, Toronto; S. G. Little and J. T. Jones, dry goods dealers, Toronto.

President Rogers, in his opening address, explained the reason for calling the meeting. The Toronto association, he said, had come to the conclusion that in order to carry weight with the Ontario Legislature, the merchants of the Province should be interested in the work they were doing to better retail merchandising in the country.

The Toronto Retail Merchants' Association had been in existence for three years, and in that time had done much for the betterment of trade conditions. Among other evils they had combated was the departmental store trust. They had secured the conviction of one of the large departmentals for fraudulent advertising, and in many ways had done an educational work which he hoped would bear good fruit.

THE DEPARTMENTAL STORE TRUST.

The simplification of court procedure for the collection of debts, adulteration of foods, the use of trading stamps, and other matters should receive consideration.

He suggested the formation of some central organization which might act as buyer for the retail dealers. It was a fact that some manufacturers graded their discounts in proportion to the size of orders received, or granted a rebate when a certain quantity of goods is purchased in the year. By taking advantage of these discounts or rebates the departmentals are placed on the same footing as the jobbers and obtain advantages over the small dealer.

In another respect the departmental store was, in Mr. Rogers' estimation, an evil, for, by and thus causing stores to be left vacant, they caused depreciation in the value of real estate. This lessened the taxpaying power of these properties. On the other hand, the departmentals, by borrowing large sums of money from the banks and purchasing large stocks, took advantage of the clause in the Assessment Act which exempts from the personality tax the amount of liabilities, and did not pay their share of taxation.

The constant search for "bargain goods" by these large stores had the effect of causing a great production of poorly-made, shoddy goods, which, by reducing their wages, struck a serious blow at the moral and material welfare of the working classes.

THE DIFFERENT FORMS OF LEGISLATION that have been prepared in various countries to overcome the evils of the departmentals were as follows:

I. A progressive tax on the annual turnover of all those engaged in retail trade.

II. A law to prohibit a merchant in certain-sized towns from selling under one roof more than a limited line of goods, according to a graded schedule prepared.

III. A graduated license law for those engaged in retail trade, enabling a merchant to engage in two or three lines of trade at a nominal license fee, but with a heavy graduated scale for each and every department thereafter added.

IV. A straight license law enabling a merchant to handle one line or group of goods, according to a schedule prepared, at a nominal charge of $1, and for every other line or group a license fee of from $3 to $5.

V. A combination of I. and IV., providing for the exemption from this tax of all merchants not doing more than a stated amount of business per year.

VI. A tax per capita on number of employes, and, in addition, a percentage tax on the rental value of the premises occupied.

The association had good precedent for the graduated feature of tax in the Ontario "Succession Duties" tax, and in the agreement between the city of Toronto and The Toronto Railway Company.

In a spirited and interesting discussion, the many questions suggested by Mr. Rogers were dealt with by the representatives of the various towns.

COMMITTEE ON LEGISLATION.

A committee on legislation was then appointed, consisting of the following: W. B. Rogers and G. E. Gibbard, Toronto; J. W. Ney, Bracebridge; R. Wilson, Cobourg; W. H. Henry, Kincardine; T. Crawford, St. Catharines.

The committee reported exhaustively on the various questions, and after discussion condemning trading stamps, and appointing a committee to find the best means to remedy this evil; in favor of a turnover tax bill, and in favor of such improvements in the law as are necessary to prevent fraudulent advertising and adulteration of foods, and asking the merchants of the country to interview, memorialize and petition members in favor of the reforms advocated.

RESOLUTIONS WERE PASSED

OFFICERS ELECTED.

The election of officers was then proceeded with, the following being chosen:

President—John Hargreaves, Toronto.
1st Vice-President—W. J. Henry, Kincardine.
2nd Vice-President—J. T. Boyd Ottawa.
Treasurer—G. E. Gibbard, Toronto.
Secretary—E. M. Trowern, Toronto

It was decided, as soon as a plan of campaign was prepared by the executive, that organizers should be sent out to build up the association throughout the Province.

ADVANCE IN PAPER BAGS.

THE CANADIAN GROCER last week intimated that an advace was probable in the price of paper bags. These expectations have been realized, the various manufacturers in the country having agreed upon a uniform list of prices.

The new discounts on paper bags when sold, shipped or delivered at one time to one buyer are as follows:

	Per Cent.
1,000,000 and over	40
500,000 and under 1,000,000	35 and 5
150,000 and under 500,000	35
50,000 and under 150,000	33⅓
20,000 and under 50,000	30
Under 20,000	27½

On all sacks a special discount of 5 per cent. may be allowed on lots of 10,000 and upwards when sold, shipped or delivered at one time to one buyer. Terms are 3 months or 3 per cent. cash discount if paid within 30 days.

Deliveries f.o.b. the following points: City of Quebec, Montreal, Hull, Que., Ottawa, Toronto, St. Catharines, Merriton. Freights may be equalized on any of these points.

The advance in price is considerable, for the highest discount allowed heretofore was 60 per cent., while, it will be observed, the maximum is 40 per cent. But, of course, it must be remembered the profits in the paper bag trade have been most unsatisfactory for some time, owing to competition.

ONTARIO MARKETS.

GROCERIES.

A GOOD business is still to be noted in the wholesale grocery trade in this Province, although the volume is perhaps not as large as it was. Sugar is about the only line in which there appears to be an unsettled feeling as to price, and that is due to the competition of the United States refined article. Canned goods are firmer, if anything, than they were a week ago. The same can undoubtedly be said of coffees, prices both at home and abroad having an upward tendency. Teas of all kinds continue to occupy a strong position, although the local market is at the moment quiet. The different wholesale houses have, this week, taken new season's Grenoble and Marbot walnuts into stock. They are meeting with a good demand. Business is active in all lines of European dried fruits; in fact, the principal demand is for these goods.

CANNED GOODS.

The volume of business in canned goods of any description is only small, but there is by no means any lessening of the confidence in the markets. Little if anything is offering from first hands. We hear of one lot of tomatoes offering, but the price asked by the holder is 92½c. net. to the wholesale trade. For the best known brands of tomatoes the wholesalers are asking 95c. to $1, and they are firm at these figures. The ruling price to the retail trade for corn is $1.05 to $1.10 per dozen. As low as $1 is heard occasionally, but it is by no means the ruling price. Peas are quoted all the way from 75 to 85c. for ordinary. But there are very few who are prepared to take inside figure, and the peas quoted at 75c. are not the best brands. Beans are firm at 85 to 90c. Canned fruits are firm, but there is very little business being done. While the trade in canned salmon is not active, business is probably brisker than is usual at this time of the year.

COFFEES.

The outside coffee markets are showing increasing strength. Mild grades of coffee have advanced 5 to 10s. per cwt. in London, England, and there is every prospect of their going higher as the demand is good and stocks are getting into small compass. Brazilian coffees continue to advance on reported damage to the crop by excessive rains. Coffees which sold in New York a short time ago are at the time of writing quoted at 7⅝c. Stocks of Rio coffee in Canada are light and a sharp advance is expected in the price to the retail trade. In fact, prices may be said to already be fractionally higher, 7½c. being quoted for coffees which were a week ago selling at 7c.

SUGARS.

There have been some fluctuations in the outside markets during the past week, but they have, as a rule, been small, namely, from ¾ to 1½d. per cwt. There has been a slightly easier feeling in New York as a consequence. In Canada the disturbing feature is the competition of United States refined sugar, the importations having been freer again of late, particularly at central points. The demand for refined sugar is fair for this time of the year, and quotations are without change.

See pages 29 and 30 for Toronto, Montreal, St. John, and Winnipeg prices current.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

The demand for syrups is not as brisk as it was, although a fair volume of busines is still being done. In molasses, trade is moderate, although a slight improvement has taken place in the demand, of late. The demand is principally for molasses, at from 23 to 27c. per gal.

SPICES.

There is a little being done in spices for importation. The market, generally, is strong and firm. Gingers are advancing, and the price of pepper keeps strong.

TEAS.

The market for Indian and Ceylon teas still maintains its strength. Teas, for a price, say 16c. per lb., are decidedly scarce on spot. The situation on spot would have been somewhat easier than it is but for the fact that the ss. Heathdene, which was carrying a large quantity of tea for Canada from Calcutta, had to put into St. Michaels on fire, naturally causing much delay. The extent of the damage to the tea has yet to be be determined. There is very little doing in Japan teas, but the market appears to be as steady as ever. China green teas are firm and in fair demand.

NUTS.

New Grenoble walnuts were received by the various wholesale houses this week. The shipment left Havre on November 10 and reached Toronto on November 27. This is seven days earlier than last year. Grenobles are being quoted to the retail trade at 13½c. per lb. New season's Marbots are also on the market, and are being quoted to the retail trade at 10½c.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

The rice market is firm, and according to advices from the primary markets prices are expected to rule higher than a year ago. Tapioca is decidedly strong, and to lay down to-day would cost nearly 5c. per lb.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS—Wholesalers are experiencing a good demand. Prices have been fluctuating somewhat in the primary market during the past week, but the bases of prices to-day are only slightly below those which ruled for the earlier importations.

VALENCIA RAISINS—Stocks in Denia are exhausted, and no more crop reports are expected from the primary markets this season. There is a good inquiry for Valencia raisins, and prices are firm. The ruling quotations are: Fine off-stalk, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb.; selected, 7 to 7½c; extra selected, 8½c.; layers, 7½c.

MALAGA RAISINS—Prices have advanced 1c. per lb. on Malaga muscatels in the primary market. This will naturally tend to stiffen quotations on the local market. The demand locally is good. The ruling quotations are: London layers, $1.60 to $1.75; black baskets, $1.90 to $2; blue baskets, $2.10 to $2.25; Dehesa clusters, $3 to $3.25; Royal clusters, $4 to $4.50; ¼ flats of black baskets, 75c.; ¼ flats of blue baskets, 85c.; ¼ flats of Dehesa clusters, $1; seeded Malaga muscatels, 10c. per lb. package; loose muscatels, 3½ to 4c.

CALIFORNIAN RAISINS—The is not much demand, on account of the high prices. We quote: 3-crown, 8½ to 9c.; 4 crown, 9½ to 10c. per lb.

Jamaica oranges, the only kind at present on this market, are in good demand, and, as supplies are light, the market is firm at $7 to $8, an advance of $1 per bbl. Valencias and Navels are expected on the market in a few weeks. There is a fair movement of lemons at steady prices. Sweet potatoes, cranberries, Almeria grapes and Spanish onions are in light demand. Prices are unaltered. Bananas are short of the demand, and an advance of 50c. is asked for the best grades. The range is now from $1.75 to $2.50 per bunch. A few Canadian grapes are still offering at 15 to 20c. per basket.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS — The market is steady. The receipts of strictly first-class stock are still scarce and 20c. is paid for such on the market. For good fresh-gathered stock prices are firm at 17 to 18c. Pickled stock is selling readily at 15 to 16c. per doz.

POTATOES — The market is slightly easier, cars on track Toronto now being worth 38 to 40c. per bag, a decline of 2c. Small lots out of store are firm at 45 to 50c.

BEANS — The market has steadied down, and further advances are unlikely. We quote $1.45 to $1.50 for hand-picked and $1.35 to $1.38 for prime.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES — The market is slightly easier. Evaporated apples are moving well at 8½ to 8¼c. in a jobbing way. At outside points dried apples are steady at 5¼ to 5¾c. for ordinary No. 1 stock and 6c. for No. 1 quarters. The jobbing market is fairly active at 6 to 6¼c. for ordinary.

POULTRY—There is not as much poultry offering here as the market could readily absorb. Prices of turkeys and geese have, consequently, advanced ½ to 1c. per lb. We quote: Turkeys, 9 to 10c. per lb.; geese, 6 to 6½c. per lb.; ducks, 45 to 60c. per pair; chickens, 25 to 40c. per pair.

GAME — The continued mild weather keeps the demand limited. Prices are, therefore, easy at last week's figures: 25c. per pair for teal and other small varieties; 40c. for blue bills; 65c. for pintails and redheads; 75c. for mallards and large black; $1 for canvasbacks, and 50 to 60c. per brace for partridges.

VEGETABLES — There is still a liberal supply of nearly all vegetables. Squashes are 25c. cheaper, otherwise there is no change. We quote: Cabbage, 40 to 50c. per doz.; red cabbage, 50 to 75c. per doz.; cauliflowers, 40 to 60c. per doz.; celery, 40 to 75c. per doz.; parsley, 10 to 15c. per doz.; pickling cucumbers, 40 to 60c. per hundred; muskmelons, 50 to 70c. per doz.; native watermelons, 50 to 75c.; onions, 40 to 60c. per bush.; green beans, 30 to 50c. per basket; squash, 75c. to $1 per doz.; vegetable marrow, 40 to 60c. per doz.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—The large offering of large rolls and prints which was noted last week has resulted in a decline of 1c. per lb. Rolls are 17 to 18c. and prints 18 to 19c. this week. Really good tubs are not so plentiful, and are firm at last week's prices, 17 to 18c. Creamery butter is easier, a decline of 1c. being noted in tubs and boxes, which makes the price 21c. per lb.

CHEESE—Though there seems to be a disposition on the part of some jobbers to sell at easier prices, the market is in a healthy condition. As high as 11½c. has been paid at factories for October makes within the last week. There is some July and August cheese offering in a jobbing way. The general jobbing quotation for late makes this week is 11¾ to 12c.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

The mild weather continues to limit the demand. Oysters are especially quiet. Stocks of both shell and bulk oysters and of frozen fish are large. Codfish are scarce. We quote: Trout, 7 to 7½c. Niagara whitefish, 8c.; pickerel, 7½c.; herrings, 4c.; halibut, 12½c.; Seattle salmon, 13 to 15c.; steak cod, 7c.; haddock, 5c.; finnan haddies, 6½ to 7c.; boneless fish, 4¾c.; quail-on-toast, 5½c.; steak cod, 6½c.; quintals of cod, 5¾c.; ciscoes, $1 per basket. Oysters, standards, $1.25;

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—There is but little fall wheat moving, as the market is quiet and cars are hard to get. The price outside shows a decline of ½c. in the week, the price now being 65½ to 66c. outside. There is a fair delivery of wheat on the street market. White and red wheat is 2c. cheaper. Goose wheat has declined 1c. We quote as follows: Wheat, white and red, 67 to 68½c.; goose, 67 to 68c.; peas, 62c.; oats, 31c.; barley, 43 to 44c.; rye, 54c. There is a moderate demand. Manitoba No. 1 hard is dull at last week's figures, 76½c. Toronto and West.

FLOUR—There is little life in the market. Prices are steady. We quote: Manitoba patents, $4; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.70; Ontario patents, $3.65 to $3.75; straight roller, $3.35, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—A decline of 10c. is shown in the price of standard oatmeal and rolled oats. Otherwise there is no change. A good business is doing. We quote as follows: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.50 in bags and $3.60 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.50 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.50; split peas, $4; pot barley, $4.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES — Cured hides are again ¼c. dearer. Otherwise, there is no change. We quote: Cowhides, No. 1, 9½c.; No. 2, 8½c.; No. 3, 7½c. Steer hides are worth ½c. more. Cured hides are worth 10¼c.

SKINS—The market is firm. No change is noted. We quote: No. 1 veal, 8-lb. and up, 10c. per lb.; No. 2, 8c.; dekins, from 40 45c.; culls, 20 to 25c. Sheep and lambskins are selling at 85c.

WOOL — The market is healthy and active. Prices are firm at last week's figures. We quote: Clothing wool, 17c.; combing fleece, 16 to 16½c.; unwashed, 9½ to 10c.

SEEDS.

The market is practically in the same condition as last week, though for extra choice to fancy lots of both red clover and alsike a slight advance on the prevailing quotations might be had. Dealers are offering $4.50 to $5 outside for red clover and $4.50 to $7 for alsike.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, November 30, 1899.

GROCERIES.

THE volume of business in general groceries has been somewhat diminished during the past week, but there is still a fair trade to note. No further changes of importance were noted up to this writing. Sugar is steady at the recent advance, and molasses is firm at the rise, with the possibility of going higher. Dried fruits are firmly held all around, and the strength conspicuous in canned vegetables for some time back is more marked, if anything. Rice is steady and spices are firm, while there has been a somewhat better movement in tea.

SUGARS.

The refined sugar market has been quiet during the past week, but prices are firm at the advance. This, however, is not a period of the year when activity is expected. Sales of granulated are noted at $4 45, and yellows at $3.65 to $4.30, as to grade. In raw sugar, the market for cane has kept steady in New York, the price of 96 test centrifugals being quoted at 4¼c. Beet sugar was cabled easier and ¼d. lower at the beginning of the week. Beet is quoted 10s. to 10s. 1½d. cost and freight Montreal.

SYRUPS.

There is no change in syrups, prices ruling steady and business extremely quiet at 1¾ to 2¼c. per lb., as to quality.

MOLASSES.

The firm feeling is fully retained in molasses, sales of 10-puncheon lots realizing 42c., but holders are averse to selling large lots, preferring to job out what they have on hand in a small way. The Guild price on Barbadoes is 42c. in carlots and 43c. in single puncheons. Porto Rico is offered at 41c.

DRIED FRUITS.

The firm feeling in dried fruits continues and prices are held at 6½ to 6¾c. for fine off-stalk, 7¼ to 7½c. for selected and 7½ to 7¾c. for layers.

Malaga raisins are steady in tone, and the same can be said of Sultanas.

Currants exhibit no change, prices ruling firm.

A fair demand is experienced for prunes. We quote: 80's to 90's, 6½c.; 70's to 80's, 7c.; 60's to 70's, 7½c.; 50's to 60's, 8½c., and 40's to 50's, 10c.

French prunes are purely normal, while Bosnias range from 6 to 6½c.

New dates have arrived and are selling at 5½ to 6c.

NUTS.

New Grenoble walnuts are quite strongly held at 13½c., and Marbots at 10c.

CANNED GOODS.

There is no change to report in canned goods, and prices generally are exceedingly firm, especially on all lines of vegetables. Corn is held at $1.05 to $1.10; tomatoes 90 to 95c.; marrowfat peas, 70 to 72½c.; early Junes, 77½ to 80c.; French peas, 90 to 95c.; beans, 90c.; one gallon apples, $2.25 to $2.50; 3-lb. do., 85 to 90c.; raspberries, $1.60; and strawberries, $1.55 per doz. Salmon are steady with no change of importance to report.

RICE.

There is a steady feeling in rice, but the movement is less active than it was. Standard B is held at $3.30 to $3.40.

SPICES.

The firm feeling in pepper is retained, and other lines are also steady. We quote: Nutmegs, 35 to 60c. per lb., as to size; mace, 45 to 50c. per lb., as to quality, and pimento, 8c.

COFFEES.

There is a good inquiry for coffee, and prices are unchanged. Maracaibo, in 25-bag lots, has been moved at 8½c.

TEAS.

A little more business is reported for some kinds, between 400 and 500 packages of medium Japans selling at 15 to 16c. Low grades have changed hands at 12½c. Blacks are steady, and greens show little change, a few lots moving at 16 to 16½c. A good distributing trade is reported by jobbers to be in progress.

FISH.

The fish market is steady, and prices all around remain as last quoted. The following quotations are for jobbing lots: No. 1 new Nova Scotian herring, $5.25 to $5.50 per bbl.; $2.50 to $2.75 per half-bbl.; N. B. do, $2.50 to $2.75; No. 1 green cod, $5 per bbl.; No. 1 large, $5.50; No. 2, $4 25; Labrador salmon, $13 to $13.50; British Columbian salmon, $13 to $13.50; No. 1 Red Sea trout, $10 to $12; No. 2 mackerel, $15.50 per bbl.; No. 1 green pollock and hake, $3.75; No. 1 green haddock, $4 25; No. 1 large round herrings, with milt and roe, $5.50; dried codfish, $4.60 to $4.75 per 112 lb.; large dressed do., $4.50 to $4.75 per case of 100 lb.; boneless codfish, 5½ to 6c. per lb.; smoked haddies, 6 to 7c. per lb.; St. John bloaters, $1 per box; Yarmouth do., $1; smoked herrings, medium, 12c.; Lock Fyne do., $1 per keg; large do., $3.50 per half-bbl.; kippered herrings, $1.25 per box and 65c. per half-box.

Fresh fish—Haddock, 4c. per lb.; dore, 7c.; market cod, 3c.; steak cod, 4c.

GREEN FRUITS.

Business in fruit is quiet. The apple market has shown a stronger tone, but prices show no change. Sales of No. 1 range between $2.75 and $3.50, and No. 2 $1.60 to $2. There is very little life in the grape market; blues are selling from 15 to 17c. per basket, and Niagaras 17 to 20c. per basket. There is a good demand for Almeria grapes at $4.50 to $6 per keg, as to weight and quality. Catawbas in small baskets sell from 22 to 25c. per basket. There is a fair demand for Jamaican oranges at $5 to $6 per barrel. The Californian orange market is beginning to open up. The first carload was shipped on October 30, 1899, and was forwarded to Canadian jobbers. Prices are quoted at $2 to $2.50 per box f.o.b. There has been a very heavy crop of cranberries this year, and lower prices are looked for in the near future. Sales this week range between $5.50 and $6.50 per barrel. Spanish onions are selling at 60 to 65c. per crate.

new-laid nearby stock sold at 22 to 23c.; choice candled, 20 to 20½c.; Montreal limed, 16c., and western culls 12 to 14c. per doz.

POULTRY—Trade in poultry was quiet, the demand being only for small lots, to fill actual wants on account of the continued mild weather. Turkeys sold at 8½ to 9c.; chickens, 6½ to 7c.; ducks, 8 to 8½c., and geese 6 to 6½c. per lb.

GAME—There was a good demand for partridge, and, as the offerings were small, prices rule firm at 60 to 65c. for firsts, and 35 to 40c. for seconds per brace.

MAPLE PRODUCT — The demand for maple product is limited, but values rule steady. Pure sugar is held at 10½ to 11c. and syrup at 65 to 75c. per tin.

HONEY—In honey, business continues quiet. White clover comb is quoted at 12c., and extract at 9c., and buckwheat at 8c. per lb.

BEANS — There is a steady demand for beans, especially from American buyers, and the tone of the market is firm. Choice hand-picked are quoted at $1.15 to $1.50, and primes at $1.37½ to $1.40.

ASHES—There is no change in the market for ashes. We quote: First sorts, $4.30; seconds, $4, and pearls, $5.15 per 100 lb.

DRESSED HOGS—There was no improvement in the demand on account of the mild weather, consequently trade was quiet, with no change in prices. In a jobbing way, light weights, sold at $5.50 and heavy, $5.25 per 100 lb.

PROVISIONS.

Owing to the unseasonable weather the demand for all lines has fallen off some; in consequence, the market is quieter, with only a moderate trade doing. The tone is steady and prices show no change. We quote as follows: Canadian short cut mess pork, $15.50; short cut back, $15, and heavy long cut mess, $15 per barrel. Pure Canadian lard in pails, 7¼ to 7¾c. per lb.; and compound refined, 6 to 6½c. per lb. Hams 11c. to 12½c., and bacon 11 to 12c. per lb.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.

FLOUR—There was no new feature in the situation of the flour market. The demand for small lots from both local and country buyers is fair, and an average trade is reported for the season. We quote: Winter wheat patents, $3.60 to $3.90; straight rollers, $3.40; in bags, $1.65; Manitoba patents, $3.90 to $4.20, and strong bakers', $3.60 to $3.70.

GRAIN—A feature of the local grain market continues to be the good demand from foreign buyers for Manitoba wheat, and some round lots were placed again to-day, including one lot of 50,000 bushels of No. 1 hard. There is also a good demand from shippers here for wheat in the Winnipeg market, and one firm's purchases amounted to over 100,000 bushels to-day. Business in coarse grains continues very quiet. Oats west of Toronto are offering at 26¼c.; peas at 57½c., and we understand that sales of buckwheat were made on spot at 50c., ex store. Spot prices are nominal for the present. Peas were quoted at 65¼c.; rye, 60½c.; No. 1 barley, 47½c.; No. 2 barley, 46½c.; feed barley, 45½c.; oats, 30 to 31½c., and buckwheat, 50c. in store.

OATMEAL—In rolled oats business is only of a small jobbing character, and values rule about steady at $3.50 per barrel and at $1.70 per bag.

FEED—The demand for feed is steady. Manitoba bran is selling at $15; shorts, $17 per ton, including bags; Ontario bran, $15.50; shorts, $16.50 to $17.50, and moullie $20 to $24 per ton in bulk.

HAY—There is a fair local demand for hay, and, as supplies are not excessive, prices rule steady. We quote: Choice No. 1, $10 to $11; No. 2, $8.50 to $9; and clover, $7.50 to $8 per ton in car-load lots.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

CHEESE—There was no new feature to note in the situation of the cheese market. The tone is firm and a small business was done at 11 to 11¼c. The Liverpool public cable was unchanged at 56s. 6d. for colored, and at 54s. for white.

BUTTER—The demand from local buyers was fair, but business for export account was quiet, and prices are unchanged at 19 to 19½c. for creamery.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,
ST. JOHN, N.B., November 30, 1899.

BUSINESS continues good. The river has kept open later than usual, and so has aided much in the forwarding of goods through that section of the Province. Prices in all lines are maintained and in many cases further high figures are noted. Sugar, is, however, slightly easier, and flour, if anything, is lower. Rather easier figures are also quoted on coarse salt. Our dealers are seeing the bad effect this year of selling goods to arrive at very small margins, as in raisins and canned goods they have in many cases lost quite large profits and in the former have—at least some have—lost money, being disappointed in not getting their stock, they had to pay more than they had sold the goods for to get them to fill their orders. If the market had gone down they would have found it necessary to have reduced their figures or lose their customers. It is a rule that does not work both ways, and therefore should be avoided.

OIL—Shipments are large with prices very high and firm at the advanced figures, prime white Canadian being higher in proportion than the other grades. The opposition company here have been at a disadvantage through not being able to get the oil and through the loss of their works by fire, so they have not been able to affect prices as was hoped. Lubricating oils show no change, but are firm. There is a fair business. Paint oils hold the advance with but slight business. In wax, the price is exceptionally high.

SALT—Liverpool coarse salt continues to arrive via Boston, two small cargoes coming to hand during the week, and the Manchester direct steamer now due has quite a quantity on board. There will be regular weekly arrivals from this out, but prices will be little, if any, lower. Quite a quantity has already been sold to arrive. There is a fairly active demand. In fine salt, both Canadian and English, prices are firmly held. We quote: Liverpool coarse, 50 to 55c. English factory-filled, 95c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20 to 22c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12 to 14c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per doz.; mineral rock salt, oc. per 100 lb.

CANNED GOODS—Steady sales are reported. Full figures are asked, and peas and string beans are beginning to follow corn and tomates. There are no weak spots in the canned goods market except it be such local packed fish as sardines and herring. In these the supply is rather large. Salmon have arrived quite freely during the week, but stocks are not large and prices are firmly held. The few lobsters offering are very high. Oysters are tending upward, and the present outlook is that they will be scarce. In meats, Canadian have not been advanced equal with the American, but the tendency is toward higher figures. In gallon apples, our dealers are offering very fine stock, Nova Scotian packed goods.

GREEN FRUITS—While there is, perhaps, a tendency to lower prices in apples, fancy stocks still command high figures. There is a good sale. Oranges move freely at even figures. Jamaicas have the sale, and very fine stock is held here. Valencias are expected this week. Lemons have a good sale; quality is fair. Prices show no change. Cranberries tend higher. So far, there has been active business. There are a few Canadian quince and grapes still to hand. Malaga grapes have better sale. Prices are quite low, with splendid stock.

DRIED FRUITS—This is the active time, particularly in raisins. In Malaga fruit, the stock this season is very fine, the 3 crown loose to hand are particularly fine fruit. Prices have been advanced. A car of seeded Californian was received this week and divided among the trade. As the rebate of 1c. per lb. has been withdrawn, prices are firmly held. Valencia layers and fine off-stalk are both higher, the latter are but light sellers, except with a certain cheap trade. One dealer in ordering some 4,000 boxes had but 300 of the fine off-stalk. Dates and new Californian prunes are both here. The latter, particularly the smaller sizes, tend higher; in fact, in New York they have already been advanced. Evaporated apples are firmly held. Dried are scarce. Onions are rather firmer, but are still low. Nuts have moved very freely during the week, and, except peanuts, are very firmly held.

DAIRY PRODUCE.—Butter has gone off from the rather firmer feeling reported. There are ample supplies, and quality but fair. Fancy quality finds a ready sale at fair figures. Eggs are rather higher, having good demand and but fair receipts. Quality is good. There are fair supplies in Prince Edward Island, but they want full figures. Cheese shows no change in local market. There is inquiry for small sizes.

SUGARS — Quite a quantity of foreign yellow in bags has been sold here, prices being rather under those asked by the American refineries. Local refined yellows have not been giving very good satisfaction for some little time in regard to quality. In granulated prices are rather lower. There is a steady sale.

MOLASSES — New Orleans in barrels continues to arrive. The demand is tending to better grades. Stocks are not large and prices are firmly held. In foreign goods stocks are very light. Some Porto Rico is still offered, but at quite high figures. Syrups move slowly.

FISH—There is a good steady business. While prices, perhaps, are no higher, they are firmly held. Sales are quite active. In pollock, there is a tendency to ask higher figures. This is the season there is, perhaps, the best demand. Pickled herring are at cost and no higher, but herring in all shapes are scarce. Smoked are firmly held, and more bloaters could be sold. Finnan haddies are also scarce. In fresh fish, smelts have more attention. They are largely shipped direct from the North Shore to American centres. We quote as follows: Large and medium dry cod, $3.85 to $4; small, $2.50 to $2.75; pickled shad, $4.50 to $5, as to quality; haddies, 4½ to 5c. per lb.; smoked herring, 8 to 9c.; fresh haddock and cod, 2½c.; boneless fish, 4 to 5c.; pollock, $2.35 to $2.55 per 100; pickled herring, $2.00 to $2.15 per half bbl.; bloaters, 60c.; kippers, $1.00.

PROVISIONS—Sales are fairly active. The chief advance is in beef, though pork is rather higher, there being best demand for local goods, that is, in mess pork, our people not packing clear. Lard is marked higher.

FLOUR, FEED AND WHEAT — In flour there is a rather easier tendency, and millers are offering more freely. It would seem the rush is somewhat over. Oatmeal is firm at a slight advance, and oats are also firmly held. Cornmeal is very scarce, and rather higher prices are asked. Some is being sold in bags, which is new for this market. Beans are at least no higher; sale is slow. Barley and split peas are firmly held and blue peas scarce. We quote: Manitoba flour, $4.40 to $4.60; best Ontario, $3.80 to $4.00; medium, $3.60 to $3.75; oatmeal, $3.80 to $3.90; cornmeal, $2.25 to $2.30; middlings, $21 to $22; oats, 38 to 40c.; hand-picked beans, $1.50 to $1.65; prime, $1.45 to $1.55; yellow-eye beans, $1.90 to $2; split peas, $3 90 to $4.00; round, $3.25 to $3.40; pot barley, $3.80 to $4.00; hay, $7 to $7.50; timothy seed, American, $1.50.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

J. Bostwick this week landed English rice, both sacks and half sacks.

Baird & Peter have some extra quality syrup to hand, the first arrival this season.

Collas, Whitman & Co., Annapolis, shipped the other day to Brazil, 1,000 drums dried fish.

Valencias in quarters and eighths are very scarce. Dearborne & Co. have still some of the "Mabel" brand on hand.

The first cargo of oil in bulk to arrive here came last week and was pumped into the new tank of the Imperial Oil Co.

The Maritime Pure Food Co., of Woodstock, N. B., represented here by W. S. Hooper, have lately shipped ten cars canned apples to England.

Geo. K. Berton, representing Delafield, McGovern & Co., New York, has, this week, distributed several cars of canned salmon to the trade.

G. V. Wills, who has succeeded Walter Miles as the representative of Peek Bros. & Winch, London, is already doing a nice business for his house.

Sweet cider is one of the difficult things to get good at this season. Some of that received from Nova Scotia is particularly inviting. Northrup & Co. have just received a supply.

A TILT OVER TRADING STAMPS.

The long-threatened test of the trading stamp law has been entered upon in Rhode Island. An arrest was made at Thornton, which the trading stamp company will fight to the bitter end in the endeavor to reestablish trading stamps on a legal footing. Benjamin Galpin, a grocer, was arrested and arraigned in the Eighth District court under the new law against trading stamps. He is charged with having delivered trading stamps to Frederick W. Perkins. A constitutional question was raised on which the district court certified the case to the appellate division of the supreme court.—New England Grocer.

GREAT MEN.

"So far as I have encountered them," said a citizen of the world, "a characteristic of great men is that they have time. They are not in a hurry; their work don't boss them, but they boss their work. They don't act as if every minute you stayed was valuable time lost to them; they don't fret and fidget. What time they do devote to you appears to be time that they can spare, and take things easy in and be comfortable. The work seems to be incidental, and it seems as though they could turn to it when the time came and get through it with ease; and they always seem, besides, to have strength in reserve. It is a characteristic of the great man that he has time."—New York Sun.

TRADE CHAT.

CATTLE shipments this season are 16,000 head below last year, but this year better prices were obtained in the Old Country markets and the season has shown comparatively better results. It is estimated that the total number of cattle shipped this year was 82,800, involving an expenditure on this side of the ocean of $6,808,000.

The Guelph, Ont., Pork Packing Co., Limited, has been incorporated.

The Bloomfield Packing Co., Limited, Picton, Ont., has been incorporated.

The Canadian Food Supply Co., Montreal, is applying for incorporation.

The total shipment of cattle from Moosomin, Man., during this year amounted to 5,107 head.

The Kensington, P.E.I., dairy station has manufactured over 4,000 cheese this season, besides 20,000 lb. of butter in the winter months. The average receipts of milk at this factory during the summer were 13,000 lb.

The withdrawals of tea from bond during the month of October, at New York, Chicago and San Francisco, amounted to about 8,250,000 lb., of which 5,000,000 lb. were withdrawn at New York. It is believed that the deliveries from all points in the United States for the month of October exceeded 9,000,000 lb.

Honey is now determined by medical science to be a healthful sweet, and also valuable as a remedy for various lung and throat diseases. In Mexico and Texas it is regarded as a preventive and cure for smallpox, so much so that farmers in those countries engage extensively in bee-raising, adopting improved methods, with a view to the largest yield of honey.

A meeting of the creditors of T. W. Dodds, general merchant, Woodville and Oak Lake, Man., was held in the office of Henry Barber, assignee, Toronto, on Monday. His stock was sold at 56c. on the dollar. Mr. Dodds' liabilities amount to $13,427.17 and his assets are estimated at $8,200. There are 24 Toronto creditors, whose claims amount to $6,000.

TRADE IN OTHER COUNTRIES THAN OUR OWN.

LARGE ARRIVALS OF DATES.

IN the race to reach the market there have been heavy arrivals of dates this week of the new season's crop. The Afghanistan came in on Monday with 4,000 tons, and these were put on the market the next day. This was a distinct score for the commander, as he sailed from the Persian Gulf three days behind the vessel which followed him into dock. On Wednesday a third ship came in with dates, and two other vessels conveying the luscious fruit are reported as nearing the port of London. It is wonderful how the vast quantities of this and other similar fruits are placed, coming as they do all at once on the market; but everything in its season is welcomed, and this fruit just landed from the Far East will grace many a British table at Christmas time.—Grocer's Journal, London, Eng., November, 18.

VALENCIA RAISIN SITUATION IN LONDON.

Although the demand for Valencias has been again restricted, and the sales for the past few weeks have been on a small scale, the market remains firm. In the meantime, supplies have been only just sufficient for the limited business, and there is no accumulation here. It is evident that a considerable trade remains to be done, and a little reduction in value of the commonest grade would undoubtedly attract buyers. On the other hand, it may be suggested that grocers should make a slight modification in their retail prices; in fact, a move in this direction appears to have already taken place, at least one prominent retailer asking 3½d. per lb. instead of 3d. This would probably make little difference in the sales at this season of the year, and a much better article can be sold for the extra ½d., and without the loss incidental to the lower rate.—Produce Markets Review, November, 18.

CURRANTS IN GREAT BRITAIN.

There has been considerably more animation in the trade in currants during the past few days, consequent partly on an improved demand for home consumption and accentuated by a sharp rise in the price of Provincial for shipment. The rise in the Greek price is due, in the first place, to a fall in the exchange, and has immediately reacted on the ideas of buyers, and brought them face to fuce with the fact that their present stocks are altogether inadequate, even for their nearest requirements. Now that a turning-point has been reached, it may be expected that the small size of the present crop generally, and the exceptionally small comparative quantity of the better growths, will prevent any reaction setting in. On the other hand, the stock is already so much picked over that, while fine parcels may be expected to become noticeably dearer and scarcer almost day by day, the somewhat unattractive character of the remainder would seem to render any general or great rise in price unlikely. For the moment at least, the much-desired price of 2d. per lb. would seem to have no prospect of becoming general. As far as the Christmas trade is concerned, it would appear to be certain the waiting policy must be abandoned if grocers wish to secure the fullest advantages of the market.—Produce Markets Review, November 18.

CANNED SALMON IN ENGLAND.

A London, England, trade paper of November 18, says: "There is a large trade doing in Alaska salmon for future delivery, and the position for this grade is a strong one. A slight advance has already been paid, and grocers who have not covered their requirements would be well advised to do so with as little delay as possible. The demand both for Fraser and Alaska for immediate delivery is rather slow, but quotations practically show no change."

TEAS IN NEW YORK.

At the regular auction sale held on Wednesday the prices realized for green teas were rather easier, but Formosas, Congous, and India and Ceylons were steady to firm. The private market has been quiet, with buyers generally operating on a hand-to-mouth basis. Dealers, however, have continued to show confidence in the future prospects of the market, based on the favorable statistical position, and values have been fairly well maintained. Withdrawals from bond during the month of October at New York, Chicago and San Francisco amounted to about 8,250,000 lb., and it is believed that the withdrawals from all points in the United States during the month of October exceeded 9,000,000 lb.—N. Y. Journal of Commerce, November 25.

ADVANCE IN JAPAN RICE.

Holme, Ringer & Co., in their circular dated Nagasaki, Japan, October 16, say of rice: "We have again to record an advance in price, the market having risen from 40 to 50 sen per picul since our last issue. This is partly attributable to speculation on the part of dealers and partly to the fact that as the harvesting of the remainder of the crops proceeds it is evident that anticipations with regard to the yield will not be realized."

CLEANED CURRANTS IN PACKAGES.

Cleaned currants in packages are being put upon the market by The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, of Toronto. One pound packages are being put up under the brands "Anchor" and "Sterling," and 3-lb. packages under the brand "Queen." The currants are cleaned and packed on the firm's premises, and a good many orders have already been received, some of them being "repeats."

A COLD STORAGE NUMBER.

Cold storage, as an adjunct to business, is becoming as necessary as offices and warehouses.

Always in touch with the industries which it represents, The National Provisioner, New York, has hit upon the happy and timely idea of issuing a special cold storage number. Both readers and publishers ought to be gratified with the result. There is much in the way of illustration and reading matter in regard to the surprisingly high development of the cold storage system, and the publishers are certainly to be congratulated on their enterprise in supplying the uninitiated with so much interesting information.

Hugh Walker & Son, Guelph, have on the way and due to arrive early next week one car Fancy Californian Washington navel oranges.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, November 27, 1899.

THE fine, mild weather has continued all week, and there are, as yet, no indications of winter, except the storm sash which provident souls put on three weeks ago, and have ever since wished they had not been quite so smart. Fall ploughing continues to be pushed with vigor, and certainly at no period was such a large acreage ready for seeding in the spring. In fact, as you pass along in the trains, mile after mile, the country is black, showing the freshly-turned soil. Of course, the continued mild weather is having its effect on certain lines of trade, and the roads being soft and bad in many places, also affect trade to some extent. Still, on the whole, business is very good, prices are firm, and the whole aspect of trade is healthy. There is no doubt that the continued mild weather, enabling building operations, railroading, and the like, to be carried on fully a month later than usual, has increased the purchasing power of a large number of people.

WHEAT—The market is in bad shape. In the early part of the week deliveries were very light at almost all Manitoba points, owing to the state of the roads, but this condition improved materially towards the end of the week. In the Territories the deliveries were very heavy as the roads there are in perfect condition and the whether extremely fine. Prices have dropped 1c. all around at country points during the week, and indications are they will be still lower on account of the heavy outside stock held and from time to time placed on the market. Market closed at country points on Saturday as follows: 15c. rate of freight, 52c. for No. 1 hard; 16 and 17c. rate, of freight, 51c. for No. 1 hard; 18 and 19c. rate of freight, 50c. for No. 1 hard. Fort William sellers have been asking 66½c., but no responsible buyers have been induced to bid over 66c. The Saturday market here has been unusually quiet owing to the Chicago markets being closed for Vice-President Hobart's funeral. In the present condition of things buyers have been very chary of purchasing not knowing how the market might open in Chicago on Monday.

FLOUR—No change in price of this article has occurred during the week. The demand is good and trade brisk. Patent, $1.90; Glenora, $1.70; Manitoba strong bakers', $1.50; Medora, $1.50; XXXX, $1.30 for 98-lb. sacks delivered in Winnipeg.

CEREALS—Owing to larger deliveries of oats, rolled oats are again a little easier, being $1.70 for the 98-lb. sack. There is beginning to be a good deal of American competition. Standard and granulated oatmeal is $2.25. Beans are exceptionally firm at the advances noted last week, $1.90 and $2 for choicest hand-picked, and $1.80 to $1.85 for prime medium.

CURED MEATS — There has been no change in prices, but the market is a little easier in tone, with indications of a possible fall. Hams, smoked, 12 to 12½c.; breakfast bellies, 11½c.; backs, 11c.; spiced rolls, 10½c.; shoulders, 10c.; picnic hams, 10½c. Dry salt meats—long clear bacon, 8½c.; shoulders, 8½c.; short clear, 8c.; back, 9c.

BUTTER—Creamery butter is practically off this market so far as stocks are concerned. One of the large creameries, however, has decided to run all winter, and has already contracted for all the butter made at 25c. per lb. Nominally, creamery is quoted at 22c. Considerable Eastern creamery is coming in and is quoted at 21½ to 22c. Dairy butter is very irregular in quality and equally so in price. There are large amounts of held goods coming in and the grade is on a sliding scale, with prices running from 17c. for good, fresh, well-flavored tubs to 10c. for off goods. Sweet, fresh, well-colored, separator-made dairy finds ready sale at 20c.

CANNED GOODS—Practically nothing can be added to what was said last week on this subject. The case in a nutshell is, that wholesalers here are selling almost all lines of caaned goods for very considerably less than they can be laid down for to-day. Advices from the East indicate that the market there is, if anything, stiffer than last week.

DRIED FRUITS — Trade in these lines is considerably impeded by the slow arrival of freight. Goods billed to reach here two weeks ago are not here yet. In fact, this fall, the C.P.R. seem utterly unable to handle the volume of freight with anything like despatch, and to add to the aggravation of the merchants the freight is arriving in a very mixed condition. New York advices indicate that the market there is bare of Valencia off-stalk with little or none to arrive. Sultanas have arrived and are quoted at 12½ to 14c., according to grade. Currants are the opposite of raisins, as the market is really on the decline. Stocks seem to be plentiful. Prices range from 5⅝ to 6c., according to package and grade, with 7 to 7¼c. for cleaned.

EVAPORATED FRUITS —This market continues very firm in most lines. Evaporated apples appear easier in tone though there is practically no change in price, quotations being 9 to 9½c. Dried apples are extremely high in proportion, and few sales are being effected; present quotation is 7¾c. Peaches are cheap and plentiful, new unpeeled goods being quoted at 12c. Choice nectarines are 14c. Raspberries, pitted plums and prunes are without change of price or situation.

HONEY—This product seems to grow scarcer daily: White clover, No. 1 strained, 11 to 11½c.; comb, in 1-lb. sections, 20 to 22c.

COFFEE—Brokers claim there has been an advance of ¼c., but, as the market here is very quiet, no change of quotations is as yet announced.

RICE—There are no new features in this market. The demand is steady and prices as follows: B, 4¼c.; Patna, 5¼ to 5½c.; Japan, 4¾ to 5c.

FISH—New Yarmouth bloaters are in, and quoted at $1.25. Finnan haddies are arriving by freight, and are quoted at 7c. It is stated, however, that should the mild weather continue freight shipments will have to cease until there is more frost.

GREEN FRUITS—This market is now down pretty well to staple winter supplies. Preparations indicated an enormous Christmas trade. The winter apples coming in are not as satisfactory as at first stated. The probability is that, owing to warm weather, they are a little over-ripe for keeping before they start, and the weather here being warm, they are showing indications of not keeping in the usual satisfactory manner. Very large stocks are held. Prices, $3.75 to $5, according to variety. The auction sales of undesirable stocks have affected the general and legitimate trade. Californian oranges are arriving in satisfactory condition: Navels, $5 to $5.50; seedlings, $4.25 to $4.75; Mexicans, $5. New Californian lemons are $5 to $5.50 per box. Bananas are higher (as usual at this season), present quotations being $2.50 to $3 per bunch. Malaga grapes, in kegs, $7.50. Cape Cod cranberries, $7.50; Jersey stock, $8. Very large supplies of Spanish onions are arriving, and seem to meet with ready sale.

THE ADVERTISING ARENA.

BUSINESS FORCE OF ADVERTISING

BY MR. ROBERT C. OGDEN.

IF I should undertake to make an analysis of retail business, I should divide the subject into three parts :

The Merchandise ;
The Service ;
The Advertising.

Each of them is equal in importance to the others, but I should characterize the advertising as the dynamic power of a business. With the public mind fixed upon business as it now is, with the competition that exists between traders, it is undoubtedly the fact that, without advertising of the proper kind, a business cannot be successfully prosecuted to any large degree. Therefore, I consider the advertising as all the other work that may be put into a business. After the merchandise is purchased, after the service is constructed, the steam that is generated in order to make the machine move is the advertising.

I should say that one mistake of the merchant is, that he does not take advertising sufficiently seriously. It is regarded as an element that is somehow important, but yet a little strange. It is not thought of, I think, generally, as holding the very serious and important relation to the public at large and to the business itself that it really should occupy. Therefore, I think that a retail merchant cannot possibly exaggerate to his own mind the importance of the relation of his advertising to his business.

One most important thing is this. When a man has anything which he wishes to bring before the public eye for sale, he is an Ishmaelite.

EVERY MAN'S HAND IS AGAINST HIM.

The servant he meets at the door, the butler that he reaches after passing the servant at he door, are against him, and if his printed matter reaches the owner of the house, it is as often as not put in the waste basket. Every element within the house is combined to prevent what he may send through the mail reaching the person for whose eye it is intended. Therefore, the influences of the residence are all against him. To reach the eye of the recipient he must appeal to his taste. If he displays anything in the shape of a poster, it must be done in such artistic style that it will arrest the attention of the passer-by.

Another experience that exists largely in ordinary advertising is the waste of money. There have been many calculations concerning the vast sums of money expended upon advertising in this country. I do not recall what their magnitude is, but the figures compiled by intelligent observers are really astounding. I think if we could manage to analyze that expenditure of money, we would find that a vast percentage of it, probably one half, is entirely wasted. One reason for this waste is that the advertiser does not regard his advertising with sufficient respect. If he would take it more seriously, he would study its principles and its methods, and would save a great deal of money.

The column of the newspaper is

THE MERCHANT'S ROSTRUM.

It is his pulpit. It is his stump. From that he addresses the public at large. From that he speaks to his constituency, to his audience. Advertising is the channel through which the merchant speaks to the people he desires to address. His advertising is the test of his character. It must be true. As he speaks, and as the people have an opportunity to judge of the truth of his printed utterances day by day they will form their estimate of his character. His character is the soul of his advertising ; and therefore it must always be true.

But if a man does not intend to waste his money in advertising, he should be sure that it never is stupid. It should be put in simple and forceful language.

As the subject-matter of the advertising ought to be good English, and the illustration, if illustration is used, ought to be good art, so the printing ought to be good typography. It is best always for a continuous advertiser—and no advertising is valuable unless it is continuous—to use good, bold, clear, legible type, easily read, but characteristic, so that whenever the paper is opened the reader will know at once that it is Jones', whether he sees Jones' name or not. And if Jones has a literary character and a moral character, you will be very apt to read what Jones has to say.

[Mr. Ogden has charge of the advertising for John Wanamaker, New York.—Editor CANADIAN GROCER.]

POULTRY FOR EXPORT.

The Anglo-Canadian Produce, Limited, in its weekly bulletin, bearing date of November 18, gives the following advice regarding the export poultry business : "The only way to make money shipping poultry to Britain is to send only the choicest killed, packed and shipped in the proper way. Only young, plump, well fed birds are wanted. Turkeys should weigh at least 10 lb.; ducks, 5 lb., geese, 9 lb.; chickens, 3 lb.

Be careful to thoroughly starve the birds before killing. Don't ship in the feathers. Pluck carefully and neatly, and hang by the feet, so as to drain all blood from the body, leaving the flesh white. See that the birds are properly chilled before packing, and then put them up in small cases only. Carefully grade, so that each case has birds about the same size. In each case there should be 6 turkeys, 6 geese, 8 ducks or 12 chickens.

Have the cases so made that the cold air in the chamber can penetrate through the sides in transit. Stencil on end of cases the shippers' initials and contents of cases. thus :

W. S.	12 Chickens, net 37 lb., or
G. H.	6 Hen Turkeys, net 75 lb.

THE SHORTAGE IN THE INDIAN TEA CROP.

Says The Indian Planter's Gazette: "It is daily now becoming more evident that there will be an early closing of the season in the chief tea districts. The teas from Assam and the Dooars sold yesterday (November 22) were reported on by the brokers as slightly more flavory in cup, although somewhat more brown-mixed in appearance, showing traces of the approaching cold weather. This, of itself, is a certain indication that the cold weather has already begun to set in. Reports from Cachar further confirm this. On the morning of November 18 it is said to have been bright and clear, with the thermometer at 68 Fahr. The proverbial 'old residents' never remember such climatic conditions having obtained before in the month of September. Unless we are much mistaken, the probabilities are that the estimated crop figures of the Indian Tea Association will fall short by some 8,000,000 lb.

JAMAICA COCOANUTS.

ON the island of Jamaica are found several varieties of cocoanuts. They are, says an exchange, distinguished by shape and size, and the thickness of the husk, and the flesh part of meat. The curacoa is a very large nut, with thick husk and meat. The maiden variety is very small and grows in large bunches, and while the curacoa seldom has more than six or seven nuts to the bunch, there was recently exhibited a bunch which contained 39 nuts of the maiden variety. The curacoa produces the largest amount of oil, usually averaging twelve quarts to 100 nuts, more than any other variety. In sprouting the cocoanut, the flattest of its three sides should be laid on the ground, and should be so inclined that the water, or milk, will flow towards the eyes. The uppermost ridge should be chipped to allow the moisture to penetrate, causing the eyes to grow more quickly. The earlier the nuts are transplanted after sprouting (the season being favorable) the stronger will be the plant.

It has been found best, by experience, not to cut the branches or to trouble the tree in any way in its growth. A plantation usually will commence to bear in seven years, and be in full bearing in 10 years. Generally the nuts are permitted to fall to the ground, and are gathered every day or two and taken to the storehouse. The greater part of the nuts shipped from Jamaica go to the United States and Canada, although a considerable quantity go to England and the continent. In shipping to the first-named countries all the nuts are husked, while they are sent to Europe in the husks. The average price realized by the producer is 2c. per nut. Some growers, instead of shipping the nuts, prefer to extract the oil, which is done by a very simple process. After being husked, the nuts are broken up and the pieces laid near a fire until the meat will come away from the shell. Then the meat is washed, the thin black skin that lies between it and the shell not being removed. After being washed, the meat is grated, placed in a vat, boiling water poured over it, and the whole strained. When the water cools, the oil floats on top and is skimmed off and cooled, and is ready for shipment. The oil sells for 12c. per pint bottle. It is now proposed to introduce into Jamaica the manufacture of cocoanut butter.

QUALITY OF RUSSIAN TEA.

The report published by the Russian Government Commission as to the results of the tea crops on the experimental tea plantation in Tchakva, near Batoum, shows that all the three crops collected produced exceedingly good tea. The commission classified the tea under two qualities, and, according to Commercial Intelligence, came to the conclusion that the first sort could be sold retail at two roubles per lb. As the best Russian tea is sold at two roubles 80 copecks per lb., the two-rouble tea corresponds to English tea at about 2s. 3d. This price of two roubles was fixed with regard to the fact that the tea was prepared, not on the Chinese hand method, but on the Ceylon method, which is considered by the commission much better.

NOVEMBER PANSIES IN MANITOBA

A striking evidence of the mildness of Manitoba weather is a bunch of pansies brought into the Free Press office yesterday. They were plucked from an open air garden.—Free Press, Winnipeg, November 22.

SLANG IN BUSINESS.

WHO does not know of men who, in their homes and in society generally, are very careful and refined in the use of language, but immediately relapse into the employment of slang phrases as soon as they begin business? It is said to be a peculiarity of Americans. Whether it is specially marked in their case above that of other people, we will not undertake to say, but certain it is that the practice is a very general one.

Why is it? Do men make special effort to hold themselves with a tighter rein in society or at home than in their places of business? If so, do they not make a mistake? Is not business now conducted in such a way that a man ought to be girded with his fullest strength and have all his facilities under the control of the will during those hours when he is having dealings with other men? Is it not probable that the habit of rather letting up on oneself in business hours is the real cause of many a disaster? Lack of care in the recent war made many a poor fellow a mark for a Spaniard's bullet, and business, in some sense of the word, is war—too often war to the knife.

Of course, there must be hours of relaxation. No man can bear the awful strain under which business is now done for many hours in succession. But such relaxation comes naturally enough, at the close of business for the day, at home, and at certain rare moments within the privacy of one's own office. But in no case is their good reason for the use of slang. It unmans one. A careless use of the tongue leads to a careless use of the judgment, and of every other faculty. It should be universally condemned, and mercilessly stamped out of every man's own private conduct.—New York Business.

Benson's Prepared Corn

There is no adulteration in Benson's Prepared Corn—there is no need to adulterate because it has sold entirely on its merits as an absolutely pure Prepared Corn for over forty years. The delicacy of its flavor is almost proverbial.

Comparisons are made with Benson's Prepared Corn as the standard—you hear this everywhere—"It's just as good as Benson's." You know what "just as good" means—an endeavor to sell an inferior article for a lower price. Benson's Prepared Corn is the standard—forty years have proved it so beyond a question.

MONSOON
INDO-CEYLON TEA.

All teas are sold for the purpose of finally going into the peoples' tea pots. On general principles then, one tea serves as well as another.

Shoddy serves to cover the body, but no one will admit that it will serve to cover it for any length of time as satisfactorily as good tweed.

Monsoon tea occupies an enviable position in the tea trade of Canada, it serves the people well, and once your customers try it, they will have no other.

Tender Macaroni

"A thread-bare story" someone says. Perhaps so, but it will bear repeating. P. Codu makes his Macaroni from the only wheat that Macaroni ought to be made of—Russian Wheat.

This wheat gives a delicacy and whiteness to the Macaroni that can be obtained in no other way. Folks try to imitate it, but consumers don't see it in that light. We ought to know—we have had the experience.

DUNN'S PURE MUSTARDS

GIVE UNBOUNDED SATISFACTION.

The reason is—They are profitable to dealers and satisfying to consumers.

She Was Mad!

She knew what she wanted well enough but the grocer thought he knew more about it than she did, and he did, from his point of view, and that is why he substituted an inferior brand for Tillson's Pan-Dried Rolled Oats.

How did she know that the grocer had fooled her? She found hulls and black specks, but she didn't find that rich, nut-like flavor that she'd read so much about.

Where will that woman buy her Rolled Oats the next time?

Two Winners.

My "Pharaoh" 10c. Cigar and my "Pebble" 5c. Cigar are trade-winners beyond a single question. Facts prove it—increased orders prove it—my constantly growing business proves it.

If you are one of the grocers who are content to be at the tail end of the procession, all right, but—it is just as easy for you to be right up in front next to the band-wagon.

I am a little humorous this morning, but I feel good because business on these two particular lines (the "Pharaoh" and the "Pebble") is going way ahead of my expectations. I would be glad to answer any inquiries you would like to make about these "two winners."

When undesirable goods accumulate, the wheels of business begin to clog. "Marking down" to clear out unsaleable goods means a waste of energy and a loss of profit. It doesn't pay to experiment with untried quality.

You don't have to mark down standard goods that have been tried and not found wanting. They always pass muster at their full face value—one hundred cents on the dollar!

You don't have to mark down the price of standard goods like these—there is always a ready market for them.

SOME IDEAS AND IMPRESSIONS.

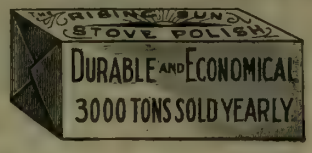
OF course, everyone who visits New York visits the gallery of the Stock Exchange. It is a Mecca to which no one can afford not to make a pilgrimage. Neglect may not bring down the wrath of Heaven, but it is certain to incur the condemnation of one's friends. My own curiosity, however, was sufficient to impell me to visit the famous Exchange, without any thought of what my friends might think or say if I did not.

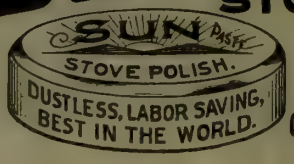
"Be sure and be there at about 10 minutes to 10 o'clock," urged a friend of mine. And, of course, I did as I was bid. There were only a few visitors in the gallery at the time; but the floor of the Exchange was already crowded with members, who, I should think, were 300 or 400 in number. The members were strolling about the floor waiting for the "game" to start. But presently they began to gather in little groups around the different stock centres. By far the largest group was around Leather, for Leather was at that time enjoying somewhat of a boom. In fact, there was nothing like Leather that day. The nearer it got to 10 o'clock the nearer the men in the respective groups got together. Those in the Leather group put me in mind of a crowd trying to elbow its way into a theatre where the attraction was some celebrity. But, instead of heads craning forward, they were all inclined towards the left shoulder, like wheat gently swept by a breeze. The president of the exchange sat like a judge upon the bench, with gavel in one hand and watch in the other. It was that, I soon gathered, which attracted the heads of the Leather group to the left. And it was evidently the desire to catch the fall of the gavel before the sound could reach them.

Did you ever in your childh ood play that "highly scientific" game, "snap"? If you have, you will remember that he who speaks first takes the "pile." Well, just as soon as the president's gavel fell I was reminded of "snap," for nearly everyone of the several hundred men on the floor seemed to try to be the first to raise his voice, and to raise it as high as his lung power would permit. I expected something, but I did not expect so much. And for the moment I felt a little startled.



I had heard the members of the exchange described as being like a lot of maniacs. That is certainly not the impression I received. They were too intelligent-looking for that. Some you might think were at times erratic, and scores of them you would think were on the point of coming to blows. Two men would begin throwing "sixteenths," "eighths" or other fractions at each other with, perhaps, a score of men between them. Suddenly they would stop shouting and begin to ferociously elbow their way through the crowd toward each other. But, just as they got within arms' length of each other, instead of coming to blows they suddenly stopped, pulled out writing pads and began to write as vigorously as their tongues before had been wagging. They were recording a transaction.

The only people who appeared to be unexcited were the officers of the exchange, the telegraph operators and the message boys. The unconcern of the message boys irritated me. An excited member would rush toward one of these messengers and hurriedly put into his hand a slip of paper recording a transaction. But there was no hurry about the messenger boy. He strolled away at a snail pace, and ten chances to one would stop in his journey to gossip with one of his confreres. I felt like kicking him. But no one on the floor seemed to have the same desire. And I suppose the Stock Exchange, like life, is, after all, made up of incongruities. I watched the proceedings until I was tired, but there seemed to be no tiring on the part of the members, and I took my departure.



From the Stock Exchange I dropped into the Produce Exchange. What a difference! Around the wheat pit were gathered a score or so of men. Sometimes half a-dozen would raise their voices at once. But there was nothing approaching the excitement that was so marked in the place I had just left. In the gallery of the Stock Exchange I had a host of companions, but here I was alone.

But, by-and-bye, after having obtained a pass, I found my way, via the elevator, to the top of the tower of the Produce Exchange. And there I was interested. I do not think there is better vantage ground in the city from which to view lower New York and the Bay than from this 17-storey tower. Within what appears to be almost a stone's throw are bustling, puffing and whistling tugs, steamboats and ferryboats, all on a mission, and all trying to perform it as quickly as possible—"carrying a message to Garcia," as it were. On one side, a view of the East River, Brooklyn and Brooklyn bridge was obtained, and, on the other the busy North River with its ocean steamships and their piers, and, beyond that, smoky New Jersey. Away to the south was the Statue of Liberty, standing out of the water like a giantess, if not like a goddess, while, still farther beyond, are Staten Island and the lower bay.

Talking of the Statue of Liberty reminds me of an afternoon's visit I paid to the goddess. The goddess is like a good many women, the farther you are away from them the more imposing they are. The goddess, to me, certainly looked more imposing a mile away than she did a hundred yards away. But I have no desire to belittle her. If I ever had had such a notion, the climb up the 154 steps which wind around her inside took it out of me. By the time I had reached her waist I almost began to wish I had never undertaken the task to climb to her head. It was a perpetual winding round and round, and the higher one got the more rapidly one went round. Most of the time there was darkness most pronounced, and the little light one did get was from ill-smelling coal oil-fed lanterns. Finally, after what seemed an age, the interior of the goddess' noble head was reached, where a dozen or more of us comfortably stood. And what a relief, as the sea breeze blew in! And what a view, as we peeped through the crown of the goddess! The tugs, 200 feet below, looked like toys and the ocean steamers like small craft. The sight was worth the journey; but once a year would be often enough for me to make the journey. For it is not alone the journey up that makes one puff and perspire; the going down does the same thing. But it is not every day one can get into the head of a goddess, although a goddess may daily get into the head—and heart, too—of some of us poor, foolish men.

The sun had set when our steamer began to wend its way back to the Battery. And soon that grey and reddish glamor, which reminds one that the curtain of night is beginning to be rolled down, hid the base of the statue. Then Barthodi's heroic figure did indeed look like a goddess, for it appeared to be resting upon a cloud, not upon the earth. And the faster the shadows gathered, the more to my fancy did the statue become supernatural. As I watched, a tiny light appeared in the torch she held. It was the electric light; and looked as if one of the stars, which had just begun to peep out, had settled upon the uplifted hand of the goddess, who appeared, at the moment, to be bending over looking for something or someone. Perhaps it was for the sons of Liberty. W.L.E.

THE LUMBER INDUSTRY.

MR. E. F. STEPHENSON, crown timber agent, returned on Thursday from a trip to Rat Portage, and found that the timber industry, which is under the inspection of his department, has had a most prosperous season. The amount of lumber cut in the Rat Portage district, and manufactured by the mills of that town, is fully 25 per cent. larger than in any previous season. During the season of 1899 the amount of lumber cut in Northern Minnesota and floated down the Rainy river was 37,300,000 feet, and on the Canadian side, 45,000,000 feet. All of this lumber was dressed in Rat Portage, and of the whole 82,300,000 feet, 77,000,000 feet have already been disposed of. This business, Mr. Stephenson states, is simply enormous. In addition to the dressed lumber, there were cut during the season between Rat Portage and Fort William, over 800,000 ties, and a large amount of timber used in railway construction by the C.P.R. and Rainy river roads.

Asked how he found the state of mining and other business at Rat Portage, Mr. Stephenson said it was splendid. The town has now a population of over 7,000 people, and the buildings erected during the past summer were all of a most substantial character. The trade of the town is rapidly increasing, as it has become the distributing point for all the Rainy River country, as well as for Northern Minnesota on the south end of the lake. War Road, Minn., as well as other American towns, are almost entirely dependent on Rat Portage for supplies. The number of men employed all the year around in mining is over 600, while the lumber industry, also, engages the attention of a large number of men.

THE EXPORT APPLE TRADE.

A most welcome change from utter demoralization to a much firmer tone with higher prices has come over the English apple market, late arrivals on the other side having brought much better prices, and will, no doubt, compensate to some extent for previous losses, which, of course, were more the result of poor and wasty fruit than the inability of the demand to absorb the offerings. The shipments from Canada and the United States from the commencement of the season to the close of last week amounted to 792,289 barrels, against 756,924 bbls. for the corresponding period last year, showing an increase of 35,365 bbls. Of the above, Canada shipped 447,716 bbls., and the United States 344,573 bbls., showing that Canada shipped 103,143 bbls. more than the United States.

During the past week or two we have had to report reclamations on shipments to the other side, and nets which only a little more than covered freight and charges. This week, however, we have to report nets of from $2 to $2.50 in the west on shipments of sound, good-keeping fruit, and one lot of Kings netted $3.50. We also hear of nets of $1.50 to $2 on between 700 and 800 bbls. of different varieties, including seconds and wasty barrels.—Trade Bulletin, December 1, 1899.

NEW USE FOR FRUIT PITS.

The brisk demand for fruit pits this year caused our fruitmen to look into the basis of such demand. Heretofore the pits have been used mostly for fuel purposes, selling generally for about $3 to $5 per ton, but this year there has been a great demand from San Francisco and elsewhere for the pits. Now it transpires that the kernel in the pits is being used for several purposes by English and American firms. Don't be surprised when you buy that fine French nut candy to find the almond nut in the centre nothing more than a highly prepared apricot kernel. Of the cinnamon, nutmegs, allspices, etc., which you are assured are absolutely pure or "money back," is likewise made of the same material. It is claimed that prussic acid is also made from the kernel, and that highly perfumed toilet soap is made from the oil which is extracted from this same insignificant kernel. Surely this is a great age we are living in when the ingenuity of man will bring into play such a small thing to accomplish such results. This year the prices have increased, and now the pit owner is as cautious about selling as the man who owns a quantity of apricots or peaches. The price of the pits runs from $8 to $10 per ton.—Fruit World.

BUSY LUMBERMEN.

An Ottawa despatch says: This has been a banner year in Ottawa in the history of railway laborers and lumbermen. Competent authorities estimate that some 5,000 men of the above classes have been shipped out of the Ottawa district during the past autumn months. Wages have been generally high. In the lumber shanties logmakers, canthook men and teamsters have been getting as high as $26 per month; sawyers, toprollers and roadcutters, or swampers, are being paid from $20 to $26 per month. Cooks are paid from $30 to $50 per month, according to the size of the camp and their professional ability. Foremen are worth from $50 to $60 per month, and clerks and storekeepers are paid from $1 to $1.50 per day. Even at these high figures sufficient men can hardly be collected by the lumbermen's agents to fill the demand. The men employed at the above figures are provided with free board and transportation to the camps.

PRIZES FOR BUTTER AND CHEESE-MAKERS.

Geo. Hately, secretary-treasurer of the Cheese and Butter Association of Western Ontario, has sent letters to the press announcing that this association is offering $100 in prizes for essays by buttermakers on buttermaking, and $100 for essays on cheesemaking by cheesemakers.

The contests are open to those who have been employed in creameries and cheese factories west of Toronto during the past year. Professors and persons employed by the judges are barred.

The judges of the buttermaking essay contest are: Aaron Wenger, Ayton; H. H. Dean, Professor of Dairy Husbandry, O.A.C., Guelph; Arch. Smith, Butter Instructor for the Association and Director of the Strathroy Dairy School. Those for the cheesemaking essay contest are: R. M. Ballantyne, Stratford; J. N. Paget, Camboro; Jas. Morrison, Cheese Instructor of the Association and at the Ontario Agricultural College. The essays must be sent to Mr. Hately before January 6.

T. N. Ellis & Co., grocers, Mount Forest, Ont., have completed and moved into new premises. They now have a large double store, one division of which is devoted entirely to provisions and heavy groceries, and the other to the lighter, finer class of goods.

A SMART LAD.

He rushed breathlessly into the general office of a large merchantile establishment in Broad street, London, Eng., and inquired for the proprietor.

He was informed he could not see him as he was engaged in his private office, and did not want to be bothered with boys anyway.

"I must see him," urged the lad. "It is a matter of great importance." "It's no use, you can't do it," was argued. "I must, and I will see him," continued the boy, as he took a seat and showed no inclination to leave. So, finally, seeing that he was so persistent, the rules of the house were broken, and he was shown into the proprietor's private sanctum, and was greeted with, "Well, my lad, what do you want?"

"Do you want a boy, sir."

"Want a boy? No. What do you mean by inquiring here? We've got a boy."

"No, you haven't, sir, he has just been run over by a hansom cab."

He was engaged.

This boy understood the value of push better than many a business man does today, and his success in life is assured.

INTERESTING SALMON STATISTICS.

INFORMATION received this morning from what may be considered an official source is to the effect that the Alaska Packers' Association have disposed of every case of red Alaska salmon of the 1899 pack, and, so far as can be learned, there is no canned salmon now remaining in first hands on the Coast, barring here and there the small remnant of a pack, which, all told, would probably not amount to 25,000 cases. Thus is created a condition without precedent even in seasons when the pack fell much below that of this year.

The 1899 pack of Alaska salmon was a large one. Indeed, when the figures are all in, it is believed that it will be shown that the total output on the entire Pacific Coast was up to the highest record, even allowing for the heavy shortage in the Columbia river pack. Figures of the Puget Sound output, according to estimates of well-informed parties, are now available, and show a very heavy gain over last year. For purposes of comparison, we present the following, taken from estimates made by Philip F. Kelley, of Seattle, Wash., and held to be substantially correct by other authorities.

	1899.	1898.
	Cases.	Cases.
Sockeyes	497,700	244,000
Spring	20,200	.....
Cohoes	90,400	86,000
Humpbacks	245,400	.....
Chums	17,800	25,000

Notwithstanding the large pack for this year, it has almost all gone into consumption. The cohoes, humpbacks and chums, we understand, were all sold prior to the close of the packing season, and many of the packers were compelled to make short deliveries. The spring salmon was sold some months ago, and of the sockeye pack it is reported that nothing remains but a small quantity of talls, for which $1.25 Coast is asked, against $1.10, the opening price.

Under these circumstances, there will be much difficulty experienced in supplying the demands of consumption during the coming six months, and the indications conseqently point to much higher prices in red Alaskan, which is about the only grade of which any quantity remains in the hands of large jobbers and Eastern distributers. There is usually little or nothing doing in canned salmon during December and January, but an active demand is expected for the spring trade, commencing with February.

The effect of present conditions on the opening prices for 1900 packing will probably be to cause packers to ask more money than they were satisfied with at the beginning of the current season, and also to induce them to sell sparingly until such time as they can know what the pack is likely to be. Judging by existing conditions, it is evident that it requires the full capacity of all the canneries on the Pacific Coast under favorable conditions to supply the consuming requirements of the world.—New York Journal Commerce, December 5.

EXPORT APPLE TRADE BETTER.

THE export apple market, which has been highly unsatisfactory lately, has taken a turn for the better, and the tenor of recent advices from Great Britain has created the hope with some shippers that they may possibly recoup themselves for some of the heavy losses that they have incurred.

Reclamations on shipments have been frequent within the past four weeks, and few account sales were received that showed a margin above cost, freight, and charges.

It is but just, however, to state that this unsatisfactory condition of affairs was the result of the undesirable condition of a lot of the shipments, rather than the inability of the demand in Great Britain to absorb all the receipts.

Within the past eight days sound, good-keeping fruit has realized figures that net $2.50 at Ontario shipping points, and some special lots sold as high as $3.50.

From the opening of the season to December 2 the exports have been 792,289 bbls., an increase of 35,365 bbls. over 1898.

Canada's contribution to this quantity was 447,716 bbls., against 344,573 bbls. from the United States.

THE RISE IN BUTTER.

THERE are various symptoms that the butter market, which was so depressed a fortnight ago, has taken a permanent turn for the better, and that the recent advance in prices is likely to be improved upon.

In the first place, receipts have become exceedingly light at Montreal, so much so, that if they do not increase there will be no surplus for export, all being wanted for the home trade. In England, the pessimism of the latter part of October and the early part of November regarding butter has given place to optimism. This has been due to the fact that supplies of Irish butter are daily getting into smaller compass, and that the enormous arrivals of Canadian witnessed during September have virtually ceased.

In fact, reshipments of Canadian butter from England to this side were made within the past three weeks, which testifies pretty forcibly to the strength of the situation.

As matters stand at present, prices on this side offer no margin for export to England, and there apparently is no need of it, as values have risen from 18½ to 21c. within the past 10 days, despite this fact.

THE CHEESE INDUSTRY IN PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND.

The cheesemaking industry in Prince Edward Island has shown remarkable development in recent years.

The total exportation from the Province in the year ending June 30, 1896, was valued at but $42,000. In two years it grew to $212,000, showing an increase of 400 per cent.

While the returns for the last season's make and export are not yet to hand, it is known that the industry continues to show satisfactory and steady growth. A few days ago a Charlottetown firm, Dillon & Spillett, made a single shipment to London valued at $37,700, within $5,000 of the total export of 1896.

13c. CHEESE PREDICTED.

NOW that navigation via the St. Lawrence is closed, some consideration of the stock of cheese remaining in exporters' hands at Montreal is interesting. The total exports this season were 1,896,496 boxes from May 1 to the date of the last steamer's departure. In the same period the receipts were 200,000 odd boxes.

This leaves the stock of cheese now carried in Montreal at 100,000 odd boxes, and this is over 70 per cent. below the stock at the corresponding period last year, when 362,000 odd boxes were carried by Montreal operators. It is not surprising, therefore, that holders are in no hurry to sell what they have got, especially as the ruling quotations are not within ¼ to ½c. per lb., of actual cost of the goods now held.

They consist almost wholly of September and October cheese, bought at a range of 11¾ to 12¼c., and, with carrying charges included, holders will certainly have to get over 12½c. in order to get out clear.

The conditions certainly seem to favor them at present, one of the most encouraging signs being the avidity with which all the November "fall ends" have been bought up by British buyers during the past ten days or so.

This demand has caused these goods to advance from 10½c. per lb. to 11½c. per lb., and this willingness to pay 1c. per lb. more for these November goods is a very good sign that supplies in Britain are not heavy.

This fact has had another demonstration within the past week in the inquiry experienced for the dearer cheese.

Cable limits of 12c. for large lines of these goods, it is well known, are on the Montreal market, but holders are perfectly indifferent at present. In fact, unless prices advance to a figure which leaves a fair margin these goods will be carried until late in the spring. It is a trial of strength, therefore, between the Montreal operators and the British importers for these blocks of fine fall goods, and, so far as present appearances go, the former have the best of it.

Some members of the trade are so sanguine in regard to the future, that they are predicting a 13½c. market before the opening of next season.

CANADA AND TRADE WITH CHINA.

THE United States has developed a good deal of aggressiveness during the last year or two in regard to the Chinese trade. The policy of Great Britain in regard to the "open door" was what first induced that friendliness toward the Mother Country which was afterwards more firmly cemented by the position which the Salisbury Administration assumed at the outbreak of hostilities between the United States and Spain.

France is also committed to the policy of the "open door." Less than two weeks ago, M. Delcasse, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, in the course of a speech before the Chamber of Deputies, declared: "We must seek to maintain the 'open door.'"

Germany is in the field, too, for a larger share of the China trade. So is Russia, and even Italy is aspiring in the same direction. Great Britain is not asleep to her own trade interests in China, but she is, perhaps, not as wide awake to them as some of her competitors are.

Canada should be as wide awake as any of the other countries are; but she appears to be the least concerned of all. Of course, her trade with the Chinese Empire is infinitesimal compared with that of Great Britain, the United States, Germany and other countries that might be mentioned. But it is not due to any belief that further expansion is not possible. It is entirely due to unconcern.

Our exports to the "Flowery Kingdom" never did amount to much, but, instead of expanding, they are growing humiliatingly less.

In 1898, the last year for which we have any figures, our exports to China were only valued at $363,191, against $761,976 in 1897, $659,758 in 1896, $367,853 in 1895 and $511,531 in 1894, and yet we have a direct line of steamers operating.

The value of our exports in 1894 was about 29 per cent. in excess of that of 1898.

The line of merchandise in which we have done better than hold our own is provisions, although even in that line there was one year (1896) in which the figures exceeded, and that materially, those of 1898 Then, the provision trade amounts to very little at any rate.

In flour, there has been a deplorable falling off, only $31 worth being sent in 1898, against $9 692 worth in 1897. The amount the United States shipped to China last year was $5,000 000.

Nothing to $5,000,000 is enough to make us put on our "thinking caps."

Cotton and manufactures of, by far the most important item in our exports to China, also sadly fell off, being only $291,627 in 1898, against $628,896 in 1897. The United States is now sending nearly $10,000 000 worth of cotton annually to that country, and they are realizing that they are only contributing a mite and are reaching out for more. During the 10 years from 1887 to 1897 the exports of cotton from the United States to China increased nearly 150 per cent. Great Britain, in 1898, exported 70,000,000 yards of bleached cotton to China and 390,000,000 yards of plain cloth.

Canada's chief items of exportation to China during the past five years were as follows:

	1894.	1895.	1896.	1897.	1898.
Cottons, and manufactures of	$462,069	$310,122	$549,211	$628,896	$291,627
Wood, and manufactures of	36 828	33 648	88 779	104 387	54 917
Metals and minerals, and manufactures of	171	8,056	13,192	13,516	7,095
Provisions	1,389	1,747	5,107	2,770	2,933
Flour	.....	1	.....	9,692	31
Fish, and fish products	640	361	29	313	725
Spirits and wines	430	714	357	688	400

According to the latest returns to hand, the aggregate foreign trade of China is about $250,000,000, and yet, how small that amount is when one considers that it is less than $1 per head of the enormous population of that country! Of the aggregate trade, over $100,000,000 were imports, of which less than $400,000 worth was from Canada.

China to-day offers the greatest possibilities for trade expansion of any country in the world. And it is the realization of this fact that is making all commercial nations solicitous for their interests.

Canada should join the solicitous nations.

A WEAKER TEA MARKET.

There is a distinctly weaker feeling in the black tea market.

Advices to hand this week from Colombo, Ceylon, under date of October 28, show that at that time common Pekoes and Pekoe Souchongs were easier and in less demand.

Now, advices from London state that bidding ruled weak and that prices dropped ½ to 1d. per lb. on medium and ¼d. on low-grade teas, the quotation for common Souchong being again put back to 6¼d.

The weakness in Japan and Ceylon teas in London is due to the fact that the offerings were in excess of the requirements, to say nothing of the checked export demand owing to the recent firmness of the market.

China black teas are also easier, and even more so, as far as can be ascertained, than those of Indian and Ceylon growth. China green teas are still firm, and Japan teas appear to be steady, although quiet.

Make the commercial traveler your friend, if you would have the bargains which are occasionally in his "grip."

UNSATISFACTORY SUGAR MARKET.

American competition has caused another break in the price of Canadian refined sugars, the refiners, on Monday, marking down prices 5c. all around.

As already noted in THE CANADIAN GROCER, this competition is most severely felt at Western Ontario points, and the market is in a most unsatisfactory position from a seller's point of view. In fact, it would surprise no one if prices had to be reduced still more, for the domestic refiners have expressed their determination to go to any lengths to meet this foreign selling.

The result is a highly unsettled market, though it is not felt so badly now, because demand is rather inactive. Still, the uncertainty naturally interferes with the booking of orders for forward delivery.

The refiners' price for granulated now is $4 40, and for yellows $3.60 to $4.25.

CONFERENCES OF FIRMS AND THEIR TRAVELERS.

THE closer the manufacturer or the wholesaler can get into touch with his travelers the better it is for his business, for the travelers, having their finger at all time on the pulse of the customers, are better acquainted with their condition and temperament than anyone else. They consequently know what is best suited for them.

The realization of this fact has induced a number of manufacturing concerns to annually hold what may be termed a convention of their travelers. The time for holding them is when trade is at its quietest, which is usually about Christmas. The Canada Paint Co., Limited, The Sherwin-Williams Co., and the Heinz pickle company are firms we have in mind which regularly hold these conventions.

There are a good many firms whose travelers are in the house every week or so, and it is not as important that conventions should in such instances be held. But even in such instances as these the firm would be the gainer and not the loser by such gatherings.

The practice in most cases where these conventions are held is to have a certain number of the travelers prepare papers or addresses on certain phases of the particular business in which they are engaged.

The underlying principle of these papers is the furtherance of the interests of the firm, and in these papers and the discussions which follow a great deal is brought out which is not only helpful to employer, but to employe as well.

This is worth considering by every firm which employs travelers, for even where travelers are frequently in the house there is not time for full consideration of questions appertaining to the welfare of the business.

CANADIAN FRUIT IN ENGLAND.

PROFESSOR JAMES W. ROBERTSON, Commissioner of Agriculture, Ottawa, has received from Sampson Morgan, fruit expert, Kent, England, a report dealng with a shipment of apples, pears and peaches sent from the Agricultural Department to the British market as an experiment.

The apples were snows, packed in layers and rows in boxes. Each apple was wrapped separately in paper. Mr. Morgan reports that every apple arrived in excellent condition, and that "large quantities of such fine eating apples, packed in these handy boxes, would secure a free sale directly their quality became known to the general public."

The variety of pears sent were Beurre D'Anjou. They were put up in the same size of box as the apples, and each pear had been wrapped in a small square of paper. They were sound and in grand condition. After they had been kept two weeks they became fully ripe, when they were delicious, and, in the expert's opinion, should prove serious competitors to the French fruits, if they could be sent up to the sample received.

The peaches sent were of the Elberta variety. They had been partly covered with paper in which a strip of wadding had been included, so as to protect the fruit from bruising. They were found to be too ripe, so that they would not keep well. They were not as juicy as the forced British peach, but the flesh was firmer and very delicious.

ACRIMONY IN THE TRADE.

EVERYONE who is at all in touch with the wholesale and the retail cannot be but often struck with the acrimony which exists between these two branches of trade.

The retailer has the idea that the wholesaler is, as he terms it, trying "to do him up," and the latter often feels that the former is not true to him. And, instead of improving, the tendency appears to be the other way.

Where there is smoke there is certain to be fire, but in this instance the smoke appears to exaggerate the extent of the fire. And that because the two interests are not brought into close enough touch with each other.

The more wholesaler and retailer is acquainted with each other the less possibility will there be of friction and the more easily will the cause of friction be removed when it really does exist.

We believe that much could be done towards bringing this about, were the different interests well organized.

The wholesalers have of late done much towards perfecting their organization, but the same cannot be said of the retailers.

If the wholesalers and retailers were both well organized, the rectifying of grievances and the explanation of new arrangements and methods could be much more expeditiously done than can be under the present condition of affairs.

PROVISIONS CHEAPER.

THE fall demand for provisions this season has been the most prolonged, as well as the most active, that has been noted for years. Though the capacity of nearly all pork-packing concerns in Ontario has been increased in the last year or two, and many new factories have started operations, most houses have been taxed to their limit to keep up with the demand.

Generally, this briskness is over about the middle of November, but this year the last of that month did not see the end of it, and orders are still coming in.

While the unusual briskness of lumbering operations and the great increase in population in the Northwest has had much to do with this activity, the principal cause for it has been that merchants in all sections of Ontario have been free buyers of provisions.

It was anticipated some weeks ago in this paper that the end of November should witness a decline in the price of the principal provisions. This prediction has been verified this week by the announcement by packers of declines of ¼ to ½c. per lb. in all smoked and dry salted meats. Lard is the only article that has maintained its price steadily. Stocks of lard are limited, and the demand is good, so there is little liklihood of it being reduced in price. The tendency is rather upward.

THE ADVANCE IN PAPER BAGS.

In the article under this heading dealing with the reduction in discounts on paper bags, an item was included stating that a special discount of 5 per cent. would be allowed on sacks in lots of 10,000 and upwards when sold or delivered to one buyer. This item referred exclusively to flour sacks, no special discounts being made on paper bags.

ADVANCE IN TOILET PAPER.

THE CANADIAN GROCER is just advised of an advance in the price of toilet paper. The maximum interim large quantity discount is 25 per cent.

New lists are in preparation.

ONTARIO MARKETS.

December 7, 1899.

GROCERIES.

THE feature of the market this week, as far as the prices are concerned, is the decline of 5c. in the prices of all refined sugars, due to the competition of the United States product. The movement of merchandise is, of course, naturally at this time of the year, chiefly in such holiday lines as dried fruits, nuts, etc. In these the demand is good with prices firm, and stocks light as a rule. Very little is being done in canned vegetables, but the market is stronger, rather than weaker, than it was before. Coffees are firm and in good demand. The demand for teas has fallen off, and the outside markets are lower on Indian, Ceylon and China blacks. Spices maintain their firmness. A fair business is being done in both molasses and syrups, with the market for the former strong. Taken on the whole, the wholesale grocery trade in Ontario is in a healthy condition.

CANNED GOODS.

The canned vegetable market has lost none of its strength. There has been no further change in prices, but whatever tendency there is it is in an upward direction. Some of the wholesales will not quote less than $1 for tomatoes. Others again quote 95c. This latter appears to be the lowest figure quoted, and, although the demand is light, prices are decidedly strong at quotations. Corn is just as firmly held as ever. Very little is being offered, and what is being offered is quoted at firm figures, One packer has 1,000 cases to sell, and he is asking $1.05 at the factory. The ruling price quoted by the wholesale to the retail trade is $1.05 to $1.10. Peas are quoted at 80c. up. Beans are firm and in fairly good demand at 90 to 95c. Pumpkin is in good demand at 80c. A fair demand for the season is reported in canned salmon.

COFFEES.

The coffee market continues to gather strength. On account of the bubonic plague other coffee steamers from Brazil have been refused entrance to ports in the United States until after having spent a certain period in quarantine, notwithstanding that these steamers are able to present clean bills of health. The effect of this is to add further strength to an already strong market. In sympathy with the outside markets, the local market is stiffening, and sales are being made at higher prices.

SUGARS.

Although within the last few days the outside markets have been a little steadier, there have been some reductions in prices abroad since our last. In New York, refined sugars have declined 1-16c. per lb., and on Monday the price of all grades of refined were reduced 5c. per 100 lb. in Canada. The more immediate cause of the reduction in Canada was the large importation of foreign sugar. The price of Canadian granulated in Toronto is now $4.53 for Montreal refined, and $4.48 for Acadia.

See pages 29 and 30 for Toronto, Montreal, St. John, and Winnipeg prices current.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

The demand for molasses is fairly good, and prices are firm with an upward tendency. Syrups are also in fair demand, but devoid of any special features.

SPICES.

The firmness which has characterized the spice market for some time is increasing, rather than decreasing. Peppers are again higher, and cloves show further appreciation in value; in fact, everything in the spice line appears to have an upward tendency, as far as prices are concerned.

TEAS.

The exceptional strength which the tea market has shown for some time has at last been broken, although for how long remains to be seen. Advices from India, Ceylon, and London all report an easier market, with prices all the way from ¼d. to 1d. lower. Advices from London state that the reduction in price is due to large offerings at the auctions, while the demand is light. The local market naturally sympathizes with the conditions obtaining outside. There has been a little movement in the local market in India and Ceylon teas up to 15½c. per lb. on wholesale account, but the volume of business is small. China black teas are also lower in the outside markets. Japan teas are attracting little or no attention at the moment, but, as far as known, prices rule steady. In China green teas there has been a slight movement during the past week, and prices are steady. As is usual at this time of the year, the wholesale trade is experiencing a falling off in the demand for teas of all descriptions.

NUTS.

The fact is now staring the wholesale trade in the face that practically a shortage in more than one description of nut is probable. On account of the high price of nuts, a good many in the trade hesitated to place their usual orders, hence the present threatened shortage. The demand from the retail trade is good and prices are decidedly firm.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

The demand for both rice and tapioca is moderate and the market rules steady.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS—Cable advices received this week intimate that the market in Greece is again a little firmer, for efforts to place orders for importation at the late low prices were ineffectual. At the moment, very little business is being done for importation, but the wholesale trade is experiencing a good holiday demand.

VALENCIA RAISINS—The situation on the local market in regard to Valencias is increasing in strength, on account of the realization of the fact that stocks are getting so light as to threaten a shortage in some grades, while the demand is good. Prices rule firm at 6½ to 6¾c. per lb. for off-stalk; 7 to 7½ for selected; 8½c. for extra selected, and 7½c. for layers.

SULTANA RAISINS—A cable despatch from Smyrna on Monday, in reply to an inquiry, stated that the finest quality of Sultana raisins was unobtainable, although the market for other grades was rather dull.

CALIFORNIAN RAISINS—Reports from the Coast state that there is still a great deal of rain-damaged fruit arriving. On the local market there is very little Californian fruit, and very little of it is wanted, on account of the high prices quoted.

MALAGA RAISINS—The stock of Malaga raisins on the local market is on the light side, while the demand is good. Prices remain as quoted last week.

PRUNES—Californian prunes are still very firm in price, but, naturally, at this time of the year there is not much business being done. The market is still firm as to price, and the smaller sizes are becoming very scarce. A shipment of smaller sized fruit arrived on the market this week, but attempts to secure further shipments of the same have, as far as can be learned, been unsuccessful.

FIGS—A shortness of stocks is threatened in regard to the most desirable sizes of Eleme figs in boxes. Tapnet figs are also getting scarce. The demand for figs is seasonably brisk.

DATES—As in a good many other lines of foreign dried fruits, the stock on the local market is becoming much reduced; in fact, the shipment received from the direct steamer has been practically absorbed. There is, however, a quantity of dates for Canada on the steamer Marquette, which arrived in New York on Monday. These will probnbly be in the hands of the wholesale houses this week. It is probable that this will be the last shipment of dates to arrive on this market in time for the Christmas trade.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS — There are a few evaporated apricots and peaches on the local market, but the price rules very high, and there is in consequence very little business being done. We quote apricots at 19c. for choice up to 22c. for fancy; peaches are quoted at from 12 to 14c.

GREEN FRUITS.

The feature of the week is the arrival of navel, Senora, and Valencia oranges, the first of the season. Prices are somewhat higher than last year. The quality of all kinds, as well as the quality of Jamaicas now coming, is excellent. Jamaicas are now arriving in boxes, and are selling at $3.50. This price is also ruling for Senoras, which are from Mexico. Californian navels are quoted at $4 to $4.50 per box. Valencias are selling this week as follows: Ordinary 420's, $5 per case; large 420's, $6 to $6.50; 714's, $6 to $6.50. The supply of lemons is moderate, but is expected to be fully equal to the demand. Stocks of bananas are limited, and the price is firm at $2 to $2.50. There is practically nothing doing in sweet potatoes on account of the cold weather. Prices are unchanged. Spanish onions are quiet at steady prices. The sales of cranberries on the Canadian market this season have not been as large as usual, due largely to the mild weather and the early Thanksgiving decreasing the consumption of turkeys. The supply of Almeria grapes on this market has been sufficient for requirements all season. Qualities have been irregular. Some excellent stock is now on the market, which sells readily at $7.50 per keg. Further supplies are expected via Liverpool and Glasgow before the season closes.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The market is firm. Really fresh eggs are scarce, and small quantities of strictly new-laid are selling on the market as high as 20 to 25c. The supply of fresh-gathered stock is moderate, and they sell readily at 17 to 18c, while held are plentiful at 15 to 16c.

POTATOES — The prices now ruling are steady, cars on track Toronto being still worth about 38 to 40c. per bag. If the weather gets colder, however, making it necessary to line and heat cars, it is likely the market will have to bear an advance of about 5c. Small lots out of store are firm at 45 to 50c. per bag.

BEANS — The market is quiet and unchanged. We quote $1.45 to $1.50 for hand-picked and $1.35 to $1.38 for prime.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES—The market is easier. There has been a large demand for evaporated for export to Belgium and Germany. This has resulted in a big production, so that a lull in the demand for export has weakened factorymen considerably. Jobbers have let down their price about ¼c., the ruling quotation on the street being 8½c. Dried apples are as yet unaffected by the easier feeling for evaporated. The outside market is steady at 5¼ to 5¾c. for ordinary No. 1 stock, and 6c. for No. 1 quarters. The jobbing price is unchanged at 6 to 6¼c. for ordinary.

POULTRY—The mild weather has limited both the supply and the demand on the local market. Large quantities of turkeys are still being exported from here. The price of both turkeys and geese is ½c. lower this week. We quote: Turkeys, 9 to 9½c. per lb.; geese, 5½ to 6½c.; ducks, 45 to 60c. per pair; chickens, 25 to 45c. per pair.

GAME — Receipts continue light. The demand is good, and canvasback ducks are 15 to 25c. dearer, and partridges have sold at 15c. higher figure than the top noted last week. We quote: 25c. per pair for teal and other small varieties; 40c. for blue bills; 65c. for pintails and redheads; 75c. for mallards and large black; $1.25 for canvasbacks, and 50 to 75c. per brace for partridges.

VEGETABLES—Spinach and lettuce are offered in liberal quantities, the former at 40 to 60c. per bushel and the latter at 20 to 40c. per dozen bunches. Pickling cucumbers, muskmelons and watermelons are done. Squashes are 25 to 50c. per doz. dearer. We quote: Spinach, 40 to 50c. per bush.; lettuce, 20 to 40c. per doz.; cabbage, 40 to 50c. per doz.; red cabbage, 50 to 75c. per doz.; cauliflowers, 40 to 60c. per doz.; celery, 40 to 75c. per doz.; parsley, 10 to 15c. per doz.; onions, 40 to 60c. per bush.; green beans, 30 to 50c. per basket; squash, $1 to $1.50 per doz.; vegetable marrow, 40 to 60c. per doz.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—The market is easy. Since the cheese factories discontinued the offerings of dairy prints and large rolls have increased, and though last week's prices are maintained, they are not held firmly by some houses. A decline ½c. is noted in creamery, as supplies are increasing. A good business is being done. We quote: Dairy, large rolls, 17 to 18c.; prints, 18 to 19c.; creamery, tubs and boxes, 20 to 21c.; prints and squares, 22 to 22½c.

CHEESE—The market is stronger this week, in sympathy with a stiffening feeling in Britain. A few factories have cleaned out their last stock this week at 11⅜ to 11c½. Jobbers hold their stocks firmly at 12 to 12½c. for late makes, claiming that higher figures are bound to come.

weather. Prices are steady. We quote as follows: Trout, 7 to 7½c. Niagara whitefish, 8c.; pickerel, 7½c.; herrings, 4c.; halibut, 12½c.; Seattle salmon, 13 to 15c.; steak cod, 7c.; haddock, 5c.; finnan haddies, 6½ to 7c.; boneless fish, 4¾c.; quail-on-toast, 5½c.; steak cod, 6½c.; quintals of cod, 5¾c.; ciscoes, $1 per basket. Oysters, standards, $1.25; selects, $1.65; other brands, $1.25 per gal.; shell oysters, $8 per bbl.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—The wheat market has regained the ½c. lost a week ago, the outside price now being 66c. on cars. The delivery on the street market is fairly large. Wheat and oats are ½ to 1c. dearer. We quote as follows: Wheat, white and red, 68 to 68½c.; goose, 67½ to 69c.; peas, 62c.; oats, 31½ to 32c.; barley, 43 to 44c.; rye, 54c. No. 1 hard Manitoba wheat is steady at 76½c. Toronto and west.

FLOUR—A fair trade is doing. Prices are steady. We quote as follows: Manitoba patents, $4; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.70; Ontario patents, $3.65 to $3.75; straight roller, $3.35, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—There is no change. A good demand is noted. We quote as follows: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.50 in bags and $3.60 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.50 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.50; split peas, $4; pot barley, $4.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL

HIDES—Another advance of ¼c. is noted in cured hides. Otherwise, there is no change. We quote: Cowhides, No. 1, 9½c.; No. 2, 8½c.; No. 3, 7½c. Steer hides are worth ½c. more. Cured hides are worth 10½c.

SKINS—Sheep and lambskins have advanced 5c. We quote: No. 1 veal, 8-lb. and up, 10c. per lb.; No. 2, 8c.; dekins, from 40 to 45c.; culls, 20 to 25c. Sheep and lambskins are selling at 90c.

WOOL—All accumulations of wool have been sold, and the market shows great strength. We quote: Clothing wool and combing fleece, 20c.; unwashed, 12½ to 13c.

SEEDS.

There is little doing. Prices are steady at $4.50 to $5 at outside points for red clover and $4.50 to $7 for alsike.

MARKET NOTES.

Coffee is increasing in price.

Sugar is 5c. per 100 lb. lower.

Turkeys and geese are ½c. per lb. cheaper.

Partridges are 15c. a brace, and canvasback ducks 15 to 25c. per pair dearer.

Californian navel, Verdilla, Senora and Jamaica oranges, in boxes, were received on the market this week.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, December 7, 1899.

GROCERIES.

THE actual movement in the grocery market is naturally confined to seasonable goods, and, in this respect, jobbers say they have nothing to complain of in regard to business in dried fruits and nuts. Both have a strong upward tendency, in sympathy with primary conditions, and, with light supplies here, this disposition is expected to continue. Higher prices, for instance, were asked this week, both on Valencia raisins and Grenoble and Marbot walnuts. Sugar, as a result of American competition, is again down 5c., while molasses continues extremely stiff. Coffees point higher, and there has been some inquiry for Japan tea. Canned goods, while quiet, are strongly held, and in country produce both cheese and butter have made a sharp advance.

SUGARS.

The main fact of the week has, of course, been the decline in local refined prices which were marked down 5c. on Monday afternoon. Business is quiet, but the cut is not due to this, but to the competition of American sugar. The raw market is unchanged on the whole. We now quote granulated at $4.40, and yellows $3.60 to $4.25.

SYRUPS.

These are quiet and unchanged, and prices remain at 1¾ to 2¼c. per lb., as to quality.

MOLASSES.

Great firmness is the dominant fact in this staple owing to the extremely light supplies, and, curiously enough, it is easier to buy single puncheons at 43c. than round lots at more money. This is due to the fact that wholesale grocers will not sell round lots, while speculators who hold lots believe that prices are going to advance. In single puncheons, the Guild price is still 43c., and five puncheons 42c. Porto Rico is quoted from 37 to 40c., while some Antigua has sold here at 35c.

DRIED FRUITS.

The firm tendency in Valencia raisins is maintained, and, as supplies at primary markets are exhausted, further appreciation in value is not unlikely. In fact, local jobbers are asking more to-day than they did last week, fine off-stalk being quoted at 6¾ to 7c.; selected, 7½ to 7¾c., and layers, 7¾ to 8c.

Currants, which have ruled rather unsettled outside, manifest a steadier tone, and jobbing prices on Filiatras now are: 4½c. for bbls.; 4⅝c. for half bbls.; 4¾c. for half cases and 4⅞c. for quarter cases.

Malaga loose muscatel raisins are steady in 50-lb. boxes at 7c. for 2-crown, 8c. for 3 crown and 9c. for 4-crown.

Sultana raisins are quiet and unchanged at 10 to 12c., according to grade.

There is a good inquiry for prunes, and prices are steady. Californian prunes are as follows: 80's to 90's, 6½c.; 70's to 80's, 7c.; 60's to 70's, 7½c.; 50's to 60's, 8½c., and 40's to 50's, 10c. Bosnia prunes are steady also, at 6 to 6½c.

Dates, both on spot and to arrive, are quoted firm at 5 to 5½c.

NUTS.

With the stock exhausted of all kinds of Mediterranean nuts, it is natural that the market should point higher. Pure Mayette Grenobles have advanced to 14 to 15c., Marbots 10½ to 11c., with crowns 9½c. Shelled almonds range from 26 to 30c. The supply of all kinds is light, and, as further importations cannot be had, it is a question with some traders whether there will be enough to last out the season.

CANNED GOODS.

Business is inactive, but the firm disposition in every line is strongly held. This applies to all sorts of vegetables, fruits, and fish.

RICE.

This market is firm, with prices quotably unchanged at $3.30 to $3.40 for Standard B.

SPICES.

There is no important change in spices. Pepper remains firm in tone. We quote: Nutmegs, 35 to 60c. per lb., as to size; mace, 45 to 50c. per lb., as to quality, and pimento, 8c.

COFFEES.

The coffee market has continued active, and prices are higher all around. There are fewer offers of Maracaibo, and it is doubtful if any desirable stock could be had for less than 9c. this week, while Cucuta has sold at 10c. Sales of Rio are noted at 8c. These prices are, of course, for 25-bag lots and up, and do not apply to small parcels. That the price of the ground article to the retail trade will be affected seems almost certain at present.

TEAS.

There has been more doing in tea, though the market is not what can be called active. Several lots of medium Japans sold at 14 to 16c. Black Ceylons and greens are very firmly held.

FISH.

The fish market has exhibited no change of importance. Business is fair. We quote: No. 1 new Nova Scotian herring, $5.25 to $5.50 per bbl.; $2.50 to $2.75 per half-bbl.; N. B. do, $2.50 to $2.75; No. 1 green cod, $5 per bbl.; No. 1 large, $5.50; No. 2, $4.25; Labrador salmon, $13 to $13.50; British Columbian salmon, $13 to $13.50; No. 1 Red Sea trout, $10 to $12; No. 2 mackerel, $15.50 per bbl.; No. 1 green pollock and hake, $3.75; No. 1 green haddock, $4.25; No. 1 large round herrings, with milt and roe, $5.50; dried codfish, $4.60 to $4.75 per 112 lb.; large dressed do., $4.50 to $4.75 per case of 100 lb.; boneless codfish, 5½ to 6c. per lb.; smoked haddies, 6 to 7c. per lb.; St. John bloaters, $1 per box; Yarmouth do., $1; smoked herrings, medium, 12c.; Lock Fyne do., $1 per keg; large do., $3.50 per half-bbl.; kippered herrings, $1.25 per box and 65c. per half-box.

Fresh fish—Haddock, 4c. per lb.; dore, 7c.; market cod, 3c.; steak cod, 4c.

GREEN FRUITS.

The green fruit trade is not very active, but values generally are very steady. The local apple market is firmer in sympathy with the English market. No. 1 range from $2.75 to $3.50, and No. 2 from $1.60 to $2. Almeria grapes are in good demand at $4.50 to $6 per keg, as to quality. Catawbas in small baskets are offering at 21 to 25c. There has been an advance in the price of Jamaica oranges this week of 50c. to $1 per bbl., and they are now commanding $6 to $6 50 per bbl. The first receipts of Valencia oranges are expected this week, while the first carload of Californian oranges is due about December 10. Lemons are commanding fair sales at $2.50 to $3.25 per box. The heavier receipts of cranberries have caused a drop of 50c. to $1 per bbl. on the week, sales now ranging between $4.50 to $6 per bbl.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The demand was good; in consequence, trade is active at firm prices. Strictly new-laid are selling at 21 to 22c.; candled, 18 to 20c.; Montreal limed, 16 to 16½c., and culls, 11 to 13c. per doz.

POULTRY—A more active trade was done in poultry to-day, on account of the colder weather, but prices show no improvement, as the offerings were large. The demand was principally for good to choice turkeys and young chickens. Good to choice turkeys sold at 8½ to 9c.; common, 7½ to 8c.; good to choice chickens, 6½ to 7c.; common, 5 to 6c.; good to choice geese, 5½ to 6c., and common 4 to 5c. per lb.

GAME—Receipts of partridge were fair, for which the demand is good, and prices rule firm at 65c. for firsts, and 40c. for seconds per brace.

MAPLE PRODUCT—The market for maple product is quiet and steady. Pure sugar is held at 10½ to 11c., and syrup, 65 to 75c. per tin.

HONEY—There was no change in honey to note. White clover in comb is quoted at 12c.; extracted, 9c., and buckwheat, 8c. per lb.

BEANS—A fair trade is passing in beans. Choice hand-picked are quoted at $1.15 to $1.50, and primes, $1.37½ to $1.40.

ASHES—The market for ashes rules quiet. We quote: First sorts, $4.30; seconds, $4, and pearls, $5.15 per 100 lb.

DRESSED HOGS—Owing to the colder weather there was a better demand for light weights, but heavy moved slow. The tone of the market was steady, and prices show no change. Light sold at $5 to $5.25, and heavy $4 to $4.25 per 100 lb., in a jobbing way.

PROVISIONS.

The demand to-day for pork and lard was fair, but trade in smoked meats was slow. We quote as follows: Canadian short cut mess pork, $15.50; short cut back, $15, and heavy long cut mess, $15 per barrel. Pure Canadian lard in pails, 7¼ to 7¾c. per lb.; and compound refined, 6 to 6½c. per lb. Hams 11c. to 12½c., and bacon 11 to 12c. per lb.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.

FLOUR—A fair jobbing trade was reported in flour, and the market is moderately active and steady. We quote: Winter wheat patents, $3.60 to $3.90; straight rollers, $3.30 to $3.40; in bags, $1.65; Manitoba patents, $3.90 to $4.20, and strong bakers', $3.60 to $3.70.

GRAIN—There was nothing new in the situation of the local grain market. The demand for all lines on spot was slow, but a fair amount of business was reported in peas and oats at Toronto for shipment via winter ports. There was a fair inquiry for Manitoba wheat from foreign buyers, but, as cables were not altogether satisfactory, the volume of business done was small. Peas were quoted at 65½c.; rye, 69½c.; No. 1 barley, 47½c.; No. 2 barley, 46½c.; feed barley, 45½c.; oats, 30¼ to 30½c., and buckwheat, 51 to 51½c. in store.

OATMEAL—The demand for rolled oats was slow, and prices were unchanged at $3.50 per barrel and at $1.70 per bag.

FEED—There is a steady demand for feed, and values are maintained. Manitoba bran is selling at $15; shorts, $17 per ton, including bags; Ontario bran, at $15.50; shorts, at $16.50 to $17.50, and mouille at $20 to $24 per ton, in bulk.

HAY—A good trade continues to be done in baled hay, owing to the steady demand from American buyers. We quote: Choice No. 1, $9 to $10; No. 2, $8 to $9; and clover, $7 to $7.50 per ton, in carload lots.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

CHEESE—With the supply of lower-priced cheese being steadily absorbed, the volume of business becomes more restricted because the finest fall grades are held above what is being offered for them. Prices, therefore, are mostly nominal at 11¾c. upward. The Liverpool cable was 58s. 6d. for colored and 57s. for white.

BUTTER—The firm feeling is maintained under light receipts, and the bulk of what is arriving is wanted on domestic account. Accordingly, if exporters want to procure any butter they have to pay full prices, and we quote 20½ to 21c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Higher prices have been paid here this week both for Maracaibo and Cucuta coffee.

All kinds of Mediterranean nuts are advancing, higher prices being asked here this week both on Grenoble and Marbot walnuts.

Cheese has advanced ½c. per lb. for export business, while local jobbers are paying 1½ to 2c. per lb. more than they did last week.

As a result of American competition, Canadian refiners were again compelled to lower prices 5c. per 100 lb. on sugar this week.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,

ST. JOHN, N.B., December 7, 1899.

BUSINESS continues active in wholesale grocery lines, dried fruits having particular attention. The weather has been mild for this season, and has very much aided business. The river steamers have, however, stopped running, which makes it quiet in that part of the city where they land, which is almost a town by itself. But then we have the winter export business, which is now in full blast. There has been a misunderstanding between the Minister of Railways and the C.P.R., and this business was all but lost to the city, and arrangements at present are far from satisfactory to the C.P.R. In the markets, there continues, except in a few lines, to be a strong tone.

OIL—In burning oil, prices have again been advanced, and are held very firm. There is a large sale. In lubricating, there is a larger sale than usual at this season, but, after all, it is the quiet time. The general good times in manufacturing and railroading have very largely increased the consumption of lubricating oils, and tend to higher values, the supply not growing in proportion. Cod oil is quiet. Paint oils keep very high. Wax is higher than for many years, and is firmly held.

SALT—In Liverpool coarse, the market is now well supplied, and will be so during the winter, and prices are inclined to be lowest at this season, though this year there will be less difference than usual, as freights are higher. There is a fair demand. In fine salt, English and Canadian, there are no changes in price. We quote as follows: Liverpool coarse, 50 to 55c. English factory-filled, 95c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20 to 22c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12 to 14c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per doz.; mineral rock salt, oc. per 100 lb.

CANNED GOODS—Some small lots of corn have been received from Montreal at rather under regular figures, but it has not affected prices here. Tomatoes are rather stronger in tone. Peaches are a fair stock and prices rather higher than last season. In oysters, some Baltimore packers are only now quoting, and prices are high and likely to advance. Pineapple is scarce and rather higher. Meats are firm, but this is the quiet season. In gallon apples the tendency is higher; fair stocks are held. Canned haddies are quite firm, but herrings and sardines are low.

GREEN FRUITS—There is an active business. In apples, there have been very large arrivals. The fact that the English market has not been very satisfactory has led some to expect lower figures, but prices are well maintained, particularly for best grades. Oranges sell freely. Jamacias are still the sellers, and the quality is fine. Prices are quite firm. Valencias are daily expected. Lemons sell freely at rather firmer figures. Cranberries are also tending higher, and already prices have been advanced some. In grapes, while there are a few Ontarios, the Malagas have the demand. Prices are firm and stocks good. Bananas are only moved in a retail way.

DRIED FRUITS—The first and largest orders have largely been filled. Raisins are a fair stock, with quite a quantity coming from New York, on which little, and, in some cases, no money is being made. The feature of the market is the large quantity of Malaga loose muscatels here, and the fact that there are no Californians. It is doubtful if a single box of new Californians has been imported, the first time this has happened since they were introduced here. In peels, stocks are running low; in fact, English is scarce and prices are higher. The American is nice peel, but costs higher than the English. These remarks largely refer to citron, as lemon and orange are small sellers. New dates sell freely, and Californian prunes have a demand. A second direct car is on the way. In apricots and peaches, prices keep too high for business. Figs hold their figure, with ample stocks. In evaporated apples, there is a fair quantity here, and values rather easier. Dried are scarce. Onions keep low, with American selling below Canadian. All nuts are firmly held, and a good sale is reported.

DAIRY PRODUCE—Eggs begin to show quite a range in price, but for best fresh stock case eggs higher prices are asked, and for henery stock high figures are in sight. In butter, there is little change, but best stock is in demand and is working higher, though slowly. Cheese is quiet and market shows no change.

SUGAR—Quite a large quantity of foreign yellow arrived by steamer this week. This is bag sugar, called "Primrose." The market is s ightly easier. Wholesale dealers are not large buyers.

MOLASSES—This is a very strong line, and there is every prospect of higher figures. New Orleans, which has quite largely supplied the trade of late, is considerably higher in New Orleans, and stocks held here are not large. Stock of West India goods is very light, chiefly Porto Rico, some of which is of only fair quality. In syrup, such little as sells is American. Demand is for a good syrup, but it is vey small.

FISH—Prices continue high, though in dry cod we quote rather lower figures this week. There is, however, nothing that could be called a break in the market, and a little later, the outlook is that the old figures will be obtained. This season large and medium have shown little, if any, difference in price. Pollock are still high and figures quoted show no change. Pickled herring are not quite as high, but are firmly held. Smoked are arriving more freely, but are not a large stock, and hold their price better than for some time past. Bloaters and kippers are both scarce. In finnan haddies there is improved demand, and quite large shipments are going forward. The open weather has rather effected the sale. We quote as follows: Large and medium dry cod, $3.75 to $3.85; small, $2.50 to $2.75; pickled shad, $4.50 to $5, as to quality; haddies, 4½ to 5c. per lb.; smoked herring, 8 to 9c.; fresh haddock and cod, 2½c.; boneless fish, 4 to 5c.; pollock, $2.30 to $2.40 per 100; pickled herring, $2.10 to $2.15 per half bbl.; bloaters, 60c.; kippers, $1.00.

PROVISIONS—All lines are higher, beef in particular showing a sharp advance. Pork is firm at present prices. Lard is marked up, dealers having to replace stocks at quite advanced figures.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—In flour, there are free arrivals, and the feeling is easy. In Manitobas there continues to be more range in price between mills than formerly. Oatmeal and oats are firm. Cornmeal is rather higher. There will soon be largely increased output here. While feed is still high, it is more freely offered. Beans are firm, but sell slowly. Barley shows little, if any, change. Split peas keep high with blue peas very scarce. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $4.40 to $4.60; best Ontario, $3.80 to $4.00; medium, $3.60 to $3.75; oatmeal, $3.80 to $3.90; cornmeal, $2.25 to $2.35; middlings, $21 to $22; oats, 38 to 40c.; hand-picked beans, $1.50 to $1.65; prime, $1.45 to $1.55; yellow-eye beans, $1.90 to $2; split peas, $3.90 to $4.00; round, $3.25 to $3.40; pot barley, $3.80 to $4.00; hay, $7 to $7.50; timothy seed, American, $1.50.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

Geo. E. Barbour received a further shipment this week of bright New Orleans molasses.

The Maritime Spice and Coffee Co. are beginning to get in shape for business. They expect to begin about the first of the year.

Robinson's barley is always in demand, the agents here having sent forward some nice orders during the week.

A. O. Hastings, representative of The Lake of the Woods Milling Co., who has been very ill, is again around.

E. T. Sturder, who represents shippers of both American and foreign sugars, distributed to the wholesale trade, ex the English steamer, some 25 tons of bag yellow sugar of the brand "Primrose" this week.

WEIGH YOUR TURKEYS.

Some grocers have a very careless way of getting at the value of fowl. They weigh in the ordinary way, and call it, perhaps, a quarter of a pound less than the actual weight, and then, when they are getting paid, take off a few cents to make it even money. This can now be all done away with. C. Wilson & Son, the Toronto scale-makers, are making a scale specially for weighing turkeys, so that the merchant can get the full value of the fowl and will show the weight to the customer at the same time. These scales are fine weighers, and will weigh cheese or anything else that the grocer has to weigh. Since the new Wilson scales have come into use grocers are discarding their old-fashioned scales and replacing them with new scales, which, they say, will pay for themselves in a few months.

AN INSULT.

"I wuz never so insulted in me life," exclaimed Tired Tom, throwing himself under the shade of a friendly tree.

"What's de matter now, pard?" asked Weary Walker, "someone point to de buck saw?"

"Well, about de same t'ing. A man offered me a steady job dis mornin'."

"Dat wuz a insult, fer yer life."

"Yep: an' de wust uv it wuz dat it wuz a job in a soap factory."—Chicago Post.

The annual meetings of the patrons of the Otonabee and Ormonde, Ont., cheese factories were held recently. Both factories have had a successful season, the average price of cheese being 9.8 to 10c. per lb.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, December 4, 1899.

The coming in of December has brought us a complete change of weather. The wind is in the north and the ground is covered with snow. Winter appears to have at last arrived in earnest, and everyone feels in better spirits, as, although the mild weather was very acceptable, the general opinion was that it had lasted quite long enough. Everybody is now talking Christmas trade, and there is a constant complaint that, owing to bad freight service, Christmas goods are not arriving as they should do.

WHEAT—The lack of freight service is quite as bad for things going out as for things coming in, and, although, owing to bad roads, the wheat deliveries through Manitoba have been very light, the elevators all over the country are still very much congested. The whole wheat market is in bad shape, and the decline has been steady right through the week, with no prospects of improvement. In fact, the reports of the enormous crop in the Argentine Republic, which were published on Saturday, have tended to further oppress the market. Daily, the visible supply appears to be increasing. Markets closed on Saturday at 50c. for No. 1 hard on a 15c. rate of freight, and only 47c. on a 20 and 21c. rate. At Fort William, spot wheat is not worth more than 54¼ or 54½ at the outside.

CEREALS—American rolled oats are quoted at $1.70 for 80's, and Manitoba at $1.75. The feeling of the market is earier, as the supply of oats for milling is now abundant. Pot barley, $2.25 ; pearl barley, $3.75. Beans are firm at last week's figures.

RICE—Japan rice is higher; in fact, reports say it is "out of sight." The exact advance could not be obtained up to time of writing.

CANNED GOODS—Present no change, except that the all-rail freight has further added to the cost of laying down here. Current quotations are still far below what goods could be sold for if laid down now, though a 5c. advance is actually quoted this week. For instance, tomatoes are listed at $2.25 to $2.30, while they are actually costin $1.10 in Ontario.

DRIED FRUITS—In Valencia raisins the cry from New York still is, "none on hand and none to arrive." Stocks of Valencia off stalks are practically exhausted. Californian loose muscatels, in 30-lb. boxes, 9½c.; prime bleached sultanas, 25-lb., 9c.; 3-crown London layers, $2.40; seeded raisins, 10 to 10½c., according to grade. Currants are in plentiful supply. There is no change in price, and the demand is good, as is usual at this time of the year. The prune market is fairly well supplied and the demand is good. Prices are : 40 to 50's, 8¼c.; 50 to 60's, 7½c.; 60 to 70's, 7c.; 70 to 80's, 6½c.; 80 to 90's. 5¾c.

EVAPORATED FRUITS.—Choice pears are hard to obtain, but small stocks are now on this market at 13c. The sales here are small. Peeled peaches are almost impossible to obtain. There are none in the city and none are in taansit so far as can be learned. Unpeeled are abundant and unchanged in price at 10c. Apricots, however, have advanced another ½c. and are quoted at 17½ to 18c. This price is largely prohibitive.

COFFEE - Rios are firm, and the price has been advanced ½c. since last writing. There also seems a prospect of a further advance, and quotations are now 9½c. for best grades.

GINGER—Canton ginger for Christmas trade has arrived, and presents no change in price from last year. The quality is excellent, and so far the demand is good. Smalls, $2 30; mediums, $5 ; large, $9.25.

FISH—Haddies arriving by freight have been in bad shape owing to warm weather. The first car by freight was all right, but the second appeared to have encountered very warm weather, and was practically worthless on arrival. Owing to this, the market is only supplied with small express shipments. However, a car was billed to leave Nova Scotia on December 1, and now that the weather is colder it is hoped it will arrive in good condition. For the same reason bloaters are only in limited supply. The quotation is $1.50 per box.

GREEN FRUITS—The auction sale of apples appears to be over, and the market is returning to a more healthy tone. There is no doubt that the cheap stock shipped in and sold by auction had no keeping qualities. Already, inquiries are being made for choice winter stock at reasonable figures; $3.50 is a fair quotation for good apples. Apples, on the whole, this season, are not satisfactory, so far as the keeping quality is concerned. In oranges, the chief supply is Mexican, although navels are on the market in reasonable quantities. Navels are $5 to $5.50 and Mexicans $4.50 to $4.75.

TRADE IN OTHER COUNTRIES THAN OUR OWN.

IT is reported that so far this season 50,000 bbls. of Almeria grapes have arrived at Boston. Receipts at New York have to the present time amounted to about 175,000 bbls., against 96,000 bbls. last year.

New York State packers of gallon apples have withdrawn from the market, the reason assigned being the rapid rotting of barreled apples.

A SHORT GRINDING SEASON.

The Louisiana Planter, of November 25, says: "Our advices from the country this week record the termination of the grinding season on a number of plantations, and the campaign of 1899 will go down into history as one of the shortest in the annals of the Louisiana sugar industry. The results, so far as extraction is concerned, seem to be generally good, but the yield of cane to the acre is somewhat disappointing. Later news seems to indicate that the damage to the cane by the cold snap of November 3, was not such as to seriously interefere with the seed cane supply, and plenty of cane fit for planting is being found even in those localities where quite a severe degree of cold was experienced. The freeze and the warm weather which has followed it have had a somewhat detrimental effect on the saccharine contents of the cane, and the sweetness of the juice has retrograded instead of advancing with the progress of the rolling season."

CHEESE IN GREAT BRITAIN.

The latest circular to hand of The Anglo-Canadian Produce Co., Limited, under date of London, November 25, says: "Market is firm. The country dealers are beginning to realize that high prices must prevail this winter."

BLACKBERRIES AND GOOSEBERRIES DEARER.

Canned blackberries and gooseberries have advanced 10c. per dozen in St. Louis, owing to scarcity and demand, for notwithstanding a heavy pack this season the goods have gone more freely into consumption than ever before, leaving little stock in the hands of packers.

ADVANCE IN DATES IN LONDON.

According to cables from London there is an active demand there for Persian dates, and prices have advanced to 13s. 9d. for Hallowees and Khadrawees and to 13s. for Sairs, with the tendency still upward. Usually there is a difference of some 2s. between the prices of Hallowees and Sairs in the London market, but, as will be noted, the difference just now is but 9d. This is attributed to the unusually good quality of Sairs this season, and the comparatively light shipments of that grade.—New York Journal of Commerce.

BRAZILIAN COFFEE CROP.

A cable received in New York from Karl Krische & Co. says: "Estimate present Rio crop 3,500,000 bags; estimate present Santos crop 6,500,000 to 7,000,000 bags. Estimate next Rio crop 3,000,000 to 3,250,000 bags; prospects are for a very large Santos crop, many young plantations beginning to yield."

UNITED STATES PACK OF CORN.

According to The American Grocer, the pack of corn in New York State this season was about 250,000 cases less than last year, on a largely increased acreage. Had the crop turned out fine the output would have exceeded 2,000,000 cases.

TEA TRADE IN THE UNITED STATES.

The general report has continued of a quiet market, the usual holiday dullness now being experienced. The retail grocery trade generally were well occupied with holiday goods, and sent in only such orders for tea as have been needed to meet current wants. The tone of the market has held steady, as there has been no pressure to sell, holders, as a rule, showing confidence in the situation. The Tea Association officially reported the deliveries for October at 8,150,000 lb., which were smaller than the report circulated in the trade last week indicated.—New York Journal of Commerce, December 2.

BETTER PRICES WANTED.

A despatch from Rome, N.Y., under date of November 22, says: "A meeting of New York State canned goods packers was in secret session here this afternoon. The recent advance in tinplate, solder, boxes, labels and other supplies used by packers is so great that it seems doubtful whether the business can be carried on next year at a profit without a greater advance in canned products than the market will be likely to stand. The object of the conference is to meet, if possible, the situation by formulating some plan by which supplies may be secured at more advantageous rates. There were 32 men present, representing all the prominent canneries in the State. L. P. Haviland, of Camden, presided, and D. B. Simmons, of Rome, acted as secretary."

Michael Howe, general merchant, and J. P. Sutton, grocer, Pembroke, Ont., are moving into new premises.

"I say," said Jones, the manufacturers' agent, to Smith, the restaurateur, "however do you use such an enormous quantity of pears and peaches?" "Well," replied Smith, "we eat what we can, and what we can't eat we can." "Indeed!" said the other; "we do about the same in our business." "How is that?" "We sell an order when we can sell it, and when we can't sell it we cancel it."—Ex.

Herb. J. Boyd, formerly with the late firm, Pigot & Bryan, London, Ont., has completed arrangements with a number of the leading English and American manufacturers of crockery, china, table glassware and lamp goods, for representing them in Manitoba and British Columbia, with headquarters and sample-rooms at Winnipeg.

THE LATE HUGH McLENNAN.

THE late Hugh McLennan, of whom this is a characteristic picture, is justly mourned by all who had the pleasure of his acquaintance. Mr. McLennan was one of Montreal's most eminently successful business men. For nearly 60 years he had been a resident of that city, but his career, as a man controling large interests, may be dated from 1853, when, in conjunction with his brother, the late John McLennan, M.P., he entered the grain and transportation business. From this beginning there developed the Montreal Transportation Company, of which Mr. McLennan was still president at the time of his death. Mr. McLennan served as president, or on the directorate, of many other important financial and commercial organizations, as well as on the executive council of the Dominion Board of Trade, the Harbor Commission, the Board of Governors of McGill University, and numerous philanthropic and social organizations. He was, indeed, a man whose life was filled to overflowing with duty and activity of one kind and another, and he will be greatly missed wherever his wise, liberal and dignified counsels were wont to be heard. The tragic circumstances surrounding his death, within a few hours after he had followed the remains of his friend, Sir William Dawson, to their resting place, are still but too fresh in the minds of the readers of THE CANADIAN GROCER.

HAVE ENLARGED THEIR STORES.

The Playfair, Preston Co., Limited, general merchants, etc., Midland, Ont., have profitted by the "fat years" of late. Their business has so grown that they have found it necessary to enlarge from time to time, till now they have three stores, two of which are quite large. These are divided into three divisions, groceries, general dry goods and men's furnishings. Mr. Preston, the junior partner, who has charge of the stores, is a young man possessing the right qualities for conducting a large business such as this successcfully.

COFFEE CULTIVATION IN INDIA.

THE report of the Director-General of Statistics on "The Cultivation of Coffee in India" was issued recently. Two tables appended to it state the facts regarding the cultivation of coffee, the first in detail for the two years 1897 and 1898, the second in abstract for the 14 years 1885 to 1898. Mr. O'Conor remarks: "It should be noted, however, that the figures, for which the Government are dependent upon the planting community, are imperfect and defective, planters, for unknown reasons, sometimes withholding information." Following is the report itself:

AREA.

At the end of 1898 there were 281,570 acres of land under coffee in India, all, with the exception of 549 acres, in Southern India. The cultivation of coffee is, in fact, restricted, for the most part, to a limited zone in Mysore, Coorg, and the Madras Districts of Malabar and the Nilgiris. About 45 per cent. of the coffee-bearing area is in Mysore, where there were 128,079 acres in 1898, and the plant is grown on 128,410 acres, forming another 45 per cent. in the British districts of Coorg (82,575 acres), the Nilgiris and Malabar (45,835). If to these two areas are added 6,384 acres in Travancore and Cochin, we find 93 per cent. of Indian coffee concentrated in the elevated region above the Southwestern Coast. Mysore, Coorg, and the Madras districts contain 97 per cent. of the coffee-growing area.

In the Madras Presidency, cultivation on an extended scale is practically restricted to the two districts already mentioned and to Salem and Madura. The only other province in which coffee is grown, except experimentally or to an insignificant extent, is Burmah, and the cultivation there, mostly in Toungoo, is very limited.

The area in Madras, after a reported contraction in 1896 and 1897, again expanded in 1898 to the level of 1894 and 1895. In Coorg, the area reported in each of the last three years is much beyond the average, but in Mysore it has been reduced approximately to the level ef 1892.

PRODUCTION.

The yield in 1898 was about 23,750,000 pounds, that of 1897 having just exceeded 24 000,000, the production in both years having been extremely poor, following a poor yield in 1896. The poverty of the crop in 1896 and 1897 was due, in the main, to adverse seasons in Mysore, Coorg, and Travancore, and in all three cases there was a recovery in 1898, which was, however, incomplete in the case of Mysore; but, to set against this recovery, the Madras crop was a signal failure. Since 1897 the fall in prices has removed the stimulus which had been given for a few years to the further expansion of the coffee-growing area, and disease has combined with adverse climate conditions to reduce the yield.

Taking 100 to represent the area and production in 1885, the ratio of yearly increase or decrease is as follows:

	Area.	Prodn.
1885	100	100
1886	97	90
1887	103	109
1888	104	76
1889	110	85
1890	114	63
1891	111	113
1892	110	97
1893	109	109
1894	117	101
1895	119	115
1896	121	75
1897	116	69
1898	118	68

PERSONS EMPLOYED.

According to the statements, there were, in 1898, 25,930 persons permanently, and 88,550 temporarily, employed on the coffee estates, making a total of 114,480 persons, which is equal to one person to 246 acres.

EXPORTS AND CONSUMPTION.

The following figures are the average of the five years, ending 1898–1899:

		Lb.
Indian coffee	Production	29,849,357
	Exports	28,628,514
Foreign coffee	Imports	1,564,416

About 96 per cent. of the production is exported, and the coffee consumed in India consists of Indian and imported coffee in the proportion of 69 per cent. of Indian to 31 per cent. of foreign coffee. The explanation of the fact that such a large proportion of foreign coffees, mostly imported from the Straits, is consumed in India doubtless lies in the disinclination of the planters of Southern India to take any account of the local market.

The principal countries to which were shipped the 30.246,272 lb. of Indian coffee exported in 1898–1899 were:

	Lb.
United Kingdom	17,392,480
Austro-Hungary	1,023,568
Germany	618,688
Ceylon	505,680
Australia	265,440
Arabia	229,488
Asiatic Turkey and Persia	131,264

PRICES.

Coffee is not sold, as tea is sold, before shipment for export, and, therefore, there is no Indian quotation of price. The average prices in London for East Indian plantation coffee in each of the last 25 years are here subjoined, with their variations, making the price of 1894 as the datum equal 100:

CEYLON GREEN TEAS.

The "Salada" Tea Company received another large shipment of green Ceylon tea and have been able to fill all back orders. "Reports on these teas from all over confirm us," said a member of the firm, "in the opinion that these teas will take the place altogether of Japan teas in the course of a couple of years, just the same as Ceylon black tea has taken the place of China blacks."

"Malmaison" Empire Pattern

This design is especially commendable for its correctness of style. The decorative theme of this pattern was executed from a similar design known as a souvenir of Empress Josephine. The brilliancy of its gilding, accuracy of printing and richness of its ground colorings, on fancy embossed paper, render it invaluable for high-class decorations.

WHEAT LANDS IN THE CANADIAN WEST.

I SHALL now, however, proceed to estimate the area within the Canadian Northwest, including the Province of Manitoba and the provisional districts of Assiniboia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Athabasca, which could, under favorable market conditions, be made to contribute to the world's wheat supply. Mr. A. M. Burgess, late Commissioner of Dominion Lands, fixed the area of Manitoba and the Northwest Territories fit for agricultural operations at about 390,000 square miles. I am inclined to think, however, that this calculation is far too liberal. A moderate estimate of the tract lying within the wheat belt, as defined by the Geological Surveys branch of the Department of the Interior, would be 262,000 square miles. This includes the Peace River district, where wheat has been successfully grown for years. Out of this area, 101,000 square miles are located within the semi-arid district, leaving 161,000 square miles of wheat lands under favorable climatic and soil conditions. An allowance should be made of some 25 per cent. of the total to cover lands unfit for cultivation, owing to adverse topographical features, which would leave a balance of some 121,000 square miles, or 77,440,000 acres.

The Canadian Irrigation Surveys Corps has carefully measured the water supply available for the irrigation of the semi-arid district, and the supply, which could readily be made available through the construction of a system of storage reservoirs on the east slope of the Rocky Mountains, and it has been found that, estimating on the basis of one second foot of water for every 100 acres (the duty of water as fixed at present), an area of 6,500,000 acres can be artificially watered within the semi-arid district. This, added to the area under humid conditions, would bring the total wheat lands of Manitoba and the Northwest up to about 84,000,000 acres.—C. W. Peterson in Canadian Magazine.

BEEF FOR BRITISH SOLDIERS.

The New York Journal of Commerce of December 2 says: "The British Government have bought 300,000 cases of canned meats of American packers since the Boer war began, or 7,000,000 cans, one-third of which has been shipped, one-third is being shipped and the other third is to be shipped as soon as it can be delivered and inspected.

"But the British Government do not accept the packers' inspection, as our War Department did, and demand reinspection before going on board ship at New York by disinterested parties. It is said that a very large contract, covering the above amount of canned meats, has been made with the firm of inspectors who passed upon all the canned meats supplied to our navy during the late war, of which no complaint was heard, while the army beef scandal is not yet forgotten, for want of such private inspection.

"Evidently the English Government intend to profit by our experience and protect their soldiers as well as sailors. These contracts for meat were also let after competition between the packers, all of whom received awards, instead of a few favored ones as under the Eagan "emergency" system. The Hammond, Libby, Morris, Cudahy and Armour companies all received a portion of these contracts. Not much other meats except extra India beef has been taken here by the English Government so far. The inspection was made by Thos. Goulard & Son."

PORK-PACKING IN PAISLEY.

There is a strong agitation for a pork-packing factory in Paisley, Ont. At a meeting held some weeks ago, it was decided to organize with a capital of $8,000, in $25 shares. At a subsequent meeting, it was decided to devote one-half of this sum to the erection and equipment of a building, and the balance for carrying on the business. The stock list was opened, and, before the meeting dispersed, $2,475 had been subscribed. This sum had been increased by over $2,000 by Friday last.

CANADA VS. UNITED STATES IN BRITISH MARKET.

Canada is slowly, but surely, creeping towards the high position which the United States holds in our export and import list. In 1894 the value of United States fresh beef imported into this country was $18,110,000, while that from Canada was only $476. In 1898, however, while the United States sent us $22,632,314 worth of beef, Canada sent us close upon $1,750,000. Of butter, in 1894 we received value to the extent of $612,000 from the United States and $438,000 from Canada; while in 1898 the figures were: United States $1,386,600 and Canada $3,217,000. Our imports of cheese for the same year were: Canada, $14,307,000; United States, $4,892,000. To sum up the position, United States exports to Great Britain have advanced 28.8 per cent. in the last five years, while Canadian exports have increased 38.7 per cent. during the same period, while, at the same time, our exports to the United States have diminished by 7.2 per cent., and increased 5.1 per cent. to Canada.—Syren and Shipping, London.

Benson's Prepared Corn

There is no adulteration in Benson's Prepared Corn—there is no need to adulterate because it has sold entirely on its merits as an absolutely pure Prepared Corn for over forty years. The delicacy of its flavor is almost proverbial.

Comparisons are made with Benson's Prepared Corn as the standard—you hear this everywhere—"It's just as good as Benson's." You know what "just as good" means—an endeavor to sell an inferior article for a lower price. Benson's Prepared Corn is the standard—forty years have proved it so beyond a question.

MONSOON
INDO-CEYLON TEA.

YOUR STORE IS JUDGED
by your leaders—not by your staples.

What is your leader? What do you give the ladies who want the best tea for their money, and who know what the best is?

If you give them a mediocre tea you get the reputation of runing a poor store—a good place to keep away from. If you give them MONSOON you give them the best and most widely known tea in the country—a tea everybody likes—a tea everybody knows about—a tea that is a staple in the best grocery stores in Canada. If you want the custom of good families give them a good tea—the best.

Tender Macaroni

"A thread-bare story" someone says. Perhaps so, but it will bear repeating. P. Codu makes his Macaroni from the only wheat that Macaroni ought to be made of—Russian Wheat.

This wheat gives a delicacy and whiteness to the Macaroni that can be obtained in no other way. Folks try to imitate it, but consumers don't see it in that light. We ought to know—we have had the experience.

Sold by leading wholesalers everywhere.

SOME IDEAS AND IMPRESSIONS.

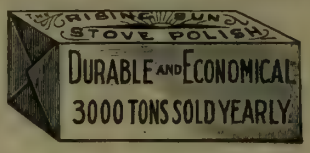
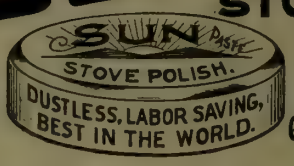
ONE of the most pleasant recollections of my stay in New York was with the Sphinx Club at its regular monthly dinner in the Waldorf-Astoria. I went upon the insistence of Mr. F. James Gibson, secretary of the club. The club is composed of advertising men and newspaper publishers. Why the club was given the name it bears, I tried then and have tried since, but ineffectually, to fathom. I cast my eye over each member and not one of them was cold or stiff enough, or even dumb enough to be even a forty-second cousin to a sphinx.

On the contrary, each member was as warm-hearted and as genial as could be desired, and, tell it not in Gath, as talkative as could be desired. Everybody in Canada who knows Mr. F. James Gibson knows that he is no cold and enigmatic sphinx. Well, he is a good type of the average member of the Sphinx Club.



The subject for discussion after the tables had been cleared and long clay pipes brought out, was "The Metropolitan Journals as Advertising Mediums." Mr. Ogden, who has charge of the advertising for John Wanamaker's big departmental store, took up the question. Mr. Ogden's conclusions were that the advertiser in the metropolitan press—which is, of course, the New York press—did not know what he was buying. In the lengthy discussion that followed some said "yea" and some said "nay" to Mr. Ogden's conclusions. Those who said "nay" were largely from the ranks of the business managers of the metropolitan dailies, who contended that it was (1) no part of the publisher's duties to exhibit his circulation to advertisers, and (2) that quality in circulation was of more importance than quantity. The Sphinx Club is a live institution, and, from what I could judge, has good reason for its being.

One sees on a first visit to New York a good many things which he did not expect to see. I, at any rate, saw a good many things I did not expect to see. One thing I saw which I never dreamed of seeing was —a sea serpent. I was not mistaken; nor was it an optical delusion. Neither was I under "the influence," for I belong to the hot-water brigade. "Mr. Petrie can tell you the same," as Mickey Free used to sing. I cannot say it was a real live serpent, because it wasn't. And, while I am not like George Washington, who could not tell a lie, yet I will not tell one. What I really saw was the bones of one, as they were gathered up from a chalk bed in Kansas and transferred to a plaster of paris bed and hung in the Museum of Natural History. The tip of the tail of the reptile was missing, but, allowing 2 feet 6 inches for the missing tip, the total length of the serpent was estimated at 30 feet 4 inches. The skull measured 4 feet, the lower jaw 46 inches. In the days of the flesh it must have been a bad-looking customer; and, if there were any sailors in the prehistoric days it roamed the seas, the hair of many of them must have stood on end. Perhaps it is the ghost of this very serpent that has frightened some of our modern sailors.



While upon man-scaring animals, I am reminded of another hideous reptile or fish which is exhibited in the museum. I have reference to a specimen of the octopus or devil fish. Of the two, I think I would rather meet the sea serpent than the devil fish on the high seas. This reptile was suspended from the ceiling in one of the rooms, and covered, I should think, an area of about 18 feet square. Standing underneath it and looking up, one could imagine himself beneath a gigantic, many-colored umbrella, the ribs of which protruded in a zig-zag way many yards beyond the covering. The eyes were on top of the "umbrella." The fish is unlike any print of the devil I ever saw, but I could not help thinking that it was well-named the devil fish.

Suspended from the ceiling, not far from the devil fish, was a giant squid, a species to be found near Newfoundland. To me it was almost as interesting as anything I had seen in the museum in the fish line. It was, I should judge, about 50 feet long, and fully two-thirds of its length consisted of two immense feelers, flattened like tongs near the ends. How the squid manipulated these enormous feelers is past my understanding. Fringing around the mouth was another lot of feelers about three feet in length, looking much like the petals of some gigantic flower. W.L.E.

"CAFE NOIR" AND OTHER BISCUITS.

CARR & CO., LIMITED, of Carlisle, Eng., best known to our readers, perhaps, as the inventors and manufacturers of "Cafe Noir" biscuits, have favored THE CANADIAN GROCER with samples of a number of their fancy biscuits and wafers, many of which are packed in newly-designed enameled tin boxes.

For the most part, the designs are prepared for this season's trade, and, from an artistic point of view, must please the most æsthetic customer. The "Crown Derby," for instance, is a neat octagon box, with a tight-fitting cover on hinges. The base is gilt, and the sides and top are decorated in very close imitation of rare old Derby china. The colors are confined to red, blue and gold. This box would look well on the table (it bears no advertising matter) or would make an ideal tea caddy.

Another pretty idea is the "Glove Box," which measures about 9¼ x 4 inches. It contains mixed fancy biscuits, and is decorated with a groundwork of cornflowers, and medallions or vignettess of Arabian scenery. The "Swiss Box," also, contains mixed fancies, and is one of the prettiest boxes in the assortment. It bears upon its sides most artistic Swiss scenes. One of them, Mont Blanc, from Chamounix, is most beautiful in its coloring. The "Calendar Box" seems quite a new idea. It is very tastefully decorated with terra cotta bas-reliefs. Upon one side of the box is a holder containing calendar cards for the year 1900. There is also a very clever representation of a bamboo basket, called "Bamboo. Box." It is casket-shaped, with round corners, and is cleverly embossed to give the idea of basketwork. Dark and light bamboo are woven together, and the finishing touch is a band of ribbon, which encircles the basket and is tied at the top. For the small folk, there is a cunning little "Drop Box," with a slot for coins in the top, and, to insure complete safety, the youthful purchaser is presented with a key, with which the miniature safe may be locked. It is nicely enameled in brown and gold, and contains about ¼ lb. of fancy biscuits.

The "Cafe Noir" biscuit already referred to has been sold in enormous quantites for many years, and is still packed in the familiar oblong box bearing the Royal arms on the wrapper. "Finger Creams" are comparatively new, but are so popular that, during 10 months of this year, over 50,000,000 have been sold. "Shortbread Fingers" are light finger-shaped Scotch cakes, a noticeable feature being that they lack the disagreeable greasiness one so often notices in this article. The last two varieties are packed in several sizes. The "Shortbread Fingers" seem to sell best in a flat box containing 20 fingers.

"Lemon Cream" and "Buffet Wafers" are also new, both being of the sandwich variety. They are exceedingly dainty, and are of most delicate flavor. "Windsor Wafers" are deservedly popular, the ones we have received being in the medium-sized flat box. They are sandwiched with flavored ice—vanilla, lemon and chocolate.

These small and attractive packages of high-class goods should be very welcome to the retailer, for he experiences no waste or loss in handling them, and his customers receive their biscuits in perfectly fresh condition. The "Afternoon Tea Box" is one which is favorably received on both sides of the counter. It is a plain box, containing about 1½ lb. of high-class biscuits. There are 10 varieties in each box, the idea being to give a customer a delightful assortment in a small quantity, thereby insuring that fresh crispness, without which a biscuit is no better than unbuttered bread.

Frank Magor & Co., Montreal, represent Carr & Co., Limited, in Canada, and are in a position to show all the lines referred to.

SUGAR CANE AND BEET YIELD.

The world's entire crop of sugar cane and beet for 1899 1900 will amount to about 8,000,000 tons, about the same amount as last year, according to carefully prepared statistics submitted to the State Department by United States Consul Dieterich at Magdeburg, Germany. The consul's figures show that so far as beet is concerned, while the beet product in Europe this year is larger than last, perhaps by 250,000 tons, the sugar extracted amounts to about the same, owing to defective sweetness. The total product of beet sugar is placed at 5,300,000 tons, against 4,947,000 for last year.

The total product of cane sugar this year is set down at 2,700,000, as against 2,851,134 tons last year. A peculiar estimate is that in the case of Cuba and Porto Rico, where a smaller crop is predicted. In Cuba the yield is set down at 300,000 tons, against 315,175 tons last year, and in Porto Rico at 50,000 tons, as against 55,295 tons last year. The Sandwich Island product is increased by 10,000 tons to 250,000, and the yield for the United States is placed at 370,000 tons, as compared with 275,000 last year.

RETAILERS' UNIFORM PRICES.

THE regular monthly meeting of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association was held in St. George's Hall, Elm street, on Monday evening. President F. W. Johnson was in the chair. There were also present: Ed. Hawes, J. D. Kelly, D. Bell, B. Snow, J. A. Johnson, T. Clark, W. S. Beam, Geo. Burfoot, Fred. Thorne, W. Massen, B. Panter, A. White, R. Stewart, J. Nolan, R. Davies, W. H. Marmion, and the association's solicitor, F. H. Mearns.

Two new members, F. H. Love, 109 D'Arcy street, and D. H. Mackay, 214 Wilton avenue, were admitted into membership.

The following letter from E. A. Dalley, vice president of the F. F. Dalley Co., of Hamilton, Limited, was read by Secretary Hawes:

DEAR SIR,—I notice that you are still taking considerable interest in the Retail Grocers' Association in Toronto. As everything in the retail grocery line is advancing in price, excepting sugar, I think it is an opportune time now for the grocers in Toronto, and all over the Dominion of Canada, to get out of the old rut they have got into of cutting the life out of business. The real truth of the matter is that it is a mere matter of jealousy on their part that causes it. They are so anxious to do business that they are cutting one another's profits in selling goods at less money than the proper market value.

Now, I have just returned from the Eastern States, and I find there that they have a much larger margin on their goods than in this country. In New York, they are selling 16 lb. of granulated sugar and 12 lb. of broken loaf for $1. Now, of course, this is a pretty high price for sugar, and in Canada we need not make it quite so high, but, at the same time, there should be some regular price for goods, so that a man need not spend 25 or 30 years of his existence in the grocery business, and then end up by the bailiff selling him out. I think the thing can be done through the wholesale grocery houses, spice houses, and grocers' sundry houses, if there is uniform action; but the action has got to come from and through the retailers, and they must be a party to it.

If you have any suggestions to make, I would like to hear from you. You might speak to some of the leading grocers in Toronto on the matter, and think it over. It is about time there was some money made in the retail grocery trade more than in the past in Canada.

D. H. Mackay expressed the conviction that with united action on the part of the retailers of Toronto, the prices of many commodities could be raised to a margin that would allow a fair profit to retailers.

J. D. Kelly referred to the attempt made about nine years ago in Toronto to establish a in the city. The scheme worked with considerable success for a year, but fell through owing to the breaking of the agreement by one of the largest houses.

A. White agreed that the step would be very beneficial, but his knowledge of grocers, his experience with competitors, was such that he did not believe the scheme could be worked.

The other speakers united in the wish that a uniform price could be established, but none had a suggestion as to how it should be done.

The secretary was instructed to write, thanking Mr. Dalley for the information he had given them, and expressing a hope that means might be suggested for the establishment of a uniform price on sugar.

THE EARLY CLOSING COMMITTEE reported that they had taken the petition prepared by the canvassers before the city council, who had referred it to their committee on legislation, with an order that a police census of the number of grocers and butchers in the city be taken. The committee on legislation will have to report on the petition and the census before the council can proceed to pass the early closing by-law desired.

THE ASSOCIATION INCORPORATED.

Solicitor Mearns reported that he had taken the necessary steps, and he had pleasure in informing the association that it was now an incorporated body, under the style of "The Retail Grocers' Association of Toronto."

Messrs. Johnson, Kelly, Mackay and White were appointed a committee to wait on Robert McKay, manager of the Toronto branch of "Blue Ribbon" tea, to inquire if he is interested in A. A. McKay's departmental store at 296 Queen street east, a package tea being sold there, it is charged at 16c. per lb.

It was moved by J. D. Kelly, seconded by R. Stewart, that the city council be petitioned that the salaries of civic employes should not be paid till after the last day of each month, so that butchers, bakers, and grocers may be able to garnishee their wages. At present, the salaries of policemen, and other civic employes are paid before they are due, so that attempts to garnishee their salaries have been unsuccessful. After discussion, the motion was amended to allow Solicitor Mearns to look into the law on the subject before the petition should be presented to council.

ENTERTAINMENT TO BE HELD.

On motion of B. Panter and D. Bell, it was decided to have an entertainment this year similar to the "At Home" held last year. Discussion resulted in the decision to hold it this winter in the Temple building, in order that it should be better in every respect than previous entertainments. The executive committee was instructed to carry out preparations for the entertainment.

OUTLOOK FOR 1900 PRUNES.

According to The Oregon Agriculturist the outlook is for a much larger crop of prunes in Oregon, Washington and Idaho in 1900 than any which has yet been harvested: In 1898 hundreds of orchards gave their first crop, and will be capable of yielding much more heavily next year. There are enough young orchards coming into bearing to more than offset the loss of trees by last winter's freeze. The danger most to be anticipated for next year will be small fruit, as a result of lack of care and overbearing.

THE LATE JOHN ARCHIBALD.

THE death of Mr. John Archibald at Jacksonville, Florida, last week, removes another prominent figure from the Montreal business world, which has suffered rather heavily in this respect of late. Mr. Archibald, who had been in ill health for some time, went south about two weeks ago with the intention of spending several months, in the hope of recovering his health, and his friends had hopes that the change would be beneficial until the sad news was received last week.

Mr. Archibald was a native of Nova Scotia, and had his first business experiences in St. John's, Nfld. About 12 years ago he came to Montreal, and became interested in the wholesale tobacco business, and for the last four years has resided at Granby, Que., where the large factories of the Empire Tobacco Co., of which the late Mr. Archibald was senior partner, are situated.

The deceased gentleman was a member of the Presbyterian Church and always took a keen interest in its welfare.

The funeral took place Monday from the residence of his nephew, Mr. C. E. Archibald, 27 Seymour avenue, and was largely attended, the services being conducted by Rev. A. J. Mowatt, the pastor of Erskine Church, of which Mr. Archibald was a member, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Pritchard, of Granby.

The many floral tributes testified to the estimation in which the deceased was held by his friends.

Mr. Archibald leaves a widow, two sons and a daughter to mourn his loss. Heart-weakness was the cause of death.

THE CANE ESTATE.

The estate of the late William Cane, manufacturer, of Newmarket, whose will has just been entered for probate, amounts to $75,725, and consists of stock and real property. The widow receives the use of the homestead in Newmarket and an annuity of $640. The two daughters are each given 20 shares in The Cane Manufacturing Co. E. S. Cane, a son, gets a parcel of real estate in Newmarket; C. E. Cane, another son, 40 shares in the company. The remaining 440 shares are divided equally between three sons, H.S., J. E., and E. S. Cane; $2,200 is bequeathed to Frances E. Cane, granddaughter. The proceeds of the real estate are directed to be applied to the mortgage account of the company. George Cane had already been provided for.

COST OF CANNING PEAS.

It was said to-day by a prominent commission merchant that according to information received by him he thought it probable that New York State peas will open 15 to 17c. per dozen higher than last year. He based his belief on the fact that every item of expense entering into canning operations will be much higher than at the opening of the present season. "For instance," he said, "tinplate is $2 per box higher, or nearly double what it cost a year ago. Cases are 2 to 3c. and may be 3 to 5c. higher. Labels cost 25 to 50 per cent. more, on account of the advance in paper, while solder is more than 100 per cent. higher. Moreover, the freight rate in this State on carload lots, as we have been officially notified, will be advanced 4c. per hundred on January 1. A number of farmers have intimated to packers a 15 to 25 per cent. advance on their products over last season, while the question of help promises to be a serious one, as labor is scarce and advancing."—New York Journal of Commerce, December 11.

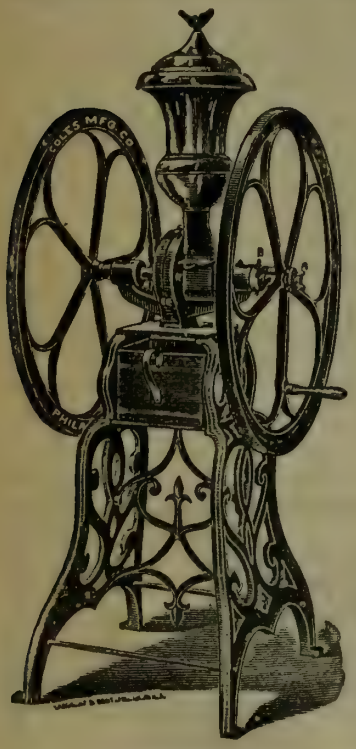
Perfection Is No Trifle.

We believe that Windsor Salt is as near a perfect Salt as skill, experience, time and money can produce.

No trifle is neglected in its manufacture because no trifle is too small to be neglected.

"Perfection is no trifle."



Windsor Salt

is the highest grade of Salt that it is possible to make—one reason why this is so is because the Vacuum process is used in its manufacture.

Another reason is because its reputation for purity, whiteness, and dryness must be maintained, else the trade phrase "as pure as Windsor Salt" loses its true meaning.

A COUPON SCHEME.

AN ingenious scheme is now being operated by a cooperative supply house in London, England. This company issues coupons with a face value of 1s. each, but good for any article in their establishment up to the value of 21s.

In order to redeem this coupon, and secure an article, the holder is required to send in 4s. for which he receives 4 other coupons which he is required to dispose of to friends who pay him 1s. each.

When these friends take these coupons to the company, each one is required to undertake the sale of another 4 tickets, and so the ball goes rolling. When the first subscriber's tickets have all been returned, he is entitled to choose his article, but if three of his friends fall into the scheme, and the fourth neglects to do his part, of course, the subscriber number 1 gets nothing for his trouble, except the pleasure of parting with 1s., and writing several notes to friends.

It is reported that this scheme is of "American" origin, but whether or no, it certainly is a smart trick. It would be interesting to know exactly what in actual cash the company receives in return or each 21s. article which it hands out.

TRAVELERS' CONFERENCES.

The more we consider the question in regard to the annual conferences of the travelers of each manufacturing and wholesale concern, the more convinced are we of its importance.

In going through the country, the traveler gets a grasp of affairs that the principal at headquarters cannot obtain. And each traveler has a different experience. When they get together and hold an experience meeting, that which they have seen or heard is revealed, not only to each other, but to the principals as well.

The benefits to be derived from such conferences cannot be estimated.

A GAIN OF $11,000.000.

A RAILWAY, like a bank, may be badly managed and show the consequent results, but, taken as a rule, the prosperity of a country can be pretty accurately gauged by the earnings of the railway companies which operate within its borders.

That Canada is enjoying a measure of prosperity beyond what she ever enjoyed is generally recognized. And one of the concurrent evidences of this is the earnings of the railways.

Sir William Van Horne stated a few days ago that the gross earnings of the Canadian Pacific railway had increased from a little over $18,000,000 in 1895 to nearly $30,000,000 in 1899, a gain of over 57 per cent. in four years.

This is a remarkable showing, and is the kind of data we want in order to give the outside world practical evidence of the satisfactory commercial conditions obtaining in the Dominion.

PIMENTO POINTING UPWARD.

Pimento gives every indication of going higher at present, prices in Montreal this week between the trade for round lots being advanced to 8½c., and holders believe they will go to 10c. ere long.

The quantity on the market is light, and held in strong hands. As no new crop can be obtained before July, it looks as though sellers had the best of the argument.

GLUT OF POOR APPLES.

WHILE advices in regard to the foreign apple markets have shown improvement, as noted last week, the same is not the case with the domestic trade.

The situation at Montreal during the past eight or ten days is the most striking instance in this connection.

There has been a regular glut of stock, owing to heavy arrivals, and as low as 30c. per bbl. has been accepted for fruit, as a large proportion of the receipts were little better than rubbish and more fit for the garbage heap than for consumption.

This poor stock has militated against the improvement abroad, and while it is being worked off the market rules heavy. The few lots of sound fruit, however, are held pretty steady at $2 to $3.

Recent advices from Britain state that offerings of poor fruit were affecting the market there, though there was a strong demand both at Liverpool and Glasgow for sound fruit. At Hamburg also sound fruit is wanted, but neither market has any use for a lot of the poor stock that has been and is still being shipped.

THE CIGARETTE'S REPUTATION.

IF there is anything that was ever given a bad name it is the cigarette. It contains mercury, and opium, and arsenic and nearly everything also that is bad, we have been told.

Sometime ago the Lancet, the leading medical journal of the world, appointed an analytical commission to investigate the composition of American cigarettes.

The commission has now handed in its report, and the Lancet says: "There is not a single factor on which can be fairly based the allegation of the presence of any substance producing injury to health."

Cigarette-smoking may not be a habit to be commended, but there is an old axiom which says: "Give the devil his due."

THE CHRISTMAS GROCER.

The issue of THE CANADIAN GROCER for next week will be used by many advertisers as a medium for conveying thanks to their customers for the closing year's business.

Copy for any special announcements or change in regular advertisements must be in on December 19 to insure insertion.

WHOLESALERS TO MANUFACTURE STARCH.

THE new starch company which is being formed in the interests of the wholesale grocery trade has received letters patent incorporating it as a joint stock company.

The style of the concern is The Imperial Starch Company, Limited.

The applicants for incorporation were: Messrs. Hugh Blain, of The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, Toronto; F. W. Oates, Toronto; C. Kloepfer, M.P., Guelph; H. C. Beckett, of W. H. Gillard & Co., Hamilton; T. P. Coffee, Trusts Company manager, and others.

The objects for which incorporation is sought, as set forth in the application, are: "To manufacture, prepare, buy, sell and deal in starch and other food-products and articles requisite, convenient or incident to the manufacture of starch and other food-products and articles in the making of which starch or other food-products are required or can be utilized."

The capital stock of the company is $200,000 in 2,000 shares of $100 each, of which $100,000 is preference stock.

The head office of the company is Toronto, although it is not yet decided where the factory will be located. There is some talk of an effort being made to purchase one of the three factories already in existence. At the same time, however, efforts are being made to secure free site, free water and tax exemption from Kingston or Prescott. The town council of Prescott has already held a meeting in regard to the matter, and appointed a committee to deal with it.

A large starch manufacturing firm in the United States is interested with the local men in promoting the company.

Most of the wholesale grocery houses in Toronto and Hamilton are interested in the project, and they explain that they have been induced to go into it just as they were into the manufacture of soap and vinegar, namely, because the starch manufacturers were going direct to the retail trade. The starch manufacturers, on the other hand, explain that they only sold to large retailers who would not, in any event, have gone to the wholesale trade for their supply of starch.

ARBITRATION OF BUSINESS DISPUTES.

EVERYONE should think twice before he takes a dispute into court. Whether he loses or wins he will, ten chances to one, be out of pocket thereby.

In view of this experience, it is strange that more disputes are not submitted to an arbitrator upon whose decision both parties would agree to rest their case.

Take for instance partners who have got into a dispute over some matter appertaining to their business which can only be settled by a third party. Why should they not, instead of retaining lawyers and going before a court, call in an intelligent business man and allow him to unravel the difficulty? He would certainly do it as well as a judge, and certainly with infinitely less expense.

This matter of arbitration has almost unlimited possibilities. There are, for instance, questions arising as to the value of stock, the valuation of accounts and numerous other particulars which might be cheaply and expeditiously settled were they submitted to a business man in whom all parties had confidence.

COLD WEATHER WANTED.

While all Toronto business men unite in a wish for colder weather, the fruit and produce dealers are especially fervent in their desire that the temperature shall fall to a seasonable point.

The poultry market feels the effect of the mild weather in a double way. The demand has been severely curtailed, and much loss has ensued through the difficulty of keeping stock in proper condition.

The fish and oyster market feels the effect of weather conditions also. The demand for oysters is not nearly what it would be under favorable circumstances. Prices are consequently reduced, and a rise is looked for with the advent of a frostier atmosphere.

While the Christmas season is bound to create a good movement of fruits, etc., yet the demand for oranges, lemons, candies, nuts, etc., is suffering the same limitations as is that of poultry and oysters.

The result is that Christmas trade has not opened as early, nor has it been carried on with the vigor that the times warrant. Should next week be seasonable, a big movement in the goods mentioned may be looked for.

FAILURE AND SUCCESS.

THERE is no natural law which declares that a man should fail in business; but there is a natural law which, if a man disobeys, he shall fail.

There is a natural law which declares, (1) that a man starting into business should have knowledge of the same, (2) that he should have reasonable capital, (3) that he should devote proper time and attention to his business, (4) that he should be progressive—keep up with the times and not allow the times to outstrip him.

Men, in failing, often blame their luck. There is no luck in business. Success and failure are the effect of certain causes. Wherever there is an effect there is a cause. Luck has neither cause nor existence. It is a myth.

PAYING SMALL AMOUNTS BY CHEQUE.

MERCHANTS should not, when paying small amounts to firms outside the towns in which they live, do so through the medium of cheques.

Every cheque that is payable outside the town where it is made is only cashed by the bank upon the payment of 25c. This is obviously an unjust tax on the firm in whose favor the cheque is made.

Only the other day, one firm received a cheque for $2, and the charge of 25c. to cash this meant a loss of over 12 per cent. on this account. On a $4 account there was a loss of over 6 per cent.

Where the account is $25, or less, it only seems right that it should be sent by post office order or through one of the express companies. For amounts not exceeding $5, a postal note might be utilized, for which the charge is only 3c.

We feel that those who are in the habit of paying small amounts by cheque only need to be reminded of it to discontinue it, or else add to the amount of the account the bank charge of 25c.

AGAIN REACHING AFTER WEST INDIAN TRADE.

IT is announced that Mr. W. G. Parmalee, Deputy Minister of Trade and Commerce, is to visit the West Indies, with a view to ascertaining ways and means of developing trade between Canada and that part of the British Empire.

Everyone who has made even a cursory study of the matter must realize that this particular trade stands in need of a great deal of developing. It is not that the Government has done nothing in this direction. Successive Governments since Confederation have made more or less effort to develop this trade by sending a commissioner to investigate, as the present Administration is now doing.

The last commissioner to visit the West Indies was Hon. Geo. E. Foster, Finance Minister in the Administration of Sir John A. Macdonald. That was something like nine years ago. About the same time, Mr. Adam Brown was appointed commissioner to represent Canada at the Jamaican Exhibition. A couple of years ago, the Canadian Pacific Railway also sent a commissioner to see what could be done in the way of developing trade with the West Indies.

But, after all the commissioners that have been sent, and after all the pamphlets and articles that have been written, trade between Canada and the West Indies has decreased, rather than increased.

The aggregate trade was, in 1898, over $2,500,000 less than it was in 1873—the exports $1,239,413 less, and the imports nearly $1,100,000 less. It will, therefore, be seen that the trade is an unsatisfactory one, whichever way taken.

The following table shows the exports to and the imports from the West Indies during the ten years ending June 30, 1898 :

	Exports.	Imports.
1888	$2,601,486	$3,268,663
1889	2,759,455	3 378,654
1890	2,719,141	3,089,048
1891	3,122,770	3,238,156
1892	3,546,559	4,092,287
1893	3,145,708	4,244,669
1894	3,443,761	3,677,411
1895	3,725,426	4,794,020
1896	2,810,817	1 896,426
1897	2,643,360	1,678,870
1898	2,749,080	1,080,266

In the term West Indies is included the Spanish as well as the British West Indies.

The following table give the value of the principal articles exported to the British West Indies during the five fiscal years ending June 30, 1898. The figures are with few exceptions for quantities :

While a Government commissioner can do much toward obtaining information as to how trade may be developed, provided he be possessed of business commonsense, his mission will be abortive unless the business men of Canada are aggressive in trying to secure the markets which he has visited. The trouble with the business men of Canada in the past is that they have neither been as aggressive or as wise as they might or should have been in regard to the West Indian or any other foreign trade.

THE TEA OUTLOOK.

THOUGH the distributing trade in tea is quiet, attention in a speculative sense is being attracted to medium and low-grade Japan stock, especially since cables note an advancing tendency at primary markets, prices advancing this week 1 to 2c. per lb. This has led to some negotiation on this description of stock between jobbers and importers.

The opinion seems to be general among teamen that these medium and low-grade Japans offer the best value there is on the market at present, for the very good reason that supplies of tea at a similar cost in other descriptions are extremely light.

This fact, no doubt, explains the purchasing that has been done in Japans about 12½c., which are conceded good for a rise on this cost.

No high-grade Japans are offering, and the same applies to Young Hysons, Ceylons and Indian teas.

The cheapest at which pea leaf gunpowder is obtainable is 16½c., against 13c. some time ago, and in blacks 14½c. seems to be the inside figure. On the whole the tea market is firm in its general tendency, and prices seem more apt to stiffen than decline.

SCARCITY OF VALENCIA RAISINS.

The possibility of a scarcity of Valencia raisins during the current winter and spring months is commencing to engage attention. Importers' agents in Montreal state that their business is closed, so far as this season's crop is concerned, as there is absolutely nothing to be had at primary markets. Some attempts have been made to place orders in London, but only a few small lots could be picked up, and they will cost, laid down in Montreal, 7c. at the very least. No supplies are held in first hands in Canada, and, altogether, as all the stocks are held by the jobbing trade, and they are not heavy, it is not surprising that they are advancing their prices and will not consent to fill any orders except from their own customers.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES.

GROCERY QUOTATIONS BY WIRE.

Should readers of this journal desire to secure between regular issues, the quotations on any staple line, they will, on application, be furnished by return mail or by telegraph; if by the latter method, at the cost of the person seeking the information.

ONTARIO MARKETS.

December 14, 1899.

GROCERIES.

WITH the Christmas holidays so near at hand, the volume of business in the wholesale grocery trade is naturally not very heavy. The different houses, however, are fairly well employed in filling sorting up orders. The principal demand is, of course, for foreign dried fruits, nuts, and other seasonable lines. Canned goods of all kinds are quiet, although prices are just as firmly maintained as ever. The coffee market continues to occupy a strong position, and a fair business is being done. For this time of the year a moderate demand is reported for sugars, prices of which are unchanged. A moderate business is being done in syrups and molasses, and the price of the latter is well maintained. A little business is being done in spices for the holiday trade. Teas are naturally quiet, and advices from the outside markets show a little steadier feeling in regard to prices. One of the principal features of the outside markets is quite a sharp advance in the price of Valencia raisins, a cable to that effect having been received within the last few days.

CANNED GOODS.

Very little attention is being paid to canned goods, which is, of course, to be expected this time of the year. There is a little movement in canned salmon, at steady and unchanged prices. In canned vegetables, the little demand that there is is chiefly for corn and peas. There is little or nothing doing in tomatoes. Fruits are also inactive. The only round lots of canned goods which we hear of as being offered are canned corn, for which $1.05 net Toronto is wanted.

COFFEES.

The situation in regard to Rio coffees is extremely strong and prices are now fully 1½ to 1¾c. per lb. above the lowest point. These high prices have somewhat checked business on importation account. Business, locally, is still fairly active at quotations. Advices report a steady market for mild grades of coffees.

SUGARS.

The outside markets, according to latest cable advices, rule steady, although there is not a great deal being done. Stocks of raw sugar in the United States are reported to be light. In Canada, the refiners are experiencing a fairly good demand for this time of the year. Although large importations of foreign sugars are being made, the fact that higher freight rates go into force in the United States at the beginning of the year is naturally inducing purchasers of American refined sugar to bring in all they can before the higher rates go into force. One of the Canadian refineries, the St. Lawrence, is now supplying the trade rather freely with dark yellow sugar, a grade which has been scarce for some time. The local wholesalers are doing a fairly good business in sugar, particularly when the time of the year is taken into consideration. The price of sugar in Canada is unchanged, and we still quote Montreal granulated at $4.53 per 100 lb., Toronto, and Acadia at $4.48. Foreign granulated is still quoted at $4.40 net, Toronto.

See pages 29 and 30 for Toronto, Montreal, St. John, and Winnipeg prices current.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

A fairly good demand is reported for both syrups and molasses. Advices from New Orleans state that the deliveries of new crop molasses are light, and that prices are decidedly strong.

SPICES.

The spice market generally rules firm, although we hear of no material advances in prices since our last issue. During the past week a little better demand has been experienced by the wholesale trade for such spices as are particularly used during the holiday season.

TEAS.

Advices from London, Eng., state that Indian and Ceylon teas have assumed a steadier tone although there is naturally not a great deal of business being done on account of nearness of the holiday season. The steamer Heath Dene, which was recently delayed through fire, is again on her way to New York. It is said she has on board 20,000 packages of tea for Canada, and that the damage by fire is largely confined to one hold. There has been some buying of Indian and Ceylon teas by the wholesalers during the past week. As far as can be learned, it is principally teas either on the way or in London. Spot stocks of low grade trade of Indian and Ceylon growth are still almost nil, while the inquiry is fairly good. Japan teas are practically in the same position as a week ago. Advices to hand this week from Japan state that the market there is practically closed, as far as teas suitable for the Toronto market are concerned. As one importer put it, "there is now nothing but trash left in Japan." Stocks of Japan tea on the local market are fairly good, while the demand is light. The market for China green teas is firm, and very little business is being done. Local wholesalers report the market quiet for teas of all kinds, but, with the opening of the New Year, they look for a large increase in business.

NUTS.

There is a brisk demand for nuts for the holiday trade. Orders are, of course, largely of a sorting-up nature. A parcel of 100 bales of Grenoble walnuts landed in Toronto this week. This was a welcomed addition to the stock of nuts on the local market.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS—There has been little trade done here during the past week for importation at ruling prices. An active import trade is looked for after the turn of the year. Any spot goods which are offered are being quickly picked up by the wholesale trade. The retail demand is fairly good for sorting-up lots.

VALENCIA RAISINS—A cable received in Toronto this week announced an advance of about 3s. per hundredweight on quotations which ruled a couple of weeks ago. This is an advance of equal to 1¾c. per lb. Some exchanges have taken place during the week between wholesale houses at 7¼c. per lb. for selected raisins. Stocks in this line are generally getting much reduced, and there are some who predict that next spring will see Valencia raisins to the retail trade at 8c. per lb. The wholesale trade is experiencing a good sorting-up demand. We still quote 6½ to 6¾c. for fine off-stalk, 7 to 7½c. for selected, 8½c. for extra selected and 7½c. for layers.

MALAGA RAISINS — These are selling well, and, as in Valencia raisins, there is an inquiry between houses for supplying is a question often asked, and the answer is nearly always "Yes"

DO YOU USE....

"SURPRISE?"

Can You give the same answer if we ask you..

Do you sell.. "Surprise?"

WE ARE CERTAIN YOUR ANSWER WILL BE IN THE AFFIRMATIVE.

shortages. These inquiries are general, one house being short of one grade and another short in another.

SULTANA RAISINS — Advices state that the finest qualities of Sultana raisins are exhausted in Smyrna. The lower grades of fruit are, however, offering at easier prices.

CALIFORNIAN RAISINS—Prices are too high on the Coast to allow of business being done here on importation account. The few Californian raisins that are on the market are selling slowly on account of the high price as compared with European raisins.

PRUNES—A cable received this week states that the market for Bosnia prunes is a little higher. At to-day's prices, it would cost about 5¼c. per lb. to lay down the smallest sizes on this market. Consequently, a very little business is being done on importation account. The representatives of the Californian shipping houses state that they have inquiries for medium and small-sized prunes, but, as there is nothing on the Coast but the larger-sized fruit, no business is being done.

GREEN FRUITS.

The fruit trade, like most other groceries, is suffering because of the prolonged mild weather. The supply of oranges, lemons, apples, cranberries and Almeria grapes is large and, generally speaking, of good quality, yet the movement is not as large as usual at this season. The orange market is somewhat easier in tone than last week, declines of 25 to 50c. being noted in all varieties. A decline of 25c. is also noted in the price of lemons. Otherwise, there is no change in the market.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The feeling is still strengthening. The scarcity of really fresh stock makes 25c. a common figure for small lots of strictly fresh eggs on the St. Lawrence market. Fresh gathered stock is coming in fairly well, and is readily absorbed at 18 to 20c. Pickled stock is worth 16 to 16½c.

POTATOES—The market is weak. Cars on track are easy at 38 to 40c. per bag, and are not likely to advance until a cold snap makes it necessary to heat cars for shipping. Small lots out of store are steady at 45 to 50c. per bag.

BEANS—The market is steady, though the demand is moderate. We quote $1.45 to $1.50 for hand-picked, and $1.35 to $1.38 for prime.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES—Though the New York evaporated-apple market is stronger at the moment, the buyers there state that prices must be ¼c. lower for delivery after the New Year. Factorymen, however, are taking encouragement from present conditions, and are holding their stock firmly. Jobbers are quoting 8 to 8¼c., a decline of ¼c. per lb. Dried apples are steady outside at 5¼ to 5¾c. for ordinary No. 1 stock, and 6c. for No. 1 quarters. The jobbing price shows a decline of ¼c., and is now 5¾ to 6¼c. for ordinary.

POULTRY—Receipts are large, but the demand is limited, because of the weather. As stock does not keep well, prices are easy. Turkeys are arriving in fair condition, choice lots being 8½ to 9c., and ordinary good stock 7½ to 8c. Geese are steady, at 5½ to 6c.; ducks, at 45 to 60c. per pair, and chickens 25 to 45c. per pair.

VEGETABLES — There is no change. We quote as follows: Spinach, 40 to 50c. per bush.; lettuce, 20 to 40c. per doz.; cabbage, 40 to 50c. per doz.; red cabbage, 50 to 75c. per doz.; cauliflowers, 40 to 60c. per doz.; celery, 40 to 75c. per doz.; parsley, 10 to 15c. per doz.; onions, 40 to 60c. per bush.; green beans, 30 to 50c. per basket; squash, $1 to $1.50 per doz.; vegetable marrow, 40 to 60c. per doz.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—Creamery is firmer, an advance of ½ to 1c. being noted in sympathy with a better feeling in the British market. The production at present is moderate, as winter creameries are just nicely started. The supply of large rolls is sufficient for requirements, and prices are steady. We quote: Dairy, large rolls, 17 to 18c.; prints, 18 to 19c.; creamery, tubs and boxes, 21 to 22c.; prints and squares, 22 to 23c.

CHEESE—The market continues strong. The demand keeps up well, and holders are looking for top figures for nearly all stock. The range, 12 to 12½c. for late make, still rules, however.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

Rough weather on the lakes has interfered with the catch of whitefish and trout. Consequently advances of ½ to 1c. are noted. Steak cod is ½c. cheaper. The market generally is easy, but colder weather will likely bring an advance in oysters and some kinds of fish. We quote: Trout, 7½ to 8c.; Niagara whitefish, 7 to 7½; pickerel, 7½c.; herrings, 4c.; halibut, 12½c.; Seattle salmon, 13 to 15c.; haddock, 5c.; finnan haddies, 6½ to 7c.; boneless fish, 4¾c.; quail-on-toast, 5½c.; steak cod, 6c.; quintals of cod, 5¾c.; ciscoes, $1 per basket. Oysters, standards, $1.25; selects, $1.65; other brands, $1.25 per gal.; shell oysters, $8 per bbl.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

WHEAT—The market is slightly stronger, an advance of ½c. being noted, which makes the price on cars outside 66½c. Deliveries on the street market are large. Wheat is 1 to 1½c. and peas 1 to 3c. dearer. Oats are 1½ to 2c. and rye 1c. cheaper. We quote as follows: Wheat, white and red, 68 to 69c.; goose, 69 to 70c.; peas, 62 to 65c.; oats, 28 to 30c.; barley, 43 to 44c.; rye, 53c. No. 1 hard Manitoba wheat is steady at 76½c. Toronto and west.

FLOUR—A steady market, and a fair, regular demand is noted. We quote: Manitoba patents, $4; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.70; Ontario patents, $3.65 to $3.75; straight roller, $3.35, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Though trade is not as brisk as it would be if the weather were more seasonable, the demand is excellent under the conditions. We quote as follows: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.50 in bags and $3.60 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.50 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.50; split peas, $4; pot barley, $4.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES — Though the market is very strong, no change is noted this week. We quote: Cowhides, No. 1, 9½c.; No. 2, 8½c.; No. 3, 7½c. Steer hides are worth ½c. more. Cured hides are worth 10½c.

SKINS—There is no change, but the market is firm. We quote: No. 1 veal, 8-lb. and up, 10c. per lb.; No. 2, 8c.; dekins, WOOL—The firm feeling is even more manifest this week, though no change is noted. We quote: Clothing wool and combing fleece, 20c.; unwashed, 12½ to 13c.

SEEDS.

The alsike market is dull, and a decline of 50c. is noted. Red clover is firm and fairly active. We quote $4.50 to $5.15 at outside points for red clover and $4.50 to $6.50 for alsike.

TRADE NOTES.

Teas are steadier in London, England.

Creamery butter is ½ to 1c. dearer. Eggs have advanced 1 to 2c.

All varieties of oranges are 25 to 50c. dearer. Lemons have advanced 25c.

Whitefish and trout have advanced ½ to 1c. per lb. Steak cod is ½c. cheaper.

A cable from London, England, quotes Valencia raisins equal to 1¾c. higher than they were two weeks ago.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, December 14, 1899.

GROCERIES.

THERE has been a fair volume of business in groceries, and, with a few exceptions, the tendency of values is decidedly upward. There has been no further change in refined sugar since the last decline. Syrups are firm, and values on molasses point to a still higher level. The same disposition is manifested in the case of Valencia raisins, and the scarcity of all kinds of nuts becomes more marked as the season advances. Further advances were asked also this week on canned corn, and all other lines are firm. Rice is strong; so is coffee, and spices are very firm, while cables note an advance in the cost price of Japan teas.

SUGARS.

There has been no further change in the refined sugar market since the decline noted last week. Business has been of a quiet character, though its volume is fully equal to that of last season. In raws, the market has exhibited a firmer tendency, London cabling beet firm. Prices were on the basis of 9s. 2¼d. for present month, and 6s. 9d. for next month. Cane was steady, with prices unchanged, but fairly maintained: Java, 11s. 3d.; fair refining, 10s. 6d. In New York, raw was reported steady: Fair refining, 3 13-16c.; centrifugal, 96 test, 4¼c., with molasses sugar 3 9-16c.

SYRUPS.

Canadian syrup is firm and unchanged at 1¾ to 2¼c. as to grade.

MOLASSES.

The Barbadoes molasses market continues very strong, and, while wholesale grocers are still supplying the trade at 42c. in car-lots, and 43c. in single puncheons, the cost of round lots would almost certainly necessitate an advance on this basis. Offers of Antigua are noted at 35c., and Porto Rico is held firmer at 37 to 40c.

in first hands, the market is very firm. In fact, no fine off stalk could be laid down here under 7c. Prices accordingly are firmer this week by ¼c. per lb. all around, as the jobbers only have small stocks on hand, and some consider that these will not be enough to go around. We quote: Fine off-stalk, 7c.; selected, 7¼c., and layers, 8c.

Malaga raisins are steady, at 7c. for 2-crown, 8c. for 3-crown, and 9c. for 4-crown in 50-lb. boxes.

Sultanas remain as last reported at 10 to 12c., as to grade.

Currants are without new feature locally, a fair jobbing inquiry being noted. We quote: Filiatras, 4½c. for bbls.; 5⅝c. for half bbls.; 4¾c. for half cases, and 4⅞c. for quarter cases.

Prunes meet a good demand and values are steady. Californian prunes are as follows: 80's to 90's, 6½c.; 70's to 70's, 7c.; 60's to 60's, 7½c.; 50's to 60's, 8½c., and 40's to 50's, 10c. Bosnia prunes are steady also, at 6 to 6½c.

Dates are steady with a fair inquiry at 5 to 5¾c.

NUTS.

The strength in regard to staple lines of these is increasing under rapidly diminishing supplies and prices point still higher. Pure Mayette Grenoble walnuts are held at 14½ to 15c. and Marbots, 11 to 11½c., while shelled almonds are stiff at 28 to 30c.

CANNED GOODS.

The remarkable strength in canned vegetables has had further illustration this week in the shape of another advance in corn to $1.10 to $1.15, and tomatoes to 90c. All other lines also exhibit strength though there are no quotable changes to report.

RICE.

There has been no change in this market, put prices are firmly held.

SPICES.

Inquiry for pimento has been a feature of the spice market here, and prices have advanced to 8½c. for round lots between importers, and prices are expected to go to 10c. Nutmegs are in demand also, and very firmly held.

COFFEES.

The market continues firm, and prices still have an upward tendency. Sales of 25-bag lots of Maracaibo are noted at 8½ to 9c., and Rio at 8 to 10c., as to quality. Small lots of Maracaibo have realized as high a figure as 12 to 13c.

TEAS.

Cable advices from Japan report the market strong at an advance of 1 to 2c. per lb. On spot, business has been moderate, though some attention has been attracted by medium and low-priced Japan stock, which has sold at 12½ to 15½c. according to grade. Ceylons fetched 17c., and pea leaf greens, 17 to 18c.

FISH.

The mild weather has had a bad effect on the fish market, and, with ample stocks, some anxiety has been manifested this week to realize. No. 1 Nova Scotian herring, in bbls., have sold at $5.25 to $5.50, and in half-bbls., at $2.75. No. 1 large round herring fetch $5.25, and half-bbls., $2.65. No. 1 B. C. and Labrador salmon move at $13 per bbl., and tierces, $17.50. No. 2 mackerel are dull, at $15.50, and No. 1 large green cod, at $5.25, with No. 1 $5 and No. 2 $4. No. 1 green haddock are offering at $4, and No. 1 pollock, at $3.65. Dried cod sells at $4.75, and large dressed, $4.50. In prepared fish, we quote prices: Boneless cod, 5½ to 6c. per lb.; haddies, 6c.; bloaters, 90c. to $1 per box, and smoked herring, 12c. per box. Fresh fish range as follows: Haddock, 3½c.; steak cod, 4c.; market cod, 3 to 3½c.; Manitoba dore, 6c.; white fish 7c.; salmon, 10c., and fresh herring, $2 to $2.50 per 100.

GREEN FRUITS.

There has been very little change in green fruits, except in apples, a glut of poor stock sending the price down as low as 30c. per bbl. Good sound fruit, however, are steady at $2 to $3 per bbl. There is a very good demand for Almeria grapes, which are selling at $4.50 to $6 per keg, as to weight and quality. Catawbas, in small baskets, are offering at 21 to 23c. The advance in Jamaica oranges mentioned by us last week has been maintained; the demand for them is good at $6 to $6.50 per bbl. The first arrivals of Valencia oranges came to hand during the week, and opened at $4.50 for 420's, and $5 for 714's. The first receipt of Californian oranges are expected next week. There is no change in the lemon market, which is steady at $2.50 to $3.25 per box. Cranberries are selling better this week on account of the colder weather; sales range between $4.50 to $6 per bbl.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The tone of the market was stronger for strictly new-laid stock, and prices show an advance of 1c. per dozen for such, but other grades are firm. The demand to-day was somewhat quiet, owing, no doubt, to the unfavorable weather. Strictly new-laid sold at 24c.; ordinary stock at 16½ to 19c.; culls at 11 to 12c.; Montreal limed, at 16 to 17c.; western limed, at 15 to 16c., and seconds at 13 to 14c. per dozen.

POULTRY — Although the weather was unseasonable to day, yet there was a good demand for poultry; and especially turkeys, in consequence prices for such were stronger and fully ½c, per lb. higher. Receipts are fair, but supplies are not excessive. Good to choice turkeys sold at 9½ to 10c.; common, 8 to 8½c.; good to choice chickens, 6½ to 7c.; common, 5 to 6c.; good to choice geese, 5½ to 6c,; and common, 4 to 5c. per lb.

GAME—There continues to be a good demand for partridge, and as the offerings are not large prices advanced to-day to 70 to 75c. for firsts, and 40 to 45c. for seconds per brace.

MAPLE PRODUCT—Business in maple product was slow. Pure sugar is held at 10½ to 11c., and syrup, 65 to 75c. per tin.

HONEY—There was no change in honey to note. White clover in comb is quoted at 12c.; extracted, 9c., and buckwheat, 8c. per lb.

BEANS—The demand for beans is fair. Choice hand-picked are quoted at $1.15 to $1.50, and primes, $1.37½ to $1.40.

ASHES—There is nothing new in ashes to note. We quote: First sorts, $4.30; seconds, $4, and pearls, $5.15 per 100 lb.

DRESSED HOGS—There was no improvement in the demand; in consequence, the market is still quiet and prices steady at $5 to $5.50 for light, and at $4 to $4.50 for heavy per 100 lb., in a jobbing way.

PROVISIONS.

The demand for some lines on spot was fair and a moderately active trade was done. We quote as follows: Canadian short cut mess pork, $14.50; short cut back, $14, and heavy long cut mess, $14 per barrel. Pure Canadian lard in pails, 7¼ to 7¾c. per lb.; and compound refined, 6 to 6½c. per lb. Hams 10c. to 11½c., and bacon 11 to 11½c. per lb.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.

FLOUR—A fair trade was done in flour and the market is moderately active with no change in prices to note. We quote: Winter wheat patents, $3.60 to $3.90; straight rollers, $3.30 to $3.40; in bags, $1.65; Manitoba patents, $3.90 to $4.20, and strong bakers', $3.60 to $3.70.

GRAIN—There was nothing new in the situation of the local grain market to-day, owing to the fact that business in all lines was quiet. For oats at points west of Toronto, 25½c. was bid, with 26c. asked. At points east, 26½c. was bid and 27c. asked. For peas, west, 57½c. was bid and 58c. asked; east, 59c. bid, 59½c. asked. Buckwheat, east, sold at 48 to 49c. On spot, carlots of oats sold at 30¼c., and 65c. was bid for peas ex store.

OATMEAL—There was no change in rolled oats, sales being slow, at $3.50 per barrel, and at $1.70 per bag.

FEED — The demand for feed continues good and millers in some cases are closely sold up. Manitoba bran is selling at $15; shorts, $17 per ton, including bags; Ontario bran, at $15.50; shorts, at $16.50 to $17.50, and mouille at $20 to $24 per ton, in bulk.

HAY — A good local trade was done in baled hay, and there is also considerable demand from American buyers. We quote: Choice No. 1, $9 to $10; No. 2, $8 to $9; and clover, $7 to $7.50 per ton, in carload lots.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

CHEESE—The market rules quiet but firm. All of the cheap cheese obtainable under 11¾c. is now pretty well absorbed, and attention is, therefore, directed to the dearer stock, on which buyers' and sellers' views are still apart. Prices, therefore, are nominal, but it would take 12¼c., and better, to move any large quantity of the goods in question. The Liverpool cable advanced 6d. on colored to-day, to 59s., with white unchanged at 57s.

BUTTER—The market is fairly active, with demand more than equal to the supply. Accordingly, prices are firm at 21¼ to 22c., as to grade, for creamery. Seconds are selling at 20½c. up.

MONTREAL NOTES.

A glut of poor apples has affected the market this week.

Both canned tomatoes and corn are held very firm this week.

Cables report an advance of 1 to 2c. per pound in the cost of tea in Japan.

The price of pimento has advanced, and it looks as though it was going still higher.

THE ACADIA'S PROFITS.

At the meeting of the shareholders of the Acadia sugar refinery it was stated that the company was in a better position than at any time in its history, although the profits were smaller this year than in 1897 and 1898, owing to unfair competition of United States refineries, in the manipulation of the bounty system being made to operate so that the bounty was actually made to apply on their exports, as well as being a gratuity to them in the matter of manufacture itself. The Canadian refineries are therefore at a disadvantage in competition with outside markets. The dividend of 4 per cent. on preferred capital stock for the half year was ratified, making 7 per cent. for the year—payable December 20. The profits of Acadia refinery last year were $180,000.—Herald, Halifax.

CANADIAN PRODUCTS WANTED.

The following were among the inquiries relating to the Canadian trade received at the Canadian Government Office in London during the week ending November 24:

A firm in the Midlands, having a connection with the manufacturing confectionery trade throughout England and Ireland, wish to be placed in communication with Canadian producers of fruit pulps.

The names of Canadian exporters of eggs in large quantities are asked for by a Glasgow firm.

A Scotch firm, largely interested in the export of Canadian goods, such as furniture, woodenware, hardware, provisions, etc., desire to extend their business in the export of Canadian goods to British India and the Cape, and are therefore open to hear from houses which may wish for their cooperation.

A firm in Glasgow is desirous of being placed in communication with importers of cast iron pipes. They are now making specially for the Canadian market the following sizes: 2 x 5 feet, 20 lb. each; 3 x 5 feet, 30 lb. each; 4 x 5 feet, 45 lb. each; 5 x 5 feet, 85 lb. each; 6 x 5 feet, 100 lb. each; light 4 x 5 feet, 32 lb. each.

Another Scotch house, which is extensively engaged in the manufacture of cableways, hoisting and conveying devices, cranes, winding engines, stone and granite working machinery, asks to be referred to parties in Canada who would be likely to use such goods.

Inquiry is made by a firm of mining machinery manufacturers respecting the demand for steam thawers and other similar machinery in the Yukon Territory and elsewhere.

Information in regard to any of the above paragraphs sent to THE CANADIAN GROCER will be forwarded to destination.

A GROCER'S RAPACIOUS OWL.

A. B. Baxter, grocer, corner of Caroline and Bold streets, has in his possession one of the largest owls ever brought into Hamilton. It measures nearly six feet across the wings. The owl was caught by James Barnes, East Flamboro. It had been living in his granary, and cleared the place of all the rats. Then the big fellow turned its attention to the hen roosts. It nearly destroyed Mr. Barnes' pet cat. Mr. Baxter feeds it on sparrows. The owl will eat four sparrows at a meal, feathers and all. Another owl, equal in size, was presented to him by John Maley, Bold street. —Herald, Hamilton.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,
ST. JOHN, N.B., December 14, 1899.

WHILE business continues good, the wholesale trade find the rush is over. The retailers are now feeling the effects of the holiday trade. We have some particularly fine retail grocery stores. Their equal cannot be found, at least, in the Maritime Provinces, and, at this season, they look their best. In prices, the strong upward tendency continues. In some lines the advance is extreme, as with paper bags, in which the advance is 100 per cent. Woodenware has advanced, and the candy trade and other lines are affected. Brooms and brushes are both higher, and the former are particularly firm, the outlook being for still higher figures. In candy, the manufacturers are rushing, though everything was done to get buyers to place orders early. Prices are firmly held.

OIL—Dealers in burning oil have again advanced prices, and will not book orders for future shipment. In fact, they are looking for further advances, it being very difficult to get supplies, Canadian oil being sold well up to the price asked for American. In lubricating, while there has not been such a marked advance, prices are very firm, with a good business for the season. In wax, the supply is very short. It is said that shipments made to Europe before are now being brought back. Owing to the high figures ruling here in cod oil, the season is largely over. Fair prices have ruled, but the movement is not large. In paint oils, the very high figures still continue.

SALT — The first shipment to arrive this season via direct freight steamer coming here in connection with the winter export business came to hand this week. There were some 12,000 bags. Prices are firmly held, freights being so much higher than formally. This shipment came upon a market with but a small stock and found a good demand. A small part of the shipment was for shipment west. In fine salt there is but limited business. We quote as follows : Liverpool coarse, 50 to 55c. English factory-filled, 95c. to $1 ; Canadian fine, $1 per bag ; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 per bbl. ; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20 to 22c. each ; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12 to 14c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per doz.; mineral rock salt, oc. per 100 lb.

CANNED GOODS—There is nothing new. All lines, except in local packed fish, are very firmly held, and the latter, except herring, command good figures. Some salmon arrived this week, and our market is now well supplied, largely with cohoe fish of good quality. While some humpback fish were offered at quite low figures, they found no buyers. This, however, was true of cohoes but a few seasons ago. Corn is still the strongest line. Canned oysters will be scarce and high. They do not sell largely here, however. Pineapple is firm at the advanced figures. Lobster packing will soon commence. While prices are likely to continue high, the outlook is not for any further advance.

GREEN FRUITS—Valencia oranges are again on the market. Quality this season is good, and they will soon take a first place. In quality, the Jamaicas now offered are fine. Prices are rather firmer. Lemons are quite plentiful and meet with a fair sale. In Malaga grapes, quality to hand is fine, and rather better prices are being obtained. Apples, while rather easier, are moving freely. For best stock full figures are asked, but there is quite a quantity of second grade on the market Cranberries hold the advanced figures, but cannot be called high. There is a good sale at this time.

DRIED FRUITS—The rush is over, and in many cases the market is quite bare. Valencia raisins are very scarce and full prices are asked. A few shipments are still expected, some of which are sold to go West. Peels are also well cleaned up. In currants, there is a fair stock, and regular shipments are arriving from New York, mostly cleaned. Seeded raisins have a steady sale at full figures, and stocks cannot be replaced at the cost of last arrivals. Buyers have been disappointed in Californian prunes, owing to delay in arrivals. Small sizes are going to be very scarce. In evaporated apples, the market seems easier. Fair stocks are held. Dried apples are scarce. Onions tend firmer, but are still low. Dates have fair demand. Figs sell slowly at full figures. Nuts are high, and sell freely. Stocks are small.

DAIRY PRODUCE—Eggs show no change during the week. There is a steady sale at even figures. Some nice limed stock is being offered. Butter also holds at same price, but best grades are in demand. It is difficult to work figures up as stocks are quite large. But little creamery is being sold in a wholesale way. Cheese moves but slowly at even figures. There is some demand for small sizes.

SUGARS — This is the one line that stays at low figures, the feeling being easy. There is quite a variety of kinds now held in stock in foreign and Canadian. Fair sales are reported. There is no doubt the competition from outside has had a very marked effect on prices of Canadian sugars.

MOLASSES—Sales are falling off. Stocks in all grades are light and prices firm. Best grades of New Orleans have been advanced 2c., and reports favor still higher prices. Foreign goods are very scarce, and of but fair quality, as the best lots are not the ones that have been overlooked. Syrup finds a somewhat better sale, and some fine stock is now offered.

FISH—Sales are not as active and receipts are light. Codfish show, perhaps, the only decline in price, and they are quite firmly held. Pollock is scarce, and full figures are still obtained. Smoked herring move freely at good prices. Supply is not large. In bloaters, there is a short supply, and if stock was first-class much better prices could be obtained. Kippered herring are almost out of the market. Finnan haddies move more freely, but the fall sales have been less than for some years, largely on account of the weather. Pickled herring are confined to the smaller fish, but full figures are asked. Smelt continue to increase in quantity handled. Lobsters will soon be on the market. It is said prices will rule rather lower this season, as the American buyers have combined to pay a lower price to the shippers. The law now requires that only the fuller sized fish be caught. This will affect the supply, particularly for canners. We quote : Large and medium dry cod, $3.75 to $3.80; small, $2.50 to $2.75 ; pickled shad, $4.50 to $5, as to quality ; haddies, 4½ to 5c. per lb.; smoked herring, 8 to 9c.; fresh haddock and cod, 2½c.; boneless fish, 4 to 5c. ; pollock, $2.35 to $2.50 per 100; pickled herring, $2.10 to $2.15 per half bbl.; bloaters, 60c.; kippers, $1 ; smelts, 5c.

PROVISIONS—In pork, prices have been advanced during the week. Some Prince Edward Island mess pork is now here, but there is no large quantity offered. Beef is very high and firmly held ; generally, our dealers are making a nice profit. Lard is firmly held at the advance. There are still fair stocks.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—Little, if any, change is noticed in these lines. The feeling seems easy. Oatmeal is moving more freely. Oats have a fair sale, with little change in figures. Cornmeal is still scarce and brings full price. Beans have but a fair sale. Hay is rather firmer. Barley is firm, with split peas rather higher, and the market is practically bare of blue peas. We quote : Manitoba flour, $4.40 to $4.60; best Ontario, $3.80 to $4.00 ; medium, $3.60 to $3.75 ; oatmeal, $3.80 to $3.90 ; cornmeal, $2.25 to $2.35; middlings, $21 to $22; oats, 38 to 40c.; hand-picked

ART OF WINDOW DRESSING.

THE CHRISTMAS WINDOW.

The Christmas window display is a time-honored feature of grocery retailing in Canada as well as in the Mother Country, and in the Brother Country to the south. The British merchant makes excellent use of evergreen, holly and mistletoe. On this side of the Atlantic we have not a free supply of the holly and the mistletoe, but the merchants know how to use the evergreen in conjunction with their goods to make a window display which is an enticement to the housewife and an allurement to the children. The evergreen is sometimes used principally on the outside of the shop, where it is arranged so as to cover the woodwork around the plate-glass front, and to make the doorway into an archway of green. Often it is used inside the window to form a canopy over a winter fireside or out door scene, or as an archway or pillars in a display of goods essentially associated with Christmas in Canada.

The favorite groceries for Christmas display are dried fruits, green fruits, candies and nuts. The great variety of form and coloring in these goods make it possible, with artistic arrangement, and the aid of evergreens, colored crepe tissue paper, etc., to make a unique and enticing display.

When a grocer boasts two windows, one of them is often devoted to fruits, etc.; the other to poultry. The turkey is, of course, the king of the Christmas table, but geese, ducks and chickens are all in demand, so it is found good policy to make special displays of all poultry at this season.

A TORONTO WINDOW.

Michie & Co., Toronto, have a display of Christmas goods in their window which is attracting much attention. Their window is about 5 x 7 feet, and at the back is a mirror about six feet high. A platform slants from about two feet from the top of this mirror to about 18 inches from the bottom of the plate glass front. On this stand is a layer of walnuts about six inches deep. They also run down between the stand and the mirror, making it look as if the window were half full of walnuts. Reaching across the full width of the window and half way from the front to the back, is a row of small indurated ware tubs containing new pecans, hickory, almond, and Brazil nuts. Above and below these nuts, layer raisins, stuffed prunes, etc., are arranged. At the back, or top, of the display bon-bons are shown. On a ledge above the mirror at the back, Tundi prunes are shown in bottles, tins, etc. The only cards used draw attention to the fact that the nuts, prunes, etc., shown are all new goods.

A TURKEY WINDOW.

A suggestion for a unique window, which is at once practical, seasonable and attractive, is given by "Clerk" in The Grocers' Advocate, San Francisco. He says: "Cover the floor of the window with heavy manila paper. In the middle, draw as big as the space will permit, a turkey gobbler. You can find plenty of models in the papers.

"Cover the floor of the window with sugar, except where you have the turkey outlined. Then fill in the outlined space, heaping with cranberries, thus making a big red turkey on a pure white background. The window would be even more effective if the gobble and legs and feet of the turkey were made of cranberries, the eyes, bill and body of raisins and the tail of prunes. The different colors will help to make the window attractive.

"A motto, such as 'Merry Christmas,' or 'Compliments of the Season,' could be put into the background in letters made of cranberries.

"Along the front line of the window, separate piles of seasonable goods might be heaped. On each of these, there should be a card with a descriptive word or two and a price. The price is as important as the description word. It attracts attention and often makes a customer of a passer-by, who would otherwise have looked into the window and passed on after admiring it.

"Seasonable package goods should make up the background. Boxes of cluster raisins, with their lace paper, ribbons and pretty lithographs, always make good decorating material. Canned mince meat and canned plum pudding should have a prominent place. Nuts, peels, and dried fruits all belong to such a window, while jellies and preserves should be used in making pyramids or lining shelves, and price cards should not be overlooked here.

"A window dressed on the above lines would, I think, attract considerable attention. If the grocer knows his business, he should be able to sell something to many of those who will stop to see what it is all about."

CHRISTMAS SHOW WINDOW.

The man who trims the window often finds it difficult to get up something new. Especially is this the case at Christmas time, as the same line of goods must be shown from year to year. The idea is, how to arrange them so that they will attract more attention than they did last year.

A very artistic design can be arranged by building a suspension bridge across the back of the window. To make the bridge, take four empty boxes of uniform size, place them on end, one on top of the other at each end of the window, about one foot from the wall; around these build up packages of seeded raisins—these form the piers. On top of this place a plank the full length of the window; cover the edge of the plank by tacking on packages of mince meat. On top of the plank, over the piers, build the arched towers; use two empty corn boxes with bottom and top removed, place the side toward the front of window. Also cover this with raisin packages. On top of the towers place four large bottles of extracts, one in each corner. Prunes strung on twine will answer for cable supports; place two on each side of each tower. Use cranberries strung on twine for the chain guard on the edge of the bridge, using small bottles of extracts for posts. Underneath the bridge place barrel staves standing towards the glass, cover this with light green tissue paper loosely put on; a little shredded cocoanut placed here and there will heighten the effect. A card tacked on a stick and placed in pieces of citron peel will answer for boats. The remainder of the window is built up by placing fruit, canned goods and bottles, carelessly piled up, to represent the side of a cliff at each end of the bridge. In order to make this display still more attractive a large doll might be offered to the little girl who comes nearest to guessing how many packets of raisins are used in making the bridge.

This is one of the ideas taken from a book on window-dressing for grocers, sold by S. W. Carson, whose ad. appeared on page 34 of last issue.

First Lady—"What New Year's present are you going to give to your husband?"

Second Lady—"A hundred cigars."

First Lady—"And what did you pay for them?"

Second Lady—"Oh, nothing! For the last few months I have taken one or two out of Jack's box every day. He hasn't noticed it, and will be pleased with my selecting the right quality of cigars."

SIR W. C. MACDONALD.

SO sensitive is Sir William C. Macdonald about having his photograph appear in any public print, that even the publishers of the "Annual" of McGill University, the institution for which Sir William has done so much, have often in the past had considerable difficulty in obtaining a picture of him for their book. Nor is this desire to avoid unnecessary publicity any mere affectation on his part. Sir William is naturally a quiet and extremely modest man. Easily approached, and courteous to the interviewer, he yet becomes very determined and even abrupt in his manner the moment such a thing as the giving of a photograph for the purpose of illustration is hinted at. He will not hear of such a thing. And so, the journal that wishes to give its readers his portrait has to resort to some surreptitious mode of obtaining one of the very rare photographs of this distinguished citizen of Montreal.

Sir Wm. C. Macdonald.

If system and method are elements in winning success, it is no wonder that Sir William has made a name as one of Canada's most successful business men. His private office is the tidiest and neatest I have ever been in. Verily, there is a place for everything and everything in its place.

The millionaire tobacco manufacturer is just now prominent through his princely gift of $62,000 to establish an additional chair in geology at McGill, in memory of the late ex-principal, Sir William Dawson; but it is but yesterday that the people of the Dominion were made aware of his gift of sufficient money to establish and maintain, for three years, manual training classes in one city in each Province from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Prior to making these gifts in behalf of education, Sir William had already given $1,650,000 to McGill University, in aid of the departments of mechanical engineering, electrical engineering, mining engineering, physics, chemistry, mineralogy, architecture, law and the professors' pension fund. Such munificence entitles him to rank as one of the great philanthropists of America; and, as The London Times has said, if the engineering and physics departments of McGill are the most perfectly equipped in the world, as is claimed, the fact is due to the generosity of a single individual, and that individual is Sir W. C. Macdonald.

Sir William is now 66 years old, and has been a resident of Montreal for 45 years. Like so many Canadians who have made a distinguished mark, he is a native of the Maritime Provinces, his birthplace being Tracadie, Prince Edward Island. He comes of Scotch Roman Catholic stock. His father was the Hon. Donald Macdonald, some time president of the Legislative council of Prince Edward Island, and his paternal grandfather was Capt. John Macdonald, eighth chief of the Clan Macdonald, of Glenaladale, who, after founding several Scotch settlements in Prince Edward Island, served under the British during the American Revolutionary War as a captain in the 84th, or Royal Highland Emigrant Regiment.

Sir William, in speaking of the grant made by him for the establishment and maintenance of manual training classes, told me that there was a popular misapprehension that the object was to give technical education. The real aim was purely educational, however, and the classes would not be technical classes in any sense. They would be for the purpose of training the mind in conjunction with the hand. "As a rule, children don't like books," said he, "and these classes will help children who have this aversion. They will handle tools, learn to do things for themselves, and come into contact with reality. In the Old Country, it has been found that manual training classes do not hinder children in their book-training, but really stimulate them in it, as they afford a pleasant change, which is so gratifying to the mind that the children take to the work with avidity. The classes will be operated in connection with the public schools, and will be for boys from 9 to 14 years old.

Sir William was careful to give the chief credit for the founding of these classes to Professor Jas. W. Robertson, of Ottawa. "I found that Professor Robertson was anxious to establish such classes," said he, "and only required the means, and all I did was to put the latter at his disposal."

Thus, did this generous philanthropist make light of a gift, the amount of which he does not yet know, and will not know precisely until the close of the three years during which the classes are to be maintained at his expense. J.A.T.

The farmers near Collingwood Corner, N.S., have had a public meeting to consider the establishment of a cheese and butter factory there. A committee is now taking active steps in that direction.

Benson's Prepared Corn

There is no adulteration in Benson's Prepared Corn—there is no need to adulterate because it has sold entirely on its merits as an absolutely pure Prepared Corn for over forty years. The delicacy of its flavor is almost proverbial.

Comparisons are made with Benson's Prepared Corn as the standard—you hear this everywhere—"It's just as good as Benson's." You know what "just as good" means—an endeavor to sell an inferior article for a lower price. Benson's Prepared Corn is the standard—forty years have proved it so beyond a question.

"A thread-bare story" someone says. Perhaps so, but it will bear repeating. P. Codu makes his Macaroni from the only wheat that Macaroni ought to be made of—Russian Wheat.

DUNN'S PURE MUSTARDS

GIVE UNBOUNDED SATISFACTION.

The reason is—They are profitable to dealers and satisfying to consumers.

"On The Back Shelf"

Merry Christmas to you! Let us put care and trouble away "on the back shelf," in Memory's store room, and forget them—perhaps when we go back to look for them in the days to come they wont be there. Merry Christmas!

There's another thing, too, that you won't find among the dust and cobwebs "on the back shelf" in the store-room—the dust never accumulates on Tillson's Pan-Dried Rolled Oats—they move too quickly and sell too readily for that, like all good things. Your customers won't forget those Rolled Oats of highest quality, Tillson's "Pan-Dried"—they'll never be found "on the back shelf!" Merry Christmas to you!

The Tillson Co'y, Limited,

On Christmas Day . . .

Think of the cigars that will be smoked on Christmas day! Of course, the "Pharaoh" and the "Pebble" will lead the leaders as usual. If you've stocked them you are lucky. Many a man will thank you for the rich content they bring.

New Year's next—why not start the New Year right by writing me and leaving to my judgment alone the picking out of an assortment of my 5c. and 10c. cigars? I'll take all the risk—you can return them at any time within six months and get your money back if they do not readily sell.

Merry Christmas!

"A merrie meet and a merrie part" to all grocers—may old Father Time find you prospering as the year draws to a close. One thing is certain, —the balance is on the right side of the ledger if "quality" has been your watchword.

There's "a merrie meet and a merrie part" in every bottle of Jonas' Flavoring Extracts—that goes without saying, because hold trade and keep a woman good natured. Double the strength of the ordinary Extracts because they are concentrated—distilled and re-distilled. A very little will do the work and yet yield a rich, true, delicate, natural flavor that is equal to Nature's best in her fruits, flowers and spices.

As our thirtieth business year draws to a close, again we say, "A Merry Christmas to you."

THE KID HANGS UP HIS STOCKINGS.

. . . . By Jacob A. Riis, in The Century.

THE clock in the west-side lodging-house ticked out the seconds of Christmas eve as slowly and methodically as if six fat turkeys were not sizzling in the basement kitchen against the morrow's spread, and as if two score boys were not racking their brains to guess what kind of pies would go with them. Out on the avenue the shopkeepers were barring doors and windows, and shouting "Merry Christmas" to one another across the street as they hurried to get home. The drays ran over the pavement with muffled sounds; winter had set in with a heavy snowstorm. In the big hall the monotonous click of checkers on the board kept step with the clock. The smothered exclamations of the boys at some unexpected, bold stroke, and the scratching of a little fellow's pencil on a slate, trying to figure out how long it was yet till the big dinner, were the only sounds that broke the quiet of the room. The superintendent dozed behind his desk.

A door at the end of the hall creaked, and a head with a shock of weather-beaten hair was stuck cautiously through the opening.

"Tom!" it said, in a stage whisper. "Hi, Tom! Come up an' git on ter de lay of de Kid."

A bigger boy in a jumper, who had been lounging on two chairs by the group of checker-players, sat up and looked toward the door. Something in the energetic toss of the head there aroused his instant curiosity, and he started across the room. After a brief whispered conference the door closed upon the two, and silence fell once more on the hall.

They had gone but a little while when they came back in haste. The big boy shut the door softly behind him and set his back against it.

"Fellers," he said, "what d'ye t'ink? I'm blamed if de Kid ain't gone an' hung up his sock for Christmas!"

The checkers dropped, and the pencil ceased scratching on the slate, in breathless suspense.

"Come up an' see," said Tom, briefly, and led the way.

The whole band followed on tiptoe. At the foot of the stairs their leader halted.

"You don't make no noise," he said, with a menacing gesture. "You, Savoy!" to one in a patched shirt and with a mischievous twinkle; "you don't come none o' yer monkey shines. If you scare de Kid you'll get it in de neck, see!"

With this admonition they stole upstairs. In the last cot of the double tier of bunks a boy much smaller than the rest slept, snugly tucked in blankets. A tangled curl of yellow hair strayed over his baby face. Hitched to the bedpost was a poor, worn little stocking, arranged with much care, so that Santa Claus should have as little trouble in filling it as possible. The edge of a hole in the knee had been drawn together and tied with a string to prevent anything falling out. The boys looked on in amazed silence. Even Savoy was dumb.

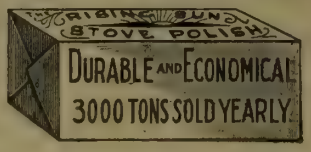
Little Willie, or, as he was affectionately dubbed by the boys, "the Kid" was a waif who had drifted in among them some months before. Except that his mother was in the hospital, nothing was known about him, which was regular and according to the rule of the house. Not as much was known about most of its patrons; few of them knew more themselves, or cared to remember. Santa Claus had never been anything to them but a fake to make the colored supplements sell. The revelation of the Kid's simple faith struck them with a kind of awe. They sneaked quietly downstairs.

"Fellers," said Tom, when they were all together again in the big room—by virtue of his length, which had given him the nickname of "Stretch," he was the speaker on all important occasions—"ye seen it yerself. Santy Claus is a-comin' to this here joint to-night. I wouldn't a' believed it. I ain't never had no dealings wid de ole guy. He kinder forgot I was around, I guess. But de Kid says he is a-comin' to-night, and what de Kid says goes."

Then he looked around expectantly. Two of the boys, "Gimpy" and Lem, were conferring aside in an undertone. Presently Gimpy, who limped, as his name indicated, spoke up:

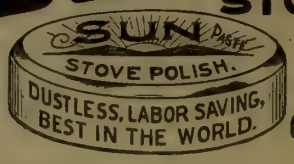
"Lem says, says he—"

"Gimpy, you chump! you'll address de chairman," interrupted Tom, with severe dignity, "or you'll get yer jaw broke, if yer leg is short, see?"



"Cut it out, Stretch," was Gimpy's irreverent answer. "This here ain't no regular meetin', an' we ain't goin' to have none o' yer rot. Lem, he says, says he, 'Let's break de bank an' fill de Kid's sock. He won't know but it was Ole Santy done it.'"

A yell of approval greeted the suggestion. The chairman, bound to exercise the functions of the office in season and out of season, while they lasted, thumped the table.



"It is regular motioned an' carried," he announced, "that we break de bank fur de Kid's Christmas. Come on, boys!"

The bank was run by the house, with the superintendent as paying teller. He had to be consulted, particularly as it was past banking hours; but the affair having been succinctly put before him by a committee, of which Lem and Gimpy and Stretch were the talking members, he readily consented to a reopening of business for a scrutiny of the various accounts which represented the boys' earnings at selling papers and blacking boots minus the cost of their keep and of sundry surreptitious flings at "craps" in secret corners. The inquiry developed an available surplus of $3 50. Savoy alone had no account; the run of "craps" had recently gone heavily against him. But, in consideration of the season, the house voted a credit of 25c. to him. The announcement was received with cheers. There was an immediate rush for the store, which was delayed only a few minutes by the necessity of Gimpy and Lem stopping on the stairs to "thump" one another as the expression of their entire satisfaction.

The procession that returned to the lodging-house later on, after wearing out the patience of several belated storekeepers, might have been the very Santa's supply-train itself. It signalized its advent by a variety of discordant noises, which were smothered on the stairs by Stretch with much personal violence, lest they wake the Kid out of season. With boots in hand and bated breath, the midnight band stole up to the dormitory and looked in. All was safe. The Kid was dreaming, and smiled in his sleep. The report roused a passing suspicion that he was faking, and Savarese was for pinching his toe to find out. As this would inevitably result in disclosure, Savarese and his proposal were scornfully sat upon. Gimpy supplied the popular explanation.

"He's a-dreamin' that Santy Claus has come," he said, carefully working a base-ball bat past the tender spot in the stocking.

"Hully gee!" commented Shorty, balancing a drum with care on the end of it. "I'm thinking he ain't far out. Looks 's ef de hull shop'd come along."

It did when it was all in place. A trumpet and a gun that had made vain and perilous efforts to join the bat in the stocking, leaned against the bed in expectant attitudes. A picture-book, with a pink Bengal tiger and green bear on the cover, peeped over the pillow, and the bedposts and rail were festooned with candy and marbles in bags. An express wagon with a high seat was stabled in the gangway. It carried a load of fir branches that left no doubt from whose livery it hailed. The last touch was supplied by Savoy in the shape of a monkey on a yellow stick, that was not in the official bill of lading.

"I swiped it for de Kid," he said briefly, in explanation.

When it was all done the boys turned in, but not to sleep. It was long past midnight before the deep and regular breathing from the beds proclaimed that the last had succumbed.

The early dawn was tinging the frosty windowpanes with red, when, from the Kid's cot, there came a shriek that roused the house with a start of very genuine surprise.

"Hello!" shouted Stretch, sitting up with a jerk and rubbing his eyes. "Yes, sir! in a minute. Hello, Kid, what to—"

The Kid was standing barefooted in the passageway, with a baseball bat in one hand and a trumpet and a pair of drumsticks in the other, viewing with shining eyes the wagon and its cargo, the gun and all the rest. From every cot necks were stretched, and grinning faces watched the show. In the excess of his joy, the Kid let out a blast on the trumpet that fairly shook the building. As if it were a signal, the boys jumped out of bed and danced a breakdown about him in their shirt-tails, even Gimpy joining in.

"Holy Moses!" said Stretch, looking down, "if Santy Claus ain't been here an' forgot his hull kit, I'm blamed!"

The annual production of honey in Europe is calculated to reach 40,000 tons, valued at £2,200 000, and of wax, 15,000 tons of the value of £1,350 000. A hive of bees produces from 20 to 50 lb. of honey yearly, according to the size of the hive, and multiplies ten-fold in five years. In order to obtain enough honey for a load, a bee requires to visit 6,000 different flowers, and makes on an average 20 trips daily.—B. B. J.

CANNED SALMON COMBINATION.

It is said that now that the Fraser river canneries intend organizing a combine and have held several meetings to that end, the fishermen themselves will take a hand in the matter. A meeting was held a couple of evenings ago of representative men from among the fishermen who have been working on the Fraser river for years. It has been suggested among the fishermen, although no definite action has yet been taken, that they will double up the price, making it something like 40c. for the next season, and in that way they expect to get their shares of the good things they claim are going in connection with the formation of the combine that will control the industry on the river.—Victoria Times.

BOWSER'S SELF-MEASURING OIL TANK.

THERE are a great many people who hesitate to employ new and more modern store appurtenances until they can ascertain the experience of one or more of their confreres. It is, perhaps, not a trait to be recommended always, for it reveals a hesitancy to imitate ; and it is those who lead that are, as a rule, the most successful. But the fact that there are people who need to have the experience of others before they move in a given direction themselves makes it necessary that they should be supplied it.

There are a large number of merchants throughout the country who have, when once the merits of the Bowser Self Measuring Oil Tank were brought to their attention through the advertisement or the travelers, at once had one placed in their store, until there are to-day, in the United States and Canada, over 100,000 of these tanks in use. But there may be some who, because they have not seen one of the tanks in actual operation, have hesitated to provide themselves with one. If there are any such who are readers of THE CANADIAN GROCER, we would like to draw attention to the advertisement of S. F. Bowser & Co., the makers of the self-measuring oil tank, in which is given a few of the names of merchants in Ontario who are now using this oil and labor-saving device. It will also be noticed that The Montreal Street Railway Co. has put Bowser self-measuring tanks into its new stores department.

OCCUPIES HIS NEW STORE.

John Boyle, an Alexandria, Ont., grocer, has moved into his new store next the Bank of Ottawa. The building is much larger than his old shop. The interior is finished in oil, excepting the ceiling, which is of corrugated galvanized iron. A refrigerator is situated at the rear of the store, which will enable Mr. Boyle to supply the delicacies of the season at all times during the year. Mirrors are utilized to form the background of two attractive show windows. Mr. Boyle has one of the neatest, handsomest, and most up-to-date business blocks in the county.

Attention was called to the fact that receipts of Maracaibo coffee at New York for the calendar year 1898 were 426,000 bags, and that thus far this year they have been only 322 000 bags, with 8,600 bags now on the way to this market. As the port of Maracaibo is now closed the indications are that there will be no further arrivals this year.

CLOVES AND THEIR CULTIVATION.

CLOVES were at one time the only economic product which Zanzibar supplied to foreign countries, writes Mr. Consul Cave, and, although much has been and is being done to encourage the native agriculturist to have more than one iron in the fire, the tree is still and probably always will be far more extensively cultivated than any other. The clove season proper—that is, the period during which the crop ripens and is harvested—extends from September to March, but the cloves continue to be brought into town for some months later, either because some of the trees are retarded in their flowering or because the growers are holding back for a more favorable market. The 1898 crop, although 1,302,700 lb. in excess of that of the previous year, was one, and fell far short of the results obtained in 1890, 1894 and 1895, but, although this is true as regards the 12 months ended December 31 last, it will probably be found, when the next report comes to be written, that the season of 1898-99 has equalled, if it has not surpassed, any previous existing record. In the summer and autumn of last year, considerable anxiety was felt as to what the season would bring forth, for there had been no heavy rain for 18 months, and a large number of trees had died for want of water. In Pembla alone, no fewer than 200,000 are said to have perished from this cause. The rains came in time to save the crop and make it one of the most prolific that this country has known, but the long drought which preceded them not only caused the buds to be somewhat smaller than usual, but for several weeks. And this is especially the case in the Island of Zanzibar, where the rainfall is seldom more than half as heavy, and the trees not nearly so old nor so hardy as in the sister island. The quantity of cloves brought into town from Zanzibar plantations up to the end of the year was, it will be observed, only 60,364 frasilas, the smallest amount tabulated, but of these no less than 32,399 frasilas and from the two islands together 121,858 frasilas were exported in December alone, which was in excess of the amounts recorded for any period of one month since these returns were first compiled.

The great difficulty which both the Government and the Arab cultivator have to contend with is the labor question, which it will probably take many years to solve. Ever since the importation of slaves has been prohibited the supply of labor has diminished with increasing rapidity from year to year, and now that have been freed under the decree of 1897, it is quite inadequate to meet the demands that are made upon it. Much has been done in the interests of the cultivator; the freed slaves are induced, whenever it is possible, to settle on the shambas of their old masters and to work for them, under voluntary agreements, either in return for a fixed daily wage, or by giving up a certain number of days to their employers and devoting the remainder of the week to the cultivation of plots of ground, which are allotted to them for that purpose. A money wage has, as often as possible, been substituted for payment in kind, both as an additional incentive to the laborer, and so as to prevent him from absenting himself from his work for two or three days in succession at more or less frequent intervals in order to dry and dispose of the green cloves which he has either earned as his share of the picking, or, as frequently happens, stolen from the trees during the night; but no legislation can make the native take a genuine interest in his work or keep it for a longer period than will enable him to live in comparative comfort for a few weeks of contented idleness. The has had its effect both on the total yield of the year and on the quality of the sample. Different buds on the same tree ripen at different times, and to secure a good sample, they should be picked at a certain definite stage of development, but in his anxiety to have as much of his crop gathered as possible, the cultivator has had to neglect any special care in picking, as well as in the equally important process of drying, with the natural result that the cloves sent home are found to vary in size, color and also in quality.

THE WEARY DRUMMER.

EMANUEL LEVY was a hard-working and ambitious drummer. His route lay through the smaller towns in Western New York, and his employers expected him to "cover" about five of them each day he was out.

On one occasion he had had an especially tiresome day, owing to railway delays, and did not reach Rochester until almost midnight. He went, as usual to the X hotel, where he was accustomed to stay and where he was well known.

"Sorry, old man," said the clerk, "but we haven't got a room in the house. Firemen's Convention here to-day, and they're sleeping in cots in the parlor."

"But you've got to take care of me," rejoined Emanuel. "I was never so tired in my life, and there isn't a train out of here to-night. What do you mean, anyway, by filling your house up with firemen who will never come here again, and turning away your regular customers?"

"Can't help it, Manny; ask the boss."

"But what am I going to do? I've got to sleep somewhere."

"Hold on a minute—perhaps I can fix you. Do you mind sleeping on a cot?"

"Sleeping on a cot? Why, I'd sleep on a keg of nails."

"Well, in the room off of 42 there's a cot. In 42 we've got a sporting man, with a big bank roll. There's no lock on the door between the rooms, and he made us promise we wouldn't put anyone in there. But, if you'll be on the dead level, go in quietly and get out the same way before he's up, you can sleep there."

Levy went up to the room. In about three-quarters of an hour he came down again, partly dressed, and with a look of horror on his face.

"Mein Gott, Billy!" he exclaimed, as he reached the desk, "but that man's dead."

"Yes, I knew he was dead," replied Billy, "but how did you find it out?" —Life.

A GUELPH FIRM'S CHANGE.

Scroggie Bros., grocers, Guelph, having for some years past found their premises too small to accommodate their increased trade, have purchased the large stock of Millman & Co., thereby securing those fine large premises occupied by the latter firm, which are among the finest in the city.

Mr. Millman has not yet decided where he will locate, but will probably select the beautiful city of Vancouver.

A NICE CHRISTMAS NUMBER.

The Grocery World adds another rung to its ladder of success by this week's number. It is its Christmas number, which fact is manifested at once by the cover, which portrays genial old Santa Claus behind a grocery counter, with his capacious bag full of seasonable goods. The 74 pages inside are full of well-written and seasonable articles, and excellently worded and displayed advertisements, making the number a creditable issue.

SHIPPING POOR EGGS.

The condition of the egg market at present is such as to call forth comment. While the receipts of eggs on the market are large—even larger than usual at this season—the supply of strictly-new-laid eggs is so small that all really good stock in Toronto is readily picked up at 23c. per doz.

It is not a rare thing, however, for a merchant who ships to market a lot of eggs, a big proportion of which are found to be bad, to accuse the commissionman of inaccurate or dishonest "culling."

It would seem, from the evidence, as given by the commissionmen, that many merchants market eggs without knowing in what condition they are. Whether this be due to lack of care or knowledge of the egg business on the part of the shipper is difficult to judge, but the result tends not to the good of the business. The egg business requires both accurate knowledge and constant care.

A MERCHANT PUNISHED.

H. M. Winter, who opened a departmental store in Berlin, Ont., in August last, and advertised himself as "The Poor Man's Friend," has been sentenced to eleven months and twenty days imprisonment, and to pay a fine of $800 for defrauding his creditors. If the fine is not paid, he is to get another year in jail.

BANK FAILURES AND ROGUERY.

THE failure of a chartered bank in Canada is a very rare occurrence. This speaks well, both for the financial condition of the country and for the system under which our banks do business.

But, every bank failure of the last 15 or 20 years, as far as our memory serves us, has, directly or indirectly, been traceable to fraudulent practices.

This speaks badly for the system of inspection which is supposed to be carried on.

When a bank receives a charter, it is endowed with extraordinary powers. And the authority—which is, of course, the Government—which gives it this power is responsible for the providing of ways and means which shall prevent the bank deceiving and defrauding the public, as the Central Bank did some 15 years ago, and as the Ville Marie Bank has been doing of late years.

Rogues can usually find ways to work evil, but it is evident the rogues who are in official positions in banks have an altogether too easy task when they want to put nefarious schemes into practice.

THEY LACK CONTINUITY.

Many intelligent and promising young men fail to attain much success in life because of a lack of continuity.

To-day they are employed at one thing, and to-morrow they are at another.

To-day they imagine they are more suited for this vocation. To-morrow it is something else. The result is, they are never long enough at one thing to be master of it.

And what a man is not master of he is never successful at.

GREETINGS TO OUR READERS.

THE CANADIAN GROCER is always solicitous for the welfare of its readers, but it is particularly appropriate at this season that it should give expression to it.

The air at the moment is laden with the exchange of Christmas greetings. "A Merry Christmas" and "Compliments of the Season" we hear on all hands. THE CANADIAN GROCER joins the throng, and wishes its readers the best kind of a Merry Christmas.

Money-making should not be the end of a merchant's life. But, unless he is meeting with some degree of prosperity, it is somewhat difficult for him to be merry at Christmas or during any other festive season.

If there has, however, been a Christmas when the merchants of Canada have had reason to be merry, because of the favorable business conditions, it is the one we are now entering upon.

CANADIAN CHEESE FOR BRITISH TROOPS.

Canadian cheese will be in evidence in the South-African campaign as well as Canadian troops.

A firm of produce dealers in Great Britain write A. F. MacLaren & Co., of Toronto, to the effect that the War Office has placed large orders for Canadian cheddar cheese for the use of the troops in South Africa.

But this is not all, for A. F. MacLaren & Co. have also received a large order direct for "Imperial" potted cheese for shipment to the seat of war.

CONSULTING THE TRAVELERS.

THE CANADIAN GROCER has, durduring the past few weeks, been urging firms who do not now do so to hold a convention of their travelers at least once a year. We therefore make no apology for reproducing the following extract from the address of General Manager Walter H. Cottingham at the recent convention of the travelers of the Sherwin-Williams Co., Cleveland, because it so strongly emphasizes the point we have been trying to make:

"I believe the success—the magnificent success which has always attended our company—is due in no small measure to our policy of consulting freely with all connected with us and getting their ideas and suggestions for the best methods and plans of pushiug forward the business.

"You, gentlemen, can especially help us in this respect. You are the army in the field, fighting at the front, and see by personal observation our plans and schemes in actual operation, and should be able to tell us where they are effective and where defective."

THE PRICE OF TOMATOES.

The position of canned goods is undoubtedly a strong one, but some holders appear to be getting their ideas above the market value.

Tomatoes held in first hands at 95c. are not finding purchasers, while the wholesalers are quoting 95c. to $1 to the retail trade, but, notwithstanding this, a circular issued this week quotes $1.10 to the wholesale trade.

Whatever the future of canned tomatoes may be it is obvious this figure is much above the price now ruling.

AN ILLUSTRATED GROCERY PAPER.

A copy of Grocery, an illustrated monthly paper devoted to the interests of the retail grocery trade of Great Britain, lies before us. It is not strictly speaking a new paper, for it had its advent several months ago. It is, however, none the less worthy of notice. The journal is of a decidedly high class. The articles are not only of special interest to the grocery trade, but they are well printed and many of them well and liberally illustrated. Grocery ought to ultimately obtain a good fast hold in the grocery trade of Great Britain.

EDITORIAL HYPOCRISY EXPOSED.

READERS of THE CANADIAN GROCER need not be told that it is seldom this journal undertakes to criticize its contemporaries. But there are occasions when we feel it is our duty to do so.

There is a paper published in New York called The American Journal of Health. Its professions are quite lofty. In a recent paragraph outlining the special features of the journal were these sentences: "Our advertising columns are open to all legitimate concerns. Such space is for sale and may be obtained for the purpose of advancing the interests of any reliable product. Upon the other hand, we have no space for sale in our editorial columns, and all suggestions contained therein reflect our unbiased and candid opinions, made after thorough investigation, and may be implicitly relied upon. At no time have paid puffs or 'write-ups' been admitted to the editorial columns of The American Journal of Health."

To the readers of The American Journal of Health, whether they be few or many, the statement that paid write-ups are not admitted is, no doubt, quite assuring. That is, if they do not know that in the spirit at least the statement is false. And it is the spirit, we are told in the Good Book, that killeth.

The subtle manner in which this particular health journal breaks the spirit of its professions has been pointed out by THE CANADIAN GROCER and other papers published in Canada, but, as it is again employing its old methods, it is quite proper that we should again expose them.

Having ascertained that Blank and Co. manufacture a certain product, a member of the staff, with the dignified letters "M.D." after his name, writes an article in regard to the nutritive and pure qualities of the same. The fact that the form of the article is somewhat stereotyped and could be employed, with the alteration of a word here and there, in writing up cheese as well as butter, sugar as well as salt, baking powder as well as bacon, does not matter. It is quite convenient to keep on hand a supply of stock articles as well as stock letters.

The article, which usually contains about 50 lines of typewritten copy, couched in laudatory terms, is sent to the manufacturer of the particular article it deals with for the correction of such errors and omissions as may be found necessary.

But accompanying the article is a letter which states that it is perfectly optional with the firm as to the number of copies it shall require. The price of the copies is then announced, as follows: "Papers will cost you 10c. each in 500 lots, or 8c. each by the 1,000. Less than 500, at the regular price, 15c. per copy."

Of course, no one would take less than 500 copies when so highly laudatory an article was being published "free."

Five hundred copies would only cost $50, and 1,000 but $80, sums not worth considering when you are getting something for nothing, and editorial magnaminity thrown into the bargain.

REDUCED STOCKS OF CLOVES.

Cloves are in an interesting condition just now. Advices from Zanzibar state that the receipts there this year have declined to about 13,000 bales. Last year they were 41,000 bales.

Besides this, stocks in London and New York have materially decreased.

The statistical position has had its effect on the market, and a still further strengthening of values is anticipated.

ROWED RACES ON DECEMBER 1.

A regatta was held on the Red River, Winnipeg, on December 1. The day was balmy, and among the people who occupied the river banks, watching the contests, were a number of ladies, who found the sun warm enough for them to hoist their parasols.

And Winnipeg is generally looked upon as being one of the coldest cities in Canada.

HIGHER FREIGHT RATES ON GROCERIES.

Grocers in Canada are not altogether uninterested in the higher freight rates which go into effect in the United States on January 1, for groceries is one o the lines which the changes particularly affect.

Sugar in less than carlots will not be affected, but in carlots there will be an advance of 5c. per 100 lb., the classification being moved from the sixth to the fifth class.

On soaps and coffees higher rates will rule on both small lots and carlots. The increase will be from 5 to 15c. per 100 lb.

In anticipation of these higher rates, the importation of sugar into Canada has been quite liberal during the last week or two.

Pickles came out with a Thanksgiving number the other day. Like the pickles made by the firm it represents—the H. J. Heinz Co.—it was tasty.

A STEADIER TEA MARKET.

THE recent decline in the market for Indian and Ceylon growths of tea appears to have been only temporary, for the steadier feeling noted last week has become more pronounced.

This seems to be particularly true on account of the decreased quantity brought to auction, while the competition has increased.

Cable advices from Calcutta and Colombo, also report a firmer market there.

Harrison & Crossfield's monthly tea market report points out what is perhaps not generally known, that, while the price of Indian tea fell off ½d. per lb. during the recent decline, quality also depreciated quite ¼d., so that the actual loss of value was only ¼d. per lb. The same report also points out that, as the November shipments of Ceylon tea were but 6,500,000 lb., the London market cannot be heavily supplied with tea of that country's growth in the near future. As it was the heavy shipments that caused the recent decline this fact is significant.

McMeekin & Co., on the other hand, however, point out that, as the increase in the crop of Indian tea will be about 12,000,000 lb. and that in Ceylon 5,000,000 lb., there is little fear of inadequate supply.

On the Canadian market the stock of medium and low-grade Ceylon and Indian teas is light; in low-grade teas it is practically nil. Owing to the better values offering in the countries of production, quite a few transactions have taken place during the past week.

Be a Santa Claus if you would be a merry man.

SOME IDEAS AND IMPRESSIONS.

I WAS fortunate enough to be in New York during the State and municipal elections. And, although the elections were really important and the newspapers tried to stir the people up to a realization of the fact, I was surprised at the indifference exhibited. "Wait till the Presidential election," said a gentleman to whom I was expressing my surprise, "you will see no lack of interest then."

Although the people were passive, the "machine" of the respective parties was active enough prior to and on the day of the election. And every night the electric lights behind the big red eyes of the tiger's head, which adorns Tammany Hall in 14th street, threw out bright shafts of light, indicating that there was both watchfulness and activity there. The result of the balloting proved it.

One night I was privileged to hear a number of stump speeches, which were delivered from a band wagon by supporters of the Democratic party. And they were "stump" speeches. They had blessed little "wood" in them. On one side of the band wagon was a fife and drum band with the members thereof in the uniform of the United States army, which, as every speaker concluded his oration, struck up a tune that reminded me of fife and drum band practices in Toronto prior to July 12. On the other side of the band wagon was a bonfire which was kept in huge, and in what appeared to me dangerous, proportions by a corps of street urchins. Occasionally it would be a packing case of huge proportions which would be brought to feed the fire, and then half a dozen or more of the boys would scramble upon it and stay there until the flames began to poke their red tongues through the crevices and make them scamper away again, while a big policeman stood by calmly swinging his baton and gossiping with acquaintances quite unconcerned. I tried to imagine what a policeman would do in Toronto under similar circumstances.

But the speakers interested me more than either the bonfire or the band. The speakers were mostly young men, and the electoral law, fathered and enforced by a Republican Legislature, came in for their especial denunciation. One speaker, who was introduced as a brilliant and promising young lawyer, drew a comparison between the laws of Great Britain in regard to her colonies, which resulted in the Boston "Tea Party," and the election laws in New York State. Of course, he urged the electors to do with the Republican party what the American people did with the tea in Boston harbor—throw it overboard. Then he told a story or two. One was as follows: A certain Republican politician saw a man with a few days' old pup in his arms. Stroking the pup on the head, the politician asked:

"And what may its politics be?"

"Republican, sir?"

"Oh!" he exclaimed with some satisfaction, and walked off.

A week later the politician again came across the man and the pup. Again stroking the head of the animal, he asked:

"And what may its politics be, my man?"

"Democrat, sir."

"Democrat?" repeated the astonished politician. "Why, a week ago you told me it was a Republican!"

"So I did sir, but it has since got its eyes open."

The crowd saw the point. At any rate it laughed. And when it had stopped laughing "the brilliant and promising" young lawyer expressed the hope that the electors had got their eyes sufficiently open to ally themselves with the cause of the Democratic party.

While in a political vein I am reminded of a conversation I had with the managing editor of one of the large financial and commercial dailies in New York. This editor is strongly in favor of closer trade relations with Canada, and has not forgotten to vigorously champion it in the columns of his journal. "I am convinced," he in effect said during our conversation, "that it is more in our interests to strive for closer trade relations with your country (Canada). I do not at present see any hope for immediate closer trade relations. The farmers in the United States are opposed to it; for they are afraid of Canadian farm produce, although, of course, they want free trade in the articles they buy."

"From what I can gather during my short visit here," I interjected, "there appears to be a strong feeling that the United States has reached a period when she does not need to keep her protective walls up to their present height."

"You are quite right. And the feeling is undoubtedly growing. But I have come to the conclusion that we can expect, after all, more from the Republican party than from the Democrats in the way of tariff reform and closer trade relations with Canada. You know there is a strong feeling of antipathy in the Democratic camp at present towards things British, while in that of the Republican party the tendency is in the opposite direction."

One thing I was curious to ascertain while in New York, and that was, where the sympathy of the people lay in the war between Great Britain and the Transvaal. My ear was open, therefore, for remarks which might be dropped in regard thereto. From a few people I heard the most bitter denunciation of Great Britain and a hope that she would be defeated.

"But she won't be defeated," interjected one of a group who was on one occasion discussing the question.

"She won't, eh? She couldn't lick her 13 American colonies. And I am sure the Boers are better able now than we were then to give it to her."

While I am quite in sympathy with the cause for which the 13 colonies contended, I could not resist interjecting:

"Mr. ——, did you ever visit the Statue of Liberty in the harbor?"

"No."

"Then you have never read the inscription on that statue?"

"No."

"Well, then, that inscription says that the monument is given to the United States in commemoration of the joint action of the Americans and the French in securing the independence of the former."

The gentleman who had been so bitterly denouncing Great Britain, and who, I should explain, was an Irish-American, said no more.

There was another class I came across, who, while they were not altogether persuaded as to the merit of Great Britain's cause, declared unhesitatingly that the sympathy of the United States must be on the side of that country.

"Great Britain stood by us during our war with Spain, and it is our duty to stand by her," is, in effect, what I heard some of them say.

I came across others who did not question the righteousness of Britain's cause, and did not hesitate to give it their sympathy.

I have heard it said that if you do a Yankee a favor he'll not forget it. And after my visit to New York I am less inclined than ever to question it.

SCIENTIFIC TURKEY PACKING.

WITH the advance of civilization, science or system occupies an ever-increasing place in the trade and commerce of a nation. It has extended even to the packing of poultry in Canada.

Two centuries ago the only turkey to be had in this country was the wild turkey, and the only way to "market" it was to find and shoot it in its haunts.

By two decades ago turkey-raising had become an established feature of Canadian agriculture, and on many farms a typical scene might be witnessed after sundown sometime in November or December.

When night had fully set in, and all was quiet and cold (for the work was always done in cold weather) the farmer and his sons, or possibly his wife, would proceed to the turkey roost. No matter how carefully approached, the turkeys would hear, and a murmur of suspicion was sure to be heard. But they could see nothing, and if the farmer was quick and skilful he could pull turkey after turkey from the roost without exciting the others to flight. The moment the turkey was caught, it was choked to prevent its giving the alarm. It was then taken outside, and by either wringing the neck, sticking, or cutting off the head, it was despatched. It was then hung up, and the next turkey attacked. In the morning it plucked and dressed.

This method of preparing turkeys for the market still obtains in districts which cater entirely to home trade, but for the export trade, a quicker, more systematic method of preparing is necessary.

A visit to the Western Toronto cattle market while D. Gunn, Bros. & Co. were preparing a shipment for Great Britain proved very interesting. The birds are brought alive in cars, specially constructed with tiers to carry about a thousand birds. From the cars they are driven into a pen on the second floor of the abattoir.

There is no waiting for nightfall here. There is a grab, a kick, and a struggle, and an expert breaks the neck of a turkey over a box, gives it a final stretch, throws it into a truck, then turns to the next turkey, when the operation is repeated. The turkeys are taken from here to a window, through which they are passed, while yet warm, to the pluckers. In the plucking-room men, women, and children are vieing with each other to finish their birds first. Time is money here. The pluckers get 5c. apiece for every turkey they finish properly, and, consequently, everyone is at high tension. The seriousness, however, is not unmixed with laughter, for the pluckers are of a practical joke-loving class. As the day wears on, feathers are everywhere. The 90 or more pluckers get through a lot of work. Consequently, they walk knee-deep in the mixture of coarse quill feathers and the soft, downy breast feathers. The lightness of the latter causes them to be borne here, there, everywhere; no one's clothes escapes, nor does the unvarnished woodwork of the plucking-room. When the plucker finishes his bird he takes it to one or another of the cold storage rooms. Here, his work and the condition and weight of the bird is examined. When sure that his work has been "tabbed," the plucker goes off to get his next bird. If the bird that has been finished shows, on examination of its crop, that it has been starved the necessary twenty-four hours, it is hung face downwards, on one of the many long rows of pegs in the cold storage room. Here it is left till thoroughly chilled. The method of packing is important, as on this depends largely the condition of the birds when they arrive in Britain. D. Gunn, Bros, & Co. put them in long cases, containing from eighteen to twenty-four birds, according to size. Between each is a piece of tissue paper, and on top of them a layer of straw. Over two thousand birds are handled by this system in a day, and all birds are packed according to size and condition, which is a requisite for trade with Great Britain.

CALENDARS FOR GROCERS.

Laporte, Martin & Cie., Montreal, are sending out a very handsome calendar, "Britain's Bulwarks." It is specially appropriate at this time, as it gives good illustrations of the Indian, Australian, British and Canadian soldier. Any reader sending a post card to the firm, mentioning THE CANADIAN GROCER, will have one mailed to his address.

ONTARIO MARKETS.

December 21, 1899

GROCERIES.

ALTHOUGH trade is naturally falling off at this time of the year, the concensus of opinion is that it is keeping up much better than was expected and much better than is usual. The orders are naturally largely of a sorting-up character, and, while they are numerous, are small. The goods mostly wanted are, of course, such lines as dried fruits and nuts. The general situation is strong, particularly in foreign dried fruits and canned goods. Very little attention is being given to canned goods of any kind. Coffees are still in good demand, with the tendency of prices upwards. Sugars are quiet and steady in price. Very little attention is being given to teas, although the outside markets report steadier prices. Spices are still decidedly firm. Rice and tapioca are steady and in fair demand.

CANNED GOODS.

The situation in canned good remains much the same as it did a week ago. There have been some canned tomatoes offering at a price 10 to 15c. per dozen higher than any figures yet reported, but they are away above the regular market values, and are not taken very seriously. The price asked in this particular instance was $1.10 per doz. to the wholesale trade, but tomatoes can be bought at 15c. per dozen less than that figure. Most of the wholesale trade are now quoting $1 per doz. to retailers, although the range is from 95c. to $1 per dozen. Corn continues very strong at $1.05 to $1.10, although some wholesalers will not accept less than that outside figure named. Peas continue firm and there are a good many who still look upon them as the best speculative line in canned goods. Canned fruits of all kinds continue to rule strong. There have been some transactions during the past week or two in Cohoe salmon at $3.35 F.O.B the Coast, but since then an advance of 10c. has taken place and the general feeling in regard to canned salmon is one of confidence.

COFFEES.

The local trade is still experiencing a good demand for Rio coffees, and prices are rather firmer, there being nothing as far as we are aware of anything like fair quality coffee under 7¾c. per lb. Both the Brazilian and European coffee markets continue to rule strong.

SUGARS.

The situation in regard to sugars is still somewhat complicated in Canada, on account of the large importations of the foreign refined article. No change in prices, however, has taken place, and there is no immediate indication of there being any, for the outside markets rule steady to strong, both in regard to raw and refined sugars. Although there is naturally not a great deal being done in sugar at this time of the year, yet the demand has kept up remarkably well when the near approach of the Christmas holidays is taken into consideration. It is the general opinion that the demand is much better than it has been in past seasons at this time.

See pages 33 and 34 for Toronto, Montreal, St. John, and Winnipeg prices current.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

The situation is much the same as it was a week ago, the demand being moderate and prices steady and unchanged.

SPICES.

The spice market continues to rule strong. Cloves are firm with an upward tendency on account of the light receipts at Zanzibar.

RICE.

Rice is in fair demand. Imported Japan is selling at 5¾ to 6c. per lb.

TEAS.

The improvement noted last week in the price of Indian and Ceylon teas in the outside makets has continued, advices from both the countries of production and from London showing the maintenance of a firmer market. One Toronto firm that cabled an order for Ceylon and Indian teas could not obtain the teas wanted except at higher prices than were ruling a week or two ago. The Japan market also continues strong, and advices state that China country green teas are 15 per cent. short in crop. The local demand at the moment is light.

NUTS.

The demand this week is good for small quantities, and prices rule firm. Bordeaux walnuts are due to arrive the latter part of this week, but they are, of course, too late for the Christmas trade. They will sell at about 9c. per lb.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS—There is a fair demand of a sorting-up character, and prices continue to rule firm.

VALENCIA RAISINS—Local stocks are pretty well reduced, and the position of the market is decidedly strong. There is a good sorting-up trade being done at quotations. We quote fine off-stalk at 6½ to 6¾c. per lb.; selected, at 7 to 7½c.; layers, 7½ to 8c., and extra selected, 8½c.

MALAGA RAISINS — Business is almost over for the season, there only being a few sorting-up orders reported. The stocks, however, are more than usually cleaned up, and the general report is that unusually large quantities have this season been sold.

PEELS—The demand is pretty well over for candied peels and stocks are pretty well reduced; in fact, more so than usual.

PRUNES—These continue to rule firm in price, but there is naturally not a great deal being done at the moment.

DATES—Further shipments of dates have arrived on the market this week, and the trade is now fairly well supplied, there being Sairs as well as Hallowee dates on the market. Quotations are now Hallowee, 5½c. per lb., and Sairs, 4½ to 5c. per lb.

GREEN FRUITS.

The demand for oranges and lemons is brisk. The largest sale is of Jamacias and Valencias, though navels are in favor for fancy trade. The quality of all oranges offering this year is excellent. The barrels in which Jamacias are being received, however, are smaller this week than they have been, consequently, the price is $1 lower. Lemons are in good supply and are of excellent quality. In price they are steady and unchanged. Good bananas are still scarce and high in price. The demand for winter apples is excellent, and prices are steady, with a tendency to advance. Cranberries have advanced $2 in New York, and most other markets have gone up lately, but the receipts of poor-keeping cranberries have been so large that it is not likely prices will be raised here. The quantity of good Almeria grapes offering is limited, but prices are lower than was the case a year ago for good sound fruit.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS— The receipts of new-laid eggs continue very small, but held stock is altogether too plentiful. Really choice eggs are worth 23c. per doz., but for the stock arriving the range covers all prices from 16 to 23c. Pickled stock is easier, showing a decline of ½c., which makes the price 15 to 16c. per doz.

POTATOES — There is no change. Cars on track are easy at 38 to 40c. per bag. Small lots out of store are steady at 45 to 50c. per bag.

BEANS—The market keeps steady, but there is little doing. We quote $1.45 to $1.50 for hand-picked, and $1.35 to $1.38 for prime.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES—The evaporated apple market is easier, showing a decline of ½c. in the jobbing price, which is now 8c. Dried are quoted irregularly, some dealers quoting 5½ to 6c., and others 5¾ to 6½c. The latter figure seems likely to predominate after the holiday season, as the outside price is stiffening. At outside points 6c. is still paid for No. 1 quarters and 5½ to 5¾c. for No. 1 ordinary.

POULTRY — A slight improvement is shown in the week, but not as much as commission men say the conditions warrant. Receipts of good stock are not large, but there seems a determination on the part of retailers to keep down prices. There is too big a percentage of small turkeys coming in, causing the impression that flocks have been picked over for export and the culls left for home consumption. Many ducks and chickens of inferior size and quality are arriving, consequently the range in price is very large. We quote: Turkeys, 8½ to 9½c.; geese, 6 to 6½c.; ducks, 50 to 75c.; chickens, 30 to 50c.

VEGETABLES—Cabbage are 20 to 25c. per dozen dearer. Otherwise there is no change. We quote as follows: Spinach, 40 to 50c. per bush.; lettuce, 20 to 40c. per doz.; cabbage, 60 to 75c. per doz.; red cabbage, 50 to 75c. per doz.; cauliflowers, 40 to 60c. per doz.; celery, 40 to 75c. per doz.; parsley, 10 to 15c. per doz.; onions, 40 to 60c. per bush.; green beans, 30 to 50c. per basket; squash, $1 to $1.50 per doz.; vegetable marrow, 40 to 60c. per doz.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—The supply of all packages of butter is moderate, and as dairy prints and rolls are in brisk demand, these have advanced 1c. per lb. Factorymen state that the production of the winter creameries is likely to be moderate this year. At present the supply is equal to the demand, and prices are steady. We quote as follows: Dairy, large rolls, 18 to 19c.; prints, 19 to 20c.; creamery, tubs and boxes, 21 to 22c.; prints and squares, 22 to 23c.

CHEESE—The market continues strong. Holders state that 12c. is the lowest price that can be taken for late makes, and that 12½c. is likely to be a common figure soon.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

The market keeps steady. Prices are unaltered and the demand good. We quote: Trout, 7½ to 8c.; Niagara whitefish, 7 to 7½c.; pickerel, 7½c.; herrings, 4c.; halibut, 12½c.; Seattle salmon, 13 to 15c.; haddock, 5c.; finnan haddies, 6½ to 7c.; boneless fish, 4¾c.; quail-on-toast, 5½c.; steak cod, 6c.; quintals of cod, 5¾c.; ciscoes, $1 per basket. Oysters, standards, $1.25; selects, $1.65; other brands, $1.25 per gal.; shell oysters, $8 per bbl.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—The wheat market keeps steady at 66½c. outside. The principal grains arriving on the Toronto street market are oats and goose wheat. Goose wheat shows an advance of 1c. We quote: Wheat, white and red, 68 to 69c.; goose, 70 to 71c.; peas, 62 to 65c.; oats, 28 to 29c.; barley, 42 to 44c.; rye, 53½c. No. 1 hard Manitoba wheat is steady at 76½c. Toronto and west.

FLOUR—A steady market, and a fair, regular demand is noted. We quote: Manitoba patents, $4; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.70; Ontario patents, $3.65 to $3.75; straight roller, $3.35, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—The demand is quiet, but a brisk demand is expected to start

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, December 21, 1899.

GROCERIES.

THE only branch of groceries to show any activity this week has been dried fruits. The scarcity of Valencia raisins has led to efforts at procuring fresh supplies in New York, and a few moderate-sized lots were procured, but the cost was extreme. In fact, still higher prices on raisins seem very probable. Currants rule steady, and there has been a good movement in prunes, while in nuts supplies appear to be entirely inadequate for the demand. Refined sugar values here have shown no response to the strength in the raw article, while molasses is firmly held under steadily diminishing stocks.

SUGAR.

The strength in the raw sugar situation abroad has not led to any change in the refined article here, because the competition of the American article has still to be met. Business at present is slow as buyers show a disposition to hold off until after the turn of the year. At the refinery, granulated is quoted $4.40, and yellows $3.60 to $4.25 per 100 lb. In New York, refined is quiet and raw is steady: Fair refining, 3 13-16c., and centrifugal, 96 test, 4¼c. In London, cables state that the market was ¼d. lower for beet, which closed at 9s. 1½d. for present month, and at 10s. 6d. for next month. Cane was quiet and steady, with prices unchanged. Java was quoted at 11s. 3d., and fair refining, 10s. 6d.

SYRUPS.

Some traders expected that the scarcity of molasses would lead to an increased demand for syrup. So far no such result has been demonstrated. Values are steady and business dull at 1¾ to 2¼c. per lb. at the factory.

MOLASSES.

Recent advices from Barbadoes state that new molasses will not be obtainable before the end of March, and it is feared that the crop will be very short and not as large as that of 1898, on account of the continued dry weather, which has been the cause of the canes suffering considerably. The prospects at present are that prices will open much higher than last year. The spot market is dull, but firm, the business passing being entirely of a small jobbing character, at 42c. in carload lots and at 43c. in smaller quantities.

DRIED FRUITS.

The firm feeling in Valencia raisins is fully maintained, and, with exceptionally light stocks in jobbers' hands, prices point still higher, though there is no quotable change this week. Latest advices from Denia state that 98 per cent. of the crop has been shipped and that almost prohibitive prices are asked for what remains. Jobbers here have succeeded in obtaining a few moderate-sized lots in New York, but they cost very full prices, it is understood.

Malaga raisins are unchanged at 7c. for 2-crown, 8c. for 3-crown, and 9c. for 4-crown in 50-lb. boxes.

Sultanas continue firm at 10 to 12c., as to grade.

Currants are steady with a fair inquiry. We quote: Filiatras, 4½c. for bbls.; 5⅛c. for half bbls.; 4¾c. for half cases, and 4⅞c. for quarter cases.

Prunes meet an active demand and values are firm. Californian prunes are as follows: 80's to 90's, 6½c.; 70's to 80's, 7c.; 60's to 70's, 7½c.; 50's to 60's, 8½c., and 40's to 50's, 10c. Bosnia prunes are steady also, at 6 to 6½c.

Dates are steady at 5 to 5¾c., as to grade.

NUTS.

The firmness that has been noted continues unabated, and supplies are inadequate to the demand. Pure Grenoble walnuts are 14½ to 15c., and Marbots, 11 to 11½c., while shelled almonds are 25 to 30c.

CANNED GOODS.

Demand for all kinds of canned goods has been slow, but the tone is strong and prices are firm. Corn is held at $1.10; tomatoes, at 90c. to $1; marrowfat peas, at 70 to 72½c.; early Junes, at 77½ to 80c.; French peas, at 90 to 95c.; beans, at 90c.; one gallon apples, at $2.25 to $2.50; 3-lb. do., at 85 to 90c.; raspberries, at $1.60, and strawberries at $1.55 per dozen.

RICE.

Business in rice is quiet, as buyers are generally well supplied for some time ahead. Values are firmly held on the basis of $3.30 to $3.40 for standard B.

SPICES.

Strength seems to be general in spices. The advance in pimento, noted last week, is fully maintained, further sales being noted at 8½ to 9c. There has also been a sharp rise in nutmegs at London and New York, and values show a firmer tendency here as a result of this news. Advices on pepper are also strong. Tapioca has an upward tendency. We quote: Nutmegs, 35 to 60c. per lb., as to quality, and pimento, 8c.

COFFEES.

Business in coffee continues quiet, but the tone is firm in sympathy with advices from primary markets. We quote: Maracaibo, 9 to 14c.; Mocha, 17½ to 20c.; Rio, 8 to 10c.; Santos, 9 to 13c., and Mexicans, 10½ to 15c.

TEAS.

A fair amount of business has been transacted in teas of late, and the market is moderately active and firm. A few small lots of low-grade Japan changed hands at 13c., and some Ceylons at 15 to 18c. Advices received on Foo Chow Congous state that the market has not been so bare of stock for over 30 years, and anything at all saleable has been shipped. In China teas, as a rule, the cheap bargains are picked up between December 15 and 30, as holders are anxious to sell, but this year there is nothing to be had. Cable advices from Japan report the market strong, at an advance of 1 to 2c.

FISH.

The continued mild weather has had a further depressing effect on the fish market, and prices are easier in several cases. We quote: No. 1 Nova Scotian herring, in bbls., at $5.25, and in half-bbls., at $2.50. No. 1 large round herring fetch $5, and half-bbls., $2.55. No. 1 B. C. and Labrador salmon, $13 per bbl., and tierces, $17.50. No. 2 mackerel are dull, $15.25, and No. 1 large green cod, $5.25, with No. 1 $5 and No. 2 $4. No. 1 green haddock, $4, and No. 1 pollock, $3.60. Dried cod sells at $4.75, and large dressed, $4.50. Prepared fish—Boneless

GREEN FRUITS.

There has only been a moderate business in green fruits. The apple situation is unchanged; sales are limited: Good No. 1 stock commands $2.75 to $3.50 per bbl.; while No. 2 is selling for $1.60 to $2. Almeria grapes are in good demand at $4.50 to $6 per keg, as to weight and quality. Catawba grapes command fair sale at 21 to 23c. per basket. There is a very good demand for oranges at the following prices: Jamaicas, $6 to $6.50 per bbl., and $2.50 to $3.50 per box; Valencias, $4 to $4.50 per box for 420's, and $4.50 to $4.75 for 714's; Californian oranges, $3 90 to $4.25 per box; Mexican, $2.85 to $3.35 per box. There is a fair demand for lemons at $2.50 to $3.25 per box. Cranberries show a considerable jump in prices, owing to the falling off in receipts; sales this week command $6 50 to $7.50 per bbl.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The egg market was steady. Sales are reported of good boiling stock at 22½c. in large lots. Straight candled eggs are quoted at 18c.; limed, 15 to 16c.; cold storage, 14½ to 15c.; seconds, 11 to 12c.

POULTRY — Poultry rules brisk. Turkeys are in active demand, but other lines are not so much sought after. Quotations are as follows: Turkeys, 9 to 10c.; ducks, 8 to 8½c.; chickens, 6½ to 7c.; geese, 5½ to 6c.; old fowl, 5 to 6c.

GAME—Game is in fair request. Partridge sell at 70 to 75c. for firsts, and 40 to 45c. for seconds per brace.

MAPLE PRODUCT—Maple product rules the same. Pure sugar is steady at 10½ to 11c., and syrup, 65 to 75c. per tin.

HONEY—The demand for honey was slack, but prices are unchanged. White clover in comb is quoted at 12c.; extracted, 9c., and buckwheat, 8c. per lb.

BEANS—Beans continue firm, with a fair demand. Choice hand-picked pea beans are held at $1.52½ to $1.57½, and choice primes, $1.45 to $1.47½.

ASHES—Ashes were dull and featureless. We quote: First sorts, $4.30; seconds, $4, and pearls, $5.15 per 100 lb.

DRESSED HOGS — There is an active demand for country dressed hogs, but supplies are large, and values are a little easy. For good light hogs, $5.60 is paid, while inferior and heavy stock sells as low as $5.

PROVISIONS.

There is a fair trade in provisions and values are unchanged. We quote: Canadian short cut mess pork, $14.50; short cut back, $14, and heavy long cut mess, $14 per barrel. Pure Canadian lard in pails, 7¼ to 7¾c. per lb.; and compound refined, 6 to 6½c. per lb. Hams 10c. to 11½c., and bacon 11 to 11½c. per lb.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.

FLOUR—Was quiet and steady. We quote: Winter wheat patents, $3.60 to $3.90; straight rollers, $3.30 to $3.40; in bags, $1.65;

Manitoba patents, $3.90 to $4.20, and strong bakers', $3.60 to $3.70.

GRAIN—The local grain market was dull and prices were unchanged. In the West oats are offering at 26c., and peas at 58c., but buyers will not concede more than ½c. under these figures.

OATMEAL—Was dull and unchanged at $3.50 per barrel, and at $1.70 per bag.

FEED—There was a fair trade in feed, with somewhat freer offerings of Ontario bran. Manitoba bran is selling at $15; shorts, $17 per ton, including bags; Ontario bran, at $15.50; shorts, at $16.50 to $17.50, and mouille at $20 to $24 per ton, in bulk.

HAY—The hay market was quiet. We quote: Choice No. 1, $9 to $10; No. 2, $8 to $9; and clover, $7 to $7.50 per ton, in carload lots.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

CHEESE—Cheese is unchanged. Prices are largely nominal in the absence of any large transaction, ideas ranging from 11 ⅞ to 12¼c. The Liverpool cable is unchanged.

BUTTER—Butter was quiet and demand confined almost solely to local traders. Fancy creamery is quoted at 21 to 21½c., with outside price hard to obtain; medium grades, 20 to 21c. Dairy butter is in better demand. Rolls are quoted at 17½ to 18c.; western tubs, 17 to 18c. for choice stock. Township dairy is very scarce, and is almost as high as creamery. It is quoted at 19 to 20c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Some fresh supplies of Valencia raisins have been procured in New York, but they cost an extreme price.

Late cables state that fully 98 per cent. of the Valencia raisin crop has been shipped from Denia.

A sharp advance in nutmegs at both London and New York has been one of the latest phases of a strong spice situation.

No new Barbadoes molasses can possibly be obtained until the end of March, and fears of a short crop have been cabled.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,

ST. JOHN, N.B., December 21, 1899.

BUSINESS in wholesale lines is now quiet, but has been particularly well sustained this season right up to the holidays. It is doubtful if seasonable goods, such as raisins, peels, and nuts, were ever so well cleaned up; in fact, they are scarce. The demand has been large this year, and good prices have been obtained. In spices, all lines are firm, but there is rather more interest in pepper, cloves, and ginger. Cream of tartar, which is very freely sold here, has shown little change for a long time. It keeps quite low. In rice, very low prices are quoted, and our market inclines to the cheaper grades. The direct Liverpool steamers affect prices. In coffees, the general trend is towards higher prices.

OIL—Burning oil is still in very active demand. It is one line in which the higher price does not seem to affect sales. The market is a very strong one, and no lower prices are looked for, this season at least. In lubricating, little is doing, but the market is a strong one. The Christmas season has brought out an active sale for candles, particularly in fancy lines. Prices are very high and are firmly held. There is very little movement in paint oils or in cod oil.

SALT—Coarse salt has been quite scarce. Owing to the high prices, importers have as yet this winter brought forward but small lots, and some has this week been brought from Boston to help out the direct supply. There is but a limited sale. Fine salt moves slowly at even figures. Stocks are ample. We quote: Liverpool coarse, 50 to 55c. English factory-filled, 95c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20 to 22c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12 to 14c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per doz.; mineral rock salt, 60c. per 100 lb.

CANNED GOODS—There is little of particular interest. Market is a firm one. Peas are held at rather higher prices. Gallon apples are moving out quite freely, but best demand is later. Prices are firmly held. There are fair stocks, dealers being chiefly supplied from Nova Scotia. In lobsters, some very high prices are quoted. The new regulations regarding the catch come in for considerable criticism, because of the different rules for different sections. Some packers have been entirely thrown out after having made every arrangement for the season's business even to contracting for their output. In sardines, kippered herring and haddies fair prices are being obtained, but prices are still low. In fruits, little is doing. Pumpkin finds a fair sale at rather firmer figures. Meats are quiet but tend higher. There is a demand for boned fowl, but supplies are short. It is but a limited business, anyhow.

GREEN FRUITS—The mild weather right up to the holidays has caused a good wholesale demand. New Valencia oranges have moved off freely. Late arrivals were in much better shape than the first shipment. Some particularly nice stock for Christmas trade was brought forward. Prices kept quite low. A few Java oranges are to hand. Jamaicas are, however, still the nicest fruit offering. In lemons, there is a good sale. Market is somewhat firmer. At this season the sale of Malaga grapes is always large, and this season the fine stock offered and the fairly low figures asked lead to extra business. In apples, sale has been somewhat quiet. Stock offered is not extra, though full figures will bring out some nice fruit. Cranberries are a little higher, but they are still low.

DRIED FRUITS— Market is quite bare. The lack of any Californian raisins being imported has tended to higher stocks, though quite a few Malaga loose muscatels were bought, and the landing of some this week helped dealers out. Those who had stocks bought early of all lines of raisins have done well. In currants, prices are quite easy and stocks ample. Cleaned have a very large demand. In peels there are very few to be had. Prices have shown but little change; American has not been as freely imported this year. Prunes are very scarce. Two cars of Californian fruit are due. One has been on the road over a month. Small sizes are very scarce and prices rather higher. Dates are selling fairly well at even figures. Figs show no change in prices. Sales have not been large this season. Evaporated apples are a fair supply. While prices were easier they are again rather firmer. Dried are still scarce. Onions keep low, though rather higher than they were. American stock held is getting cleared up. In nuts all lines are scarce, particularly almonds, and prices are high.

SUGARS—There is nothing new. Prices are very low, and there is a greater variety of sugars on the market than perhaps ever before. There are those who feel that the lowest point has been touched. Stocks at this season are not large. In yellows there is considerable "sticky" sugar here.

MOLASSES—Trade is rather quiet. Prices are very firmly held and tend upwards. In the best grade of New Orleans offered there has been another small advance. Best Indian goods are about cleaned up. Syrup has a fair sale. Some very fine cane syrup is being offered.

PRODUCE—In eggs, the tendency seems ersier, supplies being quite large. Some preserved stock of particularly fine quality is being offered. There are fair stocks. Butter keeps low, but if quality is extra rather better prices rule. Creamery has little sale. Cheese show no change, local demand being light. Prices, however, are firm.

FISH—Demand has somewhat fallen off. Stocks, however, being light, there has been but little change in prices, though dry cod are somewhat easier. The most favorable tone in the market is the continued firmness in smoked herring, due to good American demand and rather light supplies. For best bloaters rather better prices are obtained. There are practically no kippered herring offered. Finnan haddies bring a fair price, but sales keep rather lighter than usual. In boneless fish, demand is now light, but prices are maintained. Hake keep high. Pickled herring are light stock, but demand is now limited. We quote: Large and medium dry cod, $3.70 to $3.80; small, $2.50 to $2.60; pickled shad, $4.50 to $5, as to quality; haddies, 4½ to 5c. per lb.; smoked herring, 8 to 9c.; fresh haddock and cod, 2½c.; boneless fish, 4 to 5c.; pollock, $2.35 to $2.50 per 100; pickled herring, $2.10 to $2.15 per half bbl.; bloaters, 60c.; kippers, $1; smelts, 5c.

PROVISIONS—Prices tend higher. There are still quite ample stocks. Pork seems to be following beef. Demand here has fallen off. In lard, full prices are asked. There is a good demand.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—Prices keep low. There is a fair sale. Cars keep scarce, so that there is considerable delay in getting shipments forward. In oatmeal and oats there is no change, and prices at least, seem no higher. Cornmeal is still scarce, and shows no change. Feed continues to hold its price. Hay is low, but quite firmly held. Beans are unchanged, and move but slowly. Blue peas are scarce. We quote: Manitoba flour, $4.40 to $4.60; best Ontario, $3.80 to $4.00; medium, $3.60 to $3.75; oatmeal, $3.80 to $3.90; cornmeal, $2.25 to $2.35; middlings, $21 to $22; oats, 38 to 40c.; hand-picked beans, $1.50 to $1.65; prime, $1.45 to $1.55; yellow-eye beans, $1.90 to $2; split peas, $3.90 to $4.00; round, $3.25 to $3.40.; pot barley, $3.75 to $3.85; hay, $7 to $7.50; timothy seed, American, $1.50.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

T. Collins & Co. are sending out a pretty calendar to to their customers.

The St. John representative of THE GROCER extends to all the compliments of the season.

Nova Scotian banks continue to do an increasing part of our business. The Merchants Bank of Halifax intends opening a branch here early in the new year. It is said Mr. Foster, who has been their agent in Fredericton, will come here.

Dearborn & Co. are the only seeders of raisins here, and are finding an active demand. In cleaned currants, while their output has reached 50 cases a day, running along at this for days at a time, they have been unable to keep up with their orders.

W. H. Gillard & Co. have just received three new lines of brooms, 2, 3, and 4-string, showing splendid value.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

Contributors are requested to send news only, not puffs of goods they handle, or the arrival of standard goods that everyone has in stock, or that they are offering goods at close figures, or that they have had an unusually large sale this season.

PERKINS, INCE & CO. are in receipt of a direct shipment of special grade Japan rice.

T. Kinnear & Co. have taken into stock a shipment of dates—Hallowees and Sairs.

Warren Bros. & Co. have arriving this week a shipment of Bordeaux walnuts.

New shipments of butter-scotch are to hand with Lucas, Steele & Bristol.

Baked beans, "Ice Castle" brand, to retail at 5c., are in stock with W. H. Gillard & Co.

Lucas, Steele & Bristol's travelers will be, as usual, "off" during the coming week.

T. B. Escott & Co. have a carload of Ceylon teas in half-chests, weighing about 50 lb. each, which they are offering at low prices to retail at 25c.

Several invoices of Indian and Ceylon teas have arrived for Lucas, Steele & Bristol this week: also attractive Japans in 1-lb. packages.

A carload of Hallowee dates is just to hand with W. H. Gillard & Co., which they are offering at special prices.

CONUNDRUMS FOR CHRISTMAS.

"I have a conundrum for you," said Sam Tribet to Joe. Limeburner.

"Propound it."

"Why are unmarried women always first at church?"

"Give it up."

"Because they want to be there when the hims are given out."

"Now, I have one for you?"

"Well?"

"Why do hens lay their eggs in the daytime?"

"I don't know. Why?"

"Because at night they are roosters."

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. B. A. Burke, representing the Meyers Putz Pomade Co., of Boston, is in Toronto this week in the interests of his firm.

HAD CASH, COULDN'T PAY CASH.

A MERCHANT doing business in a town a short distance from Toronto tells a good story illustrative of the credit system which is somewhat at his own expense.

A short time ago he sold a stove to a farmer. The latter asked for and obtained six months' credit. One day not long after the sale was made the farmer rushed into the store, exclaiming as he did so:

"Say, have you heard anything about the bank of ——?"

"No; what's wrong?"

"Well, I hear it's in pretty shaky condition, and that the president has been deposed. I wish you'd try and find out for me."

"I will," said the obliging storekeeper. "Are you interested in the bank at all?" he queried.

"Well, I should say I am," replied the farmer. "I've $3 000 solid cash on deposit there."

The storekeeper thought of his unpaid account, but said nothing. "You know I was afraid of offending him," he explained to a friend.

MAN STILL NEEDS IT.

You occasionally hear a fellow say that religion is impratical and behind the spirit of the times, and that the world is leaving it behind among the traditions and superstitions. When you hear a fellow talking that way, write him down an egotist and superficial thinker, says The Interstate Grocer. As long as sorrow, suffering, hope and death remain in the world, existence will be incomplete and almost unendurable without the consolations of religious faith; and all the reasoning, the indifference, the cynicism, the perfection of moral life, and other substitutes for it, will be cast aside with but little consideration when the mind and heart and soul are troubled.

PACKING BUTTER.

A Montreal butter exporter has issued a circular to the following effect:

"For export, we want all the butter packed in 56 lb. boxes, natural color, made dry and salted about 3 per cent. The parchment wants to be soaked in good strong brine for about 24 hours before it is put on the butter, so it will not be wrinkled. Pack the butter about half an inch from the top, and if the boxes hold more than 56 lb. in packing in this way stencil the net weight on the side of each box. There is a fair demand for finest butter at about 21c., but ordinary quality sells at about 20 to 20½c. The trade here want butter salted about 4 per cent., packed mostly in 30 to 50 lb. tubs; the latter will do, and of a deep straw color. There is a fair demand from the home trade at about export prices. There is a good deal of ordinary quality butter coming in that has a dirty milk flavor and is cloudy or mottled. If the salt is heated up either by hot water or steam to about 56 to 60 degrees (Fahr.) before it is worked in the butter, it will keep the butter from being cloudy or mottled."

NORTHWEST TRAVELERS.

The annual meeting of the Northwest Commercial Travelers' Association was held on Saturday evening, when the reports for the year showed a largely increased membership and all the interests of the organization in most flourishing condition.

After the business was transacted, Mr. Fred Drewry, the retiring president, entertained the members at an oyster supper at Sloan's restaurant. The affair was something of a surprise to the members and proved most enjoyable, as song and story were passed round with the bivalves.

FREE TRADE IN PULP AND PAPER.

A Chicago paper says: "Admitting that the rapidly advancing paper market is largely due to drought and unprecedented demand, still no reasonable excuse can longer be advanced for retaining the protective duty on wood pulp and printing paper. The industry of paper-making is no longer the infant pictured by duty advocates—and another thing, Canadian forests must be entered that we may save a respectable remnant of our own."

We wish all our customers and the trade throughout Canada

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, December 18, 1899.

THE weather is clear and cold with a slight snowfall. Trade in all lines is feeling the impetus of the holiday season. As already reported, there is every indication of a heavy Christmas trade. The scarcity of Valencia raisins and the scarcity of Malaga fruit, together with that of Valencia almonds and other nuts, is beginning to be felt by jobber and retailer alike. Freights are still very, very slow in arriving.

WHEAT—There is scarcely anything new to report. The deliveries have been very light all week, and are not expected to improve until after the holidays, when it is hoped snow will have improved the roads in the country. The prices are still too low to tempt the farmers to make very special efforts to deliver. Prices at country points have not changed during the week, but cash wheat is worth 65c. at Fort William to-day. There have been times during the week when it reached even a higher figure.

FLOUR—The market has been active all the week, but prices are unchanged at Patent, $1.90; Glenora, $1.50; XXXX, $1.20.

CEREALS—The supply is fully equal to, if not in excess, of the demand. Despite the supply from local mills, American rolled oats are arriving freely. The quotation to-day is $1.70; granulated, $2.20; and standard the same. Split peas are firm at $2.25; pot barley, $2.23; pearl barley, $3.50; beans still firm at $2 for choice hand-picked, and $1.85 to $1.90 for lower grades.

CURED MEATS — Some lines of these goods are slightly lower than last week, noticeably picnic hams, smoked shoulders and dry salt shoulders. Present quotations are: Hams, 12c.; breakfast bellies, 11½c.; backs, 10c,; spiced rolls, 9½c.; shoulders, 8½c.; picnic hams, 9c.; dry salt, long clear, 8½c.; shoulder, 8½c.; short clear, 8c.; backs, 9c.

BUTTER — There is little or nothing new to be said of this product. The supply of creamery is near exhausted, and the supply of fresh made sweet dairy is limited indeed; 18 to 20c. is paid for fresh in tubs, and 20 to 21c. for separator made in bricks, paper wrapped.

CHEESE—Nothing new in the situation of cheese; Manitoba is quoted at 13c., and Ontario at 13½c. The supply of cheese is not considered equal to the demand, and all stocks will be exhausted before spring.

EGGS — Are unusually scarce, although, owing to the long mild fall, they might reasonably be expected to be plentiful. Wholesale dealers are paying from 18 to 19c. for freshly gathered delivered Winnipeg. Strictly fresh laid are almost unobtainable and retail at 40c.

CANNED GOODS — The situation presents no new features. Several houses are still quoting tomatoes at $2.20 and corn at $2.25, when the cost of laying them down now would be from $2.25 to $2.30. Canned poultry will be on the market in a few days. The prices will be a little in advance of last year and the probable quotations will be $2.60 per doz. all round.

DRIED FRUITS—The market is quiet, with fair demand and an ample supply. Fancy Filiatras, 6 to 6¼c., and Provincials, 5¾ to 6c. Valencia raisins are still high and very scarce; in fact, some houses are unable to obtain the stocks they desire. For fancy layers, $2.40 is asked, and $2.15 for fine off-stalk. In Malaga raisins, or blue fruit, there is only one house, so far as I could learn, that really has this stock, and they are holding for their own customers. Prices range all the way from $2 to $6 per box, according to style and variety.

FIGS—There is an abundant supply of fancy Elemes at prices ranging from 16½ to 18c. in boxes of from 11 to 24 lb. There are no 12-oz. boxes on this market. New cooking figs are only on the market in small quantities, but a large shipment is now in transit, which will sell at about 4¾c. per lb.

NUTS—The demand is good, but stocks are small. New Grenobles are not expected now for another two weeks, and, when they arrive, will be worth 13½c. Tarragona almonds are stiff, at 13 to 14c. Shelled almonds, none in the market. Shelled Valencias are expected in a few days, and will be worth 30c.

EVAPORATED FRUITS—Apples are somewhat easier, and the supply is now evidently more than the demand. This is due, no doubt, to the sudden slackening of the English market. The quotations are 9¼ to 9½c.

DATES—New fruits are expected daily. Up to the present only very small shipments have been received. Apricots are unchanged in price and the sale is rather low.

COFFEE— Market is slow with values unchanged. Standard Rio is still 9½c.

RICE—Without change, but very firm. Fancy crystal Japan is very firm at 4¼ to 5c.; Chinese is in good demand at last week's figures, and "B" rice at 4¼c.

CONFECTIONERY — There has been a most exceptional demand for confectionery of both higher and cheaper grades. The local factories are not able to keep up with their orders, especially in the cheaper lines of chocolate drops.

SUGAR—The sugar market has been without change for the week.

FISH—A car of haddies arriving this week were in very good condition and went off rapidly at 7 to 7½c. As the weather is now favorable, there will probably be no further trouble. Bloaters are still somewhat scarce, and are quoted at $1.40. The demand for oysters is good; selects are $2.25 to $2.35, and standards $2.15 to $2.25. New salt mackerel have arrived, and are high in price, namely, 15 to 20c. per lb., according to size of fish.

GREEN FRUITS—Market is without change in regard to supplies and price, but fruit houses are working almost night and day to get out fruit orders for Christmas.

Wishing our customers a Merry Christmas and a prosperous New Year.

TRADE CHAT.

EXPORTS from Canada to Germany, in 1896-97, were $757,531. The following year, they rose to $1,045,432. For the year ending June 30 this year, they were $1,837,448, which is more than the total of the two previous years.

McKenzie Bros. are having the premises occupied by John Brass, in Moose Jaw, N.W.T., fitted up, and will shortly put in a full line of groceries.

Wm. Laidlaw, general merchant, Durham, Ont., is about to retire from business. A recent discovery of heart trouble is the cause of his retiring.

Wm. Margach, Crown timber agent at Rat Portage, Ont., states that the population of that town is bound to increase from 6,000 to 10,000 in the next two years.

Honey should be kept in a warm, dry place, says The Canadian Bee Journal. In this way it can be kept, without in any way deteriorating, for months or even years.

Roderick McDonald, general merchant, Louisbourg, N.S., has purchased the business stand that he occupies. It is one of the most valuable properties in that town.

The ruling price for turkeys at the annual turkey fair at Perth, Ont., last week, was from 10 to 11c., but several lots went to 12c., and 30 choice birds were sold at 13c. per lb.

The Victoria Colonist says there are now few vacant stores in that city, and many long-established firms are undertaking improvements in their premises of a substantial character.

Several young men from Truro, N.S., some of whom were formerly employed in The Truro Condensed Milk Co.'s factory, propose to shortly start making condensed milk in Vancouver.

The Vancouver World learns that there is no truth in the report which has lately been current to the effect that Senator Cox and other Eastern capitalists are interested in an offer to buy British Columbian canneries.

FIFTY YEARS IN BUSINESS.

A representative of THE CANADIAN GROCER the other day called on Mr. J. Barclay, who, for the past 50 years, has carried on a successful general store at Oakville, and who is now retiring in favor of his son, R. B. Barclay. Mr. Barclay showed our representative a closely-packed pile of 3 ft. 8 in. of copies of THE CANADIAN GROCER which he has saved for years past. He says many of them contain pointers which were of great value to him in his business.

GROCERS AND POULTRY FOOD.

Anything that tends to increase the production of poultry in Canada should be welcomed by those who handle this staple, because of the benefit likely to result to both the home trade and to the export business.

Robert Greig, 29 Melinda street, Toronto, is agent in Canada for Pratts poultry foods, which it is claimed, will increase the production of eggs at all seasons, and will keep turkeys, geese, ducks, chickens, etc., in robust, healthy condition. From the testimonials that have been received from poultry-raisers and merchants, it would appear that this food is all that is claimed for it. Grocers should encourage the use of a good healthy food like this.

A CHANGE IN TERMS.

The following is a copy of a circular which The E. B. Eddy Co., Limited, of Hull, is sending out to its customers:

Owing to the recent increased and steadily-increasing cost of all materials used in our various lines of goods, and also because we have to pay cash down for our supplies, we find it necessary to change the terms of payment for our goods.

Will you please, therefore, fall in with a uniform cash discount of 2½ per cent. in 10 days, or 2 per cent. in 30 days, except on paper bags and flour sacks, the terms on which are at present as advised by the Paper Bag and Flour Sack Association, 3 per cent. for cash in 30 days.

CANADIAN PRODUCTS WANTED.

Mr. Harrison Watson, curator of the Imperial Institute, London, England, has received the following inquiries for Canadian products:

1. A firm claiming a valuable invention wishes to represent a Canadian manufacturer of rattan cane chairs, and states that there exists a good market for the same.

2. A London importing house would handle large quantities of Canadian hay at London, Liverpool, Glasgow, Manchester, etc., and invites correspondence from exporters.

3. A Yorkshire firm is open to import barrows cut to dimensions for putting together.

4. A wholesale picture frame manufacturer wishes to hear from Canadian exporters of backboards.

5. A London importer asks for names of Canadian fruit pulp packers.

6. A North of England house is prepared to represent a Canadian manufacturer who can supply sashes and doors in large quantities. Applicants kindly state prices f.o.b. Canadian ports, and also c.i.f. leading United Kingdom ports,

ENGLISH MALT VINEGAR.

There is no diminution in the popularity of first-class English malt vinegar in this country. Purnell, Webb & Co., Bristol, Eng., who do a large share of this business, state that their sales of pure malt vinegar to the Dominion this year are far in excess of any previous year's trade. Included in the new business this firm have done are large orders from Hamilton for The Imperial Vinegar Co., Limited, and from Brantford, Ont. Their business in British Columbia has also been much extended. "For a large share of the increase in our Canadian trade," write this firm, "we are indebted to THE CANADIAN GROCER."

Two Wall Paper Beauties

No. 833.

"Malmaison" Empire Pattern

This design is especially commendable for its correctness of style. The decorative theme of this pat tern was executed from a similar design known as a souvenir of Empress Josephine. The brilliancy of its gilding, accuracy of printing and richness of its ground colorings, on fancy embossed paper, render it invaluable for high-class decorations.

No. 798.

"Royal Orleans"

An exquisite heraldic pattern with beautiful shield effect and royal armory—the very thing for parlors and halls. Printed on grounds of crown red, primordial blue, palace blue, maple, and bud-green colorings, in plain and embossed gilts.

A paper that will attract the lover of the beautiful.

LIQUOR AND GROCERIES.

LAST Thursday evening the Montreal retail grocers had a lively meeting to consider the amendments in regard to the license laws which are to be brought up at the next session of the Provincial Legislature.

At the opening of the meeting the secretary read a letter from Mr. V. Rabi, president of the association, tendering his resignation, which was accepted with regret.

Mr. N. Lapointe was then elected president for the balance of the year, and Mr. O. Champagne was elected treasurer in place of Mr. Lapointe.

Among those present at the meeting were: N. Lapointe, John Scanlan, John P. Dixon, E. W. Farrell, P. Laverty, O. Champagne, N. Richard, John Palmer, —. De Repentigny, Thomas Gauthier, P. Daoust, J. O. Levesque, —. Boisvert, Jos. Picard, S. D. Vallieres, N. Morin, F. X. St. Charles and A. D. Fraser.

Several of the members present addressed the meeting, protesting strongly against the separation of the liquor from the grocery business.

Mr. J. P. Dixon said: "I don't believe there is any one of those here to-night who wants his groceries in one store and his liquors in another. If so, it remains for you to say so. Seeing that the hotel and saloonkeepers say we are with them in the matter of amending the license laws, I want this denied. We have kept our business respectable, and no lady or gentleman need be ashamed to go into a grocery store. The grocers of this city number over 1,000, and we don't intend to be dictated to by 400 licensed victuallers."

Several other members present made speeches against the separation of the liquor from the grocery business, which were heartily endorsed by the meeting.

It was decided that the directors of the association should wait upon the Provincial Ministers on their next visit to this city and protest against the proposed amendment to the license laws, in so far as it refers to the separation of the liquor from the grocery business.

Twenty-seven new members were admitted to the association.

LARGE-SIZED CALIFORNIAN PRUNES EASIER.

Regarding the situation in prunes on the Coast, The California Fruit Grower, of December 2 says: "There is a fair movement in progress, several cars going export during the week. Market weak, and prices show slight decline on large sizes outside stock. Sizes 70's to 80's are becoming scarce. Sizes above 80's are hard to secure in quantities. The basis asking price for the large size is 2¾c., but we learn of outside stock being offered as low as 2¼c. basis price. The low-priced stock is fast cleaning up, and within a short time Santa Clara holdings will represent the bulk of the stock on the Coast. Stocks held here are not excessive for the time of year, as it is nine months to new crop, and, with anything like an old-time demand, prunes will clean up. Dealers do not look for much improvement either in demand or prices, before February or March next."

THE MUSK OX.

VERY little is known of the natural history of the musk ox, but it appears to be probable that the cows calve every two years, dropping their young in May and June. Fat cow meat is undoubtedly good food, but the bulls are horribly musky and the calves insipid and tasteless. The robe is warm, but too heavy for most uses, and is never likely to be in very lively demand. A big bull probably weighs at the very least 1,000 lb., for no animal is more solidly put together, but owing to its long coat it appears much larger than it really is. An arrant coward in reality, its aspect is most savage, and against the ravenous wolf of the north, its big sharp horns no doubt form effective weapons, but it fails to recognize man as an enemy, so that the actual shooting of the musk ox is a simple matter—the only reason the inoffensive animal lingers on a stage he once shared with the extinct Irish elk and mammoth is that few men can tear themselves away from the charms of civilization long enough to visit those distant barrens, where alone the quarry may be killed. But the prospector is already penetrating the region northeast of the lobe of the Great Slave, and before long the musk ox will find the bullets flying thick around him, and excepting on the outlying Arctic islands his doom is sealed. Let civiized man once make a lodgment on the barren lands, and the musk ox will disappear as rapidly as did the American bison from the similarly open plains of the great West. Nature is kind when she creates a forest loving animal; cruel when she fashions one that seeks the open country, for the latter has but one protection—solitude. And where will solitude exist in another generation or two?—Canadian Magazine.

On Saturday night last, the Woodside Sugar Refinery, near Dartmouth, N. S., was visited by fire, which took over an hour to control and three hours to put out.

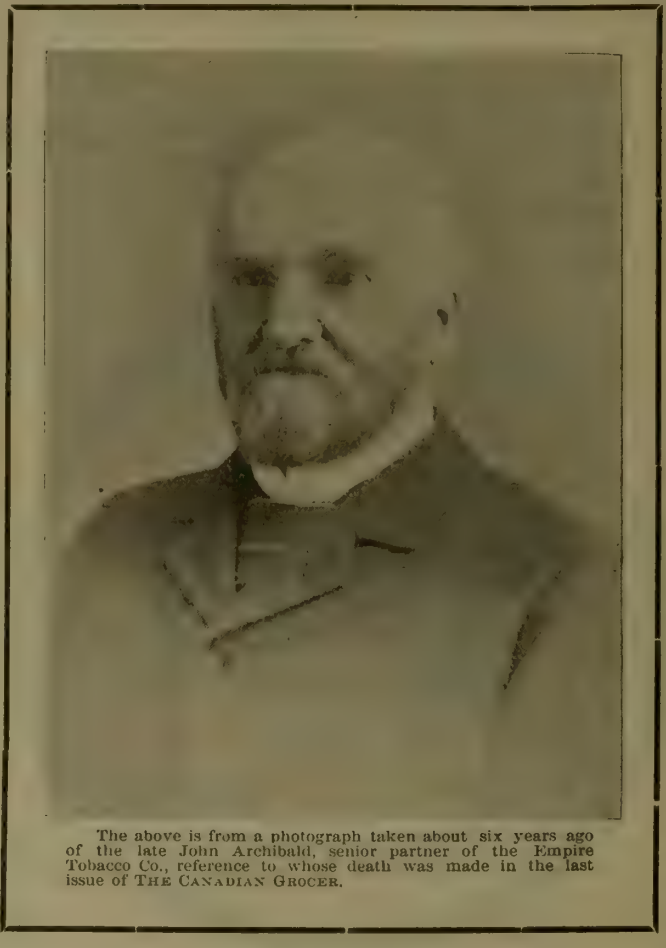
THE STARCH INDUSTRY.



THE EDWARDSBURG STARCH CO. have applied for new letters patent increasing their capital to $500,000. On inquiry at the head office of the company in Montreal, the president, Mr. Benson, stated that this step had been contemplated for some time, and had finally been decided on by the directors at their board meeting early in November. He said that the reports that they had spent over $150,000 on their property since 1897 were true, and that they had decided to expend a further sum of $100,000 during the first half of next year, work having already begun on several of the buildings.

The chief item in the proposed expenditure is the rebuilding of what is known as the "old starch factory," and the renovation of the starch finishing department. This building, it seems, is the only one that survived the fire in 1874, and the management have long realized that the rebuilding of this portion of the plant was fast becoming necessary. While making these extensive repairs, new and improved machinery is being put in, which should considerably decrease the cost of manufacturing, and, in addition thereto, the capacity of the works will be increased to nearly double the present output.

The improvements also extend to the glucose department, which was thoroughly renovated a year or so ago, but the extra demand for this article and the unusual consumption of corn syrup, on account probably of the scarcity and high price of molasses, has made it necessary to increase this department of the business very considerably. This has always been considered by the directors in the past an uuprofitable department of the industry, but, in recent years, they have managed to turn out a very satisfactory article, which has competed successfully with the best American brands, and they are, therefore, determined to keep this branch of the business also up-to-date, even although the margin of profit is small.

When asked as to the truth of the statement made in certain papers that the profits of the starch industry were very large, Mr. Benson stated that, although in the past The Edwardsburg Starch Co. had paid its 10 per cent. dividend, and also laid a certain amount by to rest account, yet, for some years, they had not been able to pay this dividend, and even with all their advantages of excellent water-power, and a connection of 40 years' standing, they had earned during the last few years very little over and above the amount required to pay their reduced dividend of 8 per cent. on a comparatively small capital.

The present call for new capital was, therefore, not because of the prospects of great returns, but rather because the directors realized that, with the present competition from the United States, and the low prices ruling for most of the standard lines, it was necessary to protect their present investment by putting in the most modern plant possible, and putting themselves in a position to supply not only the present, but the probable future requirements of the trade.

The above is from a photograph taken about six years ago of the late John Archibald, senior partner of the Empire Tobacco Co., reference to whose death was made in the last issue of THE CANADIAN GROCER.

Mr. Benson admitted that the Edwardburg Company had not been able to fill their orders this fall, but stated that this was chiefly due to the fact that they had entered into a very brisk fall trade with practically no stock on hand, on account of the works having been closed periodically during a portion of the previous six months, owing to the Government work on the new canal, and consequent delays and necessary alterations to the company's water-wheels, etc. If they had been able to run full-time during the earlier part of the year, even with their present plant, he stated this would not have occurred, so that, with the proposed new water-wheels and increased capacity, they expected to be able not only to fill promptly all orders intrusted to them, whether in starch, glucose, or syrup, but also to have a considerable reserve left for contingencies.

WHISKY AND BETTER JUDGES.

A story runs thus: Pat and Sandy were brought into a friend's cellar to taste some of his liquors. Sandy was given a glass of his friend's best, and after smacking his lips a few times pronounced it first class, only that he detected iron in the whisky. The host laughed at the idea and filling up another glass handed it to Pat, who drank it with considerable relish. With the empty glass poised between his thumb and finger and his lips and tongue working alternately, Pat's verdict of the liquor was that it was "elligent" but that he not only tasted iron but leather as well. To prove that both Pat and Sandy had defective tastes the host decided to draw off the liquor from the hogshead, and when the large casket was empty, Sandy was told to examine the interior. After a short search he discovered a tack, and came forth from the puncheon in great glee. He had proven that he was right. Pat then got inside to hunt for leather and when he came out he had the small piece of leather off the head of the tack in his hand. The mystery was solved, both were good judges of whisky after that. For perfect tasting qualities, Pat has held the record for years, but now he has a rival in the person of a lady lecturer who travels in connection with the Farmers' Institute. This lady at a recent meeting said that when judging butter in a western city she detected a smoky flavor, and on examination it was learned that while the cows, from whose milk the butter was made, were being milked, a smudge was lighted to drive off the flies and mosquitoes. In this the milk absorbed enough of the oil of smoke to taste the butter.

FREEZING FISH.

SOME people think that fish are just rammed into a barrel with ice, and that is all there is about it. This is a popular error. Fish freezing is a big undertaking and a scientific process. The Gansevoort Cold Storage Co. has brought fish freezing to perfection, and has it down to a nicety. With its sharp fish freezers the temperature of the room can be run down to as low as 16 to 20 degrees below zero, handling at a single freezing 16,000 to 20,000 lb. of fish, which can be frozen as hard as a rock and as rigid as a bar of steel in 8 to 16 hours' time. The fish are disembowled, cleaned, scaled and then frozen in pans inside of an arctic oven after this manner: Upon their arrival at the storage-room, the fish are dumped into a large galvanized iron washing tank, where each fish is handled separately and carefully washed. Thence they go on to the packing tables, where the water drains away from them. Then they are carefully panned; that is, they are carefully packed in galvanized iron pans, which have a uniform size of 16 x 28 x 3 in., each pan taking, for instance, eight small bluefish. After being panned the pans go direct to the ovens or sharp freezers, where they sit on the coil pipes, which act as shelves, until they are frozen. The pans are then taken from these arctic ovens, frozen into cakes, and passed quickly through a bath of very cold water, which give them a fine glaze or jelly-coated glace appearance. These cakes are then stacked away in boxes of uniform size. The boxes are so marked as to show the size, weights and kind of their contents. These cases, so marked, are stacked in the ordinary freezing-room, subject to the order of their owner. The process is finished. Marketing is next.

The arctic ovens or sharp freezers in which the pans of fish are placed are novelties in their way. These particular ones are made of three inches of nonpareil slab cork, the best product of The Nonpareil Cork Co., of Bridgeport, Conn., which also furnished the covering of every brine, steam, and other pipe used throughout these entire premises. The ovens are sheathed on the outside with galvanized iron for obvious reasons. So perfectly constructed are they and so well insulated that one leaning against the iron and wood-cased doors would have no suspicion of the polar weather within. Inside, the pans are as dry as possible. The coils within extend from the door to the wall in parallel horizontal shelves. So close are the coil pipes to each other and so evenly bent that they form the shelves previously mentioned on which the pans sit.

Everything in the whole place is lined with galvanized iron, and so scrupulously clean is every part that not the least hint of the presence of a fish or other matter is suspected. The fish storage room was an odd-looking international exhibition of frozen fish of many species. There were flounders from the East, bluefish from Galilee, sturgeon from Oregon and the Delaware, salmon from Alaska and Columbia; whitefish from the lakes, herring from Gloucester, pickled fish from Scotland, Holland, and Denmark, and sundry tribes of pisces from various quarters. The stacks of cakes and boxes seem to be a sort of frozen fish rendezvous for the four corners of the earth.—National Provisioner.

A GOOD PACKAGE TEA TRADE.

"Busy?" said Mr. Larkin, of The "Salada" Tea Co. "Well, I should think so. We started out on Monday morning last with about 9,000 lb. of orders, and on this afternoon (Wednesday), although constantly shipping, we had 19,000 lb. of orders on hand. Business is brightening up all over Canada, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and we are particularly busy now in the city of Toronto; in fact, we have never seen so much business coming from the city. Besides this, we note that even a better class of tea is going out. We are selling more of our "Gold Label" (60c. tea) than we ever were, showing that times are good, and it is having it's effect on people's taste.

"In our United States business, we had the best showing we ever had last week, in Buffalo, and good weeks in all our other branches, at Boston, Pittsburg and Detroit. We have just received a letter from Buffalo this morning that they are sure of a better week than they had even last week.

"As to Ceylon greens; well, if we had 20,000 lb. on hand now we could get them out at once, but, unfortunately, we cannot do so, because these teas are being prepared specially for us in Ceylon, and we have not been able to keep up with our orders."

MANITOBA'S DAIRIES.

Manitoba is steadily progressing in the matter of dairy products. The number of creameries in the Prairie Province in 1897 was 16, last year there were 19, and during the present year there were 20. The total amount of butter produced this year was 501,000 lb. valued at $105,000 against 484,000 lb. last year valued at $93,000 and 473,000 lb. in 1897 valued at $85,204. The quality of the butter was generally fine and well suited to the local markets in the West. Considerable quantities were shipped to British Columbia.

Benson's Prepared Corn

There is no adulteration in Benson's Prepared Corn—there is no need to adulterate because it has sold entirely on its merits as an absolutely pure Prepared Corn for over forty years. The delicacy of its flavor is almost proverbial.

Comparisons are made with Benson's Prepared Corn as the standard—you hear this everywhere—"It's just as good as Benson's." You know what "just as good" means—an endeavor to sell an inferior article for a lower price. Benson's Prepared Corn is the standard—forty years have proved it so beyond a question.

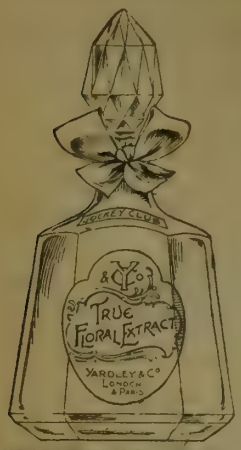
TEA IS REALLY SPOILED



if not handled according to modern methods; you will say you make larger profits in doing your trade in the old way; you think you do only.

You spoil your chances for getting enlarged trade by not serving them as well as you should, and if the "other fellow" is serving them better than you are, is it not natural that he will finally get the trade?

Tender Macaroni

"A thread-bare story" someone says. Perhaps so, but it will bear repeating. P. Codu makes his Macaroni from the only wheat that Macaroni ought to be made of—Russian Wheat.

This wheat gives a delicacy and whiteness to the Macaroni that can be obtained in no other way. Folks try to imitate it, but consumers don't see it in that light. We ought to know—we have had the experience.

Sold by leading wholesalers everywhere.

SOME IDEAS AND IMPRESSIONS.

AMONG the things for which I particularly kept my eyes open when in New York was window displays. And I must confess, paradoxical as it seems, that I was both satisfied and dissatisfied. I was dissatisfied as far as the grocery and hardware window displays were concerned, and satisfied with the displays I saw in other branches of trade.

I could not, of course, in a couple of weeks see every store, or even every street, for that matter. But I did a great deal of traveling and a great deal of watching. And if I should have formed a wrong impression in certain particulars I cannot feel that I am to blame.

Judging from what I saw in New York, I do not hesitate to say that the window displays of the retail grocery and hardware stores there are not equal, as a rule, to those in Toronto, Montreal and other Canadian cities that might be mentioned. In the first place, there does not appear to be the same scope for display, so many of the windows being very shallow. This shallowness necessitated the placing of the goods displayed within a few inches of the window pane, which, of course, destroyed the perspective, and, where there is no perspective, it is difficult indeed to make a good display, particularly in such lines as groceries.

But, in window displays of dry goods! There is where New York does excel. Nearly all the art of window dressing seems to have centred in that branch of trade. The retail dry goods merchants and dealers in men's furnishings make displays which are nearly always striking and often unique. I wish I were an artist, that I could reproduce some of these displays, yes, or even a camera fiend, for certain of the displays might be turned to effect by branches of trade other than dry goods or men's furnishings. But, being neither artist nor camera fiend, I can only attempt to describe some of the displays.

There was one store in Broadway which every few days had a window display which invariably brought a number of the hurrying and bustling crowd to a standstill. The window was small and the store rather dark. But there were some people in the store who had bright ideas in regard to window dressing. On the morning after the election passers-by saw in the window the wax figure of a man trundling along in a wheelbarrow two men, all three men being fitted out in suits of clothing as sold by the firm, while a neat and attractive card in the window bore the following :

> PAYING HIS ELECTION BET.
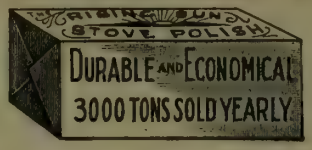
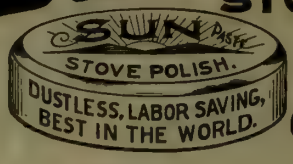
> We have won our election bet, and have wheeled here to get a $13.50 suit and overcoat on measure.

Appearing the day after election it was doubly effective.



On several occasions, when passing a certain store on the corner of Broadway and another street, which made a specialty of macintoshes, I noticed a figure in the window enveloped in a lady's macintosh with hood. One night I was curious enough to stop to examine it. The figure was standing on a box, which was in turn placed in the centre of a pond of water four or five feet square, while from a pipe which had been run along the ceiling overhead there came a continuous stream of water which fell upon the head of the figure. By-and-bye my eyes wandered to the face of the figure. The face looked particularly life-like, and I kept gazing upon it. Suddenly, to my astonishment, the eyes moved. Then I realized that I was gazing into the face of a woman, and not a bad-looking woman either. I could not suppress a smile. Neither could the woman.



While dealing with this display I am reminded of another in which a woman was much in evidence. A certain store desired to impress upon the public the utility of a certain shoe-buttoning device. Day after day, therefore, might be seen seated in the window of this store, close to the glass, a comely-looking woman with one neat foot and well-chiseled ankle, as the novelists say, incased in a boot fitted up with this particular fastening device, which she at intervals mechanically fastened and unfastened. Of, course, the display drew.

Another display in which figures were brought into play was that of a highway robbery scene. Two footpads, armed with murderous-looking knives and ancient-looking pistols, were "holding up" a well-dressed man. One robber held a brace of pistols at the man's head while the other, from the rear, was pulling paper money out of his pockets. Standing at the feet of the three men was a placard on which was printed in good-sized letters the following :

> WHEN A MAN IS HELD UP.
> It's his own misfortune rather than his fault. But, when a man pays exhorbitant prices for his clothes it is not only his misfortune but his own fault as well.

Of course, all the effective window displays were not confined to those who called in the aid of figures. I have one such in mind at the moment. It was a window—or rather two windows in one store—which was cased in natural wood, and at night illuminated by electricity. The frontage of each window was possibly ten feet, but, in depth, the window was only about two feet. And, although I saw two or three different displays in each window, each display in each window was invariably limited to one line of goods and very few articles of that one line. But, in the smallness of the number of articles displayed, together with taste in arrangement, was the secret of its striking character. I noticed that there was always a strong contrast of colors in the displays. For instance, one display consisted of three suits of clothes for four or five-year-old boys : The centre one of these was a bright red, while that on either side of it was dark. At night, under the electric light, the effect was decidedly striking.

TO MEND RUBBER SHOES.

Rub the patch to be applied and the overshoe very thoroughly with sharp sandpaper, then smear both with rubber cement five times, letting them dry each time. Smear both the sixth time, and, before they dry, apply the patch, using prolonged pressure, if possible. If rubber cement is not obtainable, dissolve small pieces of pure rubber (not that which is vulcanized) in warm spirits of turpentine until it is of the consistency of syrup.

CANADIAN PRODUCTS WANTED.

THE following were among the inquiries relating to Canadian trade received at the Canadian Government office in London during the week ending December 8.

1. Inquiry is made for the names of a few large Canadian provision firms who are doing a direct trade with the Cape.

2. A firm of produce importers are desirous of being placed in communication with a few reliable shippers of Canadian produce who may wish to open up a fresh connection in the east of Scotland.

3. The name of a firm who would take up, or assist in the development of the sale in Canada of steel rope suspension bridges (50 to 300 ft. span) is desired by the manufacturer.

4. As the result of the interest shown by the English press in the experimental shipments of grapes from Canada, a firm of general commission agents in Bristol ask to be placed in communication with interested parties for whom they could act in that city.

5. Inquiry has been received for the names of Canadian butter producers anxious to place their goods on the British market.

The names of the firms desiring the above information can be forwarded by THE CANADIAN GROCER.

GETTING RID OF MICE.

An English horticulturist has discovered a new way of getting rid of mice, which is exceedingly simple. It is based on the intense aversion which rats and mice have to the odor of mint. All one has to do is to lightly sprinkle with the extract of mint, a powerful odor, the place where the traces are found of mice. Then one should see them scatter ! No mouse will ever frequent a place impregnated with the scent of mint.

ORIGIN OF "WATERING STOCK."

Henry Clews asserts that Daniel Drew invented the significant term "watering stock." Before coming to the Street to make and lose $13,000,000, Uncle Daniel had been a drover, and fed his cattle an unusual amount of salt in order to create in them an abnormal thirst that would cause them to drink great quantities of water, thus making them appear bigger and fatter when taken to market. After "watering stock" in this way, it was natural that he would make use of a trick or two of his own in disposing of stock of a different kind in Wall street.

ADOPTING THE CASH BASIS.

James Edgcumbe, a Peterboro', Ont., grocer, has decided to adopt the cash system, and announces it in the following manner :

> I wish to announce that after January 1, I will conduct my business on a cash basis. This is generally admitted to be the only satisfactory method for both customer and dealer. My books will be closed at the end of the year, and I request that all accounts be paid by February 1, next. Under the new system I feel I can give better satisfaction than ever, and, as quality with me has always been of the first importance, none but the best goods will be sold.

WHICH MOVED?

A sign in a vacant store of Whittenton announces that "this store has moved," but, inasmuch as the sign has been in the window for about six months and the store is in the same position, it is fair to presume that goods which were contained in the store are the things that "have moved."—Taunton Gazette.

SALMON FLEET OF 1899.

The balance of the salmon fleet loading at British Columbian ports are now about ready for sea. The Killarney, which will soon hoist her white wings on the long voyage to Liverpool, took cargo both at the outer wharf and on the Fraser river. She carries 57,000 cases of salmon and 300 barrels of oil. The ship County of Cardigan is fully laden and ready for sea also. The ship Cariolanus, which loaded altogether at the outer wharf, and is now ready for sea, has in her hold 38,475 cases of salmon, valued at $207,000. Her destination is London. The ship Senator, the last of the fleet, is about half loaded.

GROWTH AND USE OF TEA.

ALTHOUGH the tea plant is indigenous to Assam, and the Chinese plant is a debased variety, it was unknown in India till 1834, says an exchange. In the previous year The East India Company had lost its monopoly of the China tea trade, and the directors set to work to secure for their own territories a portion of what had become to them a very material business. Seeds and plants of the debased Chinese variety were imported, and with them Chinamen and Chinese methods. The following 50 years were employed in getting away from Chinese methods, of which the outcome is the excellent Indian methods of to-day, which have practically destroyed the export of the Chinese production.

Following the success in Assam, tea was planted in Bengal and other provinces, until, in 1897, the area of cultivation was equal to 200,000 hectares. Outside of India, China and Japan, the greatest development has been in Ceylon and Java. The principal tea-drinking countries of the world are China, Japan, the United Kingdom, the British colonies, Russia and the United States of America. Excluding Mongolian requirements, the world's consumption may be taken roughly at 230,000,000 kilograms per annum, which, including cost of transportation, but not revenue and distributive profits, may be valued at £17,000,000. It is estimated that this quantity is sufficient to make 100,000,000,000 cups of tea.

The United Kingdom takes the largest quantity, the imports for 1898 being 107,000,000 kilograms, or 2.65 kilograms per annum per head of population—a good deal less than the quantity consumed by the Australasian colonies. Next to Great Britain comes Russia, as a consumer of 42,000,000 kilograms, or 0 34 kilogram per head of population. The United States takes 31,000,000 kilograms, or 0 41 kilogram per head; but then the people of the States consume 5 kilograms of coffee per head. Canada consumes 3 kilograms per head and Holland ¼ kilogram.

ADVICE TO YOUNG MEN.

"Never affect to be other than what you are, either richer or wiser. Never be ashamed to say, 'I do not know.' Never be ashamed to say, whether applied to time or money, 'I cannot afford it; I can not afford to waste an hour in the idleness to which you invite me. I cannot afford the guinea you ask me to throw away.'"—Bulwer Lytton.

CHOCOLATE FOR BRITISH WARRIORS.

WE learn that the first consignment of the chocolate which was ordered by Her Majesty for the troops in South Africa is to be made to-day (Saturday). Messrs. Cadbury, of Birmingham, are supplying 40,000 boxes; Messrs. Fry, of Bristol, 30,000 boxes, and also Messrs. Rowntree, of York, another 40,000 boxes, this firm having received an order for an additional 10,000 boxes on that originally required, and the whole consignment will leave the works on Monday, ready to be shipped by the Union Company's steamer Gaika on December 23. The company are taking out the consignment free of charge. As previously stated in these columns, the tin boxes containing the chocolate bear on the lids, "V.R.I., South Africa, 1900," and underneath, "I Wish You a Happy New Year. Victoria, R.I." The chocolate is of precisely the same make as that which was supplied to Dr. Nansen for his Arctic expedition. The greatest care has been taken that none of the boxes should find their way into the hands of the public, and the dies have been destroyed. —Grocers' Journal, December 16.

A SPECIES OF BLACKMAIL.

We have frequently referred to the tremendous pressure brought to bear upon retail grocers to donate goods of every description for church or charity fairs, held in their respective towns and cities. Not only that, but they must advertise in programmes, fair papers, etc. In many places the dealers have combined together to resist this importunity, which is a very mild term to use—blackmailing would be a more appropriate word. It is well to bear in mind, also, that wholesalers and manufacturers are deluged with similar requests. We know that Boston merchants have been besieged in this way this fall as never before: in one week one manufacturer received a dozen requests. We believe with the St. Paul Trade Journal, that "these demands have grown to such an extent that the evil will, doubtless, work its own remedy by placing it beyond the financial ability of even the most prosperous jobber to favorably respond to all, and lead to establishing a rule which will have few exceptions."—New England Grocer.

Churches should be supported, but they should be supported legitimately, not illegitimately. This programme advertising is illegitimate. And it is doubly so, because it is advertise or blackmail. The church people do not call it blackmail; but it is blackmail, call by whatever name you like the practice too often followed by those calling on merchants for their advertisements of threatening to deal elsewhere unless space is taken in the programme. But, even if there is not the open threat, the merchant knows, from the fact that those deputed to canvass him are often his own customers, what he may expect in the event of noncompliance.

The churches are not, however, the only sinners in this respect. Fall fair organizations and secret societies are equally guilty of the unpardonable sin.

But is not the remedy, after all, in the hands of the business men themselves?

(Husband returns home very late, intoxicated.)

HINTS TO BUYERS.

Contributors are requested to send news only, not puffs of goods they handle, or the arrival of standard goods that everyone has in stock, or that they are offering goods at close figures, or that they have had an unusually large sale this season.

A. N. WHITMAN & SON, of Montreal, report an increasing demand for their smoked fish.

S. H. Ewing & Sons have some exceptionally good Rio coffees, well aged, on hand.

Lucas, Steele & Bristol are offering "Carabus" in ½-lb. tins. Most attractive goods.

Rutherford, Marshall & Co. have a limited quantity of clover extracted honey put up in 10, 30 and 60 lb. tins. Those requiring honey should write the firm.

New arrivals of butter-scotch and English rock candy are to hand with Lucas, Steele & Bristol.

The "Salada" Tea Company state that having had another shipment of green Ceylons to hand they have again been able to fill some of their back orders. "There is no doubt about the public appreciation of these green Ceylon teas," remarked a member of the firm, "Ceylon black tea was never received with half the favor in its early stages that Ceylon green tea has been in Canada and the United States. The only difficulty has been to get enough of the tea to supply orders."

PRICE-CUTTING.

A Morrisville, Vt., grocer writes The New England Grocer as follows: "Suppose some new industry started up in a town, and the promoters advertised for help at $1.50 per day, and I, being out of a job, offer them my services at $1 per day, would I not be called a fool? And yet, that is what the price-cutter is doing. No doubt his reasons for cutting prices are that he will get more trade, but what a mistake! Times are different now than 20 years ago; people are more wide-awake, more suspicious, and they have a right to be; they are afraid there is something wrong about the goods, and oftentimes they are right. I know of two grocers in the same town who buy the same brand of kerosene oil from the same jobber—one sells at 13c. and the other at 15c.—and I know for a fact that people are very suspicious of the 13c. oil, and the fact is the grocer that is charging 15c. is selling nearly double the oil that the other is. This applies to all other goods as well; people are afraid of cheap groceries, particularly the better class of trade; they don't want the name of eating cheap groceries. Furthermore, how unbusinesslike to cut down a little less than your neighbor! It has a sort of a cowardly, unmanly look. The fact is it don't take a very smart man to give away his goods. On the other hand, I consider it does take a smart, shrewd, careful business man to sell lots of goods and get good prices."

TONS OF TURKEY FROM CANADA.

We are a pretty good poultry customer for Canada. We received from there over 53,000 lb. of turkeys for Thanksgiving, and 20,684 lb. in 1898. This was live poultry, on which 3c. per lb. duty was paid to get them in. The duty at Buffalo amounted to $1,100 for Uncle Sam. When people quit guessiug weight, and a Government scale is set up at Ferry street, our tariff receipts on live poultry may increase. —National Provisioner, New York.

CHRISTMAS POULTRY TRADE.

THE Christmas poultry trade in Toronto this year was unsatisfactory. The mild weather on Friday and Saturday and the great rush of all poultry, especially turkeys, to market on these days, knocked the bottom out of the business to such an extent that a fairly good market was converted into a very bad one.

Turkeys, which earlier in the week had ruled steady at 8½ to 9½c., and in some cases sold for 10c., fell until as low as 7c. was accepted for good stock, while at no time during Friday and Saturday did the range rise above 7½ to 8½c., and even at these prices the large receipts did not find their way to buyers' hands. Nearly every commission house had, early this week, a good deal of surplus stock left on its hands. As Saturday was mild, and Sunday was expected to be soft, it was necessary to put this stuff in cold storage, which is likely to impair the color and thus decrease the selling value of the birds.

The market is still unsettled and unsatisfactory, few buyers doing business, though prices are still at 7½ to 8½c. per lb.

The receipts of geese during the last day or two before Christmas were comparatively moderate, and, though business was listless, prices were well maintained at 6 to 6½c., which figure is still ruling.

Chickens and ducks were in greater supply than demand, and, while the quality offering was fully up to what was offered earlier in the week, the price of chickens was reduced 5 to 10c. per pair, and that of ducks 10 to 15c. per pair. The range thus created for chickens, 40 to 60c., and that for ducks, 25 to 40c., still holds good, though little business is being done.

MR. WM. McNALLY FOR MAYOR.

The business men of Montreal have concluded that it is time that the mercantile community of that city was represented in the chief magistrate's chair.

Accordingly, as it is the turn of an Irishman for the honor, a large deputation waited on Mr. Wm. McNally, of Wm. McNally & Co., and urged that he stand for the mayoralty.

Mr. McNally is at present considering the matter, and if he accepts will certainly make a first-class chief magistrate. He is one of the leading Irishman of Montreal, one of its most successful merchants, and that the business vote will plump solid for him if he consents to stand for election is a foregone conclusion.

THE SOUR-FACED MERCHANT.

A sour face may be compatible in a vinegar factory, but in a store nothing scarcely can be more incompatible, for in the store it will drive more customers away in a day than even high prices will in a week.

NEW TURKISH PRUNES.

Shipments of new season's Turkish prunes will be in stock before the close of the week.

In price they are about 50 per cent. above the figures which ruled about this time a year ago. But in spite of the high price they have been somewhat eagerly looked for, although the Californian prunes, on account of their lower cost, will supply the bulk of the demand this season.

COMPETITION OF AUSTRALIAN BUTTER.

AS Canadian butter dominated the British market during the past summer, so does the produce sent by our Australian cousins control the market in England at present.

Up to the end of the first week of December arrivals of Australian butter in England amounted to 247,000 cwt., against 142,600 for the same period in 1898, an increase of 94,400 cwt. Despite these heavy arrivals, however, it is satisfactory to note, that there has been no great accumulation as yet, the Australasian holders accepting what the market offered, and so have got the trade from the higher-priced continental stuff.

Recent advances, however, tend to show that, despite the heavy consumptive movement, imports are beginning to overlap the demand, and this fact becomes of interest to the Canadian trade, as our butter for the first time since the end of October has begun to show in the English market. Unless crisp, cold weather, therefore, sets in in Britain, the increasing supplies of Australian will almost inevitably lead to a collapse in prices. On the other hand, advices of December 16, from Manchester, are reasonably buoyant. They intimate that the severe winter weather, coming much earlier than usual, should stimulate the butter market. The official rate is, however, unaltered, and it is likely the markets will tide over Christmas without change. Australasian and Canadian butters are finding their way much more freely of late to this centre in competition with Danish and Swedish, and the best goods show excellent quality. Last week's advance of two kroner was readily responded to in Manchester, and the market was well cleared. Small parcels of fresh-made Irish firkin butter continue to arrive and find a ready market. Irish creameries are scarce. Only a few steam dairies will continue working through the winter. Finnish, Russian, and Friesland come in for a good second quality, and find buyers amongst those who prefer them to mixtures. It is not expected that the new food and drugs Act, coming into operation on January 1, will lessen the sale of margarine, as no good butter can be produced to compete with margarine at the price at which it is sold.

THE OUTLOOK FOR A HAPPY NEW YEAR.

THE CANADIAN GROCER hopes that its readers will have a happy and prosperous New Year.

One cannot hope for a thing unless there is some expectation that the wish which is back of the hope has some chance of being gratified. THE CANADIAN GROCER has some reason for the hope that it has expressed.

The year 1899, which is just about joining the years that have gone before, has been a remarkable one commercially.

No preceding year has been its peer in business activity.

Commercially, Canada has made a stride which has brought her into a prominence among the nations exceeding that which was conceived of when the year that is now dying made its advent.

There has, indeed, been a "growing time" during 1899, both for the nation and for its business men.

We cannot, of course, yet give the figures for the foreign trade of the Dominion for the 12 calendar months of the year, but we can for 11 months, and, compared with the corresponding 11 months of 1898, they are as follows :

	11 months, 1899.	11 months, 1898.
Imports	$152,033,669	$135,600,058
Exports	144,297,565	139,562,340
Totals	$296,331,234	$275,162,398

Here is an increase of $21,168,836, or 7.63 per cent. compared with the corresponding 11 months of 1898.

Turning to the railway earnings of the Canadian companies for the 11 months, we find the same satisfactory condition of affairs, the gross earnings of the Canadian Pacific railway for that period being $26,223,415, against $23,467,859 in 1898, and of the Grand Trunk $23,914,359, against $21,945,100. This is an increase of 13 per cent. in the earnings of the Canadian Pacific, and of 9½ per cent. in those of the Grand Trunk.

Then, there are the bank clearings. They show a decided increase. The same is to be said of the bank-note circulation, while in the list of failures there is a gratifying decrease.

It is evident, therefore, that the past year has been a most prosperous one for the country, and consequently a happy one.

As the outlook is promising for a continuance of the favorable conditions, THE CANADIAN GROCER has every reason to hope that 1900 will be a prosperous and happy one for the business men of Canada.

ADVANCE IN SCREEN DOORS AND WINDOWS.

The manufacturers of screen doors and windows in Canada have jointly agreed upon an advance in prices. This was decided upon on December 21.

The increased cost of lumber and screen wire cloth is the direct cause of the advance.

THE CANADIAN GROCER has been given to understand that the manufacturers have decided to purchase their screen wire cloth from the Canadian manufacturer. If this is so, the latter, together with the demands that will be made from other sources, will obviously be kept pretty busy.

THE EXPORT APPLE TRADE.

THAT the export apple trade of Ontario has been more than unsatisfactory this year is now generally admitted. Inquiry from many shippers has brought out the fact that more of them have sustained loss than have made profit.

Three reasons are assigned for this. The first is that too high a price was paid at the orchards ; the second, that apples were sent which should not have been; and the third, that the facilities for shipment are poor, causing loss as well as inconvenience.

In order that next season shall be more favorable than the past, these hindrances should be removed as much as possible before the opening of next year's business. The first of them lies entirely with the exporters. If they pay too much for their apples next season they will deserve to lose,

But Government assistance should be given to remove the last two hindrances to the apple trade.

While, as a matter of individual safety, apple packers should exercise the greatest care in apples intended for export, the experience of the past few years teaches that Government regulation is necessary that the apple industry shall not be destroyed by dishonest or incompetent packers.

The Government has done much in the way of improving shipping facilities, but more is needed before apple packers can get the best returns for their shipments. By the present arrangement, a shipper is not guaranteed shipment on any particular boat. Instead, his bill of lading reads via some steamer on one line, or, possibly on two lines, with the result that apples shipped from Western Ontario may have to wait a week or more for shipment. This condition of affairs should not be, and it is the Government's duty to make such an arrangement that it shall not be a hindrance to next season's business.

NET PRICES FOR SUGAR.

The Sugar Trust and some of the independent refiners in the United States have decided to adopt the net plan for selling sugars. The new plan goes into force January 1.

On and after January 1 the price for New England and the States of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Deleware will be on the basis of 4.94c. per lb. for granulatad, less 1 per cent. for cash, with a rebate of ½c. payable in 60 days. For all other parts of the United States the basis is 4.81c., less 1 per cent. for cash, with no rebates.

Willett & Gray's Sugar Trade Journal is of opinion that the competition among the refiners may now be expected to be cleaner cut and more keen than formerly.

ADVANCE IN TWINES.

Manufacturers of twine and hemp cordage in Canada have advanced their prices. The lines affected are wrapping twines; cotton, sisal and hemp bed cords ; cotton, sisal and hemp plough lines, cotton rope and hemp rope.

Every man has planted within him the seeds of success, but, unless he cultivates them, they will not grow and multiply.

SHARP ADVANCE IN DATES.

The market for dates is decidedly strong. Advices to hand this week from London, England, report an advance of no less than 3s. per cwt.

There has been no change on the local market, where dates are in fair supply.

TRADE IN OTHER COUNTRIES THAN OUR OWN.

A TELEGRAM from what is considered a reliable Fresno source states that but 50 cars of standard raisins remain there and that these are practically sold. The stock of Pacifics is placed at 100 cars and the Orientals, which are characterized as "poor stuff," at 200 cars.

COCOA IN LONDON.

The market is firm, but business is still small at full rates. There were no public auctions held on Tuesday, and the market privately is quiet, with only small transactions at unaltered prices. The deliveries in London last week show a comparative increase of 589 bags, whilst the landings have fallen off to the extent of 1,969 bags, as compared with the corresponding week last year. The stock, which is again materially reduced by 3,194 bags for the week, shows the increased relative deficiency of 14,520 bags.—Grocers' Journal, December 16.

THE PACK OF DRIED PEACHES.

The pack of dried peaches on the Coast, as estimated by The San Francisco Trade Journal, was 28,300,000 lb., against 10,960,000 lb. last year, and 27,150,000 in 1897. The apricot crop is placed at 7,000,000 lb., compared with 8,240,000 lb. in 1898 and 30,125,000 lb. in 1897.

SHIPMENTS OF CURRANTS.

The shipments of currants from Greece to all parts for the season to December 1 were 84,402 tons, against 97,354 tons last year to the same date. England took 50,575 tons, or 4,700 tons less than last year, while the shipments to the United States and Canada were 900 tons larger than a year ago, being 13,940. The greatest falling off proportionately is found in the exports to the continent. Last year, to December 1, they amounted to 26,037 tons, while this year they were but 16,030.

THE OUTLOOK FOR CURRANTS.

Business in currants for home consumption, although small, is fairly general, leading to the conclusion that grocers hold very small stocks of the article. In spite of the dragging and dispiriting character of the season, holders generally are firm, and await with confidence a good spring trade to relieve them of their stocks, without, to say the least, any important diminution in values. In Provincial fruit there have been further speculative transactions of more or less importance, but these have, so far, had no hardening effect on prices, which have rather declined than advanced during the past week. As far as the London trade is concerned, this effect may be traced to a persistent hammering of the market, which seems to take place in some quarters whenever the trade has bought freely and supplied its requirements a little in advance. The object of such a policy is a little difficult to understand, but its effect can only be in the direction of destroying confidence, and must be in every way prejudicial to the development of the trade. With regard to the Greek market, any forecast of future prospects must necessarily be of a very vague character, prices being influenced much more by considerations quite extraneous to the ordinary laws of supply and demand, and dependent almost entirely on financial conditions. With the prospect of very dear money for a long time to come, it would appear that the statistical position, although of unusual strength, would be unable to effect any important rise in the price of Provincial currants. — Produce Markets' Review, London.

PACK OF CALIFORNIAN TABLE FRUIT.

The San Francisco Trade Journal estimates the total pack of Californian table fruits for the season of 1899 at 2,410,428 cases, against 1,753,280 cases last year. The greatest increase is in apricots, the pack of which is given as 674,374 cases in 1899 and 317,408 cases in 1898. The pack of Bartlett pears was 498,363 cases, or 168,639 cases more than last season. The increase in the peach pack amounts to 76,779 cases, the total for 1899 being given as 815,573. The cherry pack was 41,450 cases of black and 148,911 cases of white, compared with 32,331 cases of the former and 110,170 cases of the latter last year.

STRONG SALMON SITUATION.

Regarding the salmon situation, The San Francisco Trade Journal, of December 15, says: "It is no longer doubted that prices for Alaska salmon will rule much higher, owing to the supply being very low. The Government's takings are quite a factor. It is reported, and on good authority, that a contract sale has been made by an outside Alaska canner at 95c. for reds in talls. This is higher than some of the outsiders opened at the last season, but they soon advanced prices. We are informed that one of the Sacramento river companies has sold all its spring, next season's, pack at prices to be regulated by the Columbia river opening for chinooks. It is stated that several contracts have been made on the Columbia river for next season's chinooks at prices to be named hereafter. As far as present indications point, it looks as if there will be stronger competition in buying on the Columbia next year than there was this year."

CANNED SALMON IN LONDON.

With so many various interests attracting the attention of buyers, it is not at all surprising to find a slight falling off in many articles of this department. At the same time, owing no doubt to forward salmon being offered at lower prices than now ruling, many grocers are being induced to fill their future requirements much earlier than usual, and the position in this direction is stronger than has been the case for some time past. There is only a normal demand for these goods on the spot, but, in the face of this, some merchants have advanced their quotations for the lower grades 3d. per case, feeling assured there will not be more than sufficient to carry the trade over until the new pack arrives.—Produce Market's Review, December 16.

CANNED GOODS NOW AND A YEAR AGO.

The Trade, Baltimore, Md.,: "A comparison of quotations at the present time with those of the same week a year ago on some of the leading articles of staple canned goods makes interesting and instructing matter. At this time last year corn was quoted at 57½ to 60c. for Maryland standard cash. This year, the quotations on the same basis are 67½ to 70c., a distinct difference of 10c. per dozen in favor of this year's prices. Dry packed corn last year was quoted at 62½ to 70c. on December 23 in this market, and this year the quotations are 75 to 80c.

"In tomatoes the difference is not so marked; in fact, tomatoes are very nearly the price they were just previous to Christmas last year. No. 2 tomatoes standard were then quoted at 52½ to 55c.; the quotations for them at present are 52½ to 57½c. One year ago standards were quoted at 65 to 70c.; this year they are 65 to 67½c.

"Peas show an extraordinary difference in the values of the two periods. In the corresponding week last year the quotations for early June standards were 65 to 75c. regular; the same peas are held to-day at $1.10 to $1.20. Last year the quotations for sifted were 75 to 95c.; this year they are $1.25 to $1.30. Extra sifted were quoted at 95c. to $1.10 in 1898; this year they are held $1.50 to $1.60; extra fine sifted petit pois, which last year at this time were offering at $1.20 to $1.30, are quoted this week at $1.75 to $1.80. One year ago white marrows were offered at 70 to 72½c., and now at $1.10."

ONTARIO MARKETS.

December 28, 1899.

GROCERIES.

BEING the Christmas week there is naturally but very little business being done; in fact, outside a few sorting-up orders for currants, raisins, and nuts, trade is practically at a standstill. However, the lull is somewhat welcome after the rush of the past few weeks. At the same time the employes around the different warehouses will be kept from idleness owing to the fact that preparations are being made to take stock. There is still a strong feeling in regard to canned goods. Coffees continue to occupy a strong position, and the firmness noted in teas during the past week or two has been maintained. The feature of the sugar market is a decline of 5c. per 100 lb., which took place shortly after we went to press last week.

CANNED GOODS.

All lines of canned goods have been quiet for some time, but at this season they are naturally even more so than they were a couple of weeks ago. At the same time, however, no one seems to have lost any confidence in the future of the market, and what little canned goods are being sold bring firm prices. The idea as to price for tomatoes to the retail trade is 95c. to $1; for corn, $1.05 to $1.10, and for peas, 80c. upwards. An odd case or so of canned salmon is going out at steady to firm prices.

COFFEES.

The condition of the market continues strong for all kinds of green coffees, and quite a number of people anticipate higher prices with the New Year. The local demand keeps fairly brisk for green Rio coffee.

SUGARS.

Shortly after we went to press last week, a reduction took place in all grades of sugars of 5c. per 100 lb. This change came somewhat as a surprise, but it was due to the large influx of foreign sugars and to the irregularity of the outside markets. The outside markets are still in a somewhat unsettled condition, but it is expected that after the New Year something more definite will be known in regard to prices. The demand, locally, is naturally very light. The price of Montreal granulated sugar in Toronto is now $4 88 per 100 lb., while Acadia is quoted 5c. per 100 lb. less than that figure.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Nothing particularly new has developed in these lines during the last week. There is naturally only a limited demand for either syrups or molasses at this time of the year. Prices are steady and unchanged.

TEAS.

Teas have been rather dull of sale here during the past week or so. The reason for this is that no teas are offering at prices which buyers are willing to pay. The outside markets continue to rule steady to strong. China green teas of low grade are particularly strong, while those of the finer grades are just steady. Mail advices from

See pages 29 and 30 for Toronto, Montreal, St. John, and Winnipeg prices current.

London, England, state that the market there hardened, and all grades met with a steady demand at the auction. In Ceylon teas, the quantity brought to auction was rather smaller, and prices for all descriptions were strong. One feature of the market in London for Ceylon teas is the disposition to buy more medium and good grades. The local demand is at present light, but an improved business is, of course, due after the beginning of the year.

NUTS.

Stocks of nuts on the spot are light, and prices are firm, with the demand fairly good.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS—No new features have developed in this line during the past week. There is still quite a fair demand, although it is not, of course, as brisk as it was last week and during the preceding weeks. Quotations remain as before.

VALENCIA RAISINS—What has been said during the past weeks in regard to the growing scarcity of selected Valencia raisins still holds good, and there are some who predict that before a great while this grade of raisins will be quoted at 8 to 8½c. per lb. to the retail trade. At present quotations are as before, namely, 7 to 7½c. per lb., according to brand; fine off-stalk is quoted at 6½ to 6¾c., layers at 7½ to 8c., and extra selected at 8½c.

MALAGA RAISINS—The trade seems to be fairly well satisfied with the way in which stocks of Malaga raisins have been cleaned up. Of course, at present the demand is over for the season.

FIGS—There is decidedly a strong feeling in regard to figs. Tapnets, which early in the season were bought at 10s. per cwt., are now quoted at 12s.

DATES—Advices to hand report an advance of 3s. per cwt. on the London market in dates. The demand on the local market is fair and the supply is fairly good. Ruling quotations are 5½c. per lb. for Hallowee dates and 4½ to 5c. for Sairs.

GREEN FRUITS.

The market was well cleaned of oranges and lemons by the Christmas trade, there being few oranges of any kind, and very few Valencias now offering. Trade is now dull, however, and, as good receipts are expected this week, the feeling is easier at declines of 50c. for Valencias and 25c. for Senoras. Lemons are also easier, showing a drop of 25 to 50c. for both Verdillis and Messinas. The demand for cranberries was brisk, but not enough so to absorb the large stock on the market. The feeling is firm, however. Almeria grapes were bought freely. The stocks are considered sufficient to last throughout the season. The winter apple situation is unchanged. Ordinary winter stock is steady at $2 to $2.75, but as high as three is paid for fancy red spies.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The market keeps steady. The bulk of trade being done is in pickled, at 16c. New-laid are wanted at 23c., but most of the fresh-gathered stock shows that much of it has been held. Unless such eggs can be guaranteed fresh they are neglected by the trade at 20c. per doz.

POTATOES—The feeling is stronger, but prices are still 38 to 40c. per bag for cars, and 45 to 50c. per bag for small lots out of store.

BEANS—There is no change. Trade is quiet. We quote $1.45 to $1.50 for hand-picked, and $1.35 to $1.38 for prime.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES—The evaporated apple market is steady at 8c., in a jobbing way. A fair business in dried is doing at 5½ to 6c., in a jobbing way.

At outside points 6c. is still paid for No. 1 quarters and 5½ to 5¾c. for No. 1 ordinary.

POULTRY—Trade is dull. The surplus of turkeys after Christmas was large, and, as the demand is now light, prices have fallen 1c. per lb. Geese are unchanged in price. Ducks are 10 to 15c. and chickens 5 to 10c. per pair cheaper. We quote: Turkeys, 7½ to 8½c.; geese, 6 to 6½c.; ducks, 40 to 60c.; chickens, 25 to 40c.

VEGETABLES—Green onions and radishes are now being offered. Parsley is 5c. per doz. dearer. We quote as follows: Green onions, 15 to 25c. per doz.; radishes, 60 to 75c. per doz.; spinach, 40 to 50c. per bush.; lettuce, 20 to 40c. per doz.; cabbage, 60 to 75c. per doz.; red cabbage, 50 to 75c. per doz.; cauliflowers, 40 to 60c. per doz.; celery, 40 to 75c. per doz.; parsley, 15 to 20c. per doz.; onions, 40 to 60c. per bush.; green beans, 30 to 50c. per basket; squash, $1 to $1.50 per doz.; vegetable marrow, 40 to 60c. per doz.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—There continues a brisk demand for dairy prints and rolls, and a fair inquiry for dairy tubs. The supply of tubs is light, causing the price to strengthen, some houses quoting 1c. above the ruling quotation. Creamery is in good demand, and, as the supply is liberal, prices are steady. We quote: Dairy, large rolls, 18 to 19c.; prints, 19 to 20c.; tubs, 17 to 18c.; creamery, tubs and boxes, 21 to 22c.; prints and squares, 22 to 23c.

CHEESE—The market keeps strong, with late makes steady at 12 to 12½c. The demand keeps good, notwithstanding the high range of values.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

The colder weather has improved the demand for both fish and oysters. An advance of 10c. or so in the price of oysters is likely to take place. We quote as follows: Trout, 7½ to 8c.; Niagara whitefish, 7 to 7½c.; pickerel, 7½c.; herrings, 4c.; halibut, 12½c.; Seattle salmon, 13 to 15c.; haddock, 5c.; finnan haddies, 6½ to 7c.; boneless fish, 4¾c.; quail-on-toast, 5½c.; steak cod, 6c.; quintals of cod, 5¾c.; ciscoes, $1 per basket. Oysters, standards, $1.25; selects, $1.65; other brands, $1.25 per gal.; shell oysters, $8 per bbl.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—Wheat keeps steady at 66½c. outside. The deliveries on the street market this week have been moderate, with prices unchanged. We quote: Wheat, white and red, 68 to 69c.; goose, 70 to 71c.; peas, 62 to 65c.; oats, 28 to 29c.; barley, 42 to 44c.; rye, 53½c. No. 1 hard Manitoba wheat is steady at 76½c. Toronto and west.

FLOUR—The demand keeps fair, with prices steady. We quote: Manitoba patents, $4; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.70; Ontario patents, $3.65 to $3.75; straight roller, $3.35, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Business is moderate, though an improvement is expected in the next week or two. We quote as follows: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.50 in bags and $3.60 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.50 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.50; split peas, $4; pot barley, $4.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—The market keeps strong and active. We quote as follows: Cowhides, No. 1, 9½c.; No. 2, 8½c.; No. 3, 7½c. Steer hides are worth ½c. more. Cured hides are worth 10½c.

SKINS—Sheep and lambskins are 10c. dearer. Otherwise there is no change, though the market is firm. We quote: No. 1 veal, 8-lb. and up, 10c. per lb.; No. 2, 8c.; dekins, from 40 to 45c.; culls, 20 to 25c. Sheep and lambskins are selling at $1 to $1.10.

WOOL—The market keeps firm, but prices are unaltered. We quote: Clothing wool and combing fleece, 20c.; unwashed, 12½ to 13c.

SEEDS.

Alsike is firm at $4.50 to $7, though the top price is only paid for finest samples. Red clover is steady at $4.50 to $5 at outside points for good to choice, with 25c. more for extra choice to fancy lots. Little timothy is offering. Dealers would pay $1 to $1.25 aboard cars outside for good to

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, December 28, 1899.

GROCERIES.

THERE has been a fair volume of trade for the season during the week, though, naturally, it is light. The sorting demand for nuts, spices and dried fruits has, however, been quite noticeable, and the upward tendency of all three lines has been further accentuated this week, though no quotable change in spot prices is to report. Refined sugar has had another drop of 5c. per 100 lb., owing to increased American competition, and there are no other changes to report.

SUGAR.

Since the decline of last week, after THE CANADIAN GROCER went to press, there has been no further change in the sugar market, and we quote granulated at $4.35, and yellows, $3 55 to $4.20, as to grade. The raw situation is unchanged, according to latest advices, both in London and New York. Stock of sugar in United Kingdom, 5,000 tons. Cane was quiet, with prices fully maintained; Java, 11s. 3d.; fair refining, 10s. 6d. Beet, quiet and steady to firm and ¾d. higher for present month at 9s. 2¼d.

SYRUPS.

Canadian syrup is firm at 2 to 2¼c. per lb. in the wood, but business is extremely light.

at 42c. and single puncheons 43c. We hear of no business in round lots. Antigua molasses are held firm at 35c., and Porto Rico 38 to 40c.

DRIED FRUITS.

Valencia raisins continue stiff, in line with intelligence from primary markets. Jobbers are asking 7 to 7½c. for off-stalk; 8 to 8½c. for fine, and selected and layers ½c. advance on these prices.

Malaga raisins are equally firm with a good holiday trade during the week.

Sultanas show no new feature, being quoted at 10 to 12c.

Currants are quiet. We quote: Filiatras, 4½c. for bbls.; 5⅝c. for half bbls.; 4¾c. for half cases, and 4⅞c. for quarter cases.

Prunes rule firm in tone. Californian prunes are as follows: 80's to 90's, 6½c.; 70's to 80's, 7c.; 60's to 70's, 7½c.; 50's to 60's, 8½c., and 40's to 50's, 10c. Bosnia prunes are steady also, at 6 to 6½c.

Dates are steady at 5 to 5¾c., as to grade.

NUTS.

There has been a good inquiry for nuts, but the volume of business has been restricted by light stocks in jobbers' hands. Prices are firmly held on all descriptions.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been no special feature to report in canned goods. Corn is held at $1.10; tomatoes, at 90c. to $1; marrowfat peas, at 70 to 72½c.; early Junes, at 77½ to 80c.; French peas, at 90 to 95c.; beans, at 90c.; one gallon apples, at $2.25 to $2.50; 3-lb. do., at 85 to 90c.; raspberries, at $1.60, and strawberries at $1.55 per dozen.

RICE.

Business in rice is quiet, but prices are steady.

SPICES.

The market is firm, and prices point higher, if anything, on pimento and nutmegs, though we have no quotable change to note. The jobbing trade are busy supplying holiday demands for spices.

COFFEES.

The upward tendency continues in the coffee market, and Maracaibo has sold as high as 9½c. for low-grade stock, while Santos and Rios have changed hands at 8 to 10c., as to grade.

TEAS.

Demand this week has developed the fact that the finer grades of Japan tea are quite scarce in this market, and goods around 15½c. also seem impossible to obtain. Common Japans sold at 12½c. There are very few Japan teas left at points of production, and they are said to be mostly too poor to ship. In green teas there is a scarcity of pea-leaf, which is quoted at 16 to 18c. Imperials, well made, have sold at 14c. In black teas, there is a great scarcity of cheap Congous, and holders are asking 10c. for the same kind that sold last year at 6c. A lot of very nice Congou sold at 15c. Ceylons are in small supply, and prices are firm at 15 to 19c. A round lot sold at 17½c.

FISH.

The market has ruled quiet during the week, and prices remain much the same. We quote as follows: No. 1 Nova Scotian herring, in bbls., at $5.25, and in half-bbls., at $2.50. No. 1 large round herring fetch $5, and half-bbls., $2.55. No. 1 B. C. and Labrador salmon, $13 per bbl., and tierces, $17.50. No. 2 mackerel are dull, $15.25, and No. 1 large green cod, $5.25, with No. 1 $5 and No. 2 $4. No. 1 green haddock, $4, and No. 1 pollock, $3.60. Dried cod sells at $4.75, and large dressed, $4.50. Prepared fish—Boneless cod, 5½ to 6c. per lb.; haddies, 6c.; bloaters, 90c. to $1 per box, and smoked herring, 12c. per box. Fresh fish—Haddock, 3c.; steak cod, 3½c.; market cod, 2¾ to 3¼c.; Manitoba dore, 5½c.; white fish 7c.; salmon, 10c., and fresh herring, $2 to $2.25 per 100.

GREEN FRUITS.

The holiday demand for green fruits has been quite active. There has been no change in the apple market, prices ruling at $2.75 to $3 50 per bbl. as to grade. Stocks of Almeria grapes are light, but there is a good demand for them at $6 to $7.50 per keg as to weight and quality. There has been a short supply of Valencia oranges this week, but there has been abundant supply of other varieties. Sales are reported at the following prices: Jamaicas, $6 to $6.25 per bbl., and $2.50 to $3 50 per box; Valencias, $4 to $4.50 per box for 420's, and $3.65 to $4.75 for 714's; Californian oranges, $3 65 to $4.25 per box; Mexican, $2.85 to $3.35 per box. There is a good demand for lemons at unchanged prices, namely, $2.50 to $3.25 per box. There has been another advance in cranberries. Stocks here are light, while the demand this week has been very good at the advanced prices. Sales range between of the year when Pratts Foods are in greatest demand. The reason of this is that nature does not supply all the nourishment necessary to enable poultry to produce the same proportion of eggs as are possible in the summer season. Pratts Poultry Food meets this need. It is not only a guaranteed egg producer, but also prevents and cures all kinds of poultry diseases.

Pratts Animal Regulator is for horses and cattle. It builds up run-down horses, produces bone and muscle, and improves the wind. It keeps cows healthy, increases the flow of milk, makes it richer, and produces more butter. Hog cholera is positively unknown where Pratts Food is regularly fed.

The popular size is the 30c. package. There are 24 in a case. The case costs you $4.80. The goods sell for $7.20. On two cases or more I allow freight. A sample case of each will convince you of the merit and will prove a quick and sure seller. Thousands of dealers all over the country have found it so. Write me about $6.75 to $9 per barrel as to quality. There is a fair demand for Californian celery at $5 to $5.25 per crate. The supply of Canadian celery held at country points, we understand, is very liberal. Cauliflowers are in fair demand this week at $2 to $2.25 per dozen. Sweet potatoes are selling fairly well at $3 50 per barrel. There is a better demand for Florida tomatoes this week at $3.25 per case.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—Owing to the small receipts of strictly new laid eggs and the good demand for such at this season, the tone of the market is strong and prices scored a sharp advance, with sales to-day at 24 to 26c. per dozen. Other grades of stock only met with a fair sale at firm prices. Montreal limed, fancy, 17½ to 18c.; western limed, 16 to 17c., and culls, 11 to 13c. per dozen.

POULTRY—There was less activity in the poultry trade to day, owing to the fact that buyers generally have filled their wants for the Christmas trade. In consequence, the tone of the market was easier for what stock was offering. Prices are as follows: Turkeys, 10 to 10½c.; ducks, 8 to 9c.; chickens, 7 to 8c.; geese, 5½ to 6½c.; old fowl, 5 to 6c.

GAME—The demand for partridge was good at 60 to 70c. for firsts and at 40 to 45c. for seconds per brace.

HONEY—In honey trade is dull, but the tone of the market is firm. White comb honey is scarce and practically out of the market. White extracted is quoted at 9 to 10c.; dark clover at 8 to 8½c., and buckwheat extracted at 7 to 7½c. per lb.

BEANS—The feeling in beans is steady, with a quiet trade passing. Choice hand-picked pea beans, $1.52½ to $1.57½, and choice primes at $1.42½ to $1.47½.

POTATOES—A fair trade is reported in potatoes at 45c. per bag, in carload lots.

ASHES—The market for ashes is dull. We quote: First sorts, $4.20 to $4.25; seconds, $4, and pearls, $5 to $5.25 per 100 lb.

DRESSED HOGS—A fair trade was reported in a jobbing way at $5 to $5.50 per 100 lb., as to weight and quality.

PROVISIONS.

The demand was fair for some lines, while other lines were dull. Prices all around were steady. We quote: Canadian short cut mess pork, $14.50; short cut back, $14, and heavy long cut mess, $14 per barrel. Pure Canadian lard in pails, 7¼ to 7¾c. per lb.; and compound refined, 6 to 6½c. per lb. Hams 10c. to 11½c., and bacon 11 to 11½c. per lb.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.

FLOUR—A fair jobbing trade continues to be done in flour, and the tone of the market rules steady. We quote: Winter wheat patents, $3.60 to $3.90; straight rollers, $3.30 to $3.40; in bags, $1.65; Manitoba patents, $3.90 to $4.15, and strong bakers', $3.60 to $3.70.

GRAIN—A fair amount of business was transacted in Manitoba wheat over the cable, but the demand from shippers here in the Winnipeg market was slow, with No. 1 offering freely at 65c. afloat Fort William, and no buyers. In coarse grains, business here was very quiet. Oats, at points west of Toronto, sold at 25½c.; east, at 26½c.; peas, west, 57½c.; east, 58½c.; buckwheat, west, 47½c.; east, 48¼c.; No. 1 barley, east, 40½c. On spot, oats in carload lots were quoted at 30½c. ex store.

OATMEAL—The demand for rolled oats in a jobbing way was fair, and values are unchanged at $3.50 per bbl. and at $1.70 per bag.

FEED—A fairly active trade continues to be done in feed, as the demand for such is generally good at this season. Ontario bran sold at $15 to $15.25 per ton in bulk, and Manitoba was quoted at $14 to $14.50 per ton in bags.

HAY—A fair trade was reported in baled hay. We quote: Choice No. 1, $9 to $10; No. 2, $8 to $9; and clover, $7 to $7.50 per ton, in carload lots.

We beg to tender our many friends and customers from ocean to ocean

The Compliments of the Season.

S. H. EWING & SONS.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

CHEESE—Trading continues light and buyers seem reluctant about conceding the prices asked for the gilt-edged stock here. The fact does not appear to bother holders, however, for they are not urging sales. Business was put through in November goods at 11½c., and in some Quebec Octobers at 11¾ to 11⅞c. The Liverpool cable is unchanged.

BUTTER—The market was steady, with a fair local trade in creamery at 21 to 21½c., and in Western dairy rolls at 17c.

HE WAS A COLLEGE GRADUATE.

"So you want a job?" inquired the manager of the great mercantile establishment. "Ever had any experience in this business?"

"Well, no, not exactly," the young man replied; "you see, I have just got through college."

"Oh! Did you play football?"

"Yes, I was centre rush in our 'varsity team last year."

"Good? And did you take any other part in athletics?"

"I hold a medal as a shot-putter."

"I suppose you were in all the cane-rushings and hat-smashings, too?"

"Yes, sir; I was the best hat-smasher in my class."

"All right. John, give this young man work out in the wareroom. He'll be good at handling heavy boxes and barrels and such things. A college graduate, you know."

SOAP 135 MILES HIGH.

Soap enough to supply 150,000 for one year has recently arrrived in Denver in one load. It is the biggest load of soap that has ever been shipped or carried anywhere, and this record shipment consists of 20,000 cases of 100 bars each, a total of 2,000,000 bars; has a net weight of 1,500,000 lb. and a market value of $60,000. It is carried in a special train of 45 carloads, and if stacked up, one bar on top of another, this soap would make a pile over 135 miles high. While a portion of the great shipment is destined for Denver, the greater portion goes to Salt Lake City, for the Mormons have bought largely of soap. — National Provisioner.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,

ST. JOHN, N.B., December 28, 1899.

IF anyone should be thankful at this new year season, it is the grocer. There can be perhaps but one disappointment, and that is, that holders of goods did not take full advantage of the markets, chiefly because of their desire to place large quantities of goods to arrive. In no time has the market gone against the dealer, and in many cases there has been the chance of large profits. Sales have been large. In many lines, stocks are low. Business has kept up well right to Christmas. While we had no snow, the weather was fine. Poultry ruled high. Stock of turkeys was particularly fine. Ruling price was about 15c.

OILS—There has been been no change in the price of burning oil during the week, but prices are held very firm at the advance. Demand continues large. The market in all oils is strong, though just at present both lubricating and paint oils show light sales. The high price of wax is a feature of the market. The advance in some lines is a straight 100 per cent. Candles, which sold at 7c. this time last year, now bring 14c.

SALT—There is a good sale for Liverpool coarse salt. Fair quantities continue to arrive, some for through shipment to Western points. Price is well maintained. Buyers taking delivery from steamers get quite an advantage in price. In fine salt fair stocks of English and Canadian are held. We quote : Liverpool coarse, 50 to 55c. English factory-filled, 95c. to $1 ; Canadian fine, $1 per bag ; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 per bbl. ; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20 to 22c. each ; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12 to 14c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per doz.; mineral rock salt 60c. per 100 lb.

CANNED GOODS—There has been a good sale. The higher prices have had little effect on sales. Dealers have received peas, pumpkin, and pork and beans during the week, having had a chance to sort up at fair prices. In pork and beans, there is a large range in prices. Some of the cheaper goods give good satisfaction, and have a large sale. Dealers are somewhat surprised at the high price of oysters, looking for lower figures on new goods. Market has, however, gone the other way. Pineapples are scarce and high. Christmas trade has led to quite a movement in fruits, also in plum pudding and mince meat. The outlook for lobsters is towards even higher figures. The terms of the new law meet with much disapproval, as referred to last week. Domestic sardines and bloaters have a good sale. Meats are firm.

GREEN FRUITS—Business has been particularly good. Valencia oranges have arrived rather ripe, but this has helped the flavor. A few Californians are seen. Jamaicas are still the choice stock. Lemons are lower ; in fact, are very cheap. There is a fair sale. Apples have a wide range in price. Bishop pippin stock, when good, has very active demand. Best stock is scarce. Winter fruit is held quite high. Malaga grapes had a large Christmas sale at even figures. In Cape Cod cranberries prices are rather higher. Stock is good. Sweet potatoes are out of the market. But few bananas are seen.

DRIED FRUITS—Two cars of Californian prunes arrived during the past week. While late for Christmas trade, they have found a ready sale. They came on a particularly bare market. One car was almost two months on the road, which was quite a loss to the buyer. Small sizes are scarce and high. In peels, market is bare ; but little is sold after the holidays. Raisins are a light stock. Loose muscatels are particularly in demand. Sales have been large and good prices obtained. Currants move freely at even figures. In this line demand is better sustained after the holidays than perhaps in any other. Figs had but a fair sale. Evaporated apples are quite plentiful. Some very good stock has been received. Prices have been rather easier. Dried are still scarce. Onions are firmer, but move up slowly. Dates show no change in price. There has been but usual business. In nuts, everything has been cleaned up. Prices ruling are high. Quite a few peanuts have lately been bought to arrive.

DAIRY PRODUCE—Eggs have ruled rather easier, and, while there is not likely to be much lower prices for a few weeks, no higher figures are looked for. There has been a good demand. Hennery eggs are high. Good butter is very scarce, and is in demand at rather higher figures. There is fair stock of medium grades. Cheese show light business at even figures.

SUGAR—Prices show little if any change. There is a feeling favoring firmer figures. Only fair stocks are held, but there is quite a variety. Local refined yellows are not giving satisfaction for some time. American sugars are much liked.

MOLASSES—Stocks in all grades are light. In New Orleans, which has been largely sold this fall, there is a higher tendency. In fact, quite an advance is expected. In foreign grades, except some second grade Porto Rico, there is very little offering. Higher figures must rule. Just at present, the demand is light. In syrup, there is a light business doing.

FISH—Demand is rather quiet. Fresh fish have been very scarce, and this has very much effected the output of finnan haddies. These latter are firm, and have a ready sale. Dry cod are but a fair stock. While prices are rather lower than earlier in the season, it is due to lack of present demand. This is also true of pollock. Pickled herring is quiet at even figures. Stock is light. In smoked herring, the improved figures hold firm. There is a good western demand. Nothing is being done in frozen fish. Even smelt on the north shore are a light catch as yet, owing to lack of ice in the rivers. We quote as follows : Large and medium dry cod, $3.70 to $3 80 ; small, $2.50 to $2.60 ; pickled shad, $4.50 to $5, as to quality ; haddies, 4½ to 5c. per lb.; smoked herring, 8 to 9c.; fresh haddock and cod, 2½c.; boneless fish, 4 to 5c. ; pollock, $2.25 to $2.35 per 100; pickled herring, $2.10 to $2.15 per half bbl.; bloaters, 60c.; kippers, $1 ; smelts, 5c.

PROVISIONS — Markets are unchanged at the advanced figures. Beef, in particular, is high. Outlook is firm. In lard, there have been fair receipts during the week. Prices are again rather higher.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL — Flour shows little change, but there is a feeling favoring higher values. Stocks held are not large. There has been a fair sale in oatmeal at even figures. Oats show no change. Cornmeal is more plentiful owing to rather less sale. Prices remain the same. Hay is tending higher, but is still low. Barley is firm. Split peas have a good sale at full figures. Blue peas are scarce and high. We quote : Manitoba flour, $4.40 to $4.60 ; best Ontario, $3.80 to $4.00 ; medium, $3.60 to $3.75; oatmeal, $3.80 to $3.90; cornmeal, $2.25 to $2.35 ; middlings, $21 to $22; oats, 38 to 40c.; hand-picked beans, $1.50 to $1.65 ; prime, $1.45 to $1.55 ; yellow-eye beans, $1.90 to $2 ; split peas, $3 90 to $4.00 ; round, $3.25 to $3.40 ; pot barley, $3.75 to $3.85 ; hay, $7 to $7.50 ; timothy seed, American, $1.50.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

Dealers have bought quite freely in whole spice during the week, the outlook favoring higher figures.

Jose Segalerva Malaga raisins in both layers and loose muscatels, which are seen this season in this market for the first time, are considered by the trade particularly fine fruit.

Mr. Hamm, manager of the Maritime Spice and Coffee Co., Limited, went to New York last week to cumplete arrangements in regard to their new mill. They expect to start early in the new year.

In brooms and brushes the demand has been very large, in spite of the higher prices. Our local manufacturers, T. S. Simms & Co., report the sales for December the largest they have ever had for that month.

CAVIAR.

IN 25 years caviar has grown to be one of the recognized delicacies of the American table, says The Kitchen. Of course, you know that it is only sturgeon roe, and all you get is not genuine, but the imitation approaches the genuine sufficiently to satisfy those who are not familiar with the real thing.

The general and greatly-increased favor with which caviar is received has caused a greater drain upon the sturgeon fisheries of Europe and those of the United States and Canada, which, within the last few years, have been called upon to meet the demand, and, in consequence, are approaching exhaustion. When the call for sturgeon roe was first made most of the supply was procured from the Northern rivers flowing into the Atlantic, and from the great fresh-water lakes on our northern boundaries—especially from the Lake of the North.

Within the last two years there has been a very large catch in set nets and pounds off the beaches of New Jersey and Long Island. This has added measurably to the supply of eggs, and has proved a most profitable industry to the fishermen. With the ocean take and that of the rivers and lakes our annual production of roe for the making of caviar cannot be less than 240,000 lb.

The weight of roe, in proportion to that of each fish, is from 10 to 14 per cent. As no one who uses this delicacy will consume more than 1 oz. for a single portion, the contribution of the United States and Canada is a valuable addition to the European output. The weight of eggs taken from each female sturgeon varies. Those taken on the spawning grounds of the rivers carry a much higher percentage of roe than those caught in the sea on the way thither. The fishermen near a market have two profits from the fish—the flesh and the eggs. The former is palatable if it be freed from skin and fat before cooking; otherwise, when heated, it gives off a most repugnant odor.

There is no reason why Americans should not have caviar in perfection, made from the roe of sturgeon caught here. It could be kept in cold storage in the origina packages, either in what is called the mild form—that is, half-salted—or fully salted. Instead of that, most American sturgeon roe is exported, and is returned in tins or bottles under foreign labels, stale and hard, and in no way comparable to that which is fresh made.

A CHANGE IN BRAMPTON, ONT.

Charles J. Packham has purchased the grocery business of Kirkwood Bros., and is now in possession of the store and carrying on the business. He has also added confectionery and fruit, and intends carrying a complete stock in the different lines. Mr. Packham is a popular and able young man, and will, no doubt, succeed in his undertaking. The retirement of Kirkwood Bros. is regretted. They have at all times been regarded as careful and upright dealers. Many friends will be glad to hear of their success wherever they may be engaged.—Brampton Conservator.

THE LAW SHOULD INTERVENE.

Editor CANADIAN GROCER,—Your article in this week's issue on this Journal of Health business should commend itself very strongly to all right thinking men. It is a disgrace to the respectability of the grocery trade that any merchants have adopted this means of advertising some of their wares, and I am only surprised that the authorities in Ottawa, who have both ears and eyes open at all times for some two-penny half-penny little things to trump against traders, have not stopped this Journal of Health from coming into the country. If they cannot do it they certainly should introduce legislation to give them the power, as the idea of any American newspaper issued under a title of this kind being willing to write up an unknown article in the way they suggest, is a crime which should not go unpunished.

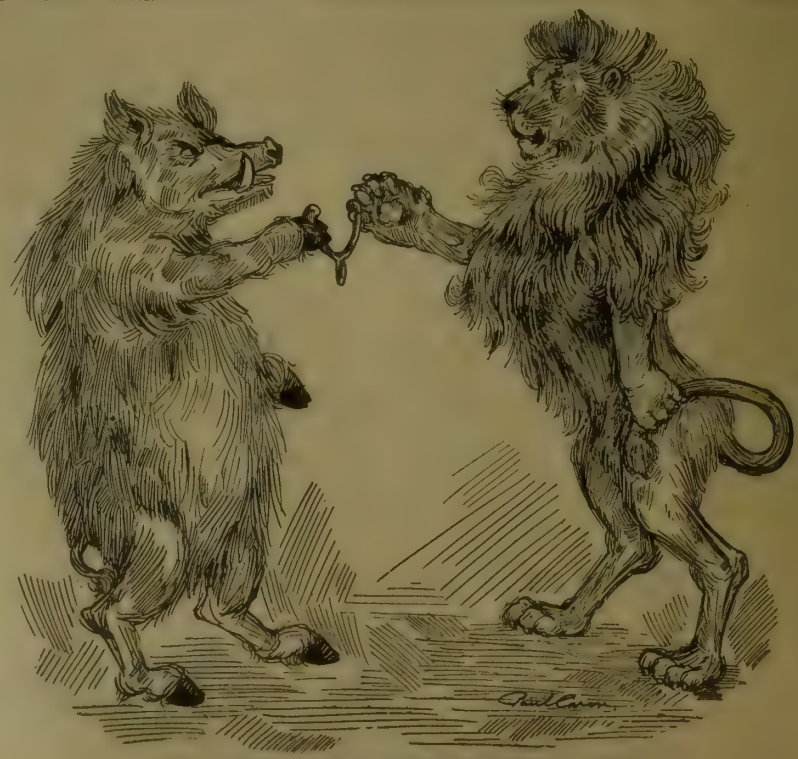
PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. Hubert Galt, of Chicago, has been spending the Christmas holidays in Toronto.



A CANNED SALMON WINDOW.

One correspondent asks for suggestions as to a good window show to push tinned salmon, etc. Well, here is what he wants, if he has enterprise enough. Let him clear a window, procure a fresh salmon or other fish, and show it on ice in the centre of the window space. Let it be framed all around with the tinned goods (all bright, fresh labels) with parsley here and there, and conspicuously display a card bearing this wording: "This canned article is almost equal to the fresh fish; keep in a cold place before opening. Only —d. per tin." This will draw a crowd and make your shop talked about. To add to the interest, send a neat circular to every local householder, stating that you are "this week offering the finest —— tinned salmon at —d. per tin. Please call and sample it when passing, or allow me to send you a tin for home trial. Absolute satisfaction guaranteed."—London Grocers' Journal.

The Arkona, Ont., evaporator the past season has turned out 114,000 lb. of white fruit, 66,000 lb. of waste, and 86,000 lb. of chop.

D. B. Grieve, Carthage, Ont., has just sold all cheese made in his factory during September, October, and November for 11⅜c. per lb.

The final crop bulletin issued by the Agricultural Department of Manitoba places the wheat crop of that Province for 1899, at 28,000,000 bushels, a decrease of 5,000,000 bushels from the previous estimate.

QUANTITY BUYING FOR THE HOLIDAYS.

By Ernest W. Miller, in Grocery World.

ONE special feature of this subject manifests itself prior to the holiday trade or season. How much? How little? And what shall I buy?—is every grocer's predicament at the threshold of the holiday season.

Sometimes it is his nightmare—sometimes the last attack is the worst—the one after the holiday season, especially when he has overbought and has a large stock to carry over.

"Well, but we must have enough," he says. "It creates a bad impression to be seasons or where he has an established trade.

It is not necessary if the merchant has a good memory; but the writer would like to see a merchant who can always trust his memory.

But we must have a tremendous stock, make a big show, or else we are not in it. Not so many years ago, the grocer did not deal so extensively in these grocery specialties; his stock consisted of regular staples, as staple after the holiday season as before. But things have changed now. In most, or

It also tends to reduce the price on these goods. Prices down once are difficult to get up. It also injures the general confectionery stores, or the novelty stores, whose annual business the whole year pertains to these goods principally. If these goods are carried over, those of a perishable nature depreciate in quality, and those of a fancy nature go out of style.

My advice is if you have to carry any stock over; that is, if you don't sell all before the holiday season is over, cut it down in price, unload quick; the first loss is the easiest to bear. Better not buy so heavily; rather sell out completely and not have enough than to carry over stock.

A PLACER-MINING CREEK IN BRITISH COLUMBIA.

out of this and that, especially when it is so staple and in so great a demand. But I must buy, and if I wait prices will go up. The salesmen say so [and I guess it is so (?)]. But if I do buy, prices will come down. Seems gloomy, doesn't it?"

But, there is a way out of all troubles. One excellent method is to keep a memoranda of past experience, stating how much and what you bought last season. The memoranda could go into details, giving kind, quantity; what sold well; what did not sell; what was carried over; what paid a good profit. However, this is only practical where the merchant has been in business at the same stand several successive many grocery stores, now you will find great quantities of candy, nuts, fruit, sometimes toys or fancy articles of glass or china. I know of stores where the annual volume of business is from $20,000 to $30,000 per year, handling in a retail way as much as 3,000 to 4,000 lb. of nuts, the same of candy and a great variety of fancy articles that they do not carry at any other time. They make a special sale, give presents, advertise in every way, giving these goods the preference in space in the store, and have a very large sale. But the evil of this is, that sometimes they buy too heavily and "get stuck," and the goods carried over are perishable and dead stock.

There is not always so much made in quantity buying as the salesman would make you believe. For example, the price of seeded raisins is 10c. per lb.; 36 lb. to the case; in 5-case lots, 9¾c.; this is an apparent saving of 45c. on the lot; but, it one is carried over, you have one case on your hands; you will be out just the cost of one case; or if sold at half price half the value. Better pay the long price and only buy as you need the stock. This will be safer with goods of a perishable nature. The merchant will make money and not injure his competitor by unloading at half price the surplus stock. The margin of profit is not so great that he can afford to throw away 20 per cent. of the total purchase. Sometime ago I knew of an actual circumstance connected with syrup buying in five-barrel lots. The town was wild over cheap syrup. One merchant bought five barrels, another or others bought only one barrel. The syrup was sold at 3 cents per quart, some at 4 cents per quart.

The people soon had enough. After the excitement was past, the demand ceased, the one barrel buyer was sold out, but the five-barrel buyer had four barrels on his hands to sell at the immense sum of 4½c. per gallon.

But the salesman will say the bargain cannot be duplicated. I am glad that some cheap stuff cannot be duplicated. I was never afraid of getting too little, rather cautious about getting too much. I know that profits are cut down considerably by the evil of overbuying.

But then there are some advantages in quantity buying; for example, I know of an instance of it taking two years for a grocer to sell one case of a certain brand of baked beans. The salesman induced him to buy a 25-doz. lot at 10c. per doz. rebate. The grocer did so, and sold 50 doz. the first year. When a grocer is loaded down he will push his goods. He must get his money out of the stock, but the article must be first-class and of good reputation. Again, this quantity buying will eventually push a grocer into the wholesale business, and that gives his employes a chance to succeed him. Nearly all of our wholesale grocers were one day small retailers.

Another advantage of buying heavily of special goods for the holiday season is that it brings many people into your store that never came before, thereby giving you a better trade following the holiday season.

To conclude upon this subject of quantity-buying, I would suggest several rules of simple "horse sense":

First—Buy a well-known article.

Second—Buy it at the lowest possible cash price; sell at a legitimate profit.

Third—Advertise it well.

THE WORLD'S SUGAR.

TWO-THIRDS of the world's sugar is now produced from beets. Prior to 1871-72 the world's production of beet sugar had never reached 1,000,000 tons; in the present crop year it is, according to latest estimates, 5,510,000 tons. while the cane sugar crop, which, in 1871-72, was 1,599,000 tons, is in the present year 2,904,000 tons. Thus cane sugar production has scarcely doubled during the period under consideration, while that from beets has more than quintupled. Meantime the price has fallen more than one-half, the average cost in foreign countries of all sugar imported into the United States in the fiscal year 1872 being 5.37c. per lb., and in 1899 2.39c. per lb.

These facts are shown by a tabulation prepared by the Treasury Bureau of Statistics in response to the demands for information regarding sugar production which have followed the meeting of Congress, and the prospective consideration of matters relating to the sugar-producing islands which have recently come into closer relations with the United States.

No development of the world's production of foodstuffs has been more rapid or striking than that with reference to beet sugar. In 1854-55, the total beet sugar crop of the world was but 182,000 tons; by 1864-65 it had reached 536,000 tons; in 1874-75 it was 1,219,000 tons; in 1884-85, 2,545,000 tons; in 1894 95, 4,792,793 tons, and in 1899-1900, 5,510,000 tons. In 1854-55 beet sugar formed 13 per cent. of the world's total sugar crop, and in 1899-1900 it formed 66 per cent.

Thus, the sugar-producing area of the world has, in less than a half-century, been shifted from the tropics northward, and the farmer of the temperate zone has shown his ability not only to compete with the low-priced labor of the tropics, but in doing so to reduce by one-half the cost of the article produced.

The following table shows the world's production of beet and cane sugar, respectively, and the grand total in each year from 1872 to 1899, also the average price of sugar in foreign markets, the figures of cane sugar production being those of Willett & Gray, of New York, beet sugar those of Licht, of Europe, and those relating to price being obtained from statements supplied by importers into the United States of the cost in foreign countries of the sugars which they import. The figures relating to production are the crop years, those of price fiscal years. The statements of quantity in each case are in tons, 000's omitted:

SOME OF THE REQUIREMENTS OF A SUCCESSFUL SALESMAN.

TO my mind there are five requirements which the successful salesman must possess, writes W. H. Fuller, in Michigan Tradesman.

1. Thorough knowledge of the article to be sold.

2. Discretion or judgment.

3. Application and adaptability.

4. Fair treatment in all things and to all people.

5. Confidence between the house and the salesman.

Under these headings I would discuss the subject as follows :

1. A thorough knowledge of the article sold requires that the salesman should know what the article should do to fulfil its duties to aid or benefit mankind ; he should be able to tell its origin or of what it is composed, or how it is constructed, in a clear and intelligent manner.

2. Discretion or judgment enables him to compare with those of his competitors the articles he has for sale, and show their superior points of merit. He should be able to judge whether a merchant could use his wares to advantage, and also decide if the merchant whom he hopes to sell would be of an advantage or benefit to his goods ; for it is a fact that men whom we say are "wideawake" or "hustlers" will take an article of little or no merit and make a success of it, while others without energy or push will make no progress with an article of decided merit, but, in many cases, a failure of it.

3. By application and adaptability is meant that the salesman should apply his efforts steadily, daily and hourly. In no walk of life is the man successful who works part of the time and loiters the remainder, or who works one day and neglects his business the next.

Then, also, he must adapt himself to circumstances and conditions. Sometimes he finds the merchant has given a competitor an order, and, therefore, needs nothing in his line at that time. Then a salesman gets angry and tries to make the merchant "sorry of his bargain" by traducing his competitor or his house, or by quoting him prices as baits that are below market price or value, and such as his house would not authorize or accept ; this is bad practice and bad policy. When such an emergency arises he should make the best of the situation gracefully and hope for better results next time.

4. Fair treatment in all things and to all people implies that a salesman should fairly and honestly represent his line and his house at all times and in all places. Too many men fail to realize, from their appearance or actions, what value or reliance the merchant or public places in them or their houses. If a man is found untruthful, deceitful, negligent or careless in business, people are very apt to say, "Well, that house is not reliable, or they would not employ such a man."

A salesman should not promise a merchant an extra price, extra terms, or an inducement of any kind, no matter how small, without intending to fulfil it. If a merchant, friend or brother traveler is promised anything, the agreement should be carried out to the letter ; or, if any change is made, it should exceed, but in no case prove less than was promised.

A salesman should be honest with himself and his house. I remember meeting a new man, a competitor of mine, particularly. He was selling goods manufactured in a town in Iowa. It was his second season out, and he was a successful salesman, and his house exceedingly prosperous, because, where he had sold the merchant an article the previous year, he was this year selling him two, three, or even ten of the articles. From this point of view he was a success, but from other points he was a failure. First, because he was selling an article, claimed to be equalled by none, at a cut price. Second, when he was selling these merchants two, three and ten times as many goods as the previous year, he was only selling them from 25 to 50 per cent. of the goods they needed of like kinds to supply their trade. Third, his factory made eight different kinds of machines, and this self-supposed successful man was only selling two, or not to exceed three, of the kinds of goods manufactured by his house. A man who is a success as a salesman for a house must sell all of the different goods handled by that house, and must be able to supply the merchant with all, or the larger per cent. of them needed in his trade.

5. Confidence between the house and salesman. A house should employ no man whom they cannot trust and feel that he is working for them as well when he is out of sight (so to speak) as if he was in sight all of the time in their office. Also, a traveler should never be out of sight of his house, or, in other words, the house should know where he is each day. He should communicate with the house often and freely, and, if to secure an order it becomes necessary to exceed instructions from the house, they should be told all of the reasons ; and the house should grant them, if there is any profit in the order, for often small orders taken under adverse circumstances lead to good and profitable trade.

Then, the salesman who looks after the small order with care and attention, as well as the large one, is generally the man who, at the end of the year, will foot up his sales in large numbers, and will also find a goodly per cent. of profit in his work—both for himself and the house.

Along this line of thought might also be placed the individuality of the house, the credit man and the salesman. Oftentimes you will find a salesman who thinks that he, and he alone, is responsible for big trade and good results. Then the credit man throws himself a bouquet, and says it is all his work that has made the house a success. And then sometimes the house or manager says : "We sell the goods, and we can send any salesman out and get our usual business." Success depends on the confidence each one has in the other, and all should work together as though members of one family and put the earnings in the large "jack pot," and in the end all are justly proud and can say : "We are successful, and each tried to do his share."

OBJECT LESSON.

"Young man," asked the proprietor of the store, who was making the rounds of the various departments, "how can you afford to dress so elaborately and expensively on the salary we pay you ?"

"I can't," gloomily answered the salesman. "I ought to have more salary."—Chicago Tribune.

HE MADE THE WEIGHT EXACT.

THE small grocer has to calculate pretty closely in order to wear diamonds regularly, and sometimes the habit of careful figuring which the business creates becomes so much of a second nature that the small grocer gets a reputation for meanness among the neighbors. This is not always deserved, remarks an exchange. It may not have been, even in the case o the small grocer whom the contractor observed the other day, but it does seem that he overdid the thing a little. The contractor was working in a place near the outer edge of the city, where the shops are scarce, and, during the morning, so he says, he happened to feel the need of chewing gum, so he went into the small store of the small grocer, where he found the dealer making a sale of chocolate creams to a very small girl who had but five cents. The chocolate creams were of the sort that sell by the bucket for an absurdly small price, and, according to the contractor's estimate, there must have been a large profit even in the limited transaction between the small grocer and the very small girl. The child was to get a quarter of a pound for her five cents. The small grocer picked up a handful of chocolate creams and threw them into the scales. They were just a shade over weight. He took out one of the pieces of candy, and the remainder was just a shade under. He looked at the scales a moment, then bit off half of the chocolate cream which he held in his hand, devoured it with relish, and tossed the other half back into the scale-pan, which then exactly balanced. The very small girl made no comment. She probably felt that she was lucky to get the fragment.

TEA BY OVERLAND ROUTE.

Although Indian and Ceylon growers have made strenuous efforts to gain a market in Russia, it would appear that prejudice in favor of Chinese tea is their strong enemy. The Russian scoffs at innovation, and believes firmly in the tea which comes from China overland. Although, in recent years, much of the tea consumed in Russia has made the sea voyage from Chinese ports to Odessa on the Black Sea, Russians maintain that tea transported by sea loses much in flavor and quality. In consequence of this, the largest tea merchants still continue to receive the bulk of their stock by the overland route. Early in January the caravans arrive in Tomsk. Between the first and the twentieth of the month 19,000 sledges full of tea are expected, each sledge containing five packages of about 130 lb. each. The tea is packed, not in cases, but in stiffened oxhides. Five sledges are tied together and drawn by one horse. The last sledge of each group contains hay and barley, which the horse of the next group quietly munches as he travels. In consequence of this arrangement the caravans lose no time. From the Chinese tea-growing districts to Tomsk is a year's journey by caravan.—Grocers' Journal, London.

A DEBTOR'S INFLUENCE.

A Brooklyn grocer had been writing letters at least six times a month to a party who owed him money. He had got neither reply nor money.

One day by accident he met his debtor on the street and spoke thus :

"Didn't you get my letters about that money you owe me?"

"Yes I did."

"Well, why in thunder didn't you answer them, or pay up what you owe?"

"Well, to tell you the truth, your letters were a great pleasure to me—they were so finely worded and phrased, you know, that I could not bring myself to answer them for fear they would stop coming."

And he passed on to catch a trolley bound for Manhattan.—Retail Merchants' Advocate.

TOO MANY MISSING ARTICLES.

A janitor in a Northern Michigan school threw up his job the other day, according to an exchange. When asked what was the trouble he answered : "I'm honest and I won't stand being slurred. If I find a pencil or handkerchief about the school, I hang it up. Every little while the teachers or someone that is too cowardly to face me gives me a slur. Why, a little while ago I saw written on the board, 'Find the common multiple.' Well, I looked from cellar to garret and I would not know the thing if I met it on the street. What made me quit the job? Last night in big writin' on the blackboard it said, 'Find the greatest common divisor.' Well, I says to myself, both them darned things are gone now, and I'll be blamed for swipin' 'em, so I'll quit."

AS THE ENGLISH DO IT.

Several new ways of adulterating coffee have lately come to light in England, according to an exchange. One grocer, by coating the berry with sugar, raised the weight from 5 per cent. to 10 per cent., and got a shilling a pound for what otherwise would have brought about two pence. The berry itself is ingeniously imitated in Germany by a treatment of maise, and it is said that the imitation is so good that even on close scrutiny it is hard to distinguish from the genuine berry.

Benson's Prepared Corn

There is no adulteration in Benson's Prepared Corn—there is no need to adulterate because it has sold entirely on its merits as an absolutely pure Prepared Corn for over forty years. The delicacy of its flavor is almost proverbial.

Comparisons are made with Benson's Prepared Corn as the standard—you hear this everywhere—"It's just as good as Benson's." You know what "just as good" means—an endeavor to sell an inferior article for a lower price. Benson's Prepared Corn is the standard—forty years have proved it so beyond a question.
